A friend in need asked him for a small loan. Franklin accommodated him, but instead of asking for the return of the money he asked that the sum be given to some person in need of assistance. This person, in turn, was to give the money over to still another worthy individual.

How far the "chain" was carried before being broken, history does not record. But the idea was characteristic of Franklin's sound common sense and generous impulses.—Thrift Magazine.

Their Omission

Audrey's mamma had taken her to the picture show, and as the preliminary explanations began to unroll the child evidenced increasing interest. After she had read, "Story by Pendally, directed by Puffer, photographed by Snapp, assisted by Short, titles by Begad and Begash, criticisms by Grimm, costumes by Scant and Short, passed by the national board of censorship," she began to laugh.

"Mamma," she gayly said, "they haven't told who removed the gentleman's Appomattox, or why."—Kansas City Star.

EXTRA WRONG FONTS

By Scoop.

After Tuesday's Storm

A visitor from the country gazed intently at the spiral fire escape that winds its way down the rear of the First National Bank Building (try and find it.) "Gosh!" he exclaimed. "That must have been a danged long ladder before the cyclone hit it." This all happened A. T. S. L. T. (after the storm last Tuesday.)

Error Is Corrected

Scoop's reporter made a serious blunder last week in saying that Silver Bill Miller also went to Houseton. It must have been two other people he saw slipping through the door in such a hurry. The cause of his staying home has not been ascertained, but it is thought that complications arose which made it better for him to remain.

Getting The News

While on the subject of the Democratic convention, Scoop offers a picture of one of Oakland's leading democrats as he scans the paper for news of the nomination. 'Tis none other than John O. Thayer reading The Republican for the latest news.

Finding Things Out

Nearby, just out of range of Col. Bell's snapshot, is George Giessman, ready to bet on Hoover, as soon as it is known who his opponent will be. If it had not been for the elephant on his lapel making him stoop-shouldered Col. Bell could have readily included him in the picture. It will not be necessary to describe the details of the argument in which the two are expected to have upon receipts of the important news, and amplifiers will not be necessary.

Col. Bell Busy

Col. Bell is extremely taken up this week with learning the mechanism of an automobile, and hasn't had time to take as many pictures as he would like. Last week his time was taken up with perfecting a device for closing the shutter on his camera and igniting the flashlight powder at the same time. In practice it worked perfectly. Under test last Wednesday night after the commencement exercises it—well,—just ask the Col. At the suggestion of one of the high school students, he put a nickel in it, and it worked to perfection—but this was only after 49 attempts.

As to the automobile, the Col. said that there was nothing else to do but order another thirty-day card.

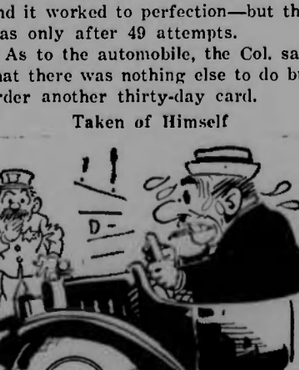
Broadcast to Noah



When Noah starts his search for a high mountain on which to park his Ark, it will be well for him to ignore Garrett county, for according to the Mountain Democrat, during Tuesday's storm, at Keyser's ridge, one of the highest places in the county, the water there reached a depth great enough to stall automobiles upon the highway. Boy, page "Sprig."

The Flower Picker

Colonel's only trip of the week resulted in finding Cecil Smith returning from a long motor journey. A lover of nature, he couldn't resist stopping along the highway to pick a few daisies. And to prove that he wasn't trying to kid anybody, he had Col. Bell take the following.

He Really Did

Those who can't appreciate this part of the column will please send self addressed and stamped envelopes to Scoop, care of The Republican, and it will be fully explained. No extra cost.

Brass Buttons

How The Republican and EXTRA WRONG FONTS will be published next week is a mystery to Scoop, for he is going to take a vacation with the army for two weeks, and wear all the brass buttons, trimmings, and paraphernalia saved up for the last six years. Details will follow at some future date. Unless Archibaldson, the pressman, and Lizzie Tish, the office girl, take the responsibility, next week's issue will be a sad affair.

* * *

Scoop has been unable to get any "dirt" on the remaining two public officials who have not appeared in print, and the Col. has not been able to get them in characteristic poses. So, postponement is in order until more time is available. Evidently the Col. has not been able to do any exposing, with Messrs. A. G. Ross, clerk, and W. R. Offutt, city attorney.

Alibi Brought to Light

R. R. Gilbert has come forward with an alibi this week for having run right past the traffic light when it showed red. He said all this occurred at the corner of Third and Oak streets just near sundown and the light said both "Stop" and "Go" at the same time.

As a remedy he suggests that Michael Maroney hold a parasol over the light during such moments. (That is if the sun ever expects to make another prolonged shine).

WHO WAS HE?

Our story opens shortly after the United States entered the World War. Our setting is a high school in Colorado. Our character is a senior, nineteen years of age and graduating with high honors.

A few months later, the scene is an Army Flying School in Texas. Our boy arrives as a recruit for the Air Service.

Six months have passed, an immense camaflauged transport is leaving for France. Again we see among its passengers that same boy's face.

A Flying Field in Flanders, a class of Americans are leaving after having received their last instructions. Our boy leads this class as he did in high school.

A hidden airdrome not far behind the front lines. Away off to one corner a machine is warming up. Mechanics tighten spark plugs, oil every inch of working surface, inspect control wires. and load the machine gun. To one side stands a young man calmly watching all these preparations. An officer approaches, the man turns, it is the same lad, although now more serious. After a formal salute the officer clasps the lad's hand and bids his "contact." The boy then climbs into the cock pit and takes over the control of the machine. The plane is pushed out onto the field and placed in formation. One by one they take off, finally the one we have watched begins to move, it races down the field then settles into an easy climb. He joins the formation in the air and they strike out for trouble. So began the lad's flying career.

Now it is the chilly fall; just a half year since his first day of battle. Again he climbs into a plane. This time a new one, his other was shot to pieces in the second flight and two more have met the same fate. So far he has received not a single scratch and has four victories to his credit. As he settles himself into the pilot seat his hopes are to win a fifth victory and make himself an Ace. Just as before, his plane is run out onto the field, but this time it is he who leads the flight.

This day had opened with a steady drum fire from the enemy's batteries, every minute the shells of the Germans were coming nearer to the front line of the Allies' trenches. The fire was becoming so dangerously near that a flight was ordered to blind the German gunners, that is to locate and remove all observation balloons along that sector. It was of that mission that we have just witnessed the start.

The German plans must have been very pressing, for the air over the German lines was swarming with planes marked with the Black Cross. Regardless of all danger the Americans came on. The Black planes close into formation and wait. When almost at the point of battle the American turns, and leads the flight back. Was he afraid, yellow? So the enemy thought as did the other members of the flight. One thing all but our boy had failed to notice. From over the German lines was coming slowly but surely a cloud bank. The Americans returned to their airdrome and they realized the foresight of the true airman.

All guns took on igniferous bullets and the boy added three twenty-five pound bombs, a big load for a single-seated scouting plane. By this time the clouds were low over the German line. Their speed however had increased and they soon would be away from their point of vantage, leaving the air clear for the German fliers. The boy leads his flight into the air again and they race to their errand of destruction before the clouds are gone. On through their majestic depths raced the seven Americans. Coming out underneath the bank the boy sights his objective, three sausage like balloons of the German artillery.

Our boy races for the nearest "eye," the others covering his flight. His charge was so swift and unexpected that the Heinies at the air craft guns protecting the balloon were unable to fire a shell before the big bag became a mound of fire. He had come, shot the balloon down and zoomed away into the cloud curtain so fast that there was no defense offered by the Germans.

He joined the rest of the planes in the cloud and prepared to put out the second eye. To gain a point of strategy they flew far into the enemy territory then turned and raced back coming out of the clouds and attacking the second balloon from behind. The battery protecting this balloon, being warned by the fate of the first turned their guns to meet the Americans from that direction. So our hero set his second victim ablaze and disappeared into the clouds before the ground force could turn itself around.

After witnessing the fate of the first two, the crew of the third began to haul it down. If the American was to put this third to flames it must be done without a moment's hesitation. The seven American fliers realizing this, raced at their utmost speed for that which was intended to be a third "bon fire." Having charted the location of the third balloon the American boy lead the way through the clouds until he was precisely over the spot. He hesitated not a moment but went into a tail spin. The plane dropped earthward and came through the cloud floor as if it were out of control. The plan worked exceedingly well. The German gunners thought the American had met his match in the cloud and not a single shot was fired, they waited for the plane to crash. Upon coming out of the cloud however the daring pilot saw that he was too late, the balloon was now in its hangar safe. Was it safe? An idea struck the boy's mind, though exceedingly dangerous, it carried a chance for success. He continued the fake fall until dangerously near the earth. Then a tug at the controls; had he waited too long? The plane still continued to plunge earthward, an eternity of suspense, then a quiver, his other hand gripped the bomb release; the quiver grew into a lurch and the plane swift as a flash became horizontal. He just cleared the tree tops and skimmed over the hangar. As he passed over he left a calling card, in fact two of them. He released the first bomb but both the first and second fell. Both were direct hits and the hangar went up in the smoke.

The plane then went into a grace ul curve upward and joined his buddies in the cloud. On their return home the whole flight went hedge jumping. The German artillery having been blinded were forced to cease firing, so the lower regions of the air were quiet. The other six of the flight were anxious to rid themselves of a few bullets so as they flew low over the German lines; our boy let go his last "calling card" and the rest sent to the Heinies a little shower of leaden rain.

The rest of the week was not flying weather and things were comparatively peaceful along the front. Quiet however most always proceeds the storm. The next Monday arrived with the French "Medaille Militairse," the Distinguished Service Cross" from Uncle Sam and the "English Royal Flying Cross," for the boy from Colorado. These honors put both he and his squadron at the head of the honor roll.

Wednesday was just another day of war, nothing unusual or exciting so far but there was to be. A large, slow, clumsy observation plane was lazily flying back and forth undisturbed. Suddenly as if from nowhere came a swift German Fokker to the attack. The newly made Ace was just climbing into a new plane for a trial flight. Hearing of the German's swift appearance he started up his motor and started to the aid of the endangered two seater. He headed straight for the battle. The German having wounded the big bird so that it was practically out of control, seeing the approaching American fled. The disabled two seater began to tremble and descend, slowly at first but faster every moment. The extreme end of the right wing and the fuselage began to rip and give. The pilot realizing the situation could only wait for the crash. Seeing the cause for the heavy plane's trouble the boy Ace decided to take one great chance to save two lives.

He flies higher and faster toward the wounded bird and coming over it begins a gradual descent. Closer and closer he draws to the plane that soon will become a tomb for its occupants. Finally they seem to touch but no. Both German and American soldier heolds his breath. Again they come close, now the wounded is falling fast. The observer seems to sense the same idea that struck the boy. He stands up in his pit and when the ground carriage of the scout plane again comes within reach he grabs to the axle. Holding the two together with one hand he uses his belts and safety straps to bind the two into one. When the job was finished it closely resembled a double-decked street car. Now a struggle. The motor of the little scout plane roars as if it were to burst under its tremendous load; the wings groan and seem to give, they do tear! No, still the little bird holds its wounded brother. At the airdrome the nerves of seasoned air men begin to tremble and snap. Lower and lower came the two as one. At last the wheels of the hurt plane touches the earth, they bounce, touch again, bounce, and finally skim the dust and gradually the little one eases the weight to the ground. The observer sits ready and tense, his hand trembles as it grips the straps and a knife. Two giant strokes and the planes are apart. The big one runs along and finally stops, the little angel of deliverance soars skyward like a caged thing loose and free. It circles the field, then lands this time alone.

Next day General Pershing, Marshals Haig and Foch stood bareheaded beside the bed of the man. He has proven himself a MAN. The nervous strain of this heroic act had sent him to a decline, but thanks to Providence, he still lived.

That afternoon a German raced low across the flying field and dropped a weighted note. It read:

"To the Officer in Command:

"I was the one who set the stage for the greatest aerial incidents, that of yesterday. Our trenchmen have almost by force, caused me to carry this mission.

"The scene of heroism yesterday won admiration of all our men, and I know what a thrill it must have given you of his Fatherland. I believe that he who did that deed is the only one who could have done it. So I have sent you this which I beg you answer as I have asked. Who was he?"

Gee whiz; here I've gone to sleep over a special assignment of Geometry. Oh, well, sure was a good dream anyway.

—Leonard J. Murphy.

The Fourth of July is just ahead. When we are celebrating, let s think now and then, what's it all about.

* * *

Taxi driver: "Boss, I lost control—I can't stop her."

Fare: "Well, for Heaven's sake, turn off the meter."

* * *

There was a lot of excitement at the depot the other night when the Governor's train started off without the flagman. When the train stopped to wait for the flagman, the Governor got off to shake hands with some friends and the train started off without him. Jim Treacy claims Bill Browning was the cause of this mishap and balling up of things as he was the only passenger to get aboard.

Perhaps you are planning a trip the Fourth and need some new tires for your car. We can supply you with first class Century tires at a real saving of money.

* * *

George Kerins said Bill Browning never has done anything that he has not balled up.

* * *

Bill: "What caused the collision today?"

Joy: "Two motorists after the same pedestrian."

DEEP CREEK LAKE WATER CARNIVAL BEING PLANNED

Water Sports Will Be Held On August 3 On America's Most Beautiful Artificial Lake

With the constantly increasing rise of water in Deep Creek Lake, which is at this time 100 per cent full, the expanse of water greeting the automobilist's eye as he or she passes over the roadway and skirts the lake for several miles, naturally makes one wish to linger and drink in the beauty of the spot, for Deep Creek Lake is a lovely body of water, hemmed in by the hills on all sides and with this natural setting it has become in recent weeks a favorite spot for many to while away a day or an hour.

Sensing the desire of the public in all this section and in out lying portions of the country reached by the system of wonderful highways, the Deep Creek Lake Improvement Association has been formed and under the auspices of the organization the first annual water carnival will be held on August 3, beginning at ten o'clock in the morning.

This will be the first entertainment of the kind to be held in this section. The lake has a shore line of 65 miles, and occupies the highest altitude of any lake east of the Rockies.

Prizes will be given winners in all events, consisting of motor boat, sailing, canoe and row boat races, tilting contests and other water sports. Dancing, swimming and other amusements will be provided.

All persons wishing to enter these contests may do so without cost. Applications should be mailed to the Deep Creek Lake Improvement Association, P. O. Box 356, Oakland.

A merry go round and ferris wheel will afford amusement for the children and the larger folks who may be present upon this day.

PEDESTRIAN STRUCK AND KILLED BY B. & O. TRAIN

Harry Douglas, Bloomington, a Victim of the Rail.

The badly and hardly recognizable remains of Harry Douglas, 35 years old, of Bloomington, Garrett county, was found along the Baltimore and Ohio Railway tracks at five o'clock Sunday morning, near the railway bridge spanning the Potomac river, a short distance east of Bloomington. Members of an east-bound freight train crew, who discovered the body, reported the tragedy to the State's Attorney, Mr. Julius C. Renninger, in Oakland, who ordered and conducted an inquest over the remains Sunday afternoon, the jury finding that the man was killed by being struck by a train.

It is believed that Douglas was walking along the tracks when he was struck by a circus train which passed through Oakland two hours later. The dead man was married and was the father of several children.

Camp Minnetoska Opened Monday With Good Enrollment.

Monday of the present week marked the opening of Camp Minnetoska for the season of 1928 with an enrollment of nineteen girls, all of whom are from Baltimore with the exception of one, who is from New York.

Camp Minnetoska is a summer camp for girls and is located on the shore of Lake Minnetoska on the farm of Dr. H. W. McComas, eight miles northwest of Oakland.

According to Frank Hansen, a director of the camp, the number present at the camp the opening day equals the number of registrants last year and the number will be increased during the latter part of July and the first week in August by girls from Baltimore who will arrive at that time and who will remain for the duration of the camp. The camp will close a short time before the opening of the Baltimore City schools in the fall.

Mr. Hansen is encouraged, he says, by the number of girls at the camp at this time and feels confident that the outing place is becoming favorably known, especially in Baltimore and in the State of Maryland.

News of the death of Mrs. Mary Arbuthnot, widow of the late Rev. S. K. Arbuthnot, a former pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church in Oakland, was conveyed to the manw friends of the deceased woman here one day last week. Mrs. Arbuthnot died in the Wheeling General Hospital less than a month after the death of her husband.

The contract for the heating and plumbing of the structure also went to a Pennsylvania concern—C. O. LaClair Company—at its bid of $4,600.

There were approximately eighteen bids submitted to the Board of Education for the erection and the heating and plumbing of the structure.

MARYLAND TO VOTE ON TRIPLING LEGISLATORS PAY

Governor Orders Referendum on Whether State Solons Should Get $15.00 Per Day

A proclamation ordering a referendum in the November election on the question as to whether members of the Maryland Legislature should be paid $15 a day for their 90-day service once every two years in the legislative halls was signed Tuesday by Governor Ritchie at Annapolis.

Members of both the State Senate and House of Delegates now receive $5 a day, and at the last session of the legislature a bill was passed by both branches providing for the increase to $15. The measure necessarily must be put on the ballots for decision of the voters, as under present statutes legislators cannot raise their own salary without first gaining popular approval through the votes of the people.

Under the proposals the legislators each would receive $1,350 in place of the present $450 for the 90-day session, and would bring the total state delegates from $62,250 to $199,750. This amount includes 28 senators and 117 delegates and does not take in the several officers of the assembly.

Expenses More Than Salary.

At the last session, the argument was advanced in favor of passage of the bill that expenses of the legislators far exceeded the amount the state allowed them to attend the 90-day conclave, as many of the solons from the Eastern Shore and the far western portion of the State were forced to live in Annapolis while the assembly was in session.

Governor Ritchie also ordered regional referendums on a $140,000 school building proposition in Howard county; one which would increase the salaries of the authorities in Anne Arundel county, and another which provided for an increase in the salary of the treasurer of Somerset county.

Large Lot of Trash Removed by Town Officials' Order

Clean-Up Week, which was in effect for two weeks or more, the extended time being necessary owing to unusualy weather conditions, was brought to a close last Friday evening after a busy week for the several men who assisted in trucking away from the town the vast amount of accumulated rubbish that had been stacked up during the winter and early spring.

According to Street Commissioner Michael Maroney, there were forty-nine large truck and wagon loads of trash removed from alleys and vacant lots about the town during the clean-up period, and while the town is not yet the spotless town all would like it to be, the appearance is very much improved, but it will not be possible for the street commissioner and his men to devote any conserted efforts on this line of work for several weeks at least owing to the requirements for the proper care of the streets and street improvement now under way.

GARRETT COUNTY FAIR DATES HAVE BEEN FIXED

Annual Show Will Be Held This Year on September 25, 26, 27 and 28—H. M. Speicher, G. M.

The board of directors of the Garrett County Fair Association made a splendid selection as the general manager of the fair with the appointment of Henry M. Speicher, of Accident, who is now busily engaged in securing advertisements for the premium list and in making up the list of prizes to be paid—not offered—Mr. Speicher says, for h eintends to pay every premium at the office of the Fair Association upon presentation of the ribbons by the winners or of the certificates of awards by the judges.

Arrangements are now progressing toward the securing of up-to-date attractions for the fair and with the business men of Oakland cooperating with the residents of the rest of Garrett county there is no reason why the fair of 1928 should not be the best in the history of the organization.

The dates fixed by the board of directors for holding the fair this year are September 25, 26, 27 and 28.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL IS COUNTED A SUCCESS

Upwards of a Hundred Children Enrolled For the Term.

With upwards of a hundred children and young people in daily attendance at the Vacation Bible school, being conducted in the Oakland grammar school building, "a mark of success has already been made," said Mrs. Paul B. Naylor, superintendent of the young people's division, this afternoon.

The school opened on Monday of the present week under the auspices of the Oakland Council of Religious Education with a larger enrollment of students and a larger corps of instructors than was present at last year's school, which was conducted in St. Mark's Lutheran church. Each of the three days of the school this week there has been an increase in number of students and it is said that none of those who have enrolled have later withdrawn.

The corps of instructors include the Rev. George S. Baggett, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church; Rev. Walter B. Brock, pastor of the Garrett Memorial Presbyterian church; Rev. Paul Linaweaver, rector of St. Matthew's P. E. church and Mrs. Paul Hinebaugh, who have in charge for instruction on the subject of "The Life of Christ and His Work while on Earth," and the construction of relief maps, all of the young people above the sixth grade in the grammar school and including those of high school age.

Mrs. Paul Naylor and Miss Elizabeth West are actively engaged in instructing the smaller children, those of pre-school age, and Mrs. Harold Harned and Miss Hazel Nine have charge of the music.

The instructors of subjects for children from the first to the fifth grades, inclusive, are Miss Edna Baker, Crellin; Miss Lucille Mitchell, Mrs. Mabel Sollars and Miss Mary Jane Offutt, all of Oakland.

Classes are called each morning at 9:00 o'clock and are dismissed for the day at 11:30 o'clock.

The County Board of Education has made it possible to care for the large enrollment under one roof by granting the use of the school building.

Hiram S. Coleman Observes His 77th Birthday.

Hiram S. Coleman, formerly of Garrett county, now a resident of Frostburg, celebrated his 77th anniversary Wednesday at his home in that town at which members of his family and a number of friends were present. He was for twenty years postmaster at Sutton, Garrett county. He was born two miles east of Lonaconing on June 30, 1851, and spent his early life in the coal mines as a driver. In December, 1880, he married Miss Martha Jane Broadwater of the New Germany community in Garrett county and soon after opened a store at Sutton, a short distance from the home of his wife. Mr. Coleman moved to Frostburg in 1920 and engaged in the mercantile business. It was there that he was burned in a gas explosion from which his son, Clarence E. Coleman, died one week later. For a long while Mr. Coleman was in a serious condition, but survived with several bad scars on his face.

MT. LAKE PLANING MILL WAS CONSUMED SATURDAY

High Wind Endangered Entire Block at Loch Lynn—Estimated Loss Placed at $8,500

One of Mountain Lake Park's industrial establishments was laid waste early on last Saturday morning when the Mountain Lake Park planing mill was consumed by fire of undetermined origin.

The fire was discovered in the plant about 2:45 o'clock Saturday morning by a resident of the town whose home is located nearby and who stated that the flames originated in a vacant room in the rear of the building and that the fire spread with such rapidity that in a few moments' time the entire structure was ablaze.

The Oakland Fire Department responded to the alarm, being on the scene within a very few minutes after the alarm had been given. The department was unable to save any part of the planing mill or its contents, valued at $8,500 and turned the hose on adjacent structures, several of which were on fire at various times during the progress of the planing mill blaze.

According to former Senator H. J. Speicher, of Accident, owner of the burned mill, his personal loss will amount to $4,500, the remaining portion being covered by insurance.

"The fire caught us at a bad time," Mr. Speicher said, "because the greater part of our loss is caused by the destruction of finished lumber which would have been delivered to the purchaser in a few days."

Several stacks of lumber in the yard adjoining the mill were damaged on the edges and ends, but the larger portion of the lumber will be salvaged.

While the building was in a rather bad state of repair, a considerable sum of money had recently been spent for new equipment, the plant having been electrified only a few months ago, and for that reason the loss is considerably higher than was at first estimated.

Due to high wind at the time of the fire much concern was had for the safety of the entire town of Loch Lynn, immediately across the tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio from Mt. Lake Park, but owing to a concentrated effort on the part of the fire department all adjacent buildings were saved with only slight damage to the roofs of one or two resulting. Whether the plant will be rebuilt or not is undetermined.

Stolen Car Is Confiscated

Finding a car in the Helbig mill yard on Green street Saturday night containing a five-gallon keg of moonshine, Sheriff Casteel confiscated the car and took the liquor into his keeping under a Federal writ and will hold it pending disposal under rather unusual circumstances.

The identity of the owner of the car was ascertained through the office of the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles of Maryland by the markers displayed on the car and when notified of the confiscation of the car, its owner, Davis Hardesty, of Hutton, stated that the car had been stolen and that the liquor found in it did not belong to him. The Sheriff, however, was powerless to return the car to its owner as it was then in the possession of Federal authorities. It is not known, according to the Sheriff, what the outcome of the case may be.

When the officer went toward the car, after having been notified that a number of men had gathered about it and that their actions were suspicious, the men all ran and no arrests were made at the time, but at this time the officers have some evidence in their possession that may lead not only to the arrest of the person who stole the car but also the taking into custody of the person who owned the liquor and who was disposing of it in public.

Reactors Are Few In Garrett County Cattle.

Garrett county still retains the reputation of being a healthy place for the raising of cattle, especially dairy cows, as is shown by the weekly bulletin of Doctors Poe and Trout, State veterinarians, who have been in the county for several months making tests of the animals. Up to the present time the veterinarians have examined and tested 3246 dairy cows for tuberculosis and in that number only twenty-one have been found to be afflicted with the bovine plague.

THIRD LIGHT OF SERIES WAS PLACED ON MONDAY

Will Operate To Speed Traffic—Ordinance To Be Enforced

The third of a series of traffic signal lights to be installed on the streets of the city was placed at the corner of Alder and Third streets on Monday of the present week, thus facilitating traffic conditions there, which is probably the busiest corner in Oakland.

The light is suspended from a cable anchored to a pole on one side of the street and to a messenger wire diagonally across the street in front of the postoffice building.

To speed traffic to its capacity on Third street the newly erected signal will operate simultaneously with the light at the corner of Third and Oak streets and will give ample time for a car to pass beneath both lights while still on the "go" indicator.

At a meeting of the Mayor and City Council Monday evening an ordinance regulating traffic in the corporate limits of town was adopted and put into effect immediately after its passage. Until Monday residents and tourists were not molested for violating traffic light signals and according to Mayor Lawrence M. Fraley and others who have especially noted the movement of traffic it is not likely that there will be many violators of the newly-drawn ordinance as the few weeks of "grace" allowed following the placing of two lights have had the effect of teaching automobilists what to do as the stop or go lights go on or off.

HIGH TENSION CURRENT FATAL TO CORINTH MINER

Louis Pendergast Was Instantly Killed Monday—His Funeral Held Here This Morning

Coming in contact with a high tension motor cable in the Lima No. 1 mine at Corinth, Monday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock, caused the instant death of Louis E. Pendergast, aged 27 years, of Corinth.

The deceased was a miner and at the time of his death was engaged in clearing the track within the mine of coal in the third butt heading. In rising from a stooped position he came in contact with the overhead trolley. Fellow-employes and two engineers were within a few feet of the unfortunate man when the accident occurred and they rendered first aid, but without avail.

The body was removed to Terra Alta, W. Va., about four miles distant from the mine, where resuscitation was again undertaken by a physician.

The body was later removed to an undertaking establishment and prepared for burial, afterwards being taken to the home of the young man's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Pendergast, life long residents of Hutton, Garrett county, until eight years ago, when they moved to Corinth, a mile west of Hutton.

Funeral services were conducted in Oakland this morning with a requiem high mass celebrated at St. Peter's church by the Rev. Fr. McVeigh. Interment was made in St. Peter's cemetery.

Lima Mine is one of the workings of the Lindsey Coal Mining Company of which Mr. R. P. Maloney, of Oakland, is president, and Walter Iman, also of Oakland, is superintendent. Forty to fifty men are employed in and about the mine.

Eastern Star Visitation Saturday Evening.

Oakland Chapter, No. 67, Order of the Eastern Star, entertained on Saturday evening at the Masonic Temple in honor of the grand officers of Maryland, who were here on their annual visit. The meeting was attended by members of the sisterhood from nearby towns. An interesting program was rendered, including a solo by Mrs. Naomi Harned. Mrs. Elsie Sincell played the accompaniment.

An address was delivered by Mrs. Patience Grant. Addresses were also delivered by the visiting grand officers, and the Worthy Grand Matron and acting Grand Patron were presented with gifts. The Worthy Matron, Mrs. Lulu Dawson, was presented with a beautiful basket of roses and refreshments were served.

Mrs. H. W. Matheney, of Cumberland, who spent several days in Oakland with her mother, Mrs. Leah F. Sincell, returned to her home Sunday, being accompanied by her daughter Elizabeth Matheney, who had been here with relatives for a week.

LOCAL MAN IS VICTIM OF A HIT AND RUN DRIVER

George F. Moon Dies of Internal Injuries Following His Being Run Down Near His Home

Lingering for four days after having suffered internal injuries when struck by a hit-and-run driver Wednesday night of last week, George F. Moon died at his home in Rose Dale, the southwest suburb of Oakland, on Sunday afternoon. The deceased was aged 51 years.

Returning to his home about 10:30 o'clock the night of the occurrence from the home of Bruce Durst, who was a neighbor and who has since died, Mr. Moon was struck by a passing automobile when he was within two hundred feet of his home and was dragged approximately 30 feet and rolled onto a culvert. Besides being injured internally, Mr. Moon suffered a badly mangled leg and foot, one of his toes being in such condition that it had to be amputated.

After being hit by the automobile, Mr. Moon laid unconsciously for nearly two hours and after having regained consciousness he was unable to summon assistance. He was found by his son who was returning to his home in company with a companion at 12:30 o'clock and who carried him into the house where he remained in a conscious state until he died at 3:55 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The unknown driver of the automobile failed to stop his machine after having run the unfortunate man down, and according to a number of people residing in the neighborhood it is evident that he was aware of striking Mr. Moon because marks on the road showed that he had swerved his car after it had struck. According to other neighbors of the deceased man he was walking at least two feet off the concrete, but due to the heavy fog which prevailed along that stretch of the highway that night, the driver was unable to see him and possibly did not feel the impact when the accident occurred.

For the past five years Mr. Moon has been employed by the T. D. Clairborne Construction Company, road contractors, during the road building season, and at other times was employed locally as a laborer.

Mr. Moon is survived by his widow and five children, namely: Charles Moon and Mrs. Oscar Liller, both of Keyser, W. Va.; Robert, Willard and Bernard, all at home. He is also survived by three brothers and three sisters: Harry, Ellsworth and Roy Moon, of Sunnyside; Mrs. Ilda Sachs, of Baltimre; Mrs. R. O. Winters, of Oakland, and Mrs. Savilla Sanders, of Sunnyside.

The deceased was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John T. Moon, of near Sunnyside.

The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon with services conducted in St. John's Lutheran church at Red House, the Rev. Walter E. Waybright officiating. Interment was made in the churchyard.

Local Pythians to Install Officers Tomorrow Evening.

Milburn Mann, for several years publicity chairman of the local lodge Knights of Pythias, will be installed Chancellor Commander of Garrett Lodge, No. 113, tomorrow evening at the regular weekly meeting of the organization. Other recently elected officers to be installed for the ensuing six months will be Robert Hoffman, vice chancellor; Edward Kahl, prelate; Irvin R. Rudy, master at arms; Olin Hardesty, inner guard; Melvin Lee, outer guard; Singleton Townshend, retiring chancellor commander, master of work.

Immediately after the lodge session a meeting of the Labor Day picnic committee will be called and at that time, it is said, definite plans will be made for the government of the annual event. The picnic as usual will be held in Helbig's Grove and this year the date falls on September 3.

Legionaires Hold Meeting of Interest.

While the delegates from the local post American Legion were not named Monday night to represent the organization at the State convention to be held in Cumberland on August 23, 24 and 25, yet enthusiasm was shown on the part of the membership to have Procter Kildow Post well represented at the sessions of the convention, so Commander Irvin R. Rudy said yesterday. It is understood that the delegates will be duly selected at the next regular meeting of the post.

Straight and True as an Arrow

Every time anyone spends a dollar in this community, for any purpose whatever, that dollar goes, straight and true as an arrow, toward helping to make this a better place in which to live.

It helps to build new homes, better roads, new schools, more churches. It makes possible the construction, the maintenance and the enjoyment of added comforts and conveniences for all of us.

We all want the better things of life. We want this community of ours to grow and prosper.

We are taking a big step toward the realization of our desires if we remember and practice this simple plan.

Lesson for July 8

SAUL AND STEPHEN

LESSON TEXT—Acts 22:3,4,19,20; 26:4,5,9-11; 7:54-8:3.

GOLDEN TEXT—Be thou faithful unto death and I will give thee a crown of life.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Saul's Cruelty to Christian People.

JUNIOR TOPIC—How Saul Persecuted Stephen and Others.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Is Conscience a Safe Guide?

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Stephen's Influence on Saul.

I. Saul's Training (22:3, 4; 25:4, 5, 9-11.

1. Taught to love his own nation (v. 3). He declared, "I am a Jew." Saul was a strict Pharisee. The Pharisees were the nationalists of their day. Being a strict Pharisee he was therefore a patriot. Those who are intelligently loyal to their own nation can most effectively help others.

2. Taught to love God's law (v. 3). "Taught according to the perfect manner of the law of the fathers." Love for the Bible is a valuable asset in life. To be destitute of love and reverence for God's Word is to be out on life's ocean without chart or compass.

3. He was zealous toward God (v. 3).

His heart and soul went out toward God with great enthusiasm. The root meaning of the word "zealous" is "to boil." It means a passion for God and His work. It was zeal for God that made Saul think of and plan for His work.

II. Saul Hears the Voice of Jesus (Acts 22:9, 10).

It was while on his way to Damascus with authority to arrest and imprison Christ's disciples that he heard a voice from heaven saying, "Why persecutest thou Me?" It was this sight of the living Christ that wrought the change in Saul.

III. Saul Thoroughly Conscientious (Acts 26:9, 10).

In his conscientiousness he opposed Jesus, for he regarded Him as an impostor. Saul is to be commended in that he responded to his conscience, but he is condemned for his attitude toward Jesus. Conscience is the law of life for every man, but it needs to be regulated by God's Word.

IV. Stephen's History (6:1-15).

In order to understand the significance of Stephen's martyrdom, a synthetic view should be obtained of his life.

1. Chosen as a deacon (6:1-7). He was one of the seven men appointed to look after the temporalities of the church.

2. Why Stephen was opposed (6:8-15). In his work of charity he testified of Jesus Christ and by the Holy Spirit wrought miracles. These mighty deeds aroused the people. The following features characterized him: (1) Wisdom. He was a man of common sense. (2) Grace. He had a beautiful character. (3) Power. He had the ability to do wonders and great signs, and he spake the truth effectively. The men who opposed him were not able to resist the wisdom and the spirit by which he spake. Not being able to withstand him, they arrested and brought him before the great council. Even here they could not silence him by argument, so they decided to do it by violence.

V. Stephen's Martyrdom (7:51-60)

Stephen made a magnificent defense before the council. This he did by tracing the history of Israel from the call of Abraham to the crucifixion of Christ. His aim was to show that God had never been localized and that the temple was but a small part of God's plan. He did not speak against the temple, but showed that God did not in the full sense dwell in it at any time. This contention he proved from Scripture (Isa. 61:1, 2; I Kings 8:27). In his conclusion he declared that the Jews had always resisted the Holy Spirit. Now their stubbornness had reached its culmination in the betrayal, rejection and murder of the Son of God. This charge cut to the heart. His arguments were unanswerable. In this hour of trial God gave him a wonderful vision. He was permitted to look into heaven itself where he beheld the glorified Son of man standing at the right hand of God.

VI. Saul Consenting Unto Stephen's Death (8:1-3).

The very ringleader in this persecution was Saul. Stephen's death is described as falling asleep. Devout men buried him, making great lamentation over him.

EXTRA WRONG FONTS

By Archibaldson, the Make-up Man

Scoop Goes a-Soldiering

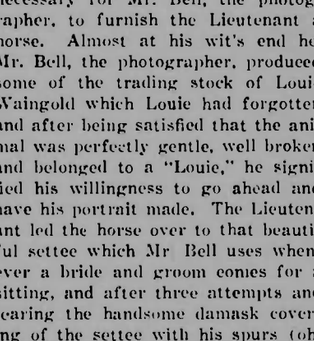
The country is saved—but not for the Democrats. Scoop has donned his uniform and left us cold. How we are to survive we know not.

This afternoon (to make this column right up to date) he is leading his men down into the Valley of the Six Hundred, anyhow. And of all the fuss getting ready to go, anyone would have thought that the entire United States Army, horse, artillery, infantry, engineers and not forgetting the Marines, who won the war, was getting ready to move without knowing just which way to go. The boy went to Fort Eustis, Va., for two weeks' hard work, so he says, but we've been here too long not to know that wherever he goes he's going to have a vacation, for he follows the oft repeated admonition not to allow business to interfere with his pleasure. He's going to be among the U. S. Regulars, and, boy, it's going to be hard for them if he does all the things he said he was going to do before he left.



We're not saying what his rank and file is, because a Second "Louie" was and is an unpopular cuss, and unless they put leather leggings and a Sam Brown belt on a top sergeant he always will be. Leave it to them; they can cause more uneasiness around an army barracks than the "bucks" can keep up with. And, by the way, if you think a "shave tail" doesn't know what he is talking about, just ask one.

Mr. Bell, the photographer, and we might explain here why he is not called the Colonel this week. It is because Scoop feels it is not fittin' and right that the picture-taking man should enjoy a title superior to his and for this reason requested that he be mentioned only as a mister. Well, anyhow, Mr. Bell didn't have to leave his studio to get this snap of the Lieutenant before departing for Camp Eustis, because the Lieutenant went to him. As soon as he got his moth-eaten uniform out of his cedar chest, where the moths had lived on moth balls and the uniform for the past couple of years, he immediately dressed in all his glory and paraded to the studio for the settin'.

Nothing would please the Lieutenant but to be taken as a "horseman," which he is in private life, so it was necessary for Mr. Bell, the photographer, to furnish the Lieutenant a horse. Almost at his wit's end he, Mr. Bell, the photographer, produced some of the trading stock of Louie Waingold which Louie had forgotten and after being satisfied that the animal was perfectly gentle, well broken and belonged to a "Louie," he signified his willingness to go ahead and have his portrait made. The Lieutenant led the horse over to that beautiful settee which Mr Bell uses whenever a bride and groom comes for a sitting, and after three attempts and tearing the handsome damask covering of the settee with his spurs (oh, yes; he wears spurs the same as any other second "louie"), he at last made the mount and the picture was taken.

"It didn't take long after everything was ready," stated Mr. Bell, "but we had a —— of a time getting ready." After the proof had been made the Lieutenant ordered nine dozen pictures and it wasn't until Sunday that we found the reason for so many. The entire town of Kingwood, West Va., (that's where Scoop was reared) was placarded. That's his idea of a dirty crack at his old home-town.

It won't be long now until the boy returns, at which time the faithful readers of his column will be advised.

Scoop In His Regimentals.

It's Lonesome as Thunder to be a Democrat.

It just goes to show what this part of the country thinks of a Democrat, more especially of a delegate to a Democratic convention. It's only been a week since the band ,the Mayor, the Town Council and citizenry and the other couple Democrats around here escorted Bill Browning to the railway station to board his special train to the Democratic convention. Now, this is the point we want to make, and at the same time want to be awfully careful not to let Bill think that we noticed it, and furthermore at the same time not to let Bill know it himself, but this is what happened: Nothing at all when he returned. Why doggone it, even the couple Democrats weren't at the train to greet him when he came back. The worst feature of it is that the train, on its way to the convention, arrived here at an unearthly hour during the night and when it returned it came in at the most convenient time of the day. There's something the matter. Use you own judgment, but it's probably better not to be a Democrat or a delegate to a Democratic convention. All those battle-axes and shootin' arms that Bill took to the convention had been handed down through the family, and when that little "ruckus" at the convention got started Bill rushed in to use some of his persuasive tactics, but when the fight was the warmest he found that none of his artilery would work, with the results pictured below. Mr. Bell caugh him as he was on his way home from the railway station.

AN AMBIGUOUS GESTURE

The Kansas City convention felt that it could afford to compromise on the prohibition issue. With a majority of the voters normally behind it, asking for continuance in office after a record of conceded popularity and success under President Coolidge, Coolidge, standing upon a consistent record of sound economics and strong nationalism, the Republican party had a solid basis for this confidence. Upon the one active threat of sound economic progress, the McNary-Haugen project, the convention spoke courageously and clearly. The Republican party in the nation has in effect left the solution of the prohibtion to the states.

The Houston platform follows very closely the Kansas City model. Perhaps the language is dryer, but the aim is the same—to appease the drys without slamming the door of hope in the face of the wets. But the dismay with which this plank has been received by the wets stresses the risk which the Democratic party has taken in thus compromising its one vital issue.

Governor Smith has leaped into the breach in an effort to halt the harm. His letter is a frank repetition of his own attitude, and he is correct in assuming that there is no contradiction between the letter of the platform and his personal advocacy of modification. But his representative sat upon the platform committee at Houston. He approved its terms. Neither drys nor wets will find it easy to forget that when the party might have been committed to a definite policy of either prohibition or reform, the Governor not only held his peace but acquiesced in an evasive compromise. When he finally telegraphed the convention he avoided the blunt courage of Alton B. Parker's gold telegram, which stated the nominee's conviction and gave the convention an opportunity to name another candidate if it so desired. The party was thereby bound by the candidate's massage upon a point as to which it had sought to be discreetly silent. Governor Smith accepted the nomination without qualification and condoned the compromise which made it possible.

It is the frank hope of the Northern Democrats that the Governor can win wet votes by his individual stand, despite the silence of his platform. But we think the events at Houston have fatally weakened this expectation. The platform compromise, which alone made the Governor's nomination possible, has gravely compromised the force and sincerity of his prospective campaign for modification.

For what happened at Houston was a dramatic record of the inescapable fact that the Democratic party holds the largest block of prohibition diehards and that however wet an individual Democratic leader may be he cannot hope to command the support of the drys of his party. The dry South accepted Governor Smith in a mood of grace reluctance. A vote for Governor Smith will be a vain gesture so far as practical progress toward modification is concerned. Indeed, his election would be likely to prove a backward step, for nothing could be clearer than that the dry sections of the country will never trust the return of temperance to Tammany auspices. Governor Smith expressly rejects the saloon in his telegram and we heartily congratulate him upon his courage. But the nation cannot forget that the local machine of which he is the actual head has been the ally of the saloon for generations. The President's vote upon legislation is effective only after Congress has acted. It is from the Senate and House that reform must come, and the friends of temperance could scarcely do their cause a greater disservice than to identify it with Tammany.

Thus Governor Smith falls between the two extremes of his party, the solid South, the best hope of electoral votes, resolved upon prohibition at any cost, and the saloon-supported machines of the North. The sane modification which he suggests can receive scant aid from such extremists. So far as prohibition is concerned, the Happy Warrior fights under damning party handicaps, as the Houston platform clearly and fairly records—New York Herald-Tribune.

TWO PERSONS DIE RESULT OF AUTOMOBILE COLLISION

Accident Occurred Saturday On Morning at Little Crossings, On National Highway

Colliding on the railway crossing at Little Crossings, a point one mile east of Grantsville on the National Highway in Garrett county, on last Saturday morning at 12:45 o'clock, the automobiles driven eastward by Samuel Kelley and that of James F. Mann, of Philadelphia, being driven westward, were so tightly locked together that it required the united efforts of a number of men to get them apart, and as a result Mr. Kelly died at 1:30 Saturday morning shortly after being received at the Miners' Hospital in Frostburg, and Mrs. Mann succumbed at 12:15 Saturday night at the same institution.

Others injured in the accident include Mrs. Samuel Kelly and Mrs. Everett Kelly, who with the former's husband were enroute to Wilmington, Del., where Everett Kelly, husband of one of the injured women, was a patient in a hospital. The Kellys are from Fairmont, W. Va., where the dead was engaged as a carpenter contractor. Advices from Fairmont Saturday were that word had reached that city that Everett Kelly had died during the day. Mrs. Samuel Kelly and Mr. Mann are reported as resting comfortably at the hospital. Mrs. Everett Kelly was the most serious injured. Both of her legs are broken and it was thought that one of her thighs was fractured. She is aged about 40 years.

The body of Mr. Kelly, following his death, was taken to the Winterberg morgue at Grantsville and prepared for shipment to Fairmont, while the body of Mrs. Mann was transferred to the Hafer morgue in Frostburg.

TYPHOID FEVER BECOMING MORE A RURAL DISEASE

Main Sources are Water, Milk, Flies, Fingers and Food.

"Every season brings its own responsibility to the health officer, and at this time of the year the prevention of typhoid looms especially large in the thoughts and plans of the up-to-date officer," Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health said recently in discussing seasonal sickness.

"The main sources of typhoid," he said, "are water, milk, flies, fingers and food. The disease is always contracted by way of the mouth—thru contaminated water, milk or other food, and the living germ that causes the disease comes from the discharges from the intestines or bladder of someone who has been ill with typhoid. These discharges eventually have passed into streams or wells, polluting the water supplies, or they have contaminated the soil in places where the sewage is not properly cared for. Polluted drinking water is not the only source of danger. The disease is also spread by flies carrying the germs from sewage to food; through uncooked and unwashed food; through milk and other foods handled by typhoid carriers—persons of careless habits who have recovered from the disease but who still excrete the germs.

"Twenty or twenty-five years ago the disease was as common in the cities as in the country. But with the installation of water and sewerage systems in cities and towns the danger to city people of contracting typhoid from drinking water has been greatly reduced. Now, to a large extent, typhoid has become a rural disease and a very large proportion of the cases we have in Maryland occur in scattered rural communities that are out of reach of adequately protected water supplies.

"The present laws concerning the sanitary supervision of our waterways went into effect in 1914 and a gradual decrease in typhoid in the entire state dates back to that year. About three-fourths of the total population of the state is now served by water supplies protected against contamination and slowly but surely the protection is being extended. But there will always be some scattered communities that cannot be reached by these protective measures. For the benefit of such persons, the State Department of Health has prepared designs for sewage disposal plants for private homes not connected with publicly controlled waterways. Copies of the plans with advice in regard to modifications which may be required according to the slope of the land and the character of the soil may be obtained by writing to the State Department of Health, 16 West Saratoga Street, Baltimore, Md."

Dr. Hugh Strachan, 52 years old, a widely known physician of Kitzmiller, Garrett county, died Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the Western Maryland Hospital, Cumberland, following an operation for appendicitis performed on last Thursday afternoon, the patient having been taken to the hospital the day preceding when it was ascertained that he was suffering with the disease and that an operation was imperative to save his life. The deceased physician had been engaged in the active practice of his profession at Kitzmiller for a number of years. Besides his wife, Mrs. Lydia Strachan, Dr. Strachan is survived by three sons, Hugh, Jr., with the United States Marine Corps in China; Herman and Lincoln Strachan, at the home in Kitzmiller, and by one daughter, Miss Anna May Strachan, also at home. ## ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF AMISH NEAR GRANTSVILLE

Conservative Branch of the Sect Foregathered at Maple Glen Church June 11-13.

(Meyersdale Republican)

The annual conference of the Conservative Amish Mennonite Church was held at the Maple Glen meeting house, near Grantsville, June 11-13. Delegates were present from New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois and Iowa.

The local congregation which entertained the conference this year has been a member of this conference for a good many years. The local congregation is divided into three subcongregations and has three houses of worship, one located in Elk Lick Township not far from St. Paul, one at what is known as The Forks, near Bittinger, and the one known as Maple Glen church, near Grantsville and close by the A. M. Children's Home, where the conference met this year.

The meeting was held in a tent that would hold from 600 to 1000 people, which was erected on the grounds adjoining the church and was well located and had a good seating arrangement, and was carpeted with new mown hay, making it comfortable under foot as well as otherwise.

It was seven years since the Conference was held at the church at this place, but since that time the attendance at the various conferences has grown so much that the church would not hold more than half of those who came to these sessions. The tent was well filled with visitors and people from the neighborhood at each session of the conference.

Due to the fact that people are doing more touring in automobiles than ever before, each conference has been more largely attended than the one formerly held, and as a result this one was the largest ever held at this place, tho it may not have been the largest of these conferences held at any place.

The conference was held near Greenwood, Delaware, last year and at Croghan, N. Y., the year previous.

Among the delegates at this conference were 24 ministers from the following places, there being several from some of the places named: Wellman, Iowa; Parnell, Iowa, Croghan, Lowville and Lancaster, N. Y.; Tuomer, Au Gres and Pigeon, Michigan; Middlebury, Goshen and Shipshewana, Indiana; Dundee and Hartville, Ohio; Belleville, Pa. There were also many lay delegates and visitors not ministers, some from Lancaster, Corfu and Alden, N. Y., and many from different points in the Western States.

Among those present from Virginia were Dean A. D. Wengerd of the Eastern Mennonite School at Harrisonburg, and Daniel Lehman, a teacher in the same school. Daniel Kaufman, editor of the Gospel Herald, and Levi Mumaw, secretary of Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities, Scottdale, were also present.

The purpose of the Annual Conference is to decide on matters that arise within the various congregations from time to time, and to pass resolutions on matters pertaining to the welfare of the church. This part of the work is very similar to that of the conferences of various other denominations. A number of resolutions were adopted, having to do with the spiritual welfare of the church at large.

The last day of the Conference was devoted to Sunday School work, the proceedings being conducted and participated in chiefly by laymen. This part of the program was very interesting and many touching and interesting events were related. More work is being done along the line of missions all the time, and this program was one having to do with that subject. A number of laymen and Sunday School workers, as well as mission workers, were the speakers. The largest work of the church along missionary lines at present is the A. M. Children's home, adjacent to the Maple Glen Church, where the conference was held. A number of people visited that home, who had never been there before. All were impressed with the good work being done there and the self-sacrificing being made by the superintendent and workers who are spending their lives in the interest of homeless children. A plea was made for additional funds for the operation of the home, and considerable was obtained.

There are at present about 60 children being cared for in the Home, which makes the work too large for the present staff of workers, and the Conference, therefore, assigned an assistant to the superintendent, in the person of Lewis Bender, now of Elk Lick Township, but formerly a school teacher in Maryland. It is hoped the labors of those now working will be lightened as soon as Mr. Bender can take his place as assistant.

At the Tuesday evening session of the Conference a special service was held for the children of the Home. They were marched into the tent in two groups, the boys in one group and the girls in the other, in charge of their teachers, about thirty in each group, very bright-looking and neatly dressed children, all apparently happy and well cared for. Several sections of front-row seats were reserved for the children, and when they were seated they sang a number of songs that had been taught them. Their singing was good and they sang with vim and enthusiasm. A fine talk was given to them by one of the visiting ministers, who asked them many questions about facts told of in the Bible, to which they gave quick and correct responses, showing that they have been well trained in Bible study.

The feeding of those who attended conference was done by providing a cold lunch at noon-day and a warm lunch in the evening. The serving was in the cafeteria style. For the noon-day lunch baked beans, cheese, cold boiled ham and beef, cookies, pickles, bread and butter, coffee, milk and pie were served. For the evening meal the same things were served, with the exception of baked beans, for which hot soup was substituted. Visitors were taken home by the people of the community and kept for the night and breakfast served to them at the homes. Meals and lodging were free to all.

Elmer G. Swartzentruber, of Wellman, Iowa, was the Moderator of the Conference.

The time and place for next year's conference has not been determined, this being left in the hands of a committee whose duty it is to make the proper arrangements.

Epidemic of Measles

An epidemic of measles is following in the wake of the Amish Mennonite conference recently held at the Maple Glen church near Grantsville.

The only unpleasant feature of the entire conference was the illness of a young boy from Indiana who was present with his parents. The parents were on a tour of the east and stopped at the conference on their way back. It was thought at first that the lad's illness was due to a dog bite at a tourists camp enroute, it developed that he had a very hard case of measles and as a result there are now many measles cases in the Amish families living in Elk Lick and Summit Townships, this county, and in Garrett county. It has not been learned whether or not there are any cases among visitors from distant points, but in this section where visiting was done in houses a regular epidemic is now under way.

Four children of Menno J. Yoder, living three miles west of Meyersdale, are among those afflicted. A quarantine has been established by local health authorities on all homes in which measles has broken out.

RECORD BREAKING CROWD FILLS MT. LAKE PARK

Largest Number Attending the Camp Meeting In Years—Institute of E. L. To Open

Sunday will bring to a close the forty-fifth annual Mountain Lake Park Camp Meeting, which has been the largest attended meeting held in many years, according to one who has been present from the first annual gathering to the present one.

With deeply interested people from a majority of the states of the Union in attendance, the camp meeting is moving along most successfully and far exceeds the expectations of the board of managers. A number of the boarding and lodging houses in the Park were compelled to find room for their guests at private homes in the Park.

The sermons that have been presented during the past week have been highly interesting and the meetings as a result have been of the very highest type, with this interest increasing as the meeting draws toward its close.

Providing the weather on Sunday is favorable, the largest crowd of people to gather at the Park for many years is expected. Prominent ministers have been secured for the morning, afternoon and evening sessions of that day.

Following the camp meeting's close on Sunday night, the next large gathering will be the Pittsburgh Conference Epworth League Institute, which will open for a week's session on July 9.

9th, the first meeting to be held the evening of that day.

The Epworth League is the official society of the young people of the Methodist Episcopal church throughout the United States, and the different districts or conferences, as a part of their work, hold annual summer institutes, two of which are held each year at the Park, the one of the Pittsburgh Conference and the other of the Baltimore Conference, the latter to follow the closing of the first on July 16th, at which time more than five hundred young people are expected to attend. The Pittsburghers will in all probability bring a like number of delegates.

Home Demonstration Agent's Schedule, July 9-13.

Connellsville Scouts to Camp on Deep Creek Lake Shore

Arrangements have been made for a site along the Deep Creek Lake shore for a camp of Troop No. 8, Boy Scouts of the United Presbyterian church, Connellsville, Pa., which will open on August 6 and close on the 17th of that month. The troop will arrive at the camp in a large truck and will bring with them their kitchen equipment, tents and personal outfits.

The site secured for the troop is adjacent to the Deep Creek State camp at Rainbow Inn.

A small cottage will be used to store food and may be used for other purposes as they may arise. Twenty-five members of the troop, at this time, will be at the camp and this number may be augmented.

Scoutmaster James M. Southard, assistant Scoutmaster Walter Cunningham and two other leaders will be in charge.

Located on the shores of the lake are the camps of the Oakland Troop of Boy Scouts, the Allegheny boys' camp and a camp of Boy Scouts from Pittsburgh, Pa.

Aged Man Falls Over Cliff.

Slipping over a small precipice in the rear of the home of the late Dr. Hugh Strachan, of Kitzmiller, where he had resided for a few months, David Robinson, aged 65 years, of Lonaconing, escaped serious injury at an early hour Monday evening when he fell a distance of fifteen feet onto a mass of rock.

The injured man was removed to a nearby house where Dr. Thomas B. Crittenden, of Kitzmiller, attended him. Aside from being painfully bruised about the body he was not otherwise injured, according to his attending physician who reported him as resting comfortably. Mr. Robinson will be removed to his Lonaconing home today in an ambulance and will probably be taken to the Miners Hospital at Frostburg for further treatment.

Donations Still Being Received By Boys' Band.

The past week has been a good one for the Gilbert-Brown Boys' Band in that the organization has rendered an appreciated service at the town of Rowlesburg, W. Va., at the Fourth of July celebration held in that city, and also because the receipt of several donations amounting to $65 were received. The donations came from C. N. McIntire and A. C. Mason, who engaged the boys to play at a lot sale which they conducted at Deen Creek Lake a week ago, amounting to $25; another was made by Procter Kildow Post, American Legion, the sum being $15, and the third came from Rowlesburg, which amounted to $25. According to R. R. Gilbert, director of the band, the people of Rowlesburg were much pleased with the boys playing and he also stated that the boys enjoyed the day immensely.

INVERTED SPEECH SYSTEM MAKES RADIO CONVERSATIONS PRIVATE GRACE SHOWS

General Commercial Engineer of Bell Telephone Laboratories Demonstrates Method, Using Instrument With Electrical "Ears" and "Brain" to Translate Gibberish to Understandable English

Photograph by Underwood & Underwood

Major C. S. Albright, U. S. Signal Corps, and General George S. Gibbs, chief signal officer of the Army, seeing S. P. Grace, general commercial engineer, of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, demonstrate a method by which secrecy in radio transmission may be obtained.

Achievements in communication have come so fast during the past year or two that the public refuses to be startled with the announcement of a demonstration of the "latest" outstanding event on the subject. Television, secrecy in radio transmissions, transatlantic telephone conversations, the use of an artificial larynx by which the dumb may talk and telephone instruments which enable the deaf to hear are just some of the latest achievements of science which have been developed by the research and development engineers and scientists of the Bell Telephone Laboratories.

Sergius P. Grace, general commercial engineer of the laboratories in a recent demonstration before a large Washington, D. C. audience including Dwight W. Davis, Secretary of War, Major General George S. Gibbs, Chief Signal Officer of the Army, Captain T. T. Craven, director of Navy communication and other representatives of the Army and Navy and members of the Federal Radio Commission and Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia demonstrated the use of some of this apparatus developed by the laboratories and which will be of great benefit in the communications field.

The demonstration given by Mr. Grace showed among other things how secrecy in radio transmission may be obtained. He used a phonograph and records which, when played, brought forth a sound which was all gibberish of non-understandable language, but by the use of a modern "Robot" which has electrical "ears" and an electrical "brain" the sounds were translated into perfect, understandable English.

NEW YORK AND LONDON MEETINGS JOINED BY TRANS-ATLANTIC TELEPHONE CIRCUIT

American and British Institutions of Electrical Engineers Hear Same Proceedings Though Separated by 3,000 Miles of Water

Photograph by International Newsreel

Bancroft Gherardi, vice-president, A. T. & T. Company, and president of the A. I. E. E., addressing joint meeting of Electrical Engineers Societies in New York and London, with R. H. P. Charlesworth, General J. J. Carty, Dr. F. B. Jewett, K. W. Waterson and O. B. Blackwell listening.

Transatlantic telephone service is being rapidly extended in continental Europe. It is now practicable for telephone users in the United States and Cuba to carry on conversations with points in Belgium, Holland, Germany and Sweden, and in addition, Great Britain, where the service has been in effect since January 7, 1927.

This telephone service across the Atlantic is now being widely used. Only recently two audiences separated by 3,000 miles of water were joined in the same proceedings for the first time in history. This joint meeting was the mid-winter convention of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers held in New York and the British Institution of Electrical Engineers held in London. The New York meeting was held in the morning, but on account of the five hours difference in time the meeting in London was in the afternoon. Bancroft Gherardi, vice-president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company as president of the American Institution of Electrical Engineers, addressed both meetings at the same time through the agency of the transatlantic telephone circuit.

Public address system equipment installed in the meeting places in both New York and London enabled the two audiences to hear the entire program.

Archibald Page, president of the British Institution of Electrical Engineers in London presided over the meeting and introduced Mr. Gherardi, who, after extending best wishes and greetings to those assembled in London, paid tribute to the accumulated work of the scientist, the inventor and the electrical engineer which had made possible this joint meeting. He stressed the benefits which the art of electrical communication has contributed to the welfare of mankind. Chairman Page responded with an expression of the comradeship which exists between the members of the two electrical engineering societies. He commented on the transformation which the telephone has brought about in the daily life of all civilized people and spoke of the [illegible] of American scientists, inventors and engineers.

SPARKS FROM AN OAKLAND PULPIT

EDISON'S DEAFNESS.

When Thomas A. Edison was twelve years old, he received an injury which made him deaf for life. He was a newsboy on the Grand Trunk Railway, and the story is that an irate trainman caught the boy by the ears and yanked him up from a platform into a baggage car.

But Edison makes this testimony: "My deafness has not been a handicap but a help to me. From the start it drove me to reading. My refuge was the Detroit Public Library. I didn't read a few books. I read the library.

"I was shut off from that particular kind of intercourse which is called small talk, but I am glad of it. Freedom from such talk gave me an opportunity to think out my problems.

"My nerves are stronger and better today than they would have been had my hearing been normal. Not even New York is a strain on my nerves.

"Deafness has done many good things for the world. In my own case it was responsible, I think, for the perfection of the phonograph; and it had something to do with the development of the telephone. When Bell first worked out his telephone, the instrument was so weak I couldn't hear it. I started to develop it and kept on till the sounds were audible to me. This improvement, the carbon transmitter, made the telephone successful. If I had not been deaf, it is probable that this improvement would not have been made.

"My deafness has had a definite advantage for me in business also, in more ways than one. The fact that I do not rely en verbal agreements and reports is one reason for this.

"Even in courtship my deafness was a help. It excused me for getting quite a little nearer to her than I would have dared to if I hadn't had to be quite close in order to hear what she said. If something hadn't overcome my natural bashfulness I might have been too faint of heart to win.

"And finally: The best thinking has been done in solitude; the worst, in turmoil."

So the great inventor recites the beatitudes of his affliction. Truly this is a beautiful spirit, and a very sensible one too—to insist upon seeing the rainbow in every cloud, the advantage in every handicap, the discipline in every trial, the lesson in every defeat, the wisdom in every hard knock, the happiness in every sorrow, the joy in every pain, the star in every midnight sky.

Fortunate is the man who has this attitude toward life. It is the secret of contentment and success.

"We know that all things work together for good to them that love God." (Romans 8:28.)

CUPID BREAKS MARRIAGE RECORD AT COURT HOUSE

One Hundred Forty-nine Apply for Licenses During June

Whether it is on account of the florists throughout the country calling attention to special June wedding flowers, or the advertisement of Furniture dealers, ready to put the "love est" in order, or whether the credit must go to Dan Cupid wholly is a question, but nevertheless credit is due to someone or something, as the records at the Garrett County Court House will show that the marriage license record for all time past was broken in June, 1928, when 149 couples secured the necessary papers with which to wed.

Never before in the history of Garrett county has there appeared before the Clerk of the Circuit Court so many couples for that coveted paper as there were in June, according to Albert G. Ross, deputy clerk. However, by looking over the records, Mr. Ross found that September, 1923, was a close runnerup, in as much as 148 licenses for marriage were issued by the local court.

June and September have been running high in the matrimonial field for a number of years, but as the record shows it is not broken every year, there having elapsed five years since the last record was established.

According to the attaches of the Clerk's office, it had been expected that the record would be broken during the last month, for each week the number steadily grew. A little concern was felt, however, when the number was tied for fear another couple wouldn't get in in time, and knowing the last day of the month was Sunday and a holiday at the Court House, it just required a little earnest waiting, and to be sure the "record breaking" couple did arrive.

During the week there were 41 couples who applied at the Clerk's office for their licenses and one couple was refused because o fthe age of one of the contracting parties, and five were marked "don't publish."

Funeral of Charles C. Speicher.

Charles C. Speicher, aged 61 years, a well known salesman of Meyersdale, Pa., died at his home there on Sunday night of heart disease. He had been ailing for the past year. Funeral services were conducted at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning at his late residence by Rev. J. Luther Frantz, pastor of Zion Lutheran church, of which Mr. Speicher was a member. His remains were brought to Accident for interment in St. Paul's cemetery. Mr. Speicher was a resident of this community for quite a long time and was well known. He is survived by his widow, one son and a daughter. Another son was killed in a mine near Pittsburgh last fall. Mr. Speicher had been employed by the Swamp Hardware Company of Johnstown and prior to this employment he had been with the Shipley Hardware Co. He was born in the Cove, near Accident, where the greater part of his life was spent, being the son of Austin Speicher, deceased, a prominent farmer in his day and at one time a member of the Maryland Legislature. He is survived by three elder brothers: Dr. A. F. Speicher, of Los Angeles, Cal.; Ross Speicher, of Littletown, Col., and Francis Speicher, of Wray, Colorado. He is also survived by three sisters: Mrs. Milton Fisher, of Accident; Mrs. Louis Kemp, of Grantsville, and Mrs. Josephus Glotfelty, of Bittinger.

MRS. MATILDA BUROW.

She was the wife of Christian Burow, who preceded her in death fourteen years ago. She is survived by a son, Earl, and by three stepchildren, Ray, Frank and Bertha; one brother, C. J. Oester and one sister, Mrs. C. J. Hanft. Her funeral was conducted by Rev. A. W. Gode in St. John's Lutheran church in the Cove and her body laid to rest in the churchyard. Besides the sorrowing relatives a great number of friends accompanied the remains to their last resting place.

Victim of Appendicitis.

Mr. Arthur Speicher, who left here the past week for College Park to attend school, became suddenly ill Saturday night with an attack of acute appendicitis. He was rushed to the Emergency Hospital, Washington, D. C., and was operated upon Sunday afternoon. Word has been received here that his condition is as good as could be expected under the circumstances.

The Why of Telephone Progress

"It is fundamental in our plan of organization to have at headquarters and in our laboratories several thousand people whose sole job it is to work for improvement."

WALTER S. GIFFORD,
President of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company
(Bell System)

¶ Research, invention, development—this sequence in unvarying order has been responsible for every advance in the art of telephony.

¶ Fifty-two years ago there were only two telephones in the world—the crude but entirely practicable models of the inventor. Today, the world has over 29,000,000 telephones, more than 18,000,000 of which are in or connected with the Bell Telephone System in this country.

¶ Every step in the development of this giant industry has presented its problems—problems that can only be solved through exhaustive research and experimentation. Since the day of its invention a constantly growing organization of scientists have been devoting their entire time toward perfecting the telephone art.

¶ Today, this organization, known as the Bell Telephone Laboratories has grown until it numbers 3700 people. Hardly a month goes by but the world is astounded by some new and marvelous result of their labors—some new and important advance in the art of communication.

¶ The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore City—which serves you—is one of the associate companies of the Bell System, and as such is entitled to, and has at its disposal the results of these scientists' labors as soon as they are perfected. Thus, we are enabled to make continuous progress toward the realization of our aim to give the most telephone service and the best at the least cost to the public.

"FRIENDSHIP LUNCHEON" AN ENJOYABLE OCCASION

Was Given Under the Auspices of Oakland Civic Club

The "friendship luncheon", given by the Oakland Civic Club at the Manhattan Hotel on Monday afternoon, July 2, was an occasion enjoyed by everyone present.

The guests included past and present members of the organization, friends and honor guests.

Mrs. William W. Grant, of Oakland, made an ideal toastmistress.

Mrs. James W. Thomas, of Cumberland, director of the State Federation of Women's Clubs of Maryland, was the principal speaker. In a delightful and entertaining manner she related the story of the election of Mrs. John F. Sippel, of Baltimore, as President of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. This federation is composed of over 14,000 clubs with a membership of nearly 3,000,000 women of the United States and foreign countries.

Mrs. Bretz told of the club work being done in Allegany county and the efforts they are making to establish a county library, their interest in the work of caring for crippled children and legislation in regard to equal rights for women in all the States.

Mrs. George W. Legge, Jr., of Cumberland, told of the work being done by the study group of the Cumberland Civic Club in studying the history of Allegany county and of Cumberland.

Mrs. R. E. Sliger, of Wheeling, W. Va., and Miss Ann Sloan, of Lonaconing, brought greetings as old friends of the local club.

Mr. Joseph L. Harned, president of the Oakland Rotary Club, in a pleasing talk, assured the Civic Club of the hearty cooperation of the Rotarians in all work of service to the community.

Greetings were read by the President, Miss Fundenberg, from Mrs. Ward, president of the Northern Federation of Maryland clubs; from Mrs. John L. Alcock, president of the State Federation and from Mrs. Sippel, president of the General Federation, whose letter is given below:

Baltimore, June 26, 1928.

How I wish I might be with you at your luncheon, but since this is not possible, may I not send a little message to the members of the Oakland Civic Club?

It is most pleasing to me that one of my first messages, as President of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, should be to one of my own Maryland clubs. I have always been proud of our Maryland clubwomen and the things for which they stand, and I am looking for them to do even greater things in the coming years.

One cannot live in the present and dwell mentally in the past, and those who would be successful must not only think in the present but in the future. They must be willing to give of their time, their strength, their talents and their love. But one of the great compensations of our Federation work is the feeling that we are always gaining new friends. We must be tolerant and wise and look for the best in our friends and best in our clubs, and we will grow ourselves.

I thank each one of you for the loyal support you have always given me and I bespeak your love and cooperation throughout the coming years so that my administration will be one of which you Maryland women will be proud.

Cordially and faithfully yours,
BETTIE M. SIPPEL.

Mrs. Harold Harned, accompanied by Mrs. James Treacy, sang in her usual pleasing manner, two songs.

The out-of-town guests were:

Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Bretz and Mrs. Legge, Cumberland; Miss Anna Sloan, Lonaconing; Mrs. R. E. Sliger, Wheeling; Miss Maude Curtiss, West Liberty, W. Va.; Mrs. Weems Nihiser, Lake City, Fla.; Miss Alma Scherr, Morgantown, W. Va., and Mrs. Ralph Davis, Baltimore, Md.

Others present were Miss Benthien, Mrs. Bosley, Mrs. T. Naylor, Mrs. John Darby, Mrs. G. A. Fraley, Mrs. Rose Frazee, Miss Fundenberg, Mrs. T. A. Gonder, Mrs. Bernard Gonder, Mrs. W. W. Grant, Mrs. R. R. Gilbert, Mr. R. R. Gilbert, Mr. Nelson Offutt, Mr. Joseph Harned, Mrs. James Hamill, Mrs. Andrew Helbig, Mrs. Harold Harned, Miss Stella Hart, Mrs. T. C. ## BITTINGER.

The great doors of the Houston convention hall swung open and behold there came forth Al Smith leading a decrepid old donkey upon whose flea infested back was strapped the marred and mutilated form of the Eighteenth Amendment and behind the reluctant mule there plodded a masked figure bearing the Tammany torch and a long goad with which to urge the loitering creature onward. The entire procession was headed for that old familiar land of fantastic political dreams that never come true.

Rev. E. E. Campbell left his home in this village last Thursday afternoon for Los Angeles, Cal., where he will attend the World's Sunday school convention during the first days of the present month.

An epidemic of measles has broken out in the Amish settlement near this village.

Rev. Whitaker, of the Brethren church, held a series of meetings in Bethesda Chapel, near here, last week which meetings were well attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey R. Broadwater were shopping in Oakland one day last week.

Jesse Warnick, of the Backwoods Settlement, was a pleasant business caller in our midst on Friday of last week.

Charles H. Wiley, one of the local road supervisors, is doing some much needed work on the mountain road in this community.

Messrs. John H. Stark and Lawrence Brenneman were visitors on the east side of the mountain last week.

Delbert Detrick, representing the Federal Products Co., has been canvassing this and nearby territories recently with much success.

Simon Brenneman, who is employed in the construction of a large and modern barn over in Somerset county, Pa., spent Sunday with his family here.

Some of our neighbors have secured employment with the contractor who is now engaged in rebuilding Rock Lodge, which was recently destroyed by fire.

The young lads of this community organized a party one evening last week and treated Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bittinger to an old-fashioned serenading.

Services in the local Lutheran church have been discontinued until the return of Rev. Campbell, early in August.

Farmers in this section are only able to sow their buckwheat between showers, which are almost of daily occurrence.

Send your Job Work to The Republican Commercial Printing Department—it will be done neatly, correctly and as promptly as in consistent with good workmanship.

Dipped - Doused - Sprayed - Immersed

THERE IS NOTHING MORE LAUNDERED THAN A HUDSON MOTOR

Showing one of the washing compartments within which Hudson cylinder blocks are rotated while a cascade of hot, soapy solution is dashed onto them under pressure. This is one of the methods used in those repeated washings which make a motor one of the most thoroughly laundered articles in the world.

Probably one of the cleanest and most laundered articles in the world is a high grade automobile engine. It is washed with live steam, with boiling soda solutions and with kerosene and oil—not once, but repeatedly. It is scoured, sprayed, immersed and doused. Cascades of swirling hot water under pressure are poured over it many times.

Each sort of dirt, grit or grease is attacked with a different method. Finally, it is given an internal bath with oil under pressure. An example of how these operations are carried on under conditions of high production is afforded in the Hudson Super-Six. Following is a Hudson description of what is done to a cylinder block:

The block is cleaned by sand blast, then sprayed with paint to close pores in the metal. Next the interior of the cooling system is pressure-tested with water for leaks, following which a hot soda solution under pressure washes this whole system for sand, rust and other dirt.

After the valves are ground this part of the motor is sprayed with kerosene which loosens up any surface dirt.

Live Steam Bath.

Next the whole block is subjected to a bath of live steam under pressure. Still this is not enough, so the whole block is placed in a rotary washer—an enclosed compartment within which the block is rotated while gallons of very hot metal cleaning solution are cascaded onto it and through every part of it. Now it is partly immersed in cold water—as much for cooling as for additional cleansing. It is dried with compressed air which blows away the dirt.

Hot Oil Internal Bath.

Finally and probably most significant of all, the whole interior of the motor is given a hot oil bath during the block test. As the motor runs during this test a constant supply of filtered oil is fed the motor from special tanks. The motor warms itself naturally during the test, so that particles of grit, machine chips or other dirt are loosened and washed out of the motor by the supply of oil.

The oil itself is not carried to the sump for re-circulation but is led away from the motor, taking away with it the various particles as sediment. This several hours of an internal hot oil bath so cleanses the inside of the motor that the closest inspection is said to discover no foreign substances. This system is employed by some of the finest European cars.

Thoroughly Cleaned.

Meantime, the aluminum crankcase, the cylinder heads and various miscellaneous parts have been subjected to similar washing systems, so that the whole Hudson motor inside and out is said to be spotlessly clean.

This cleanliness at the very start of a motor's operation is declared highly important to its long life, and Hudson's recent developments have been along the line of increasing the efficiency of each washing operation as well as adding new methods and new facilities.

SMITH BRANDED AS FAKER AND QUACK BY WOMAN

Mrs. Shaver, Wife of Democratic National Chairman Denounces The Presidential Nominee.

Mrs. Franklin D. Rossevelt, wife of the man who nominated Governor Smith, at Houston, in answer to Mrs. Clem L. Shaver's attack on the Democratic nominee, said she believed Mrs. Shaver had been "misled" by a group that considered the Volstead Law enforcement "more important than truth or fair play."

Mrs. Shaver, wife of the Democratic national chairman, said in Washington Friday that the Governor had "stamped himself as a charlatan and a faker." She added that "we dry Democratic women will not support the dripping wet ticket and joke platform named by the Tammany delegates."

Will Not Support Wet Ticket

Mrs. Shaver, who is chairman of the West Virginia Division of National Woman's Democratic law enforcement league, asked "how many times has Tammany supported the party nominee in the past sixteen years?" and answered it by saying "not once." She also took occasion in her statement to take a sarcastic filing at various Democratic leaders who have announced they would support the ticket and platform adopted at Houston. Mrs. Shaver said in her statement:

"Regardless of what Democratic leaders from top to bottom may do we dry Democratic women will not support the dripping wet ticket and the joke platform named by the Tammany delegates to the recent convention at Houston.

"And furthermore, we do not believe more than a few millions of the Democratic women in this country can be fooled as all of the Democratic leaders appear to have been fooled by it. The idea of men like Josephus Daniels, Dan Moody, Joe Robinson, Carter Glass and Jed Adams saying, 'I am a Democrat—I shall support the party nominee.'

"Fooled Leaders."

"How many times has Tammany supported the party nominee in the past sixteen year? Not once. Yet they have fooled these heretofore able Democratic leaders into saying: 'I am a Democrat; I will vote for Tammany, whiskey and a trick platform.'

"We say a man who will shut his eyes, like an ostrich to the things which the Democratic party has always stood for is 'booze-o-crat,' not a Democrat.

Smith "Faker and Quack"

"The Democratic nominee has always said in his public utterances the party should make the platform and a candidate should stand on it. He has always said that his one outstanding issue is whiskey and booze—the return of the legalized liquor traffic, which means the return of the licensed saloon. Every politician knows it, and when the party adopted a 'dry' platform, if the nominee had been either honest or sincere in his public utterances he could have done nothing but decline the nomination.

"He did not, and therefore stamped himself as a charlatan and a faker who is attempting to prove that Lincoln was wrong and that you can fool all of the people all of the time."

Mrs. Shaver wound up her statement by predicting "more than one political funeral" would be celebrated before cold weather arrives.

Keyser Man Falls From Roof at His Mountain Lake Home.

What might have resulted in a more serious accident and possibly the death of Edward G. Kimmell, prominent real estate man of Keyser, West Va., who maintains a summer home at Mountain Lake Park, occurred Saturday at the latter place when he fell from a ladder on a porch roof to the ground.

At the time of the accident, Mr. Kimmell was endeavoring to saw a limb from a tree in his yard located quite close to the house and had set a ladder on a slanting porch roof, 14 feet from the ground and leaned the top of the ladder to the tree standing three or four feet away from the building. After mounting the ladder he leaned toward the limb which he intended sawing off and the ladder tilting threw him to the earth, rendering him unconscious for several hours. Dr. N. I. Broadwater attended the injured man and it is said his condition is about normal this morning. Mr. Kimmell was injured about the head and shoulders.

LARGE BARN STRUCK BY LIGHTNING AND IS BURNED

Structure Valued at $3,000 Destroyed—Cattle Also Killed

An electrical storm visited this section of country on Monday afternoon and caused the loss of a large barn, 40 by 80 feet, belonging to Boyd Lohr, of the North Glade section, and also the loss of three cows and one hog belonging to Charles Wiles, of near Terra Alta, West Va., ten miles west of Oakland.

The barn, which was located on the farm of Mr. Lohn, about three miles from Glendale Bridge, which spans Deep Creek Lake at the Narrows, was built three years ago and was valued at more than $3,000. With the exception of a horse which was standing in the barn at the time it was struck by the bolt of lightning and some harness which was gotten out of the structure, everything else it contained was destroyed.

The cows and hog belonging to Mr. Wiles were standing close to a wire fence, which was struck by lightning. Mr. Wiles counts his loss about $550.

A silo on the farm of Noah Schrock, near Gortner, was blown down by a high wind during the storm on last Monday afternoon, which is now being replaced with a new one.

Several trees were also twisted off and blown to the ground in the Gortner section.

Alleged Sheep Thief Held For Grand Jury.

Job Sines, about 20 years of age, of Sang Run, who is a son of Dick Sines, was committed to the Garrett County Jail in Oakland on last Thursday for the action of the grand jury on a charge of stealing sheep.

The alleged crime was committed by Sines on Sunday morning two weeks ago, according to the testimony of Frederick Hoye, of near Sang Run, and his two sons, from whom the animals were stolen. The men, suspecting the arrival of the accused on the morning of the theft, secreted themselves in the field in which the sheep were grazing. The sheep fold had been previously visited and as happened always on a Sunday morning, hence Mr. Hoye's vigil.

Not long after the father and sons had hidden themselves Job Sines appeared at an open place in the field and scattered some salt on the ground. When the sheep approached the salt he is alleged to have caught one of them and carried it to a low place in the field, which is surrounded by a thicket. While it was impossible for the Hoyes to witness the slaughter of the animal they did find the forequarters, the hide and offal hidden under a rock in a springdrain, and later saw Sines carrying the hindquarters, going toward his home.

A young man named Jones, a son-in-law of Dick Sines, was arrested with Job Sines in connection with the theft of the sheep, but was released for lack of evidence at the hearing before Magistrate West.

Women's Civic Club of Mountain Lake Park to Hold Bazaar.

The Women's Civic Club of Mountain Lake Park will conduct a bazaar at the bowling alley in the Park on the afternoon of Wednesday, July 18, when the ladies will have on sale fancy articles, cake, candy, etc. For almost a quarter of a century the women of the Park have held these annual bazaars and in that time they have been quite successful in conducting them, the proceeds being devoted to municipal improvements.

Car Set on Fire by Projectile From a Roman Candle

What is thought to have been carelessness on the part of a celebrant of Independence Day caused damage estimated at $100 to the automobile belonging to Mrs. Joe Littman.

Mrs. Littman had parked her car, a new Chevrolet coupe, on Third street near a recently erected filling station at the intersection of Green street, and several hours later a fire was discovered in the car. A hole about six inches in diameter had been burned through the top and when the fire was observed a blaze was consuming one of the cushions and the upholstery on one of the doors. It is supposed that a projectile from a Roman candle had been fired into the car and caused the blaze.

Charles Whetsell, attendant at the nearby filling station, extinguished the fire shortly after it had been discovered.

FATHER TAKEN TO CUT WHILE SON STAYS IN JAIL

John Swauger, a Persistent Violator, Begins Sentence; Is Jailed Following Accident

A night lodging together brought to a close a "visit" of a son with his father at the Garrett County Jail, Oakland, when John Swauger, father, was taken from the local institution to the House of Correction, and Elmer Swauger, the son, was held in jail for a period of time for violating several sections of the automobile stautes.

John, the father, has been confined in the Oakland Jail since the June Term of the Circuit Court when he was found guilty of manufacturing and selling illicit liquor. He has been a persistent violator. His earlier transportation was hindered by an action of some kind whereby his friends sought to have him paralled or his sentence of six months redneed. This question was argued before Judge Doub some days ago by W. R. Offutt, representing Swauger, and State's Attorney Renninger, representing the prosecution. The State won and as a result the violator is engaged in farm work for the State. In addition to his House of Correction sentence, Swauger is to pay a fine of $300 or serve an additional term of eighteen months in the House of Correction. Elmer, the son, was sent to jail Friday evening by Justice W. A. Gonder in default of payment of a fine and costs amounting to $107.65 for violation of several sections of the automobile laws.

Young Swauger was hailed before the court following an accident which occurred at a point on the Oakland-Bittinger road, five miles south of Bittinger, on last Thursday night, and resulted in the injury of a cow, the property of Edward Alexander, a farmer of that community, when the automobile being driven by Swauger in an intoxicated condition, ran into the animal. The automobile was also badly damaged.

At the court trial Swauger was fined $100 for driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor and $1 and costs in each of the following cases docketed against him: Driving without an operator's license; driving without a registration card and with reckless driving.

John Swauger was taken to the penal institution at Jessup's Cut by Sheriff William D. Casteel on Saturday morning.

Boys' Band To Play Three Engagements.

The Gilbert-Brown Boys' Band has been engaged to play at the water carnival, which will be held on Deep Creek Lake, August 3; for the Firemen's Convention at Meyersdale, Pa., on August 16th, and also for a Sunday afternoon program at Hopemont Sanitarium, the tuberculosis institution near Terra Alta, which is maintained by the State of West Virginia.

The boys have recently played upon several occasions and those engaging their services have expressed their praise in behalf of the members and directors of the band.

Knights To Give a Chevrolet Coach This Year.

According to Singleton Townshend, past Chancellor Commander of Garrett Lodge, No. 113, Knights of Pythias, the picnic committee of that organization has purchased a car to be given away at the annual Labor Day picnic, which will be held as usual in Helbig's Grove on September 3.

While Milburn Mann, present Chancellor Commander of the local lodge, is chairman of the picnic committee, the manager has not yet been named and until he is chosen no detailed program can be announced for the affair, it was stated yesterday.

The rank of Page will be conferred on a candidate at the lodge rooms to morrow evening.

Bible School Will Close Friday

Two picnics on Friday will bring to a close the vacation Bible school, conducted at the Oakland grammar school building last week and this week under the auspices and direction of the Oakland Council of Religious Education. The little folks will be taken by their instructors and other ladies interested in the school, to Sang Run, where they will picnic, while the older students will go to the Boy Scouts camp on Deep Creek Lake and picnic there for the day.

According to Mrs. Paul B. Naylor, the school this year can be counted successful in every way.

MOUNT AIRY CANNING CO. OPENS SEASON AT PLANT

Extensive Improvements Completed—Large Yield and Successful Season Anticipated

With a large number of men, women and boys in its employ, the Mt. Airy Canning Company opened the canning season at Loch Lynn Heights yesterday morning in what might well be called its new plant.

After extensive improvements and the addition of a tile building 28x120 feet, the plant begun operations for what is anticipated to be the best season yet to be enjoyed by the company since the erection of its original plant in Garrett county several years ago.

Yesterday morning approximately seventy men and women found employment at the plant, while this morning there is said to be 125 men and women at work.

Since the first of April the original plant has undergone a complete remodeling with additions constructed, with the result that the efficiency of the plant in the quick handling of the product has been materially increased with less labor. This condition has been brought about that now every department of the plant is kept going continuously while in former years it was necessary to shut down one section or another at different times during the day in order to relieve congestion somewhere else in the handling and delivery of the product. This condition has been relieved and overcome by the addition of larger bins and the speedier operation of the machinery.

The total amount of power required to operate the plant this year is 460 h. p. The power is produced by two new 150 horse power boilers and four 40 horse power electric motors.

According to Senator Fooks, president of the Mt. Airy Canning Company, who has been in Oakland and at Loch Lynn Heights for a week or ten days, the plant will have a straight run of thirty days or more in canning peas, after which time the corn crop will be ready for harvesting and canning, and the time required for its completion can not at this time be estimated.

J. Howard Reinhardt, Oakland, who is the resident manager of the Mt. Airy Canning Company, and who is located at the plant throughout the year, supervised the construction of the addition and the rearrangement of the machinery and is now superintending the canning of the peas.

Sun's Rays Cause Roadway to Burst.

While the nights remain cool in Oakland, yet the sun does shine with effect during the day, and on Sunday afternoon, due to its intense heat rays, the concrete road leading from town to Crellin and Terra Alta burst in a straight line across its surface and threw quite a lot of gravel and particles of other material entering into its construction over the point where the break occurred, it being a short distance west of the corporate limits of town. Expansion, caused by the sun's rays, was given as the cause of the break.

To Be Wedded This Afternoon.

Miss Marion Henion, of Walwich, N. J., former supervising teacher of the Oakland unit public schools, and the Reverend A. J. Torrey, of Logan, West Va., former rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal church here, will be joined in the Holy bonds of matrimony this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at All Saint's church, Frederick, by the Reverend W. L. Gravatt, D. D., bishop of the dioces of West Virginia.

Miss Henion has been prominently identified with the public school system in Oakland for several years and during her stay here has made many close friends. The Reverend Mr. Torrey was known as one of the most popular and active ministers to serve an Oakland congregation, and was especially loved by boys, with whom he worked diligently and established the first permanent troop of Boy Scouts.

A wedding luncheon will be served at the Francis Scott Key Hotel at Frederick at noon today when the immediate families of the bridal couple and a few close friends including Miss Rhesa M. King, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Rathbun and son, Howard, of Oakland, and Dr. George Evans, of Terra Alta, will be present.

After a honeymoon Rev. and Mrs. Torrey will go to Grafton, West Va., where they will reside. Rev. Torrey will become pastor of St. Mathias' church there.

BOAT CLUB ORGANIZATION WILL BE PERFECTED SOON

F. R. Corliss Made President—Directors Yet to be Named

A board of directors will be elected at a meeting to be held in the John O. Thayer barn on Deep Creek Lake next Sunday which will perfect the organization of the Allegheny Boat Club, which was instituted Monday night at the office of the Associated Gas and Electric Company at the corner of Oak and Third streets.

At the Monday evening meeting, F. R. Corliss was elected president of the club, while Ronald E. McIntire was chosen secretary and R. C. McComas was made treasurer.

It is the purpose of the organization, according to the president, to convert the John O. Thayer barn, which is located on the shore of Deep Creek Lake, into a club house, and by some rearrangement of the building an ideal home for the purposes of the club, can be made, Mr. Corliss said.

The members of the club have entered into a lease with the owners of the building for the remaining months of the year and will either secure a long-term lease or buy the building outright from the Eastern Land Corporation before any extensive improvements are made.

The meeting on Sunday will be held at three o'clock and all persons interested are cordially invited to attend, Mr. Corliss stated.

4-H CLUB GIRLS TO LEAVE MONDAY FOR WEEK'S CAMP

About 80 Girls Will Attend; Program Arranged

Approximately eighty girls from Garrett and Allegany counties will go to camp along the Casselman river at Grantsville on Monday and remain there for one week.

The girls are members of the 4-H Clubs of the two counties and camping is included in the program of their year's work.

The camp will open Monday morning with Miss Dorothy Emerson, the State director of Girls' Club work of the University of Maryland, and Miss Maude Bean, home demonstrator of Allegany county, and Miss Elsie Benthien, home demonstrator of Garrett county, in charge. At the camp lessons are given in felt and basketry, and swimming in the Casselman river will be the main recreation.

A program, which will be strictly followed throughout the week, has been arranged and the schedule calls for activities to begin at 6:30 in the morning and continues until 9:00 in the evening.

The morning hours are taken up after the morning meal by camp inspection; classes from 9:00 until 11:30 o'clock, and from 11:30 to 1:00 o'clock the girls go on a hike, taking with them their lunches.

From 1:00 until 2:00 in the afternoon is a rest period for the girls, after which time they spend an hour swimming. The remaining hours of the afternoon and evening are consumed by holding tribe meetings, eating supper, recreation and vespers and the evening closes with a big camp fire from 8:00 until 9:00 o'clock.

There will likely be 25 girls attend the camp from Garrett county it was stated by Miss Benthien, and from 50 to 60 girls from Allegany county.

Ten Administrators Appointed.

At the last session of the Garrett County Orphans' Court, held on Tuesday of the present week, ten administrators of various estates were appointed—the largest number to be named by the court at any previous session in the history of the county.

According to Register of Wills E. E. Friend, the next largest number of administrators named by the court at one session was seven, and that occurred a number of years ago.

Convenient and Comfortable Booths in Local Confectionery

Besides the recent addition to his place of business of a 26-foot soda fountain and luncheonette, W. A. Gonder, proprietor of the Bon Ton, is just now completing the installation of new fixtures to make his confectionery store up to the minute both in respect to appearance and equipment, by installing four booths to accommodate sixteen people. The seating capacity of the store will total 32.

According to the proprietor, the manufacturers of the equipment said that the new soda fountain was the most complete, compact and accessible fountain ever before built by them.

FIVE HUNDRED DELEGATES EXPECTED FOR CONVENTION

Entertainment Committee Busy On Several Phases For 56th State Grange Meeting.

Going into the matter more thoroughly during the past few days, arrangements are just now about complete for the entertainment in Oakland of the State Grange convention, which will be held here on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, August 14, 15 and 16.

With the arrival of 500 delegates at the convention, the entertainment committee has been active in securing accommodations for the grangers, their wives and children, and at a meeting held on Monday night by the committee the Knights of Pythias lodge rooms were selected for the convention hall.

The committee on entertainment is composed of Messrs. George D. Sprague, Howard P. Stuck and C. N. McIntire, representing the Oakland Commercial Club; D. M. Lower, master of Pomona Grange of Garrett county, Paul Friend and Mac Ridder, met in conference with County Agent McGlone at his office on Monday evening when the place of meeting was selected and other matters with which the committee had to do were arranged satisfactorily.

It is the purpose of the committee to arrange with the various hotels and boarding houses of the town to give the grangers a uniform rate for meals and lodging. The committee will also secure the Crellin and Oakland bands for a concert on Monday evening for the entertainment of the convention members arriving early.

On one day of the convention it is the purpose of the committee to arrange a tour of a section of Garrett county, and it is expected that a trip will also be made to Cheat River by way of Aurora.

The Manhattan Hotel will be headquarters for the convention officers.

All persons in Oakland having rooms for rent for the period of the convention are requested to communicate with George D. Sprague, Oakland, who will assign rooms to the delegates as they arrive.

According to County Agent McGlone, Dr. Simons, director of Extension Work in Maryland, has advised all County Agents in the State to arrange a tour to Oakland for the convention.

Kitzmiller Man Is Held for Assaulting His Wife.

For assaulting and beating his wife, the results of which she alleges she has been deafened in one ear by a blow inflicted by her husband, John Solomon, Kitzmiller, was lodged in the Garrett county jail in Oakland in default of $500 bond for his appearance at the December court. Unless bail is furnished Solomon will have to remain in the custody of the sheriff.

On the charge preferred, Solomon was given a hearing by Justice W. A. Gonder on Monday. Solomon's wife, Mrs. Lulu Solomon, testified that she had been attacked on June 16, but owing to a weakened physical condition caused by the ill-treatment she had received at the hands of her husband, she was unable to appear sooner.

According to the testimony of Dr. Thomas B. Crittenden, who attended Mrs. Solomon, she suffered from a blow in her chest which felled her to the floor and was then deafened by a blow or kick on her ear. The physician stated that the blow might have resulted in the fracture of her skull.

Solomon, the defendant in the case, testified that his wife had lost her hearing following an attack of influenza suffered several months ago.

Several witnesses from Kitzmiller were heard in the case.

Fishermau Lands Two Nice Trout.

James Painter, of Oakland, often referred to by Scoop in his column as the leader of healthful out-door sports, caught two nice rainbow trout during the past week and brought them down town as proof positive of his achievement.

The first and larger one was hooked on Saturday. It measured 21¼ inches and weighed 3 pounds and 11 ounces. The second one was caught Monday evening and measured 19¼ inches, weighing 3 pounds.

The fish were caught with a fly in Youghiogheny River at a point between Swallow Falls and the power house of the hydro-electric company.

KEEP THAT DOG OF YOURS WITHIN YOUR PREMISES

Is the Advice of the State Board of Health of Maryland.

Here is some urgent advice from Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health, calling attention to the increase in the number of persons who have been bitten recently by mad dogs in Baltimore City. Dr. Riley said, "If you have any regard for human beings or affection for the dog itself, either keep your dog at home or have it on a leash when you take it out.

"Most of the danger from rabid dogs comes through the carelessness of owners who allow their dogs to run at large. And the danger is just as great in the rest of the State as it is in Baltimore City. RABIES— the terrible disease that is caused by the bite of a mad animal—can be kept under control only through the cooperation of dog owners and dog lovers with the public authorities.

"The present increase in the disease has not been caused by the hot weather. There is no truth in the old superstition that the summer is 'mad dog' time. Dogs are just as likely to go mad in the winter as in the summer—they never go mad unless they have been bitten by some rabid animal—one that is already mad—and more dogs are likely to be running around at large during the summer. The disease is spread from dog to dog and from animals to the men, women and children who are their victims.

"Nothing more agonizing can be imagined than the suffering produced by rabies—hydrophobia, as it is also called. There is absolutely no cure for the disease and there is only one way to prevent its development in the man, woman or child who has been bitten by a rabid animal. That is, by the prompt administration of the Pasteur treatment.

"In the twelve and a half years since the Pasteur work was taken over by the State Department of Health, over 600 persons have been treated through the Pasteur Division. Another large number have had to start the treatment but have been able to discontinue them after finding out that the dogs by which they were bitten were not rabid.

"Care should be taken not to kill animals unnecessarily. All dogs or other animals that are snapping, or biting, or otherwise acting suspiciously should be tied up, humanely cared for, but kept where they can't endanger lives, and under the observation of a veterinarian. If the dog is mad, symptoms of rabies will soon develop and the animal will die in from three to seven days.

"When a dog that is mad or is believed to be mad is killed, the head should be carefully packed in ice and shipped to the Labaratory of the State Department of Health, 16 West Saratoga Street, Baltimore City, for examination. Whether or not the dog was mad can be determined by certain changes that appear in the brain.

"Persons who have been bitten by a dog that is mad or is believed to be mad, or who have come in contact with the saliva of such an animal, should lose no time in getting to their doctor and in starting the Pasteur treatment."

MT. LAKE PARK.

The camp meeting closed Sunday night last with most excellent results. The attendance at the various meetings was good, but on last Sunday as well as the preceding one, the great crowds in attendance taxed the capacity of the tabernacle to its utmost.

As the leaders of the camp meeting and those who were here for the meeting, left for their homes in almost every part of the United States. the young Epworthians from the Pittsburgh area, began to arrive by automobile and by a special train, so that by Monday evening there were over four hundred delegates to the institute here with others coming in almost every minute. The dean of the institute is Homer Clark; dean of the women is Miss Helen Johnson, while other departments of the work has a superior faculty in all its branches. The institute will close on the 16th inst.

Among the recent arrivals at the Park who have come to spend all or a part of the summer are Mr. and Mrs. Will Stone and family, of Wheeling, W. Va.; also Mr. Stone's sister, Mrs. Talson, who recently returned to the States from a European trip. Mrs. Talson has recently became a legal resident of Maryland by making the required application to be registered under the election laws.

The Association has made some excellent improvements in and about the Park recently, among them being the erection of the new refreshment stand and book store combined on the amphitheatre reserve; the tearing away of the fence enclosing the amphitheatre and the making and planting of flower and shrubbery beds at certain prominent spots in the grounds, notably about the public buildings. The cost was slight when compared with the improved appearance of the spots beautified.

Several campers have their tents pitched near the lake and more are coming.

The Park and the Association as an organization should have the moral support of every Garrett countian. The Association has done everything within reason to make the Park a success and with a little more time, coupled with the hearty cooperation of the business men of Oakland and the surrounding community, the Park will come back to its former prestige. The Park, without doubt, is Oakland's greatest asset, and it should have the united and loyal support of every citizen of the town, especially the support of the business men.

SUMMER SCHOOL BEGINS AT U. OF M.

Courses in Professional Education and Other Subject Matter

ATTENDANCE LARGEST IN UNIVERSITY'S HISTORY

Summer school at the University of Maryland at College Park has launched into its second week and has now settled down to the regular routine. The attendance is the largest since the summer school was established in 1914, numbering 614, an increase of approximately 10 per cent over last year. Work generally is planned to meet the needs of teachers in service, and is operated in close co-operation with the State's public school system. However, any of the courses is open to students who may be qualified to take them.

Teachers in Maryland raise the grade of their certificates by attending summer school and taking professional and subject matter courses. Under the Maryland laws every teacher is required to take summer school work at least once in three years. In this way the standard of education in the State gradually is being raised and future pupils in the public schools will benefit thereby. The courses will last six weeks during which credit covering many of the winter classes is given.

The main event on the opening week's program was the President's Reception, a yearly event and one at which all are given an opportunity to meet President R. A. Pearson and other members of the faculty. Teachers from every county in the State were present.

A demonstration high school is being maintained in co operation with the Hyattsville High School, which furnishes an opportunity for observation in connection with high school method courses. The high school students are under the direction of Mrs. M. G. Temple, interest themselves not only in their classes but also in outside work, putting out a bi-monthly paper on the summer school activities.

New for this year is a course of four entertainments; of musical features and lectures. The first of these was given last Friday and was a recital by Miss Flora McGill Keefer, a Washington contralto of prominence. It was a marked success.

In speaking of the summer school work of the University of Maryland, Dr. R. A. Pearson, president of the University, gave it as his opinion that this is one of the most important phases of the University's relation to the State. "Through the summer school—says Dr. Pearson—the teachers are able to acquire additional education which raises the grade of their teaching certificates. Consequently, the teachers of the State are constantly improving themselves and thus acquiring knowledge which enables them to render better service.

"In my opinion this phase of the Maryland School Law, originated by Dr. Albert S. Cook, head of the public school system, is one of the best pieces of legislation I know, because its benefits are cumulative and lasting and will directly influence advantageously thousands upon thousands of children in the public schools because it is helping the teachers thus to improve themselves and consequently to give such advantages to public school children. I feel that the University of Maryland is rendering one of its greatest services to the State of Maryland and possibly a service that will be more lasting than any of the others. For my part, I am proud of the work we are doing in helping Dr. Cook maintain and increase in effectiveness what I consider to be one of the best public school systems in America."

Scoop Loses His Horse Persuader

After all the preparation to give the town's people a thrill to witness the departure of an immaculately dressed army officer, Scoop arrived at Fort Eustis only half shod. (No, this isn't an error, we really mean shod.) The morning following all the trouble at Mr. Bell's studio, and you will recall that they did have a terrible time getting the Lieutenant on his mount to have his portrait made, well, as was said, the following morning the photographer, Mr. Bell, found one of the Lieutenant's spurs buried deep in the settee which is used mostly for sittings of bridal couples. The settee has been recovered a number of times, according to Mr. Bell, and the spur was found between the third and fourth covering starting from the top. At first it was thought that another spring in the handsome piece of furniture had slipped out of place, but upon examination it was found to be nothing other than the spur.

Knowing that every moment lost at that time spelled embarrassment for the officer, by quick thinking on the part of the writer, a wire was immediately sent advising him that he only had one spur on and suggesting that he join some other branch of the service that didn't require spurs. To this day the officer has not replied to the wire. Unknown to him, however, one of the "Bucks" of the rear rank has shown the boy up by the accompanying photograph. It can easily be seen that the Lieutenant never got the wire, because by close inspection it can be seen that the horse is only rearing on one side. A note accompanying the photograph stated that the officer told his men, after he had dismounted, that he was endeavoring to show them what not to do when on a horse, and that he would have one of his Sergeants show them what they should do when on a horse sometime later.

After the seventeenth time of warning the Mayor not to run under the "Red," Mr. Bell happened to catch Chief Of Police Of The City Of Oakland B. Bartlett "Bun" Nethkin in this pose. "The Chief was actually astonished at his own amazement" shouted Mr. Bell, "and for the life of him could say nothing but 'Hizzonor' for more reasons than one." The main one was because the Mayor wasn't there by the time the Chief collected his thoughts. Another person standing close to the Chief, heard him say, "Here comes the Mayor, wasn't it?" and just then this spell of amazement struck the both of them. The other three men are standing right back of "Bun."

Be Kind to all Policemen

This is the last week that this column will be real good, because Scoop will be back before our next issue. If he doesn't come back Sunday evening, several of the boys in the back room are going to throw the pen away and drink the ink.

If it isn't one thing happening at the studio it's another. After getting the Col. (didn't mean to call him the Col. this week, but since it's there it will have to go), on his feet following that disastrous explosion of flashlight powder, Archibaldson was called out of bed at a late hour Sunday night to assist the Col's. wife in turning off the water in the studio. When Arch. reached the studio, behold, he found the Col. just standing and waiting. "What's going on here?" cried Arch. "This is no time for asking questions," yelled the Col. Either turn the water off, or do something," continued the Col., using big words. Arch. readily saw that the Col. was excited and didn't know what it was all about, so after a conference with Mrs. Col. it was learned that a water pipe had burst and the Col. was making no effort to help himself or family. Being a printer and not a plumber, Arch had a proposition confronting him. By some more quick thinking he grabbed an umbrella and gave it to the Col., left his card and returned to his home. It was not until the next day that the water was finally shut off. It was learned the following day that the Col. was trying out a scheme to turn his studio into a scene of a beautiful cow pasture, or some other spot of natural scenic beauty, when the catastrophy struck him. He had everything fixed but the water scene, and it was while he was trying to build a water-fall that he broke the pipe. In token of their appreciation of what Arch. had done for the family, Mrs. Col. sent him this photograph.

MRS. SHAVER SPEAKS OUT

The outburst of Mrs. Clem L. Shaver, wife of the Democratic national chairman, against Governor Smith and the dry leaders who are following him is evidence of the division that remains in the party in spite of the surface unity that was achieved in the national convention.

Undoubtedly such expressions as this from Mrs. Shaver and others that are bound to come from time to time at the Asheville conference and elsewhere, will tend to disturb the united front which the Democratic leaders are desirous of maintaining. Governor Smith has a real job on his hands to hold the drys of his party in line, and especially the dry women whom Mrs. Shaver is seeking to arouse.

It has been accepted that women will play a greater part in the coming campaign than ever before. Mrs. Shaver's course indicates, at least, that some women politicians are not going to be bound by their leaders, or even by their husbands, whose leadership may cease at the domestic threshold. Evidently a man is not necessarily chairman of his own household simply because he is chairman of the national committee of his party.

RESTRICTED IMMIGRATION

The greatest need of any country is a high order of citizenship. That fact is beyond dispute. The citizens of any nation are factors which prescribe to what heights that nation may hope to rise. On the other hand, any country in which high standards of citizenship are forsaken is sure to decline. History tells this story in no uncertain language. Nations which were foremost in the annals of world progress have fallen in ruin when their people allowed their national vigor to lapse.

Many years had passed before America began to realize that it was of utmost importance to preserve the fiber of her citizens, by adding to that fiber only such human stock as would strengthen it, rather than intersperse it with weakening elements. When we realize that careless immigration supervision during past years had permitted too much human dross to seep into the melting pot of American civilization, we determined that from that time forward eternal vigilance should be our watchword.

The knowledge has come to our national mind that social and economical dangers lie in a tide of immigration which is not rigorously censored. The injustice has been a double one—to the native American and to the newcomer; and the congress has wisely limited the admission of aliens seeking opportunity and employment among us, says Harry E. Hull, Commissioner General of Immigration.

Without such limitations we should have been soon submerged in social decay; and our employment ranks would have grown to distressing proportions, to say nothing of the economic waste and expense of contributing to the upkeep of many groups who were not yet ready to enter fully into our national life. Physical, mental and moral defectives have also been put under ban by the restrictive immigration laws, thus lessening our responsibility to society in general for the type of people and the kind of citizens which cast the mold of our national life.

And thus we have begun to preserve the standards of American civilization by enacting immigration laws of exclusion, kindly tempered, but disqualifying certain types of immigrant aliens who would, if admitted, become a lasting menace to many of the things which we hold most dear.

Our immigration laws, as they stand today, cover two general classes of aliens; First, those whom we exclude, regardless of nationality, because of some disqualification, mental, moral, physical or racial; second, those who are natives of countries upon which we place a numerical restriction coming in excess of those quotas.

"The Hopeful Ten," of the 4-H club will have their achievement day exercises on Friday, July 13, at 2:00 o'clock. Mothers and others are invited to be present.

SPARKS FROM AN OAKLAND PULPIT

COURAGE

In a village in New York State, I learned to love and admire one of the most heroic saints who ever lived. For a dozen years she had suffered from a malignant form of arthritis deformans. For many years she had been a bed-ridden invalid. Not for a moment was she free from smouldering pain. When they moved her, her joints creaked like rusty hinges. For her, each day was an eternity of torture.

Yet all who saw her she greeted with a smile and a cheery word. No single murmur of complaint escaped her lips. "I have so much to be thankful for," she used to say to me. I could see nothing in her life for which she should be thankful; but she was conscious of something that was hidden from the eyes of the world.

Perhaps the secret of her life was revealed in her favorite Scripture text: "Be strong and of good courage, fear not nor be afraid; for the Lord thy God, he it is that doth go with thee; he will not fail thee nor forsake thee." (Deut. 31:6.)

The hymn that she loved was:

He leads us on by paths we do not know;
Upward He leads us though our steps be slow;
Though oft we faint and falter by the way,
Though storms and darkness oft obscure the day,
Yet when the clouds are gone,
We know He leads us on.

He leads us on through all the unquiet years;
Past all our dreamland hopes, and doubts, and fears
He guides our steps through all the tangled maze
Of losses, sorrows, and o'erclouded days
We know His will is done.
And still He leads us on.

And He, at last, after the weary strife,
After the restless fever we call life,
After the dreariness, the aching pain,
The wayward struggles which have proved in vain,
After our toils are passed,
Will give us rest, at last.

—Hiram O. Wiley.

DIED.

DEBORAH THOMAS GLOTFELTY.

Mrs. Deborah Thomas Glotfelty, aged 84 years, 9 months and 9 days, died at the home of her daughter, Cora Glotfelty, at Addison, Pa., at 2:40 o'clock last Thursday afternoon from progressive paralysis. She was a daughter of the Rev. Michael Thomas and Elizabeth Bowman Thomas, both deceased. She was a life-long member and worker in the Brethren church. The deceased lady was married to Michael Thomas, of Markleysburg in 1862, who preceded her in death. Five children were born to this union and all survive. They are Mrs. Ida Glover, at home; Mrs. Lillian Wright and Mrs. Alcinda Wright, both of Brandonville, West Va.

On October 6, 1895 she was married to Jonas Glotfelty, who also survives her at Addison, Pa. Brief services were held at the home on Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock which were followed by services at the Brethren church at Markleysburg, conducted by Rev. Hess, of Markleysburg, and Rev. Westfall, of Deer Park. Interment was made in the Thomas cemetery at Markleysburg.

Mrs. Glotfelty's death marks the close of a long and useful life. She will be greatly missed by her many friends by whom she was affectionately known as "Aunt Deb."

ANDREW CHRISE.

Andrew Chrise, aged more than 82 years, died at his home in Uniontown, Pa., on July 3. He was born in Garrett county and moved with his parents to Fayette county, Pa., when he was but ten years of age. ## Lesson for July 15

THE CONVERSION OF SAUL

LESSON TEXT—Acts 9:1-9, 22:6-16.

GOLDEN TEXT—This is a faithful saying and worthy of all acceptation, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Saul Becomes a Christian.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Saul Becomes a Christian.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Saul Became a Christian.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Conversion of a Pharisee.

I. Saul's Violent Hatred of the Lord's Disciples (vv. 1, 2).

Saul knew full well that unless the movement set on foot by Jesus was stopped it would supersede Judaism. He was ignorant of the genius of Christianity. He did not know that the "blood of martyrs is the seed of the church." Prosperity may ruin the church, but persecution, never. The noble display of faith by Stephen in sealing his testimony with his blood did not soften Saul's spirit, but rather intensified his hatred for Jesus and His disciples. The intensity of his madness, and the extent of its operations are best set forth in his own words, "And I persecuted this way unto the death, binding and delivering into prisons both men and women" (Acts 22:4). "I both shut up many of the saints in prisons, having received authority from the chief priests, and when they were put to death, I gave my voice against them, and punishing them oft in all the synagogues I strove to make them blaspheme, and being exceedingly mad against them, I persecuted them even unto foreign cities" (Acts 26:10-12, R. V.).

II. Saul Kicking Against the Pricks (vv. 3-9).

The figure here is that of the eastern ox driver following the ox with a sharp iron fixed to the end of a pole. The animal is prodded with this instrument and if it is refractory it kicks against the sharp iron and injures itself.

1. A light from Heaven (vv. 3, 4a).

The time had come for the Lord to interfere. Saul was stricken with blindness and fell to the earth. This physical demonstration accentuated the workings of his conscience which doubtless were going on quickened by the Holy Spirit as He used Stephen's testimony.

2. A voice from Heaven (vv. 4b, 5).

This was the Lord's voice calling Saul by name and asking, "Why persecutest thou me?" This moved Saul to inquire, "Who art thou, Lord?" The answer came, "I am Jesus, whom thou persecutest."

3. Saul's inquiry (v. 6), "What wilt thou have me to do?"

The dictator is now willing to be dictated to. The Lord told him to go into the city where information would be given him as to what he must do.

4. Saul entering Damascus (vv. 7-9).

The haughty persecutor went quite humbly into Damascus, led by his attendants. For the space of three days he remained blind, and fasted. What went on in his soul in those days no mortal can know, but we may be assured that he, like the Lord in the wilderness, was too deep in meditation and prayer to desire food. In these days of deep meaning his whole life was being reorganized by Jesus Christ.

III. Ananias Ministers to Saul (vv. 10-19).

1. Ananias' vision (vv. 10-12).

In this vision the Lord appeared and instructed him to go to Saul. He gave him the name of the street and Saul's host, and informed him that Saul was now a praying man, and that He had prepared Saul by the vision for the coming of Ananias.

2. Ananias' fear and hesitancy (vv. 13-16).

He knew of Saul's ministry and the authority by which he came. The Lord encouraged him to go, assuring him that Saul was no longer an enemy but a chosen vessel to bear His name before the Gentiles.

3. Ananias' obedience (v. 17).

His fears being removed, Ananias went to the house where Saul was staying, put his hand on him and affectionately addressed him as "Brother Saul." The hitherto savage persecutor is now a brother in Christ. Ananias informed Saul that the Lord had sent him with a two-fold mission:

(1) "That thou mightest receive thy sight."

(2) "Be filled with the Holy Spirit."

4. Saul baptized (vv. 18, 19).

After Saul received his sight Ananias baptized him. Since Ananias was not a church official, it is clearly implied that official rank is not necessary for the administration of baptism. The Lord bestows the gift of the Spirit upon whomsoever He will.

God Does Not Forsake Thee

Suppose that all men forsake or forget thee; God does not. His eye sees thee, His heart feels for thee, and His hand is able to deliver thee. Thou art not friendless, nor wilt thou be till the God of all consolation dies. —Charles H. Spurgeon.

A Heavenly Vision

To a holy heart is vouchsafed a heavenly vision. Eyes that are cleared of the mists of sin behold undimmed the face of the Lord.—Echoes.

Fourth of July Pienic.

The weather on the Fourth was all that could be desired so far as the parade, which was held at ten o'clock, was concerned, when several of the business men of town had displays of their merchandise and a number of other interested citizens decorated their automobiles and jointed in the parade. The Crellin Boys' Band furnished the music during the day and by noon a large number of people had assembled on the pienic grounds. Unfortunately shortly after the dinner hour a heavy downpour made a sea of mud and a large number of those who had intended spending the afternoon at the grove, left. The arranged program was omitted on account of the weather. The baseball game, however, between Friendsville and Confluence, was played and was won by the latter, the score being 6-4. Quite a number of people from Morgantown, Akron and other points attended the pienic and visited relatives. In spite of all the rain the pienie was a success and the sum of $355.39 was cleared, which will be applied on the parsonage debt.

It's a mighty handsome couple we picture here. Typical of American youth the country over. They like speed and power and the ability to cover the miles, to see the wide and smiling world. And that's why, like so many others, they pick these "raring" power twins, "Standard" Gasoline and "Standard" Motor Oil. Like older and more experienced motorists everywhere, they know they will make any car do its very topmost best.

A very pretty and impressive wedding ceremony was solemnized at the Methodist Episcopal church at 9:00 o'clock Monday morning when Miss Elizabeth Engle, the youngest daughter of Mrs. Adell Etta Engle and the late Ralph Engle, of Englewood, near Grantsville, became the bride of Mr. Clemence W. Wadsworth, of Uniontown, Pa.

Immediately preceding the ceremony Mrs. Harry Bender sang "O, Promise Me," being accompanied by Miss Beulah Engle, sister of the bride, who also played Lohengrin's wedding march as the bridal couple entered the church.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. John R. Engle, of Defiance, Ohio. Her sister, Miss Martha Engle, was maid of honor, and Mr. Cecil Garland, of Uniontown, Pa., was best man. The Why of Telephone Progress

"It is fundamental in our plan of organization to have at headquarters and in our laboratories several thousand people whose sole job it is to work for improvement."

WALTER S. GIFFORD,
President of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company
(Bell System)

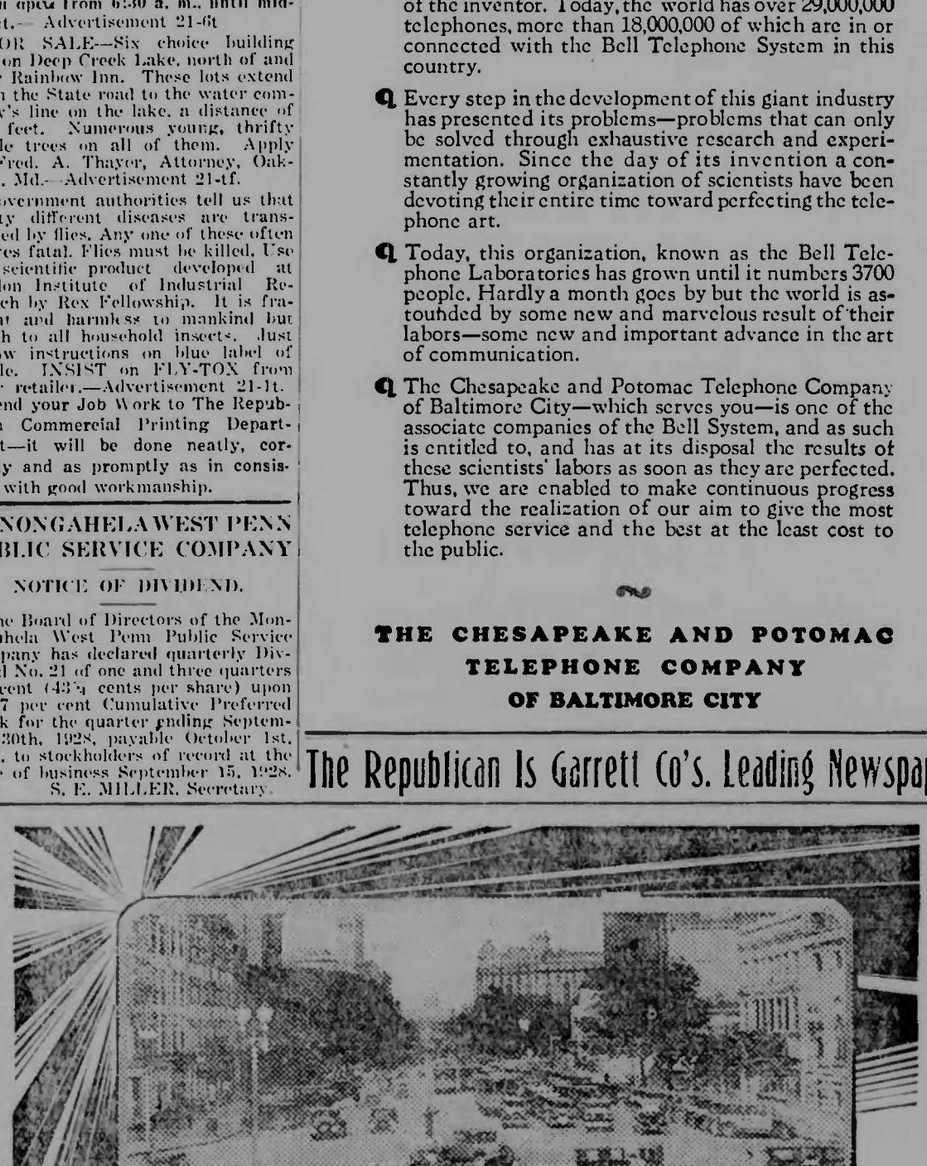
Research, invention, development—this sequence in unvarying order has been responsible for every advance in the art of telephony.

Fifty-two years ago there were only two telephones in the world—the crude but entirely practicable models of the inventor. Today, the world has over 29,000,000 telephones, more than 18,000,000 of which are in or connected with the Bell Telephone System in this country.



Every step in the development of this giant industry has presented its problems—problems that can only be solved through exhaustive research and experimentation. Since the day of its invention a constantly growing organization of scientists have been devoting their entire time toward perfecting the telephone art.

Today, this organization, known as the Bell Telephone Laboratories has grown until it numbers 3700 people. Hardly a month goes by but the world is astounded by some new and marvelous result of their labors—some new and important advance in the art of communication.

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore City—which serves you—is one of the associate companies of the Bell System, and as such is entitled to, and has at its disposal the results of these scientists' labors as soon as they are perfected. Thus, we are enabled to make continuous progress toward the realization of our aim to give the most telephone service and the best at the least cost to the public.

WILSON CREEK FLOODS NUMBER OF STORES HERE

Heavy Downpour Thursday Evening Causes Rapid Rise—Crops in County Damaged.

Following one of the heaviest downpours experienced in this section for some time, Wilson Creek, a branch of the Youghiogheny flowing through the center of Oakland, rose over its banks quite suddenly about eight o'clock and the water entered several stores along Second street and the Standard Garage and the Oakland Creamery Company's plant on Third street.

The rise in the creek waters gave sufficient warning to the property owners along its channel and practically everything of value was moved to a place of safety above the water level before the rush came in on the property endangered. The water remained at its peak for about an honr and then receded to the channel.

The stores which became flooded to a depth sufficient to deposit an inch of mud on the floors were the Oakland Model Bakery, Quality Lunch Room, F. A. Smouse, Hinebaugh's Restaurant, D. M. Dixon and Son, Standard Garage and the Oakland Creamery Company. The basement of the Helbig mill was also flooded.

In th eeast end of town, water flowing down a small steam in that section covered the roadway at Giessman's filling station and washed considerable of the filled-in ground away.

A wooden foot bridge which erossed Wilson creek on Center street was raised from its foundations and swept down the stream for a considable distance.

Crops Damaged.

Hillside farms in various parts of the county were damaged to some extent by the flow of water over tmem. The Youghiogheny River and other streams were very high, overflowing their banks in several places but doing practically little damage.

Recalls Former Flood.

The flood of last Thursday in Oakland recalled a similar flood on July 12, 1888, just forty years before. According to the files of The Republican there was located on the spot where now stands the Harry Miller meat store and the Coffman-Fisher store, a building which housed the furniture establishment of the late D. E. Bolden and the general store of the late William Hinebaugh, Sr. These two stores were the only ones close to the creek and they were flooded to a depth of three feet.

Speaking yesterday of this flood, Thaddeus C. Hinebaugh, who was at the time a clerk in his father's store, said, "We had just received a carload of salt and fertilizer, and when we were told of the rise in the creek's waters we rushed to try to save it, but it was no use; it was all gone. The waters rose too fast."

Evening Times Record

In the forty years ago column of the Cumberland Times, which appeared on Saturday, July 13, the following was printed:

"Oakland was visited by one of the most terrific thunder storms in its history. A small stream which emptied into the Little Youghiogheny, just east of the B. & O. depot, was so swollen by the heavy fall of rain that the water stood four or five feet deep some of the buildings along its banks. The heaviest loss was felt by William Hinebaugh, merchant, and Henry Weber's market farm. Blocher's brick yard, opposite Mountain Lake Park, was under water.

Rotary Clubs Will Hold Joint Meeting Tonight at Brookside

Members of the Terra Alta and Oakland Rotary clubs, about sixty in all, will go together this evening and have a joint meeting and enjoy a dinner at Brooside Inn, south of Oakland. Brookside Inn was famous as a delightful resort some years ago. It is located on the Old Northwestern Turnpike about twelve miles from Oaklnnd. The Oakland club will furnish the music for the affair, while the Terra Alta club has promised the speaker of the evening. Dinner will be served promptly at six o'clock instead of at 6:15.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Harned and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. nnd Mrs. Hubert Burdette, of Mount Airy, will leave Oakland tomorrow morning on n motor trip to Boston and points of interest in New England. At Boston Mr. Harned will attend a druggists' convention which will he in session nbout a week. The party expects to be absent tendays.

PERMANENT BOY SCOUT QUARTERS BEING BUILT

Pittsburgh Man Erecting Camp For Boys at McHenry

A permanent Boy Scout camp, to be used by numerous troops from Pittsburgh, Pa., is now being erected at McHenry, and will be completed in time to take care of 80 boys who will be here on August 5, is has been learned.

The camp is being erected by Frank T. Page, of Pittsburgh, who is said to be immensely interested in the Boy Scout movement, and is situated on a peninsula on the old Charles Glover farm.

A building 25 feet by 45 feet will serve for the mess hall and kitchen, and will seat 84. There will be a large porch on three sides of the building, according to F. R. Corliss, construction engineer. The boys will sleep in tents this year, according to the plan as now arranged.

Starting next year the five best troops of the 100 troops in Pittsburgh, will be guests of Mr. Page for two weeks, the first troop coming to camp on July 1, it was stated.

CATERPILLAR TAKING TOLL IN GARRETT FORESTS

Apple Orchards Are Not Immune From the Ravages of This Pest

A menace to the farmers of Garrett county is the black caterpillar which has been working its ravages on the white oak trees of the entire countryside for the past month. The pest, after having completed its damage to the trees is starting to work on the apple orchards, which promise to produce one of the best crops of many seasons. Alarmed over the situation the farmers are making a strenuous effort to stamp out the pest, which has caused several hundred bushels of apples to drop from the trees on the Robinson farm.

The black caterpillar, which eventually becomes a butterfly, in its perfect form, sucks the nectar from plants and thrives thereupon until the butterfly is produced. It is this nectar taken from trees and plafits that is causing the death of the tree and plant and fruit. The black caterpillar is longer lived than the golden or Argentine spotted caterpillar and destroys everything of the plant nature in its path, thus the anxiety for the farmer to have it exterminated.

Pines and Laurel Attacked

Pine trees, tamaracs and the laurel of the section have also ben subjected to a blight. The blight of the pine tree is new to this section and diagnosis of same has not been fully determined. It is of peculiar nature, the growth or substance springing up on the upper branches of the tree near the leaves and appearing to the naked eye from a distance to be a small flower. Upon examination, however, it is discovered that it is not a flower, but a jelly or gum like substance that oozes continuously from the branch of the tree. The same process of blighting is carried on the laurel bush.

Historically the pine trees and the tamaracs are the most beautiful in the Eastern states and tourists from many sections of the country often take the little cross roads from the National pike to view their beauty.

Admired by President Harding

It will be remembered that when President Warren G. Harding and members of the cabinet passed thru this county enroute to Summit Hotel near Uniontown some few years ago, they stopped in Garrett county for several hours inspecting the natural beauty of pine tree forests and on one occasion was presented with some laurel by a group of young ladies camping near Grantsville on the banks of the Casselman river. The laurel was sent to Washington and replanted and placed in the capitol which grace the interior.

Electric Lines to Be Extended

Work of extending the electric service of the West Penn Public Service Company to Red House, Gnegy Church, Brookside, Aurora, Eglon and Carmel, will be started next week, according to Guy W. McDougal, general purchasing agent of the compnny, who spent Tuesday in Oakland in connection with the contemplated work.

Work of construction will likely require four months, it was said, nnd about eighteen men will be employed. Five hundred poles will be required for the extension of the line from the outskirts of Oakland to the objective points.

WATER CARNIVAL AT LAKE IS ATTRACTING ATTENTION

To Be Held August 3—Many Inquiries Are Being Received by Improvement Association

Inquiries from as far distant as New York are being received by the Deep Creek Lake Improvement Association in regard to the first annual water carnival and boat races, which are to be held on the lake Friday, August 3, according to the president of the Association. Entries are being received from boat owners who reside in this community and at some distance from Oakland, and it has been prophesied that this will be one of the biggest water events ever held inland.

The committee which will have the racing events in charge is composed of I. R. # Bob Martin, Victim of Ring Fate; Career Is Wrecked by Single Blow

By NORMAN E. BROWN.
Staff Writer for Central Press.

Writing from Huntington, W. Va., recently, Mr. Brown said in his syndicated article:

Today I saw Bob Martin.

I caught at first glance again that same old boyish smile, mop of black hair, the giant wonderful shoulders a sort of background for the bobbing heads in front of him.

Then he stepped into the open.

Something was wrong. It was his stride. The rolling, zigzag gait of a sailer—the kind a gay gob acquires partly from the days afloat and partly from the few brief hours of the joys ashore.

A handshake. The smile of recognition, then a frown from a man puzzled over his new acquaintance, his whereabouts and the world in general.

And then he gave me the facts—the strange story of Bob Martin.

Here it is:

Unless science comes to his rescue Bob Martin, who once flirted with the fame that came to Gene Tunney, will wander through the rest of his days a sort of derelict. Not punch drunk, as they say in ring parlance (unless it be from one punch).

He is not the victim of the recklessness of youth. He is sound in body and in mind—except for moments when he slips into darkness. Well, whas WAS wrong with Bob Martin?

An impairment of the muscles and nerves that control the equilibratory apparatus of the human body leaves him incapable of moving at a rapid pace, rising or sitting without encountering a dizziness which at times overpowers him. And that same impairment halts or disrupts, at times, even the functioning of his brain.

Aware of the fact that he is roaming slowly toward the edge of the sidewalk as he plods his way about Huntington's streets, Martin is unable to right his course as he desires.

Watching his eyes as he turns toward you suddenly, you see them quiver like those of a sleeping doll when its head is shaken violently, only [illegible] out the usual balance of equilibrium that the ordinary man or any creature has.

Martin is probably a "case" in the eyes of physicians and specialists. That hasn't helped him to date, however. The consensus of opinion is that a blow on the head at some time or other produced a blood clot. This clot has passed away, but has left a so-called "scar" that impairs the usual movement or action of the nerves nearby—the nerves responsible for the normal functions destroyed.

To the layman—and Bob—a clearer explanation is made—that the "pendulum" in his brain, which swings back and forth to govern this equilibrium, is prevented from swinging freely by this scar. Touching this scar it is halted, leaving Martin unable to regain his balance. This organism is directly related to the nerves of the eye and brain, of course, and hence the action of the eyes and the blank moments that leave him wavering mentally, as well.

Where Martin acquired this injury he doesn't know.

Bob's memeory isn't impaired, except for those "cloudy" spells. He recalls vividly the manner in which he broke the boxing game.

There was a notice in a Y. M. C. A. hut in France. A plea for all who could box, wrestle, sing, dance or act, to volunteer their services to entertain their buddies. Bob volunteered to box. And laughs as he recalls the first bout.

His opponent, one Arthur Alexander, was six feet six inches tall and weighed 240 pounds. Bob knocked him out in two rounds.

"I guess that gave the boys and myself the idea I could box," says Bob, "and it wasn't long before I had won the heavyweight championship of the A. E. F., and then of the allied armies.

"Gene had won the light heavyweight championship. I fought Tunney in a regularly scheduled fight of four rounds," says Bob, "and he outpointed me. After that we fought 13 times, but they were exhibition affairs for the boys, and so I suppose they don't count. I never thought then that Gene would become champion of the world.

"I wasn't thinking that I would be, either, hut had my heart set on trying to get there."

Home again, and there came the brightest page in Bob's life. Ray Bronson, wise little fight manager, was waiting for him at the dock. friendship and a working agreement between the two that carried Martin to some fame and to what now seems more important—a fortune—resulted.

The fortune has been blown away. Bob blames no one but himself—and perhaps the absence of a friend to advise him. The money came too easy for a boy who had been working at day wages in a rubber factory when war was declared. Two thousand dollars were dumped into his hands at a a time. Then $2,500. Then $3,000. Two or three "big shots" netted him close to five figures. Came a desire for things that attract boys—big automobiles, with speed, and the adoration of friends.

But there were no women in this case. Love had come to Bob early. There are five youngsters now, who gaze with pride on their big daddy. The youngest was only eight weeks old when I saw him.

The injury to Martin did not assert itself until a few short months ago.

He looks back on two incidents as being the possible cause of the trouble. There was his fight with the giant, lumbering Frank Moran in 1921. Martin lacked skill. He was game. Moran found Bob's head wide open for his famous "Mary Ann" blow. Some 18 or 19 times Moran drove it home. Most of the time Bob ducked enough to avoid being hit flush on the chin, but what may have been worse, the blows landed on the base of his skull, behind his ear. It is there that specialists say the clot formed.

Then there was the auto accident that followed a few months later.

"We were out riding in a new car," says Bob. "Then somebody suggested 'letting her out.' I did. At 78 miles an hour I hit a curve. They found me pinned down under the steering wheel. I was bruised and battered all over. my head included. It might have been then that I got the 'bad' bump."

"I earned just $265,000 in the ring—my end of the purses," concludes Bob. "A lot of it came after the Moran fight. Then, when I found I was never going to get to the top in the ring, I tried other things. I joined the State police in West Virginia for a time. Then back into the army until a few months ago that all this came on."

Martin was discharged in May.

What does the future hold for him?

Well, he's getting 80 per cent full disability pension for disablement "not in the line of duty." That doesn't go very far in a family of seven.

Some time this summer Bob may join a vaudeyille trope. He is still Bob Martin, heavyweight champion of the allied armies of the World war—you know. Still a great big, handsome chap, with his winning smile. He can walk to the center of the stage, lean nonchalantly against a helpful pedestal or chair back, and talk of the old days. Lots of folks will be glad to see him—he believes.

That's about what the future holds for him unless science, or some kind act of Providence, lifts the cloud that sends him about the streets these days a partial derelict.

100TH ANNIVERSARY OF FIRST R. R. CORNERSTONE

Was Laid for Baltimore & Ohio July 4 By Masonic Fraternity

The Fourth of July this year marks the one hundredth anniversary of the laying of the "First Stone" of American railroads. On the Carroll estate just outside of Baltimore the "First Stone" of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad was laid with impressive ceremonies. The Stone still stands in the spot where it was placed on Independence Day a century ago, a monument to America's ambitious pioneers.

The charter authorizing the Baltimore and Ohio to construct two or more sets of rails from Baltimore, Maryland, to some point on the Ohio River, was granted by the State of Maryland, February 17, 1827. The "First Stone" was laid a little over a year later and marked what was then considered a gigantic task, the construction of rails from the head of the Chesapeake Bay to the Ohio River.

The occasion was made a day of celebration in the City of Baltimore A parade consisting of floats made up by and symbolizing the various [illegible] tions marched through the streets of the city, thence to the grounds where the Stone was laid. The visitors included members of congress, governors of states, state legislators, officers of the American Revolution and the war of 1812. and others who came to witness the placing of the stone.

Charles Carroll Was There

At the ceremonies the Declaration of Independence was read, the Carrollton march, which had been written [illegible] occasion, was played by a band, after which there were addresses by prominent visitors. After the Grand Masters of the Masonic Fraternity from the States of Maryland, Pennsylvania and Virginia pronounced the stone "well formed, true and trusty." Charles Carroll of Carrollton. the last surviving signer of the Declaration of Independence, then in his 90th year, advanced and turned the first spadeful of earth. No one realized the full import of the occasion more than this venerable patriot, for he indicated the significance of the occasion in a few words: "I consider this among the most important acts of my life, second only to the signing of the Declaration of Independence, if even it be second to that."

Embedded in the stone is a sealed glass cylinders containing the charter of the company, newspapers of the day and a scroll. The stone was cut and inscribed by Nicholas Hitzelberger, of Baltimore, a veteran of the War of 1812 and also a carver of the Washington Monument, in Baltimore.

Public Health Aspects of the Drug Store

Inspection of retail drug stores throughout the State of Maryland, in connection with the regular duties of the Bureau of Food and Drugs of the State Department of Health, has disclosed some violations of the State pharmacy law, but the conditions revealed were for the most part satisfactory, according to a recent report of Dr. Robert L. Swain, deputy food and drug commissioner. The inspections of the last two months have been made in Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Caroline, Dorchester, Frederick, Harford, Washington counties and in Baltimore City. In connection with them 227 establishments were visited.

In commenting on the findings, Dr. Swain said that the purpose of the inspections was twofold. First, to see whether the provisions of the Pure Food and Drug Law regarding the quality and standardization of the drugs dispensed were carried out; second, to see whether the provisions of the Pharmacy Law, which requires the employment of registered pharmacists—that is, graduate and duly licensed pharmacists—in the prescription departments of all drug stores, were being observed.

"In Maryland," he continued, "pharmacy has gained recognition as a factor in public health. It is recognized in the make-up of the State Department of Health and the enforcement of the pharmacy and drug laws has been placed in the hands of the profession. To the informed, such an arrangement is as it should be; but it must be remembered that it carries with it a responsibility not only to those entrusted with the work, but to the profession. The duty of performing its work as effectively as possible for the public good is placed squarely up to the pharmacists of the State. They must measure up to their responsibilities as important health agencies.

"In the surveys and inspections of retail drug stores, the detection and prosecution of violations of the law was, and is, by no means their chief purpose. Rather, it has been to assist in correcting those conditions which might furnish the basis for public criticism that pharmacists were not meeting their responsibilities under the law which recognizes their work as important to the public welfare."

BACK TO REALITIES

Secretary Hoover's visit to Brule, on his way to California, emphasizes once more the realities of the Presidential campaign. Mr. Hoover sought and won the Republican Presidential nomination as a supporter of the Coolidge policies. He is the inheritor of the Coolidge tradition. He has sat since March 5, 1921, in the Harding and Coolidge Cabinets. He has had a conspicuous share in the great reconstructive work of these two administrations. Stabilization, economy, tax reduction, debt reduction, reduction of national expenditure and the extraordinary economic recovery which has flowed from them—all these are comprised in the program which he helped to execute and which he is pledged to continue.

And there are other things in the Coolidge legacy. One is a foreign policy which offers friendly cooperation in all efforts to spread good feeling, remove causes of conflict and help the world to recover from the losses and exhaustion of the war, while at the same time maintaining American rights under international law and avoiding undesirable entanglements in European affairs through membership in the League of Nations. A second is the determination to protect the American standards of living through protection and limitation of immigration. A third is the relief of agricultural depression by sound economic methods—methods which will not put the government into the risky business of farm products brokerage.

The Coolidge administration has been associated with unexampled prosperity, individual as well as national. Mr. Hoover, who has done so much to expand our foreign trade and to standardize home production, is fully equipped to continue prosperity so far as it may depend on governmental operation. His record as administrator is unexcelled. His high qualifications for the Presidency are recognized the world over. He is the logical successor to Mr. Coolidge—the man overwhelmingly designated by party opinion as best fitted to take up the Coolidge burden.

That is the case on which Secretary Hoover's candidacy rests. It is clear-cut and convincing. Does the country want to go forward under leadership with which it is familiar and to whose success the last seven years have so strikingly testified? Or does it want to experiment with something untested and different?—New York Herald-Tribune.

FACT OR FICTION

A foreign observer, who has been trying to follow the presidential campaign through a reading of the Washington and New York newspapers, seriously inquired of an American friend the other day if he was certain martial law would not be necessary in order to insure proper protection at the polls on election day. It appears that from his newspaper reading he had acquired the impression that a virtual state of civil war was already existing among Republican and Democratic party leaders over the manners and methods of the campaign. He also had sensed that so intense a bitterness was developing between the two rival party camps that personal violence might follow.

Happily, his friend was able to advise him that the newspapers were simply going through with the silly season manifestations and that despite all of the columns of back stairs political gossip which was being printed, that the campaign had not really even opened as yet and that the fairy stories accordingly were being fed out to the public for want of something better.

The readers of American metropolitan newspapers are so accustomed to this curious type of political window-dressing that they pay but little attention to it, but it is not hard to visualize the impression which this marks on a foreigner not understanding our pre-campaign activities. It would be well for foreign visitors, anxious for a real picture of our campaigns, if they would begin the reading of one or two substantial country newspapers where space is too precious to be wasted on highly imaginative political fiction.

BOILED DOWN

The campaign on behalf of Governor Smith seems already to have boiled down to two arguments. He will end prohibition. He is a good fellow and has a warm heart. If there is any other Democratic policy a careful search has failed to reveal it. There are many excellent reasons for voting against the Democratic party—the partisan declaration for immediate independence of the Philippines, for example. But in its effort to climb aboard the Republican bandwagon the party has jettisoned much of its former cargo—protection and the League of Nations, for example. What is left of positive arguments is summed up in the character and actions of Governor Smith.

The prohibition issue as it touches the two parties remains to be defined in detail. Yet the essential problem is not hard to discover. It was outlined for the whole campaign by Governor Smith's Fourth of July oration. Briefly, will the country ever turn over to Tammany Hall the problem of restoring temperance by modifying the Volstead act? As a gesture on behalf of the brass rail, a vote for "Al" Smith may yield a certain spiritual satisfaction to the voter who is a religious "wet." As a practical measure of reform, we doubt if any greater harm could be done to the cause of temperance than to identify it with the name of Tammany Hall. Vote for "Al" Smith and postpone modification indefinitely sums up an impartial outlook upon this part of the campaign.

To be sure, Mr. Hoover is not a member of Tammany Hall and owes no obligation to that organization. He does not share with Governor Smith the latter's heartfelt loyalty to that eleemosynary institution. But at no small risk to his life and as a gift to his country he helped save from starvation a good many millions of human beings. We think our readers will be disposed to agree with our correspondent that the aid and comfort which Herbert Hoover brought Belgium are at least a stand-off against the aid and comfort which Alfred E. Smith has delivered to the faithful of Fourteenth street.—New York Herald-Tribune.

At each of the several services held in the church large congregations attended and the service was of particular interest to the members of the local church. At the Sunday morning service a choir composed of ecclesiastical students who are camping on Deep Creek Lake, rendered the singing, which was of a high order.

The visiting priests who were in attendance and who took part in the service were Revs. William Robinson, Matthias Oswald and Casimer J. ### Wool Is Pooled.

Farmers in the Ryan's Glade section of Garrett county pooled their clip of wool on Tuesday at the office of the Grange Milling and Supply Company at Loch Lynn Heights. The pool consists of more than 5,000 lbs. This is considerably less than the amount pooled last year, according to J. L. McGlone, county agent, but he stated that this amount was just from the customers of the milling company and not from all the farmers of the community. More is expected to be brought in. The wool was sold to Hirsh Bros., of Cumberland, at 47 cents per pound.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN.

J. L. M'GLONE,
Resident County Agent,
Office, Court House.

Seed Inspection Now In Progress

With much of the wheat crop in the State now harvested and some of it threshed, farmers who had their fields examined for certification and desire the final inspection are urged by the Seed Certification Board at College Park to send in a threshed sample of the wheat that they would like certified. This, with the sample taken from the field before harvesting, will determine into which of the three classes, established for seed wheat in the State, the particular grain will fall.

Tags showing the per cent of ingredients other than wheat are sent to the owner and these tags must be placed on every bag of grain that is sold for seed purposes. A list of the seedsmen who have had their grain tested is kept by the Board and those desiring to buy seed may learn of the nearest grower by writing to the University of Maryland.

The Maryland Seed Certification Board which works in cooperation with the Maryland Crop Improvement Association uses the following standard in rating seed wheat in the State.

Certified seed is seed of a variety adapted to Maryland that is 98 per cent pure as to variety, traceable to an accepted origin free from garlic and stinking smut, with not more than one per cent weeds and testing not less than 90 per cent in germination. Listed seed is seed of an adapted variety. It does not quite meet the requirements for certification, but is high class and is usually cleaner and purer than seed ordinarily found on Maryland farms. Rejected seed is that which is considered unfit for seeding purposes.

Inspection and certification of seed in the State is becaming more popular each year and as the supply of good seed wheat has never kept pace with the demand a very fine market has been developed in recent years for the product.

4-H Club Members To Visit University

Five hundred boys and girls, members of the 4-H clubs in the twenty-three counties of the State, are expected at the University of Maryland for the annual Club Week events to be held August 9 to 14.

Plans for their instruction and entertainment are now being made by E. G. Jerkins, State boys' club agent, and Miss Dorothy Emerson, girls' club agent. The program, it is announced, will include courses of instruction in home economics and agriculture subjects, demonstrations by selected groups of club members and numerous recreational activities.

In addition to class instruction to be provided, opportunity will be afforded the young folks to observe agricultural experimental work under way at the University of Maryland Experiment Station, the United States Bureau of Animal Industry Farm at Beltsville and the United States Department of Agriculture farm at Arlington, Va.

At assembly exercises on Friday morning, August 10, the club members will be welcomed to the University by Dr. R. A. Pearson, president. Judge Frank I. Duncan, chairman of the agricultural committee of the Maryland State Bankers' Association, who for years has taken an active interest in the 4-H club work of the State, is expected to be one of the speakers.

Governor Ritchie has been invited to be present during the week and will address the boys and girls if he is able to attend.

On Monday, August 13, the club members will enjoy a sightseeing trip to Washington, visiting points of interest in the capital and concluding the day with a picnic in Potomac Park.

The Willing Workers Sunday school class of St. Paul's M. E. church, Oakland, entertained the men's Bible class of the same school at a six o'clock breakfast which was served at Crystal Spring, Mt. Lake, this morning. About forty-five men and women partook of the meal which was nrepered in generous quantities.

Messrs. C. U. Edwards, of Grantsville, accompanied by his two sons, Harry and William, and by Frank Galusha and Jesse J. Ashby, of Oakland, left on a trip to Niagara Falls, Buffalo and other points of interest on Monday. Mrs. Galusha and Mrs. Ashby are visiting Mrs. C. U. Edwards and Mrs. Harry Edwards during the time of their husbands' absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Helbig entertained with a bridge party on Saturday evening at their home on Oak street. Four tables were in play. Those present were Rev. and Mrs. Paul G. Linaweaver, Mr. and Mrs. Burress Moore, Misses Fannabel Offutt, Flora Bolgiano, Rhesa King, Elsie Benthien, Virginia Duvall, and Messrs J. L. McGlone, Edgar Helbig, Dr. George Evans, Reeves Blandford, and Gilmor Hamill. Miss Bolgiano and Mr. Blandford won high honors, with Mrs. Linaweaver and Mr. Helbig consolations.

A delegation of about 50 persons from Keyser, Piedmont, Westernport, Luke, Bloomington and Oakland will wait upon the County Commissioners of this county at their regular meeting to be held on August 6th and request that a road be built to connect with the Deer Park road and the road through Bloomington, which would make the mileage to Cumberland from Oakland but 46 miles. Members of the delegation will urge their desires by making a statement that there will be no bridges on this route to construct and maintain and that no deep cuts or fills will be required.

Forestry Men Here.

H. C. Buckingham, who has succeeded C. Cyril Klein as district forester, has been in Oakland for the past several days estimating the cost of production of saw mills in Garrett county and looking over his new territory.

Carl E. Pfeiffer, who is also connected with the forestry department, was here for a few days making arrangements for a tour of some of the maple sugar camps during the State Grange meeting to be held in Oakland on August 14, 15 and 16.

Legionaires to Take Part in Frostburg Celebration

An invitation from the executive committee of Farrady Post, No. 21, to participate in the American Legion parade in connection with the Golden Jubilee of the Frostburg Fire Department, on Tuesday, July 24, was accepted Monday night at the regular meeting of Proctor Kildow Post, No. 71 in the Town Hall, and the majority of the Legionaires are now planning to attend the celebration.

The drum corps from Meyersdale and Uniontown, Pa., and Cumberland, will be present and take part in the parade. All Legionaires and ex-service men are requested to wear their Legion caps and meet in front of the City Hall at 5 o'clock. Transportation will be furnished to those who need it, I. R. Rudy, post commander, stated.

The delegates to the State Legion convention, to be held in Cumberland August 23, 24 and 25, were also chosen at the meeting. C. M. Sincell and Edward P. Kahl were elected, with Alex Hesen and Delbert Davis as alternates.

Great Movements of 1928 In the United States and in the World.

To the Editor of The Republican

The greatest movements of 1928 are so momentous that it is difficult to get a mental grasp upon them. The multilateral treaties and what may grow out of their ratification; the coming conference of the Pan-American countries and the question which may then be settled— to the development of the western continent; the conference early in the winter at Washington on air service; the forward drive at Geneva in considering social and economic difficulties; the emergence from chaos to a possibility of stabilized government which can treat anew with other nations of China—these are some of the great movements of 1928.

And of all these questions, to take up one of them, that of China is least understood. It is like a kaleidoscope in which every revolution of twenty-four hours shakes the particles into a new relation. Says Professor Vernon Nash, of Peking University: "You have at least a half-dozen simultaneous revolutions going on in China today, in addition to the political overcurrent, and the marvel is that there isn't more turmoil and confusion. But so quietly is this met—a morphis of Chinese life taking place, and so little attention does it get in our dispatches, that the average American seems to me to have a conception of China that is at least a third of a century old."

Professor Nash is referring to the social and economical revolutions—the political ones are those most often handled in the press and so are better known; the death of Sun Yat Sen, to go no further back than that event; the rise of Chian Kai Shek; the troubles within the growing Kuomintung of Nationalist party, the overcoming of these and the success of the Nationalists which now means the driving of Chang beyond the Great Wall, the entrance of Peking, the changing of even the name of Peking and the removal of the capital of a United China, so long as the seaboard provinces are concerned (with a strong possibility of bringing into unity the far and great eastern provinces) to Nanking; the request of the Nationalist representative in China that the new government be recognized by the United States—are some of the rapid changes . And on the heels of this the renewed request that the old tariff and extrality treaties be scrapped.

Yet within all these movements is still another little known and understood—the trek from Shantung to Manchuria. Says C. Walter Young, Willard Straight Fellow in Chinese Studies, "these Chinese have migrated to Manchuria in such numbers as to make the movement a phenomenon unprecentended in the whole period of modern history." "Manchuria during the past five years has received about 3,000,000 immigrants. . . . . Throughout the months of the past year in throngs averaging well over 1,000 daily, but often 5,000 or more; they have come ashore at Dairen from steamship and junk to a total of nearly 500,000. . . men, women and children; decrepit grandmothers—bent old grandfathers. . . . . all of them filing down a gangplank."

Lesson for July 22

PAUL'S EARLY MINISTRY

LESSON TEXT—Acts 9:19-30; 11:25, 26.

GOLDEN TEXT—And straightway he preached Christ in the synagogues that he is the Son of God.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul Begins to Work for Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul's First Work for Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Saul Champions an Unpopular Cause.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Years of Growing Experience.

I. Saul Preached Christ in Damascus (vv. 19-22).

1. Saul's fellowship with the disciples (v. 19).

After Saul was baptized he remained certain days with the believers in Damascus (v. 19). How beautiful to think of the transformation which took place—the one who was so passionately bent on their destruction was now enjoying fellowship with the disciples.

2. Straightway preaching in the synagogues (v. 20).

Saul, like every one who is really converted, begins to tell of the newly found Savior. As soon as he is saved he goes to save others.

3. The people amazed (v. 21).

They knew that the very one that had been the ringleader in persecuting the Christians in Jerusalem, and had come to Damascus for the express purpose of bringing them bound to the chief priests, was now passionately advocating that which he had so vehemently sought to destroy.

4. The Jews confounded (v. 22).

Saul retired into Arabia for three years. During this time he was taught the full truths of his ministry.

II. Saul Escapes From the Jews (vv. 23-25).

He used the Scriptures with such skill that the Jews could not answer him. Finding that the argument was against them, the Jews took counsel how they might destroy Saul. So intent were they upon killing him that they watched the gates of the city day and night that they might take him. When this became known to the disciples, they let him down from the wall by night in a basket.

III. Saul Visits Jerusalem (vv. 26-29).

This journey to Jerusalem was in strange contrast with the one from Jerusalem to Damascus. The one was as a leader of an important expedition under the authority of the Jewish officers with the prospect of a place of distinction in the council of the Jewish nation. Now he is an outcast, disowned by his countrymen, and fleeing for his life.

1. Suspected by the disciples (v. 26).

The believers at Jerusalem had not heard fully about Saul's conversion. They knew nothing of his sojourn in Arabia, and his preaching at Damascus after his return. Therefore they regarded him as a spy.

2. Barnabas' confidence in Saul (v. 27).

Barnabas was a man filled with the Holy Spirit (Acts 11:24), therefore able to discern the reality of Saul's conversion. He was in reality a "Son of consolation" and in this instance showed his kind spirit.

3. Saul in fellowship with the disciples (v. 28).

They went in and out together. Peter received him in his home wherein he abode fifteen days (Gal. 1:18).

4. Saul disputes with the Grecians (v. 29).

He was not content merely to visit with the brethren. He spoke boldly in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ.

IV. Saul Sent to Tarsus (v. 30).

A conspiracy similar to that one at Damascus was formed against Saul. When the brethren knew of it they sent him to Tarsus. Saul's life was in danger everywhere except among the Gentiles. He now is back at the place of his birth. The first and best place for one's testimony is in his home. Saul's conversion was typical of the conversion of the Jewish nation. Their eyes will be opened by a personal revelation of Jesus Christ to them, and when they accept Him as their Savior and Messiah, they will go forth as witnesses to the Gentiles.

V. Saul Teaching at Antioch (11:25, 26).

The work at Antioch so prospered in the hands of Barnabas that he went to Tarsus for Saul to help him in the work. Saul returned with Barnabas and ministered for a whole year. The disciples were first called Christians at Antioch. This name resulted from Paul's teaching, instead of being given in derision, as is frequently taught.

God's Program

The program of God is not concerned with time. With Him a thousand years are as a day. We are too short-lived to criticize His providence. In the rolling years He has wrought wonders, but a short sight fails to see it.—Methodist Protestant.

Reminder From God

The superfluous blossoms on a fruit tree are meant to symbolize the large way in which God loves to do pleasant things.—Beecher.

EXTRA WRONG FONTS

By Scoop

Scoop Has Returned.

The improvement in this column this week will acquaint people with the fact that Scoop has returned, so enough for that.

He brought his spurs with him (borrowed following the accident in Col. Bell's studio).

Archibaldson does very well, and with a little more experience in being less lengthy and long-winded he could succeed Scoop. What if he were a preacher?

The Colonel got a picture of Scoop as he was stepping from the train, but it was spoiled in developing.

* * *

Exaggeration Deluxe.

While errors are made many times by members of The Republican force (Scoop included), it takes a genius on fabrication to write some of the outlandish stories appearing in the daily press from time to time, and remembering all this, there must be some such genius in the vicinity of Oakland.

The details of the flood of last Thursday evening, sent "special" to the Baltimore Sun, had 18 stores, a church and numerous dwellings flooded to a depth of two to two and one-half feet; loss estimated at $40,000, and other details of a like unwarranted nature wholly at variance with the true facts.

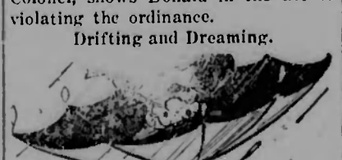
People in Baltimore and other parts of the State would never know the difference, and it might be a good subject for exaggeration, but the people of Oakland become indignant over such things.

* * *

A scatter-brained reporter of events is worse than no reporter at all. Col. Bell took a picture of the exaggerator as he was telephoning his message, and Scoop is going to print it. The name will be withheld, partly because it is not definitely known who was responsible for the article, and a contest will be conducted. Whoever recognizes the man in the picture will be crowned Neptune at the water carnival at Deep Creek Lake on August 3. And how. Yours for correct information.

The Unknown.

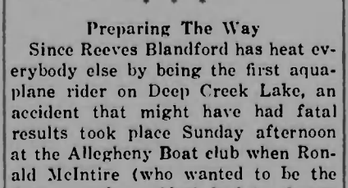
* * *



Prosecution Demanded.

Political pull is again rampant in Oakland. On one side are the indignant people clamoring for prosecution of Donald Stemple, who during the flood of last Thursday evening passed under the traffic light in a rubber boat when it showed red. On the other side is the Town Council, headed by Grover Stemple, councilman, and father of the boy.

The people claim that the ordinance was violated and that the offender should be punished. Councilman Stemple declares that circumstances alter cases and that the current in the overflowing stream was too swift for his boy. A mass meeting did not alter cases and it is feared that the councilman's oratory has swung the mayor to his side. Politics will be the ruination of prices on watermelons. The accompanying picture, taken by the Colonel, shows Donald in the act of violating the ordinance.



Drifting and Dreaming.

Preparing The Way

Since Reeves Blandford has heat everybody else by being the first aquaplane rider on Deep Creek Lake, an accident that might have had fatal results took place Sunday afternoon at the Allegheny Boat club when Ronald McIntire (who wanted to be the first aquaplane rider) had to change his plans and go in for training for the swimming races on August 3.

When it comes to swimming, Archibaldson says that Ronald dives like a feather, and since Ronald admits this, he was attempting to disingage his outboard motor from his motor boat and attach it to himself to make a speed test in swimming.

Other arrangements were made immediately, however, upon a sudden movement of the boat, which carried motor and swimmer to the bottom. The next attempt will be made in the near future. In the meantime, Ronald is practicing to swim with his clothes on to be in better condition, should the same calamity again befall him.

Proof

By special arrangement, a motor car manufacturer made a 2,000 mile test to compare "Standard" with other well-known oils. Due to the better oil seal formed by "Standard" Motor Oil, an examination of the crank case drainings showed that only half as much dirt had worked its way past the rings into the oil. This means less wear on cylinders and piston rings, and longer life for the motor.

Buy across the Counter

WHEN you buy across the counter in the stores of this town, you are using good business judgment. Why? There are many reasons, but one of the most important is this:

You can buy what you want at the price you wish to pay! You are not obliged to accept "something just as good," because you are in a position to compare values and make your own selections.

When you trade at home you are helping your friends to help you! And there is no finer thing in life than neighborly co-operation. It always pays—in happiness and satisfaction as well as dollars and cents.

The other day we passed the remnants of a car that had evidently attempted to climb a tree. We take it that the pedestrian whom the driver was after climbed fast enough to escape injury.

Have you noticed the Love-Joy shock absorbers that are being put on so many of the cars about town? With these there will be no broken straps and as long as they have been on the market one has never been known to wear out.

SPARKS FROM AN OAKLAND PULPIT

WHILE WAITING

Acts 17:16: "While Paul Waited for them at Athens."

St. Paul was waiting for Silas and Timothy, his co-workers, to join him that he might renew his great evangelistic campaign in new fields. He was waiting for them at Athens, as you and I often wait at an appointed place for friends whom we have agreed to meet.

Life is full of interruptions, delays, unforseen emergencies, and a portion of every day must be spent in waiting for someone or something without whom or which we cannot continue our planned activities.

What do we do while waiting? We try to "kill time" as we say. The hours weigh heavily upon us and we seek some distraction which will make them slip by as quickly as possible. Waiting is a miserable occupation, and happy he who can kill time with the most murderous weapons.

But how did St. Paul while away the heavy hours at Athens where he was waiting for Silas and Timothy? He did not kill time. He made time live! He gathered up the scraps of time that you and I would have thrown away as of no consequence and wove them into a fabric that is one of the priceless heritages of the Christian Church. He filled those spare moments so full of wisdom and light and power that they stand out among the most important moments of the world's history. And the words that he spoke that day about the God in whom we live and move and have our being did not fall only upon the ears of the idle philosophers of the Areopagus but have echoed in the minds of uncounted multitudes during nineteen centuries.

Paul was one of those obstinate persons who insist upon turning every handicap into an advantage, every stumbling block into a stepping stone, every enforced delay into a short-cut to his goal. When he was thrown into jail at Philippi to prevent his preaching the Gospel, he made the stocks his pulpit, the prison his auditorium. "At midnight, Paul and Silas were praying and singing hymns unto God, and the prisoners were listening to them." (Acts 16:25). There is reason to believe that St. Paul's Most effective missionary work in Philippi was done while waiting for his release.

That was not the only imprisonment suffered by the great Apostle. But he always adapted himself to changed circumstances. In the closing of one door of opportunity he discovered the opening of another. Forbidden to preach the Gospel by word of mouth, he continues to preach by the written word. From prison he writes his great epistles into which he lavishly pours the riches of his maturest spiritual insight. St. Paul rendered no greater service to the Christian Church than as "the prisoner of the Lord," when it seemed to him that he had finished his course, and while he was waiting for the angel of death and the "crown of righteousness."

What is true of St. Paul is true of all the great men and women of history. Their achievements may be in no small measure attributed to their thrifty use of that most priceless of possessions—time. We may take Napolean as a type for all, whose slogan was, "Not a moment must be lost," whose heraldic emblem was the bee, who planned an entire military campaign while waiting between the acts at the theatre and who won many a victory by the simple device of getting there half an hour before the opposing general woke up.

In this sense, we all may be grent, halting each transient hour and compelling it to pay tribute of deeper knowledge, purer love, nobler service and more abundant life before passing away into the irrevocable past.

TO HOLD LARGE PICNIC AT AURORA THURSDAY, AUG. 9

In Celebration of Completion of Northwestern Turnpike in West Virginia Territory.

In preparation for a gigantic picnic and celebration at Aurora, West Va., on Thursday, August 9, A. A. Pickering, president of the Northwestern Turnpike, Inc., and Harry Hollis, both prominent residents and business men of Rowlesburg, West Va., were in Oakland on Monday evening interesting the business men and organizations of the town in the event.

The celebration will be for the purpose of jubilating over the completion of the Northwestern Turnpike in West Virginia and of linking the people of that State with Virginians in the Shenandoah Valley and points lying east and south of the State line.

All Rotary clubs, business men's associations in the territory from Winchester to Parkersburg have been invited to take part in this picnic as well as the business men of Oakland and the territory in Maryland fringing on the highway. An immense as well as enthusiastic crowd is expected at Aurora upon that day, Mr. Pickering said when he called at The Republican office upon the occasion of his visit here Monday evening.

Governor To Be Present

Ex-Governor Cornwell, of West Virginia, will be present and as a gifted orator will make the chief address; Governor Byrd, of Virginia, Governor Howard M. Gore, of West Virginia, and possibly Governor Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, will also be present and take part in the celebration. It is expected that Homer Rodeheaver, a Preston countian and known the country over as the leader of the music in Billy Sunday's tabernacle meetings, will lead the singing.

The program calls for the celebration to begin shortly after a business meeting of the association is held at 10:30 a. m.

From 11:45 until 1:45 there will be a basket picnic dinner in McCrum's grove where also the speaking and band concerts,to be furnished by three musical organizations, will occur.

The completion of the pike in West Virginia leaves an unfinished portion of about five miles in Garrett county, which is now the only uncompleted gap between Parkersburg and Winchester.

Mother's Circle Enjoys Outing at The Pines.

The Mother's Circle of Oakland, together with the members' children as guests, held its first annual outing at The Pines on Tuesday afternoon. On account of the American Legion parade at Frostburg, the entire membership did not attend. However, there were 42 children present and The Pines, with its naturally beautiful location and surroundings, presented a gay scene as the children played and were entertained.

In the evening the fathers went out from Oakland to join their family groups for the six o'clock picnic supper.

The members of the Mother's Circle at a recent meeting had decided to make an annual outing part of their regular program and they are well pleased with the success of the first affair of the kind.

MRS. RASCHE PUBLISHES "MARYLAND EXILE' SONG

Dedicated to Mr. Delbert Davis of First National Bank.

On Tuesday, The Repuhlican was in receipt of a complimentary copy of a song entitled "A Maryland Exile," the words and music having both been written by Mrs. Kate R. Rasche, of Oak street, Oakland. The song is dedicated to Delbert Davis, of the First National Bank, Oakland.

In a letter to The Republican, which accompanied the song, Mrs. Rasche says: "I wrote these verses for the St. Vincent New Era, Minnesota, in 1888, when I lived on a far western prairie where the dome of a blazing sky was like an inverted boiling kettle, with its rim meeting the stretch of vast grain fields unbroken by hill or a stream as far as the tired eye could reach; not a rock the size of a canary bird's egg to break the awful irregularity.

"Lately, something within moved me to rewrite these verses into an up-to-date patriotic song for publication. No one but a 'has been' truly understands the hungry, starving yearning homesickness this lament of "A Maryland Exile."

CONTRACTS SIGNED FOR FAIR ENTERTAINMENTS

Premiums To Be Higher This Year and Will Absolutely Be Paid. Manager Emphasizes

With all publicity matter ready for distribution, the premium list in the hands of the printer, the free attractions and shows contracted for, preparations for the Twelfth Annual Garrett County Fair, under the general management of Henry M. Speicher, who is also secretary of the Associations, are well under way.

"Premiums this year have been increased and will absolutely be paid," Mr. Speicher said yesterday. He is making an earnest appeal to the farmers to cooperate in the project and make it a hugh success as it was when he was manager several years ago. "I can't have the Fair myself," he said. "There must be help from all the farmers in Garrett county and all together we can put it across and do it successfully."

Contracts Signed.

The Twentieth Century Shows, under the management of K. F. Ketchum, have signed a contract to be here for the fair dates, September 25, 26, 27, and 28, and this will consist of eight or ten real good shows and three or four riding devices. There will be the airplane swing, merry-go-round, ferris wheel and probably a whip. A committe of the Oakland fair directors saw the show in Keyser and all were of the opinion that the attractions were very good.

The Parentos Company will furnish the free acts which will consist of acrobatics and high diving and will give two shows daily, 36 minutes each time.

The fair catalog and primium list is now in the hands of The Republican and the composition and printing will be begun in a short time, is the present plan. All other advertising matter is ready to be placed in position and other details having to do with the proper advertising of the fair are being looked after by Mr. Speicher.

With the proper cooperation on the part of the farmers of the county and the business men of the community, there is no reason why this year's Garrett County Fair should not be the best ever held in Oakland.

W. McComas. a member of the Deep Creek Lake Improvement association.

The land events in the morning will consist of sack races, three-legged races, potato races, riding the goat and catching the greased pig, and suitable awards will be made in each event, it was stated.

The afternoon will be devoted to canoe, sail, motor and row boat races, swimming races, tilting contests and tub races, with suitable prizes. The Allegheny Boat club has offered a silver loving cup to the winner of one of these events.

FORMER SHERIFF GETS EIGHT YEARS IN PRISON

Shoots Man Accused of Being Intimate With Wife.

Arthur R. Williams, former sheriff of Preston county, West Virginia, adjoining Garrett county, was found guilty late Friday of feloniously shooting Gordon B. Ramsey, of Philippi, W. Va., and was sentenced to serve eight years in the State Penitentiary at Moundsville.

The jury in the Preston county court deliberated but a short time. Judge Harry Shaw, of Fairmont, who presided at the trial in the place of Judge A. G. Hughes, who was a witness, passed sentence upon Williams. A motion to set aside the verdict and grant a new trial was presented and will be argued later.

The court house was crowded during every session of the trial.

The shooting of Ramsey grew out of alleged intimate relations between himself and Williams' wife.

LUTHERAN DAY AT PARK WILL BE OBSERVED JULY 31

Loysville Orphans' Band Will Give Concert in Afternoon—Affair One of Fellowship

At the same time the School of Missions and the School of Theology of the Pittsburgh area of the M. E. church, will be in session, thus it is possible that a very large number of people will be at this favorite resort on that day.

The addresses will be made by Dr. John Aberly, president of the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Gettysburg, Pa., and by Mrs. Margaret Seebach, editor of the Lutheran Woman's Work, Philadelphia.

Rev. Dr. R. T. Vorberg, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, Keyser, W. Va., will preside.

The Loysville Orphans' Home band will give a concert from one until two o'clock in the afternoon and the organization will also play in Oakland at eight o'clock in the evening on the vacant lot opposite the Lutheran church on Second street. ## SCOTT SHIRER RESIGNS AS LOCAL SCOUTMASTER

To Take Effect on July 31—Rev. Linaweaver to Succeed Him.

Scott Shirer, scoutmaster of the local troop of Boy Scouts since January 1, 1926, recently tendered his resignation to the troop committee, to take effect on July 31, according to an announcement this morning by Mr. Walter W. Dawson, chairman. Rev. Paul G. Linaweaver, rector of St. Matthew's P. E. church, has been chosen as his successor.

The retiring scoutmaster has been connected with the local troop since January 1, 1925 and was elected as its commander a year later. His work has been outstanding in many respects and the troop has grown and prospered under his management.

The troop committee, composed of Walter W. Dawson, chairman; Harland L. Jones, Frank E. Rathbun, L. M. Fraley and Donald R. Sincell, have expressed their regret that the master of the troop has been compelled to relinquish his office and have accepted his resignation with reluctance.

Rev. Linaweaver has been assistant scoutmaster since January 1, 1928, and prior to that time had been actively engaged in work for the local troop. He is thoroughly familiar with scout work and the troop committee feels that it is fortunate in having him in charge of the boys of Oakland Troop, No. 1.

He will start at once making arrangements for the annual camping trip, which will occur some time in August and most of the forty boys, who are members of the troop, are expecting to be in camp.

LARGE CROWDS EXPECTED FOR DOLLAR DAY SALE

Merchants Advertise Their Bargain Offerings In Local Papers Today—July 31 Is Date

Numerous advertisements appearing in the local newspapers today give evidence of the activity in mercantile circles in preparation for the Dollar Day Sale to be held on Tuesday, July 31st.

In glancing over the values offered by the merchants in their advertisements, it is predicted that Oakland's stores will be crowded with buyers on that day. Ample facilities have been provided by bus companies to bring people to town that day from every direction and at reduced fares.

In preparation for this immense sale, Oakland merchants have laid in a sufficient supply of all goods advertised to meet the needs of their customers and will be in readiness that day to serve the public with bargains many of which will be incredibly low in price and all high in quality.

Bar Association to Have Vacation.

The Garrett County Bar Association will take its annual vacation beginning Monday, July 30, and continuing for two weeks, of half-holidays. All the law offices in Oakland will be closed at noon each day for two weeks and during the third week, beginning August 13th, will be closed both morning and afternoon.

Library Benefit Picture To Be Shown Tonight

Tonight Richard Dix, in "Sporting Goods," will again be shown at the Maryland Theatre, the proceeds of which will go for the benefit of the Garrett County Public Library. The same picture was shown last night for the library's benefit.

The plot centers around a clerk who sells sporting goods but who is mistaken for a millionaire and has to live up to it.

Two pairs of Buster Brown shoes will be given away at the theatre on Friday night, one pair to a girl and the other pair to a boy. The ticket that night will be good for 25 cents on the purchase of a pair of Buster Brown shoes, sold exclusively by F. A. Smouse. The picture for tomorrow night is Johnny Hines in "Homemade."

Boys' Band Practices Marching To Music.

The Gilbert-Brown Boys' Band was on the street Tuesday night for the purpose of practicing in marching and between rests played several selections at various street intersections which were listened to by a large number of residents and visitors in town.

Two selections played at the corner of Fourth and Alder streets brought a donation of $5 from Rev. Archibald Moore, who was visiting near that point and heard the music.

Enthusiastic applause was given the boys by the inmates of the Garrett County Jail when the band rendered a selection or two nearby.

Band Has Several Engagements.

The band will play at Rainbow Inn, Sunday, July 29; for the water carnival at Deep Creek Lake, Friday, August 3; for the picnic at Aurora on August 9, when the opening of the Northwestern Turnpike will be celebrated, and for the firemen's convention at Meyersdale, Pa., on August 15.

On Thursday, August 2, the organization will play at a birthday party that Mrs. Ralph Weber will give in honor of her son Jack Weber.

Summer School of Theology to Open Monday.

The Summer School of Theology of the Pittsburgh area opened Monday with Dr. R. C. Cuthbert as dean, at Mountain Lake Park. The faculty of the school consists of preachers from the three conferences making up the Pittsburgh area. Dr. Alan MacRossie, educational director of the Methodist Episcopal church, will be among the speakers.

Five hundred delegates were entertained at the Park last week at the annual institute of the Baltimore Conference Epworth League. The majority of the visitors were from Baltimore, although Washington and the counties of Western Maryland contributed a number of the delegates. Dr. S. C. Coale was dean of the Institute.

Taken at Last

Several weeks ago, Scoop promised to bring the remaining members of the town officials into the limelight, but stated that it was very difficult to find them in characteristic pose. The Col. has been attending all the council meetings for the past several months but the city attorney, W. R. Offutt, has never showed up.

Last meeting, he got mixed up in his dates and thought it was pay night, so he was there at 6:30, anxious for the session to be called to order. When the mayor informed him that it was six months until pay season, he calmly picked up his "Torchlight," or "Honest Scrap," and walked out saying, "Well, I'll be seeing you then."

The Col., not to be beaten out of his picture, followed him to Second street and snapped him just as he was standing on the curb admiring an automobile across the street. Yes, it was his own car.

Saving Up.

With preparations for the Dollar Day Sale in Oakland, and the Water Carnival on Deep Creek Lake, the Col. hasn't been able to get around this week, but just wait 'till next. Anyway, there won't be much room in The Republican this week. Scoop laid in a supply of "Shavetails" on his trip south, and since specials seem to be the order of the day, he will give three of these away on Dollar Day, for one dollar. Copyright applied for.

For the water carnival, wherein it is expected that Commodore H. W. McComas, and Rear Admiral Haulenbeek will race from Rainbow Inn to Glenndale bridge, Scoop is thinking of offering a prize for the person floating the longest period of time. Only those with electricity in their hair and gas on their stomach need apply. Details will be announced next week.

GRANTSVILLE.

Chicken Thieves Are Busy

A very unfortunate occurrence happened on Monday night when Edward Pritts, who manages the Dahlgren farm which is owned by Albert Dahlgren, of Grantsville, was aroused from his sleep about one o'clock to find the barn on fire. Upon immediate investigation he discovered that thieves had entered the building and had carried away about fifty of his young chickens. The Grantsville fire truck was called and the flames were extinguished after having done considerable damage to the barn and its contents. A heavy loss is sustained by both Mr. Pritts and Mr. Dahlgren.

It is supposed that the thieves in their work dropped a lighted match in some hay which caused the fire.

Bible School Closes

The closing session of the Daily Vacation Bible School was held at the Lutheran church in Grantsville Friday morning. The program was splendidly rendered. The school was organized by Rev. Sigler. Much credit for the success of the school is due the teachers, Miss Viola Broadwater, Miss Alverta Miller, Miss Fern Folk and Miss Helen Folk for the excellent work accomplished during the term of the school, which lasted two weeks. There were forty-eight pupils in attendance, all of whom enjoyed the work and the recreation of the course.

The program was participated in by group members of the school and consisted of devotions, songs, recitations, addresses, and a moving picture illustrating the story of Abraham and Lot. The dramatization of the story of Joseph was a most pleasing feature of the program.

THURSDAY, JULY 26, 1928.

E. Stanley Haller, Field Representative Of The Imperial Ice Cream Company, States Some Facts Concerning Dairying.

To the Editor of The Republican.

Is there any money in the dairy business?

Answer this question first:

Are you keeping cows, or are they keeping you?

The amount of milk produced by each cow in the United States in 1916 was 3,700 pounds. In 1921 it was 4,000 pounds, and in 1927 it was 4,700 pounds.

Four thousand seven hundred lbs. of milk at 28 cents per gallon will bring $152.75 and the feed cost will be approximately $100, leaving a profit above feed of $52.75.

A cow giving 8,000 pounds of milk at the same rate, the product would be worth $250.00, and at a feed cost not to exceed $125.00, leaving a profit of $125.00.

Should the latter cow be a purebred, it would be safe to assume that her calf would be worth $75 each year. Yet a calf from the poorer cow will be worth but little as we are not making progress toward higher production and more profit.

The feed cost is the important one concerned with profit.

Growing feeds at home and selling them to the cow make the most profit.

Prepare now for just a little more silage. If you have no silo, build one. Plan for legume hay, either soy beans, cow peas or alfalfa. A little oats and vetch will make good feed and it will take 4,000 pounds for each cow you have until hay comes again.

An acre of mangels have been known to yield 50 tons. Why not grow a quarter acre? They will put cash in the bank.

To maintain the body weight of a 1000 lb. cow it requires 5 months pasture at $3 per month, of $15; 2 tons legume hay at $20 per ton, $40, and to produce 4,700 pounds of milk it requires 700 pounds of digestible protien. Using 100 pounds ground oats, 100 pounds corn meal and 100 pounds Farm Bureau 32 per cent dairy special, we have a feed with 17 per cent digestible protein at a cost of $2.50 per hundred pounds.

To get 300 pounds digestible protein it will require 1,800 pounds of this mixed feed at a cost of $45.00.

For a cow giving 8,000 pounds of milk, the requirements are the same for maintenance, but the milk requirements is 432 pounds of digestible protien or 2,700 pounds of grain of $2.50 per hundred of $67.50, plus maintenance, or a total cost of $122.50.

Of course, the individual cow will make some changes as no two cows are of the same disposition and require different handling.

Know what each cow is doing.

E. STANLEY HALLER.

Man Escapes Drowning in Deep Creek Lake.

Mr. James B. Forster, of Woodlawn, Pa., had a narrow escape from being drowned in Deep Creek Lake on last Saturday afternoon when a canoe in which he was riding overturned. Being unable to swim he had presence of mind to hold on to the boat until Robert Hnzlett, Jr., went to his assistance in a motor boat, bringing him in to the shore safely.

TWO ACCIDENTS OCCUR ON OLD NORTHWESTERN PIKE

Four Persons Received Injuries Sunday Morning at Red House

Two automobile accidents on the old Northwestern Turnpike were reported during the past few days, one of which resulted in painful injuries to four occupants of a Rickenbacher touring car, while the occupants of the other car miraculously escaped without being injured in the least.

The Rickenbacher car was occupied by H. J. Lipscomb, of Parsons, driver of the car; B. W. Dyche, C. E. Utz and Bernard F. Lewis, all employed in the Kelly Springfield tire plant at Cumberland, and was badly wrecked at the intersection of the pike and the Oakland-Thomas road, about 5:30 o'clock Sunday morning, the wreck being caused by the car leaving the roadbed and when brakes were applied it turned over two or three times. All in the car were injured and they were brought to Oakland where their hurts were dressed by Drs. McComas and Gattens. The driver of the car had sustained a fractured rib and deep scalp wound; Dyche had a bad cut on his leg, one other sustained a broken toe and the fourth was bruised on his arm and about his body.

Mr. Lipscomb, father of the driver of the wrecked car, drove over to Oakland from Parsons the same morning and returned to his home with the injured men the same afternoon where they are recuperating.

Car Turns Over.

fender on the car was the only mark Sturgiss, ran into the soft earth alongside the Northwestern Turnpike near Brookside last Thursday evening and after going a short distance and striking a flight of stone steps leading from the roadway into the dooryard of a farmhouse, turned over on its side.

The occupants of the car were Mrs. Sturgiss, Miss Dorothea Sturgiss, Mrs. R. R. Gilbert and her daughter Miss Blanche Gilbert, none of whom were injured in the least and one bent fender on the car was th eonly mark of the accident. The accident was peculiar is that some uncooked eggs held in the lap of one of the occupants of the car were unbroken except two, and these were but slightly cracked.

PICNIC COMMITTEE SOON TO BEGIN ACTIVE WORK

Knights Busy Preparing for the 9th Annual Labor Day Outing

With the Knights of Pythias Labor Day picnic committee meeting every week, plans are now getting under way for the ninth annual event, to be held in Helbig's Grove adjoining the State road just north of Oakland and which has annually claimed an attendance of six to eight thousand people.

The details settled thus far are concerning the amusements, which will be practically the same as last year, Alva Gortner, manager, stated. J. A. Glaze will be there with his merry-go-round and ferris wheel and other amusements in all probability will he provided.

A Chevrolet coach, under the direction of I. R. Rudy, will be given away on the afternoon of the picnic and there will be a display of fireworks in the evening.

Speakers for the occasion have not yet been announced, but it is hoped to have former Governor Cornwell, of West Virginia, to make the principal address. Grand Lodge officers of the order will complete the roster of the speakers.

"Other committees will be appointed soon," Mr. Gortner stated, "and then work will begin in earnest."

David Walter is assistant manger this year and Walter Dawson is the treasurer.

POULTRY REQUIRE CARE IN SUMMER, SAYS SPECIALIST

Poultryman From Department Will be In County Aug. 3 and 4

In the interest of the care of poultry during the summer months, W. H. Rice, poultry specialist of the University of Maryland Extension Service, will be in Garrett county on August 3 and 4 nnd will give demonstrations in Gormania, W. Va., Grantsville and Hutton.

"Hot weather is not the only cause for reduced egg production during the summer months," Mr. Rice said, "and other factors are likely to contribute to the unfavorable showing of the poultry flock during this season.

"Too often the flock is neglected during the summer in the pressure of other work. Careful, regular feeding and cleanliness are the two items most often neglected with consequent unfavorable results.

"It is during warm weather, too, that parasites are most troublesome to fowls, lice particularly, and should be controlled by occasional applications of sodium fluoride, working the solution well into the feathers. One pound of the insecticide will treat 200 hens.

"Mites can be controlled by painting the walls, roosts and dropping boards with a mixture of equal parts of coal oil and crank case oil and by cleaning the houses regularly and thoroughly.

"Feeding is of prime importance in maintaining egg production and must be carefully watched during the summer months. In addition to the regular well balanced ration, green feed and fresh water should be available in abundance."

Accident Man's Leg Fractured By Falling Log.

Bernard Riley, 76 years old, of Accident, was taken to the Western Maryland Hospital, Cumberland, Saturday night, suffering from a fracture of his left leg, sustained when a log fell on him. He was attended by Dr. W. A. Gracie and was able to return home Sunday.

TWENTY-ONE MARRIAGE LICENSES ARE ISSUED

Saturday is Poor Day, and Number is Below Average for Week

Saturday was an unusually poor day for the issuance of marriage licenses, and only 21 were issued during the past week ending Tuesday at noon, from the offices of the Clerk of the Circuit court, according to A. G. Ross, deputy clerk. Saturday is usually a big day, he stated, but only four licenses were issued on that date. Seven were issued on Monday, which is considered above the average for that day.

This brings the total for the month of July to 79, or 30 less than the record of last year. Seven licenses issued were marked "don't publish," and one applicant was refused a license.

BITTINGER.

This community, where tragedies are rare, was shocked on Monday morning, July 16, when it was reported that Joe Durst was lying dead in the cellar at the Earl Resh home, about one mile north of this village.

Mr. Resh's story is that Durst, who was contractor on the star mail route between Accident and Friendsville, and a youn man named Elmer Hoover, employed by C. C. Goehringer, of Accident, had driven to the Resh home late Sunday afternoon. Mr. Resh and his two guests spent the evening together in a most friendly and convivial manner until bedtime, when Resh urged his visitors to retire and return to Accident in the morning. This the guests refused to do, assuring Resh that they meant to repair an automobile tire and start for home shortly. Mr. Resh then retired and upon waking at about two o'clock Monday morning went down stairs to learn whether or not the men had left and was surprised to find Hoover asleep on a couch in the living room and Durst lying dead at the foot of the cellar steps.

Mr. Resh at once reported the matter to the officers and the following forenoon Dr. Broadwater, Attorney William R. Offutt and Sheriff Casteel, of Oakland, visited the scene and after a thorough examination, made the statement that there was no evidence of foul play and that Durst had met his death by accidentally falling down the cellar steps. It is supposed that Durst opened the cellar door by mistake, intending to leave the house by the outside exit, and in the dark fell down the steps, with the stated result.

Lesson for July 29

THE FIRST FOREIGN MISSIONARIES

LESSON TEXT—Acts 13:1-52.

GOLDEN TEXT—Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you; and lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul and His Friend Go to Tell Others About Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul and Barnabas Sent as Missionaries.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Paul Found His Life Work.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Holy Spirit in Missions.

This lesson marks the beginning of foreign missions as the deliberately planned enterprise of the church. The occasion for the beginning of this work was a meeting of certain prophets and teachers at Antioch. While these ministers were engaged in praying the Lord laid upon their hearts so heavily the evangelization of the world that they refrained from eating in order to seek the will of the Lord in prayer. This is the kind of fasting that m'ets God's approval.

I. Barnabas and Saul Sent Forth (vv. 2, 3).

The Spirit directed the church to send forth Barnabas and Saul to the work whereunto He had called them. The Spirit called and the church seconded the motion by sending those who were Spirit-called. A real call to missionary service comes from the Holy Spirit. It should be the concern of the church to constantly seek the mind of the Spirit relative to the sending forth of laborers into the Lord's vineyard. It is to be noted that the Spirit called and the church sent the very best men from their company at Antioch. This is as it should be. Success in the mission field is dependent upon the laying of her best men and women upon the altar by the church.

II. Barnabas and Saul Preaching the Word of God in Cyprus (vv. 4, 5).

After a second season of prayer and fasting the church formally ordained these first foreign missionaries for their work. Ordination by the imposition of hands has its proper place. Cyprus being the home of Barnabas perhaps accounts for their first going to this country. It is most natural that those who have heard the good news should go first to their kindred and friends. Then, too, Barnabas was acquainted with the country and people and could thus be assured of a proper hearing among them. Andrew first went to his brother, and the man out of whom the demons were cast was commanded by Christ to go home and tell what great things the Lord had done for him (Luke 9:39).

III. Barnabas and Saul Withstood by Elymas, the Sorcerer (vv. 6-12).

Sergius Paulus, the deputy, invited Barnabas and Saul to tell him of the Word of God. Elymas maliciously sought to turn the deputy's mind from the faith. This first obstacle encountered, as the gospel was being carried to the heathen world, was overcome through the power of the Holy Spirit. Paul denounced Elymas in most scathing terms, calling him the child of the devil, declaring that he was full of guile and villany, pronouncing him the enemy of all righteousness, and accusing him of perverting the right ways of the Lord.

IV. Paul and Barnabas in the Synagogue at Antioch in Pisidia (vv. 13-16).

From Paphos Paul and Barnabas with Mark went northward to Perga. It is from this place, perhaps because of hardship, that Mark went back. He started out with good intentions, but the trials seemed too great for him to endure. Mark redeemed himself later, though when they started on their second missionary journey Paul would not consent for Mark to accompany them, although he later testified in Mark's favor (II Tim. 4:11). From Perga they went to Antioch in Pisidia and entered the synagogue on the Sabbath day. While he was the apostle to the Gentiles he began with the Jews. After the usual reading of the Scriptures, in response to the invitation of the rulers, Paul delivered his first recorded sermon. This sermon is worthy of careful study. When analyzed we find it had four parts. 1. Historical (vv. 17-23). 2. Political (vv. 24-27). 3. Doctrinal (vv. 38, 39). 4. Practical (vv. 40, 41).

The effect of this sermon was that many Jews and proselytes requested to hear these words again. Almost the whole city came to hear the Word of God the next Sabbath. While many came to hear these words jealousy provoked open opposition.

Take Heed

Wherefore take heed of being painted fire, wherein is no warmth; and painted flowers, which retain no smell; and of being painted trees, whereon is no fruit: "Whoso boasteth himself of a false gift, is like clouds and wind without rain."—John Bunyan.

God Will Aid Us

As long as we work on God's line, he will aid us. When we attempt to work on our own lines, He rebukes us with failure.

Increased Efficiency Increases Toll Calls

Communities With Common Business and Social Interests Now Served by Direct Lines

Toll Operators Passing Out-of-town Calls.

Increases in telephone operating efficiency increase out-of-town calls. This has made it necessary to increase the number of direct lines between communities having common business and social interests. In speeding up calls between out-of-town communities far and near, telephone officials have provided direct circuits which not only give faster service, but also improve transmission.

Among the latest direct circuits to be connected by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company are those serving Washington, D. C., and Albany, N. Y.; Lynchburg, Va., and Bristol, Tenn.; Onancock, Va., and New York City; Baltimore and Trenton; Wheeling, W. Va., and Youngstown; Fairmont, W. Va., and Oakland, Md.; Baltimore and Detroit; Charleston, W. Va., and Ironton, Ohio; Norfolk, Va., and Charlotte, N. C.; Danville, Va., and Durham and Raleigh, N. C.; Havre de Grace and New York; Oakland, Md., and Pittsburgh, and Newport News, Va., and Philadelphia.

KNOWING FIRST AID SAVES LIFE OF MAN

First aid knowledge of telephone employees has been the means of saving the lives of many people not connected with the Company. Recently George W. Benzie and T. W. Erickson, cablemen, were working in a manhole at Norfolk, Virginia, when their attention was called to a man standing nearby holding his bleeding arm and calling for help. The two telephone men hurried to his assistance. Erickson grasped the injured arm located the artery and stopped the flow of blood, while Benzie quickly procured his First Aid kit and applied a tourniquet at the proper place above the wound. Bandaging the ugly gash and preparing a sling for the injured arm, they turned the patient over to a policeman who took him to a hospital where he was given medical attention.

It developed that the injured man, H. B. Dunn, of a water company, had severed an artery in his arm while washing a glass bottle. In a letter to W. L. Wagner, Plant Superintendent of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, Mr. Dunn expressed his appreciation of the efforts of Benzie and Erickson for their knowledge and application of first aid which very probably saved his life.

BEDROOM TELEPHONE HELPS TRAP BURGLAR

Presence of mind la an emergency —and a telephone—recently helped a Washington (D. C.) woman to catch a burglar. While she was sleeping, she was awakened hy footsteps in the adjoining room. The door hetween the two rooms was shut. Reaching for the telephoae beside her bed, she quickly removed the receiver from the hook and, in low tones, asked for the Police Department. She was able to give information of the situation with out the intruder hearing her, with the result that the police arrived on the scene in time to prevent his escape.

TELEPHONE BRIEFS

Richmond, Va., enjoys the distinc tioa of having had the first telephoae central office south of the Potomac River. This exchaage was established April 1, 1879. Richmoad aow has 37,500 telephones from which aiore than 275,000 calls are made each tweaty-four hours.

REMEMBER, THE CHILDREN MUST BE VACCINATED

Before they Are Enrolled In The Public Schools This Fall.

The comparative freedom from smallpox that Maryland has enjoyed is attributed by Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health, to the intelligent cooperation of the people of the State with the Department in the observance of the vaccination law.

One provision of the law to which he directs attention requires the vaccination of young children, preferahly in infancy, but positively before they are enrolled in school. Before they are entered in school the responsibility rests with the parents. Afterwards it is shared by the teacher—the teacher who admits a child who has not been successfully vaccinated is liable to a heavy fine.

In connection with the health examinations that have been made at the child health conferences held throughout the State under the auspices of the Bureau of Child Hygiene, of children who are getting ready to enter school this fall a special medical record has been kept of those who have not been vaccinated. Out of a total of 1,500 children, ranging in age from five to seven years, who have been examined recently, over 1,000—two out of every three- were not vaccinated. The importance of having the children vaccinated was pointed out to the parents and the family physicians were also notified.

"If two out of every three children who were brought to those conferences were in need of vaccination," Dr. Riley said, "we can be sure that an equally large proportion of the rest of the children of the same age group is still unprotected against smallpox. If these children are to be received in the schools this fall, the parents will have to have them vaccinated promptly.

"We can all be proud of the record we have in Maryland, so far as smallpox is concerned. But it has been won only by eternal vigilance and through the strict observance of our vaccination law. Our Maryland law not only requires the vaccination of youngch ildren before they can be enrolled in school, but when a case is reported it also authorizes the Department to vaccinate all who have been in contact with the disease.

"When an outbreak occurs or the possibility of one arises, smallpox preventive measures have the right of way over everything else. In the recent threatened outbreak in the Western part of the State on the border between Maryland and Pennsylvania, the Department of Health of both states joined forces in the wholesale vaccination of the endangered communities.

"Smallpox has by no means been stamped out. Terrific outbreaks still occur in this country and elsewhere. In our own country the outbreaks have been especially serious in the Western and Middle Western States in which there have not been stringent vaccination laws. The only way we can keep Maryland protected is by vaccination. Children cannot protect themselves—their parents have that responsibility."

THE UNIVERSALITY OF CHRIST

Why is it that there are almost two hundred different Christian denominations and sects in this country? It is certainly regrettable, if not scandalous, and so many separations, we might almost call them divorces, have so shattered the unity of the family of Christ.

A professor of Princeton University published a book some time ago entitled "The Psychology of Religious Sects." There are many historical causes of the break-up of Christendom into numberless fragments he said, but the chief cause is psychological. These religious differences, in most cases, may be traced back to temperamental differences in human nature.

People may be roughly classified into three principal psychological types—the action type, the emotional type and the intellectual type. An examination of the various religious bodies shows that a particular type of psychological temperament is predominant in each.

The Roman and Greek Catholic churches, for instance, seem to be primarily of the action type. Their worship consists in doing things—marching in processions, making mystical signs and symbolic gestures, alternately standing up and kneeling down. They make their appeal thru dramatic pageantry and gorgeous sacerdotal dress. They express their faith through ceremony and ritual, in other words, through action, and so appeal to the action type.

Our Methodist brethren, on the otreh hand, we may take as an illustration of the emotional, or experimental, type of temperament. They lay chief emphasis on the experience of religion, the regeneration of the heart. Their worship expresses a warm and joyous emotional tone. They want to feel the "blessed assurance" of salvation.

The Presbyterian church may be taken as one example of still another psychological type—the intellectual. Here we find more interest in theology, which is the philosophy of religion. Doctrinal disputes are more likely to disturb the unity of the congregation. More emphasis seems to be put on matters of belief than upon the experience or the practice of religion. Here we find also a firmer insistence upon a highly educated ministry.

Let us not make the mistake of supposing that one type is intrinsically any better than another. The cold intellectualism of Presbyterians, for instance, might be improved if warmed up by a little Methodist fervor. The leaders of Methodism are already working diligently to establish a higher educational standard in their ministry.

But there are these different human types. People of like temperament naturally gravitate toward each other and set up churches of their own. People of unlike temperament are uncongenial and cannot agree, and so drift apart. These sectarian divisions, or ecclesiastical divorces, are often due to the same cause as matrimonial divorces—incompatibility of temper.

But however much the churches may differ from each other, there is one thing they all have in common—Jesus Christ. Who can measure the fullness of th estature of Christ? Is it an active expression of religion that some disciples crave? They find it superlatively in Him who "went about doing good", who came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many. Is it an emotional response to the Spirit of God that some disciples crave? They find it superlatively in Him who, as He was praying, was transfigured so that the fashion of His countenance was altered and His face did shine as the sun. Is it the intellectual expression of spiritual realities that some desire? They find it superlatively in Him who said, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free"—the Master Teacher who revealed to mankind the profoundest philosophy of life.

Jesus is the perfectly balanced personality, the completely developed and completely rounded character. Everything that is good in human nature came to fullest fruition in Him. He is the perfect synthesis of all these discordant psychological elements. That is why He is adequate for every human need. That is why He is able to save unto the uttermost all those who come unto the Father through Him.

KEEPING THE MARYLAND BABY IN PERFECT HEALTH

Water, Milk, Flies and Fingers Are all Sources of Danger

"Water, milk, flies and fingers are all sources of danger to the baby and should be considered as such in any effort to prevent sickness among the young children," sums up the advice of Dr. R. H. Riley, director of the State Department of Health in regard to the summer care of the baby..

"Here are some of the ways," he said, "by which the baby's health may be safeguarded: See that the baby gets its mother's milk, if possible; Pasteurize the milk that is given to the bottle fed baby; (the same precaution should be observed in regard to the milk given older children) keep all milk clean, cool and covered; give the baby cooled, boiled water to drink; always wash the hands thoroughly with soap and water before preparing the baby's food; never take the baby out in the hot sun; screen the house against flies and mosquitoes. Use a mosquito net over the baby's bed when the baby takes a nap out of doors; dress the baby according to the weather. Keep a light blanket or a dress to slip over the baby when there is a sudden drop of temperature; take the baby to your doctor at the first indication of diarrheal disturbance.

"It is hard for any body to believe that the city baby has a better chance than the country baby, of keeping well. But seeing is believing and a glance at the records of the State Department of Health shows that beginning in 1921 and continuing each year since then there have been more deaths from diarrheal diseases among babies and young children under two years of age in the counties than in Baltimore City. There has been a steady decline in these diseases in the counties as well as in Baltimore City but with a more favorable record for Baltimore City than for the rest of the State. In the counties, the deaths from diarrheal diseases among children of that age went down from 597 in 1921 to 291 in 1927; in Baltimore City from 428 in 1921 to 191 in 1927.

"Checking back against these figures for some factor that might contribute in some way to this record, we find that owing to the laws requiring the pasteurization of milk in Baltimore City, pasteurization of the milk is much more general in the city than in the counties. A considerable part of the decrease can accordingly be attributed to the safeguarding that comes from this preeaution."

TENNIS STARS TO VIE FOR HONORS AUGUST 13

Maryland Racqueters Determined to Win a Few Honors From Rivals of Other States

With Maryland racquet stars bent and determined to carry off a few of the honors which have in the past been going to other States, the ninth annual tennis tournament for the Western Maryland championship, to be held at Mountain Lake Park, August 13 to 18, promises to be quite spirited.

More than one hundred entries have been received from amateur net devotees from Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio and other States, for these events, the winners of which will receive championship cups.

Nine years ago this tournament, started in a small way, with local players, and each year it has grown until now the entry list far exceeds one hundred. It is sponsored by the Women's Civic Club of the Park, and is sanctioned by the United States Lawn Tennis Association. The rapid growth of this event has made it necessary to construct several new clay courts and improve the club house by adding large and comfortable baths and lockers.

The Challenge Cup for men which has been in competition for eight years, has been won as follows: 1920, John Brown, Connellsville, Pa.; 1921, Jarvis Adams, Pittsburgh, Pa.; 1922, Wright Hughes, Wheeling, W. Va.; 1923, Ray Johnson, Pittsburgh; 1924, Kier Boyd, Pittsburgh; 1925, Jarvis Adams, Pittsburgh; 1926 and 1927, Gwynn King, Washington, D. C.

The Women's Singles Championship Cup, in competition for four years, has been won as follows: 1924, Miss Sara Wright, Frostburg; 1925, Elizabeth Hughes, Wheeling; 1926 and 1927, Mrs. DeLoyd Thompson, Washington, Pa. Both cups will become the permanent property of the player first winning three times, not necessarily in succession.

Those desiring to enter the tournament may make application to Mrs. W. L. Camden, Mt. Lake Park, for blanks. These must be filled in on or before August 11.

Northwestern Turnpike Is Now Open To Parkersburg, W. Va.

The Northwestern Turnpike from Red House, in this county, to Parkersburg, on the Ohio River, in West Virginia, a distance of more than 150 miles, was opened to traffic on Friday, July 27, and it is said that more cars passed through Aurora, West Va., just west of the Maryland-West Virginia State line, on Sunday, than ever before. A continuous stream poured through the place the entire day.

In celebration of the opening of this old highway, a gigantic picnic is to be held at Aurora on Thursday, August 9. All Rotary clubs, business men's associations in the territory between Winchester and Parkersburg have been invited to take part, as well as the business men of Oakland and the territory fringing on the highway.

Governors and ex-Governors will be present upon the occasion and the program as arranged by the Northwestern Turnpike Association, will begin shortly after a business meeting of the organization at 10:30 o'clock.

To Have Greater Display of Fireworks at K. of P. Picnic

A greater display of fireworks for the night of the Knights of Pythias picnic has been promised by Alva Gortner, general manager, who has recently been in touch with several concerns within the past week.

"In former years the fireworks display has not been what is should have been," the manager said yesterday, "but the selection this year is sure to please even the most fastidious."

The picnic committee has been at work most earnestly during the past week, and everything seems to be going fine. The Chevrolet car to be given away is in charge of I. R. Rudy and tickets may be secured from him or from Singleton Townshend. Speakers for the occasion have not yet been secured.

Dollar Day Sale Termed a Success by Merchants

Oakland's Dollar Day sale on Tuesday was termed the best sale ever held in Oakland by one merchant and by a number of others as being entirely satisfactory. Most of the business places participating were exceptionnlly busy in the morning and a little above the average during the afternoon and evening.

OPERATIONS AT CANNING PLANT WILL END SOON

Approximately 50,000 Cases of Peas Canned During Month.

The Mount Airy Canning Company, whose plant is located at Loch Lynn Heights, which began operations on Wednesday, July 11, will close the early part of next week after canning approximately 50,000 cases of peas.

The pack was harvested from about six hundred acres of land in Garrett county. The acreage was increased from 550 acres last year to the above figures this year, but the constant rainfall has lowered production very considerably, according to the management of the plant..

While the plant was in operation at full capacity about 130 persons were given constant employment.

Since April 1 the original plant has undergone a complete remodeling with additions constructed, with the result that the efficiency of the plant in handling the product has been materially increased with less labor. Mr. Reinhardt, local manager, supervised the construction of the addition and rearrangement of the machinery within the plant.

Later in the season, or about September 15, a large quantity of corn will be harvested and canned at this plant, the grain having been grown by local farmers.

SCHOOL OF MISSIONS ENDS AT THE PARK LAST NIGHT

Program Said To Have Been Superior to Those Elsewhere

The Interdenominational School of Missions for 1928 closed last night at Mountain Lake Park with the presentation of a beautiful pageant put on by the director of that part of the work, Dr. Bancroft, of India.

The school opened on July 27 with Mrs. F. I. Johnson, of New York City, nationally known leader in mission school work as chairman of the program committee and teacher in the general methods class. Mrs. Johnson was ably assisted by other nationally known workers in the persons of Mrs. J. F. Seebach. Miss Mary Moss, Miss Charlotte Anderson, Dr. J. Newton Davies, Miss Ethal Payne, Mrs. Arthur C. Day, Dr. Bancroft, Mrs. R. H. Evans, Mrs. S. S. Hough and Miss Mary Collins, who had charge of the girls camp.

Every minute of each day and at the evening lectures had something well worth seeing and hearing. The evening lectures were exceptionally interesting, new phases of mission work, especially in the foreign fields being presented in an illuminating manner by men and women who had had personal experiences in the fields abroad.

The foreign book studied during the school was "Africa," and to add something out of the ordinary at the Tuesday evening session Sinclair Swan, of Oakland, well known radio singer of Negro spirituals, sung several solos to a large as well as appreciative audience.

The school will be in session again next year, but the dates have not yet been set.

Rotarians To Meet At Rainbow Inn Tomorrow Evening

Beginning tomorrow night and continuing throughout the month of August, the Oakland Rotary Club will hold its regular weekly meetings at different places, according to a decision reached last night at a meeting of the Board of Directors which was held at the residence of Walter W. Dawson.

Tomorrow night the club will meet at Rainbow Inn and the meeting on the following week will be held Thursday evening at Aurora in connection with the picnic and celebration of the road opening at that place. Deer Park will probably be the next meeting place. Members of the club who are not able to attend these meetings will be counted present if they report to the William-James Hotel, Mr. R. R. Gilbert, treasurer, said.

The board of directors of the club also decided to sponsor a band concert to be given in Oakland sometime during the month of August by the Triangle Band of Uniontown, Pa. H. A. Rasche, a former Oakland young man, is a member of the band, and all are said to be professional musicians. They will stop in Oakland during their day's outing for the concert.

Many grangers are planning to attend the State Grange meeting to be held here August 14, 15, 16, and 17. Only a few days before it starts. All pepole should prepare to receive them.

OAKLAND FIRE COMPANY SHOWS ITS EFFICIENCY

Makes Record Run to Terra Alta on Monday Night When Serious Blaze Threatens

The efficiency of the Oakland Volunteer Fire department was demonstrated again Monday night when its members made a record run to Terra Alta, a distance of ten miles, to assist in getting a blaze under control at that place.

The first call came about 10 o'clock, a second call to come and to hurry immediately followed. At 10:10 o'clock the Locomobile truck with seven or eight members of the department had passed Ramsey's garage at Rosedale, just on the edge of town. At 10:20 they had passed the high school building on the outskirts of Terra Alta. At 10:27 the line had been hooked up, an estimate of the situation made, and found to be unnecessary to turn water into the line.

State Policeman Thomas E. Currie, preceded the fire truck for the purpose of clearing the road, and according to George Kerins, fire chief, he certainly did the work.

While the hose and pumper stood by in readiness, members of the Oakland department assisted in putting out the blaze. The only equipment used consisted of a few nozzles attached to the hose lines of Terra Alta's department.

Besides the seven or eight members of the department who went with the truck, two more carloads appeared shortly after and aided in bringing the fire under control.

The fire originated between the theatre and C. A. Dodge's Meat market on the main street of the town, and was the same spot that had caught fire about two weeks ago. The meat market was damaged considerably as was also a vacant store room next door. The theatre was only slightly damaged.

In commenting on the speed with which the Oakland department appeared in Terra Alta after the call had been sent to them, Judge Everhart said, "Boys, I don't see how in the world you did it." And then Fire Chief George Kerins said, "If I hadn't looked at the watch myself, I wouldn't have believed it."

BITTINGER MAN IS HELD ON MOONSHINE CHARGE

Alleged Operators of Still on Big Savage Mountain Caught.

"King" George Burkholder, of Bittinger or of the Bear Hill section in that community, and Elmer Yates, of Somerfield, Pa., were arraigned before United States Commissioner T. J. Anderson in Cumberland on Saturday and committed to the Allegany County Jail in default of $1000 bond each, charged with manufacture and possession of liquor.

The pair was arrested Friday night by Federal officers at Lonaconing, who lay in wait for them. They were charged with operating a still on Savage Mountain above Barton, the plant being raided on Tuesday of last week and the ownership being later ascertained by the officers.

It is said that both "King" George and his fellow operator fled to the woods when the approach of the Federal agents was noticed. At the still however, which was of large capacity, and located beneath a tent, the officers found a woman attendant, said to be a relative of Burkholder's, several high powered rifles and other firearms.

According to Federal agents and court records, Burkholder has been convicted on other occasions and served a sentence for making liquor. He pleaded guilty to the charge at the hearing before the Commissioner, but Yates denied any ownership or participation in the operation of the distilling plant.

FOUR FAIL IN ATTEMPT TO GET FARMER'S MONEY

Four Unmasked Men Enter the Home of James Resh and Compel Him to Open Empty Safe

Four men visited the home of Mr. James Resh, near Engles Mills, this county, the last of last week, for the evident purpose of committing a robbery, but fled when it was discovered that there was no money to be found in the safe.

The robbers entered the Resh home, according to the report, unannounced and found no one in the house but Mrs. Resh. As Mr. Resh was out on the farm at the time, Mrs. Resh was ordered to open the safe in the living room. She refused, saying Mr. Resh had the key.

The men then left the house and waited at the barn until Mr. Resh returned with the cows. When the farmer came from the pasture field he drove the cows into the barn yard, put down an axe which he had been carrying and approached the men for the purpose of ascertaining their business. After a few preliminary greetings, one of the robbers produced a bottle of whiskey and offered Mr. Resh a drink and while he and Resh were engaged in a controversy over Mr. Reshes refusal to drink, the other three men slipped up behind Resh and grabbed his arms and in a few seconds had him securely hand-cuffed.

The hand-cuffed farmer was then forced to march to the house where he was preemptorily ordered to unlock the safe. A parley ensued, but in the end Mr. Resh was forced, by threats, to open the safe, but nothing was discovered but papers which were of no value to the robbers. It is presumed that if there had been any money or valuabels in the safe, Mrs. Resh had removed them while the men were at the barn waiting for Mr. Resh to return and concealed them elsewhere.

The men then released Mr. Resh and beat a hasty retreat. Mr. Resh followed the men for some distance, until they entered the woods. The robbers were unmasked and none of them were recognized by the farmer or his wife.

The prize trophy of the tournament is the Offutt cup, which has been in competition for nine years. To become the permanent property of players, it must be won three times, but not necessarily in succession. The cup is now held by K. F. Kellerman, winner in 1927. B. Lee Hutchinson, Fairmont, West Va., has two legs on the cup, having won in 1925 and again in 1926, as has also Gene Casper, of Pittsburgh, Pa., who won in years previous to Mr. Hutchinson's victories.

The qualifying round will be played on Friday, August 24. All winners and runners-up in all divisions are to be awarded suitable prizes, and there will also be some special features, Mr. Flynn stated.

Civic Club Held Regular Meeting on Tuesday

The Oakland Civic Club held its regular meeting on Tuesday at Crook Crest, the home of Miss Thekla Fundenberg, the president of the organization.

Following the business session a short musical program was given, when Miss Betty Broadwater and Miss Virginia Gilbert, guests of the club, rendered several selections on the piano.

"A Maryland Exile," the recently published song composed by Mrs. K. T. Rasche, of Oakland, was sung by Miss Fundenberg, who was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. James Treacy, daughter of the composer. All the members of the club joined in singing the chorus.

"We as members of an Oakland organization were glad to hear and sing this song, composed by a resident of the town," Miss Fundenberg said yesterday. The composer has many friends and a son and daughter residing in Oakland.

SCOUT COURT OF HONOR HEARS OF RESIGNATION

Was Officially Notified at Regular Meeting Monday

The Court of Honor of Oakland Troop No. 1, Boy Scouts of America, was officially notified of the resignation of Scoot Shirer as Scoutmaster of that Troop at the regular monthly meeting on Monday night and at the same time was advised that Rev. Paul G. Linaweaver had accepted the position of Master and would assume his duties as such immediately.

Franklin E. Rathbun, a member of the Troop Committee and also of the Court of Honor in behalf of the two bodies of men, paid a high tribute to the retiring scoutmaster for the excellent work which was accomplished by the boys while under his direction and leadership. Mr. Rathbun pointed out that Mr. Shirer had performed an invaluable service to the community in which he lives in that he has kept alive one of the most active scout troops in the country and has counselled the boys through an important period of their lives, for which they will ever be indebted to him.

Mr. Shirer made some fitting remarks to the Court of Honor and after reviewing the accomplishments of the troop during the past two and a-half years, during which time he was master, he stated that such accomplishments were made possible only by the support which he and the troop had received from the Ladies' Auxiliary, troop committee and the Court of Honor. He added that it was his only request that the same support be given to his successor in the work.

Rev. Linaweaver was present at the meeting of the Court of Honor for a short time, but due to a previous engagement was unable to remain. He stated, however, before taking leave, that he would enter actively upon his duties as scoutmaster the following day and would complete arrangements for the boys' annual outing, which will include two weeks at the Scout camp on Deep Creek Lake during this month.

Library in Need of Funds—Small Amount Received For Benefit Picture

The two-night attraction, Richard Dix in "Sporting Goods," shown last Wednesday and Thursday night at the Maryland theatre for the benefit of the Oakland Free Public Library, failed to bring in more than twenty dollars above expenses, according to J. M. Jarboe, treasurer.

The theatre was less than half filled each evening. The Library is badly in need of funds, Mr. Jarboe stated, and some other method of raising money will be used the last of August.

Miss Ethel Bolgiano gave a very delightful reading both Wednesday and Thursday nights, as an added attraction to the benefit picture.

Giant Dandelion Discovered

Bond Weber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Weber, was exhibiting a giant dandelion last Thursday afternoon which was found among some raspberry bushes about the greenhouses of The H. Weber and Sons company.

The stem of the dandelion was 30 inches long, with leaves 28 and 30 inches long and four and one-half inches wide. "We grow things big out there," the lad said. And how!

OUR HOME TOWN—

In today's issue of The Republican appears a page advertisement, signed by a number of Oakland business establishments, boosting Oakland as the center of our activities and the place we call home.

It wonders whether we are doing day by day the many things we should do to make Oakland an even better place in which to live by asking the following questions: Do we assume our share of civic responsibility; do we always put our best foot formost; do we boost our home town to outsiders; do we meet adversity with a smile; do we trade with home merchants; do we pay our bills promptly?

All of these questions should be answered seriously and truthfully by each citizen of Oakland, and if the right answer cannot be given, a change is necessary somewhere.

Read the advertisement carefully because it carries a wonderful message to everyone, if they will only let it sink in.

OH SAY, CAN YOU SEE?

Ears that hear not, or at least didn't register any sign of consciousness on the brain, were conspicuous Tuesday night during the last piece played by the Tressler Orphans' Home band at the concert given opposite the Lutheran church, Oakland. At least, it will sound better to blame events like that one on ears.

During the entire time spent by the boys in playing The Star Spangled Banner, quite a number of gentlemen in the audience never made a move to remove their hats or caps from their heads.

For enlightenment, let it be said that The Star Spangled Banner is the national hymn of the United States of America and when played civilians should stand at attention, facing the music with their hats or other headcovering, if they have any, held in the right hand and held over the left breast.

There isn't a chance for everybody to learn the words, but they can at least learn the tune so that they recognize it when being played.

Dr. M. F. Sloan, Tuberculosis Expert, Dies

He was instructor in clinical medicine at Johns Hopkins University, and a member of the American Medical association, the Maryland Medical and Chirurgical faculty, the National Tuberculosis association, American Sanitorium association, Southern Medical association, the Baltimore club, Mt. Moriah Lodge of Masons and Scottish Rite and other Masonic orders.

LUTHERAN DAY OBSERVED AT MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK

Many Attend, Hear Addresses And Band Concert.

Lutheran Day was observed Tuesday at Mountain Lake Park, and the crowd, though not as large as was anticipated, was composed of a goodly number from points east and west with a few from outlying sections in Garrett county. Others present who listened to the program were theological students of the Pittsburgh area of the M. E. church and those who were connected with the Summer School of Missions as well as the residents of the Park.

A picnic dinner was spread under the oak trees surrounding the Tabernacle which wns enjoyed by the members and friends of the denomination.

The Loysville band from the Tressler Orphans' Home, gave a short musical program in the tabernacle in the afternoon.

The Rev. C. A. Shilke presided. Five minute addresses were made by Mrs. Margaret Seebach, of Philadelphia, editor of the Lutheran Woman's Work, and by Dr. John Aberly, president of the Lutheran Theological seminary at Gettysburg. Mr. Howard Robinson, of Baltimore, rendered a solo, accompanied by Dr. J. G. Robinson, of Gettysburg.

The program was necessarily shortened by reason of the late arrival of the band, the bus in which the organization was traveling having broken down at a point between the Park and Fairmont.

Tuesday nigh tthe band gave an open air concert in Oakland when a free will offering was taken. This with the amount collected at the Park, was approximately $100. The members of the band were entertained by the Lutheran families in and near town during their stay here, leaving early yesterday morning for Hagerstown where they appeared in a program last night.

DEER PARK.

Rev. W. H. Faust, of Atlanta, Ga., who is at Deer Park visiting relatives and former parishioners, will preach in the M. E. church at that place on Sunday evening, August 12.

Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Faust and two daughters, of Atlanta, Ga., and Misses Carrie and Hilda Thrasher, of Washington, D. C., are spending ten days or more with Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Thrasher.

Mrs. Jennie Freeland was in Oakland on Friday last on a business mission.

MT. LAKE PARK.

The students for the School of theology which began last Monday now number approximately eighty, besides the faculty and lecturers. The addresses by the two Bishops and Dr. Allan MacRossie and others during the week have been of most excellent helpfulness and have been greatly enjoyed.

The Summer School of Missions, which began on Friday, is one of the most successful and helpful of any preceding one. Running parallel with the school of theology, there is a congenial and happy blending of cooperation that makes both the more enjoyable and helpful.

The DeWitt family reunion held here last Saturday was largely attended and greatly enjoyed.

Rev. L. A. Rudisill and his son Wesley and daughter Ruth came by automobile last Tuesday.

The general concensus of opinion of the people is that the Park is coming to the front again and is destined to become more and more delightful.

Not long ago an actor read a chapter from the Bible in a famous New York night club. Half the people in the room were drunk or on the way. The actor stilled the tumult with his voice and the verses. There was a strange attention paid him. When he finished there was silence—impressive silence—for some seconds. And then everybody went on with the show. That's a scene that's lived a hundred times in life. Something "gets to us." We are brought to attention. We are impressed. As a rule we do nothing about it. We do not set out to improve our habits. ## Lesson for August 5

PAUL IN A PAGAN COUNTRY

LESSON TEXT—Acts 14:1-28.
GOLDEN TEXT—I know both how to be abased and I know how to abound.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul and Barnabas Preach to the Heathen.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul and Barnabas Preach to the Heathen.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Paul Unmoved by Flattery and Danger.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Heroism of Foreign Missions.

I. Paul and Barnabas Preaching at Iconium (vv. 1-7).

1. Their manner of preaching (v. 1).

This is suggested by the little word "so" in verse 1. They so spake that a great multitude believed. They were true preachers. Only that which brings conviction of sin and induces decisions for Christ can be truly said to be preaching in the Biblical sense.

2. Their attitude towards opposition (v. 3).

This is suggested by the word "therefore." "Long time therefore they tarried." The opposition did not prevent their preaching, but incited them to continue preaching. Christian workers should learn not to give up work because of opposition.

3. The Lord accompanied their preaching with miracles (v. 3). Since the opposition was so fierce, the Lord granted help which was needed.

4. The effect of their preaching (v. 4.)

The multitude of the city was divided. Where men faithfully preach the gospel there will be division. Such division comes frequently in the home just as Christ predicted.

5. Paul and Barnabas assaulted (vv. 5-7).

The Jews and the Gentiles united in planning this assault. Being apprised of this plot, Paul and Barnabas fled to Lystra and Derbe, where they preached the gospel.

II. An Attempt to Worship Paul and Barnabas as Gods (vv. 8-18).

1. The occasion (vv. 8-10).

It was the healing of the lame man, God's gracious power shown in healing this lame man occasioned a new difficulty. The man was a confirmed cripple. He had never walked. On hearing Paul preach faith was born in his heart (Rom. 10:17). When Paul perceived that the cripple trusted Christ, with a loud voice that all could hear he bade the man to stand upright. The cure was instantaneous for he leaped up and walked (v. 10).

2. The method (vv. 11-13).

They called Barnabas Jupiter, and Paul Mercurius because he was the chief speaker. The priest of Jupiter brought oxen and garlands ready to offer sacrifice unto those men (v. 13).

3. Their efforts frustrated (vv. 14-18).

This foolish act was happily averted by the fact of the apostles as exhibited in the address of the occasion.

(1) They denied that they were divine beings and declared against the worship of men of like passions with themselves. What awful folly to worship such beings when the infinite God, who created all things and is above all, spreading out His beneficent hands in blessing upon all, is seeking true worshipers!

(2) They directed them to turn away from these vain things unto the living God who made heaven and earth, and has left witness of Himself in that He has always done good, giving rain and fruitful season, filling their hearts with gladness.

III. The Stoning of Paul (vv. 19-22).

Wicked Jews from Antioch and Iconium pursued Paul with relentless hate to this place where they stirred up the very people who were willing to worship the apostles a little while before. This hatred took form in the stoning of Paul and dragging him out of the city for dead. These things are easy to talk about, but how awful they must be to experience. God raised him up, and with undaunted courage he pressed on with his duties as a missionary, bearing the good tidings to the lost. The church today needs men with such zeal and courage, and such a passion for the souls of lost men that they will do as Paul did.

IV. The Organization of Churches in the Field (vv. 23-28.)

Evangelization with Paul did not mean a hasty and superficial preaching of the gospel, but the establishment of a permanent work. Elders were appointed in every church. The work of the missionary is not done until self-governing and self-propagating churches are established on the field.

Fly to Him

If it be true that God is not only willing to befriend us, but is spoken of as touched with sympathy for our miseries, so as to be all the kinder to us the more we are miserable, what folly were it not to fly to him without delay.—John Calvin.

A Verse From the Bible

Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem the other better than themselves.—Philippians 2:3.

GRANTSVILLE.

Missionary Society

A very interesting meeting of the Reformed Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. J. U. Stanton. The lesson was given by Miss Ruth Keller. Mrs. Francis Boucher gave a very interesting report of her study at Kiski, Pa., where she was sent as a delegate of the Somerset Women's Missionary Society of the Somerset Classis. There were fifteen members and four visitors present. Delicious refreshments were served.

More Bad Luck

Another very unfortunate accident occurred last week when the large Acme lumber truck of the Dahlgren brothers was completely consumed by fire. There was along with the truck 1700 feet of lumber burned also. It was just the week before that their chicken house was destroyed by fire and fifty chickens stolen from them. This has been a great financial loss to them.

The two months old infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Yonmer, of Jennings, died on July 30, at its home. Burial will take place in the Grantsville cemetery.

DEMAND FOR TELEPHONE SERVICE CALLS FOR LARGE CABLE PROGRAM

Additional Plant to be Placed in Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia This Year Will cost $3,000,000 Company Officials State

The 18,700,000 telephones serving the United States are now largely connected by invisible wires in underground and aerial cables. This type of plant not only reduces the construction and maintenance costs of the system, but greatly improves the appearance of the communities it serves.

If the telephones now in use in this country were served by open wire lines it would be necessary to utilize many more streets, alleys and highways than exist in the average community.

In Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia, territory served by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company plans are under way to place an enormous amount of additional cable during the year. The cable to be placed this year will, according to telephone engineers, contain 1,278,000,000 feet of copper wire. The construction of this additional cable is necessary to meet the ever-increasing number of telephones now being connected with the switchboards. This cable program will involve expenditures of more than $3,000,000, officials of the company state.

The widespread use of telephone cable recalls the prophetic vision of Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone in 1878, just two years after speech had first been transmitted between two instruments. A letter written by Dr. Bell to a group of capitalists, March 28 of that year, said in part:

"The telephone may be briefly described as an electric contrivance for reproducing in distant places the tones and articulations of a speaker's voice, so that a conversation can be carried on by word of mouth between persons in different rooms, in different streets, or in different towns.

"At the present time we have a perfect network of gas pipes and water pipes throughout our large cities. We have main pipes laid under the streets communicating by side pipes with the various dwellings, enabling the members to draw their supplies of gas and water from a common source.

"In a similar manner, it is conceivable that cables of telephone wires could be laid underground, or suspended overhead, communicating by branch wires with private dwellings, country houses, shops and manufactories, uniting them through the main cable with a central office where the wires could be connected as desired, establishing direct communication between any two places in the city. Such a plan as this, though impracticable at the present moment, will I firmly believe be the outcome of the introduction of the telephone to the public. Not only so, but I believe, in the future, wires will unite the head offices of telephone companies in different cities and a man in one part of the country may communicate by word of mouth with another in a distant place."

That Dr. Bell's prophecy has come true is evidenced by the fact that telephones not only connect every section of the United States, but serve the world at large. A recent report shows that there are now about 31,000,000 telephones in the world and that more than 60 per cent. are in the United States.

IMMENSE RETAIL BUSINESS NOW REQUIRES 11,000 MEN AND WOMEN

Each Individual Transaction—A Telephone Call Requires the Cooperation of the Calling Party, Operator, and Party Called

Designating the telephone company serving Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia as the largest retail business in this territory will undoubtedly surprise many people. Probably no one considers the telephone company in this light. It does, however, operate a retail business of great magnitude, for every call, either local or long distance, is an individual transaction. Telephone users in this territory now make about 3,000,000 calls daily, each of which is a personal service operation of three people—the calling party, the operator and the party called.

In operating this retail business the company employs more than 11,000 men and women, including engineers, linemen, repairmen, clerks, operators and supervisory officials.

Telephone service, this great retail commodity, unlike other classes of business does not require the customer—the calling party to come to any central point to transact his business. Through the medium of the telephone and its associated apparatus including switchboards, pole lines, wire, cable, telephone instruments and other plant, the user of this retail industry is served from his place of business or home at any time of day or night, weekdays, Sundays and holidays.

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company which serves this territory now operates about 570,000 telephones from 287 central offices. The company's policy, which obviously is a sound one, is to continue to furnish the best possible telephone service at the lowest cost consistent with financial safety. This policy is bound to succeed in the long run and there is no justification for acting otherwise than for the long run, officials state.

"Miss Society" makes a date. "The telephone is indispensable in society as well as business," she says.

EXTRA WRONG FONTS

By Scoop

The War Is Over

Scoop was of the opinion that the war was all over, but from all the reports of the Oakland Legionaires returning from Frostburg, there were quite a lot of casualties at the Jubilee and celebration there. At least they were all shot up.

The Oakland boys returned to their various nests like ducks— one after another. As Briggs would say it—"And so on, far into the next day."

The Col. got some pictures of the belated returns, but they won't be published. The sinking fund for libelous cases is very low in The Republican office at present. However, a snap of the scene will be sent to anyone desiring it, for a certain amount each. Send no money. Pictures will be sent in plain sealed wrapper. No embarrassment. Write today.

Machine Is Stolen

Col. Bell is in an awful dilemma. This is his busiest season and he is completely left in the cold. He was out on the streets during the dollar day sale, pushing his way through the mobs, when somebody stuck a dollar day sign on his camera. Just after he had taken one picture and was arranging it in his kit, somebody saw the sign, shoved a dollar bill in his hand and took the camera. He disappeared in the crowd and hasn't been seen since.

The one picture he obtained was of Louis Wningold in a diligent search for bargains. By a special photographic process, known only to the Col., it can be sen just what is on his mind. The picture was taken just after he had purchased a dollar day special at Miller's Meat Market. Rumor has it that the purchase was a fresh ham.

Here Is Lonie

"Dark Horses"

With a borrowed camera, which works with difficulty, Col. Bell was down on Deep Creek Lake yesterday evening looking over the possibilities. In walking along the banks several of the "Dark horses" were brought to light and discovered in the bushes, and a picture was taken of one of these along with the owner.

Edward Lawrence, one of the latest outboard motor enthusiasts, was engaged in perfecting a craft made in the shape of a shoe. The Buster Brown, as Ed calls it, was taking a little shape, with a borrowed toe, to be used as the prow, and as the picture was snapped, Ed was seated in the rear, testing its stability.

"I look for it to be in a class all its own," Ed was quoted as saying. "And even if it doesn't win the trophy, it will be a good advertisement. Beesness is beesness."

Scoop's Prize

Details of the prize contest to be conducted by Scoop are announced in full this week. Col. Bell is to judge in the contest to see who floats the longest. Entries will begin at the rising of the moon—to continue until all participants become exhausted and sink. No prize is absolutely necessary, but to show good faith, a floating tombstone will be presented the winner. Application blanks may be had at the Colonel's office.

YOUNGER IN SPIRIT; OLDER IN YEARS.

The Census Bureau reports that the rate of infant mortality for 1927 was the lowest ever recorded in this country.

Such a condition was not brought about by strong men playing safe, by doctors using their knowledge to avoid danger, or by healthy people running away from epidemics.

We have reduced the ravages of disease, not only among infants, but among adults, because men and women dared to expose themselves to fatal maladies not alone to aid and comfort their fellow being, but to discover preventives and remedies. If the baby born today has a better chance it is because untold numbers of people work to make it better at the risk of their own lives.

The reduction of infant mortality means more than a better chance for babies. It means that we can keep up our population without imposing such burdens of motherhood on women as were once necessary.

Two hundred years ago, or even 100, a family of six was necessary to meet the death rate. Today we are meeting it with families of four. Not only that, but we are developing a saner social, political and economic structure, no matter what some folks say. The average age of people living in this country is much higher than it used to be, which means that the avernge intelligence is better, the average judgment more mature and the average experience greater.

Those who call this a day of "flaming youth" have failed to consult the record. As a matter of cold figures young people represent a smaller percentage of the total population than they ever did. Dr. Ira S. Wile, noted psychiatrist, who has just completed a study of the subject, says there are proportionately half as many persons over 50 as there were in 1870. In 1870 persons under 30 represented more than sixty-seven percent of the total population. Now they represent only fifty-eight per cent.

In 1870 persons over 40 represented less than twenty per cent of the total population. Now they represent almost twenty-seven per cent.

Those who think youth is running things to a greater extent than ever before are fooled. We may average younger in spirit, but we are older in years.

In his engine laboratory, a large truck manufacturer made a fifty-hour test to compare "Standard" Motor Oil with other oils under the same operating conditions.

"Standard" Motor Oil not only showed 5 per cent greater initial speed, but maintained this speed during the test.

With the other motor oils, the number of revolutions per minute at the end of the fifty hours was only half as great as at the beginning. This shows why in a modern, high speed motor "Standard" Motor Oil can be depended upon to provide a greater margin of safety.

CONCERT FOR BENEFIT OF PUBLIC LIBRARY NETS $11

Boys' Band Plays Several Numbers Tuesday Evening.

Eleven dollars and 18 cents was collected Tuesday night by a free-will offering taken after the Gilbert-Brown Boys' band had played a concert for the benefit of the Free Public library. The members of the Library wish to thank the members of the band for their help in this matter.

The boys also played Tuesday night near Mr. Gilbert's home for a surprise birthday party. The boys were given a treat at Sturgiss' pharmacy by Mr. Gilbert where they were asked to play several pieces. Several donations there netted them $5.

Today the boys are playing at Aurora, for the road opening celebration, and on Monday will play for the meeting of the Grange at Oakland. Thursday, August 16, they will play at the Firemen's convention, Meyersdale, Pa.; Sunday, August 19, at the Anti-Saloon League meeting, and on Thursday, August 23, at Rowlesburg, W. Va.

TURNPIKE OPENING BEING OBSERVED BY BIG PICNIC

Large Representations From a Number of Towns On Highway Celebrating Event Today

The full program for the general meeting of the Northwestern Pike Association and goodwill celebration at Aurora, twelve miles south of Oakland today, of the opening of the turnpike after its rehabilitation in building from the original foundation for 148 miles from the Ohio River at Parkersburg, West Va., to the Maryland State line, was outlined at a meeting of the general officers of the association held at Grafton last Friday, according to A. A. Pickering, its president.

Greetings will be brought from a number of prominent men representing different communities. The principal address will be made by Hon. John J. Cornwell, vice-president of the association, and former governor of West Virginia.

The governors of Virginia, Maryland and West Virginia, as well as the State Roads Commissions of these States and the Federal and State division engineers have been invited to attend. Also the chambers of commerce, civics clubs, business organizations and other service clubs of all towns in Northern West Virginia and parts of Maryland and Virginia. The greater number of these organizations made preparations to send large delegations, Mr. Pickering said, Winchester and Frederick county, Va., and the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce being among the number.

Following the business meeting of the Association at 10:50 o'clock there was a basket picnic in the grove from 12:00 o'clock noon until 2:00 p. m. During this time band concerts by the Victory band of Clarksburg, the Oakland and Terra Alta bands and the American Legion drum corps of Grafton, were heard.

Homer Rodeheaver, of Billy Sunday fame, will lead the patriotic singing; Scotty, the aviator from Marietta, O., has been granted the flying concession and souvenirs and trade novelties will be given away by manufacturers and business firms.

The Oakland Rotary club and many other residents of town and of the community adjacent to Oakland are planning to spend the afternoon and evening at this celebration which bids fair to be the greatest road celebration that has ever taken place in the State of West Virginia.

No Action Taken on Building of Proposed Road.

A delegation of about 40 persons from Bloomington, Garrett county, Piedmont, W. Va., Westernport and Luke, Allegany county, waited upon the Board of County Commissioners in Oakland on Tuesday for the purpose of securing favorable action on the part of the Board in building a hard surfaced road from Bloomington to connect with the concrete road now completed to Wilson Station on the B. & O. Railroad. No action was taken by the board at the meeting.

PROMINENT SPEAKERS TO ADDRESS STATE GRANGE

Many Meeting of Organization Will Be Open to Public—Sessions to Begin on Tuesday

Delegates from every county in Maryland will begin their pilgrimage toward Oakland on Monday to attend the 56th annual session of the Maryland State Grange, which will be held here August 14, 15 and 16. Approximately 500 people are expected to be present at the sessions.

The Farmers' Grange, or Patrons of Husbandry, as the name implies, is an organization of persons interested in farming, or in its broader sense, in agriculture. For fifty-six years the farmers of this State have been meeting monthly, quarterly and annually in their subordinate Pomona and State Granges to discuss the problems of the home and the farm. The Grange might truthfully be said to be a great social and educational institution where the social life of the farm may center and where every farmer's boy and girl are given an opportunity to express their views and are thus encouraged to study and develop their problems, free from religious or political atmosphere. Out of these studies and discussions many great accomplishments that we now look upon as normal and economic necessities, such as rural free delivery, parcel post and cooperative marketing had their birth, two of them in Maryland granges.

While the Grange is a so-called secret order, all its discussions and addresses by prominent men and women are open to the public to whom a most hearty welcome is extended.

The principal speakers scheduled for August 14th, 3:15 P. M., are Dr. H. J. Patterson, director of the Agricultural Experiment Station, and in the evening at Mountain Lake Park Mr. W. B. Burruss, well known platform lecturer, and Hon. Louis J. Taber, of Ohio, Master of the National Grange. W. B. Burruss will deliver his semi-humorous lecture on "Fools."

On Wednesday morning, August 15th, 10:50, addresses are scheduled by Mr. F. W. Besley, State Forester of Maryland, and Dr. R. A. Pearson, President of the University of Maryland.

The officers of the Maryland State Grange are: Master A. G. Ensor, of Forest Hill, Harford county, and secretary, Mrs. M. M. Hudson, of Towson, Baltimore county.

The Oakland committee on entertainment is composed of George D. Sprague, chairman; J. L. McGlone, H. P. Stuck, C. N. McIntire, D. M. Lower, Paul Friend and Mac Ridder, and the memebrs of the Garrett County Pomona Grange.

This committee has arranged with the various hotels and boarding places of the town to give the visitors a uniform rate for meals and lodging.

The Crellin and the Gilbert-Brown Boys Bands have been secured to give a concert or a series of concerts during the days of the convention and on one day of the meeting a tour of inspection of a section of Garrett county has been arranged for.

The Manhattan Hotel will be headquarters for the convention officers and the sessions of the grange will be held in the Knights of Pythias building on Second street.

Business men of Oakland are urged to decorate their places appropriately for the welcome of the grangers and to display flags, etc.

West Virginia Jewelers To Meet At Deer Park Hotel.

The West Virginia Jewelers' Association will hold its annual outing on next Monday and Tuesday, August 13 and 14, at the Deer Park Hotel. Three hundred members of the association are expected for the two-day session, with approximately four hundred for the banquet on Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock.

The program calls for the showing of the picture "The Fair of the Iron Horse," on Monday night, with special music by a band sent from Baltimore by the Baltimore and Ohio Railway Company. Tuesday will be taken up with a series of golf and swimming contests.

Officers from the National Jewelers' Association will be present, according to Hugh J. Flynn, manager of the hotel.

Fifty-five vice-presidents of as many railroads throughout the United States have already accepted invitations to be present at the Kelly-Springfield meeting to be held at the hotel September 9 to 11.

MOOREFIELD DAIRYING CONDITIONS INSPECTED

Creamery Representative and Republican Reporter Inspect Plant and Visit Farmers

To get an insight of practical dairying in a section of country probably not as naturally adapted to that business as is Garrett county, E. Stanley Haller, field representative of the Oakland Creamery Company, and a staff reporter of The Republican visited Moorefield, West Va., on Tuesday and made an inspection of a milk receiving and shipping station there besides interviewing dairymen of that section concerning their views regarding the dairy business.

The milk shipping station was inspected during the early morning hours while patrons of the concern were delivering their product, and it was learned that the shipping station received 2492 gallons of whole milk that morning, which is an increase of approximately 500 gallons of milk over the same day last year and 2092 gallons over the 8th day of October, 1926, when the plant was opened in Moorefield.

According to R. L. Grover, manager of the plant at Moorefield, patrons are being added constantly to their already large list, and farmers in that section who have raised beef type cattle for many years, are now turning to the dairy cow and by the first of October next he expects to receive approximately 3500 gallons of milk daily.

Mr. Grover stated that his company, the Supplee-Wills-Jones company, was paying $2.78 per one hundred lbs. for 4 per cent milk, which price he stated had been constant for the past two years, and was set and regulated by the Inter State Milk Producers' Association and the Philadelphia Dairy Council.

It was learned that one of the patrons of the Moorefield station, M. S. Judy, of near Petersburg, W. Va., who had been a beef cattle raiser for a number of years and who recently converted his farm into a dairy property, is now supplying the shipping station with 1200 pounds of milk each day and expects to furnish more than 2000 pounds of milk by early fall. Mr. Judy now has a large herd of milk cows and is planning to increase his herd to a hundred head by the end of the present year.

Feeling that they were not receiving enough money for their milk, a group of farmers of the Moorefield section made a trip into the Valley of Virginia, expecting to get a better price for their product, but returned to Moorefield more than satisfied, so they said, with the prevailing Moorefield prices. At Broadway and Harrisonburg they were offered $2.20 and $2.28 per hundred pounds for milk, which was very much less than the Moorefield price of $2.78 per hundred pounds.

According to the Oakland Creamery contract with the dairymen of this county, its base price will be ten cents per hundred pounds above that prevailing at Moorefield. With twenty cents per hundred pounds additional for the top score, the local dairymen would receive $3.08 per hundred lbs. for four per cent milk.

Legion and Fire Department to Go to Meyersdale.

Members of the local post, American Legion, and the Oakland Fire Department will take part in the Western Pennsylvania Firemen's convention to be held at Meyersdale, Pa., all of next week.

The American Legion will have charge of Tuesday's program, and all posts from this section of the country are to be present. The local Post will go as a unit, leaving Oakland at five o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, and will take part in the parade which begins at 7:30. A prize of $25 is being offered for the largest percentage of members present from any one post.

The Oakland Fire Department, with practically a full membership, will take the pumper truck and attend the convention on Thursday. A parade will take place at 1:00 o'clock in the afternoon, and immediately after the parade the truck will be sent back to Oakland, according to Mayor Fraley, who is a member of the organization.

A special meeting of Procter Kildow Post, American Legion, will be held on Monday, August 20, to make preparations for the State convention to be held in Cumberland during that week.

THREE SPEAKERS LISTED FOR ANTI-SALOON RALLY

Annual Meeting to be Held at Mt. Lake August 19

Three speakers of note will be on the program of the annual meeting and rally of the Anti-Saloon League to be held at Mountain Lake Park, Sunday, August 19.

In the forenoon at eleven o'clock, Rev. Howard E. Thompson, pastor of Center Street M. E. church, Cumberland, and George W. Crabbe, superintendent of the Maryland Anti-Saloon League of Maryland, will address the audience, and in the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock Hon. Richard Yates, former governor, now Congressman-at-large from Illinois, will speak.

Music will be furnished by the Crellin Boys' Band and the Gilbert-Brown Boys' Band of Oakland.

Everybody is invited to hear these well known speakers deal with the great questions of law enforcement and the illicit liquor traffic.

A great day has been planned and many are expected to be present.

VOTERS OF GARRETT ARE TO DECIDE ON POOR FARM

Question Will Be Submitted at Election to be Held in November of the Present Year

A Legislative act providing for the purchase of a farm by Garrett county and the establishment thereon of a county home for the poor, will be submitted to the duly qualified voters of the county for their approval or disapproval at the presidential election to be conducted on November 6 next.

The question to be decided is whether or not the County Commissioners shall be authorized to purchase a farm of not less than two hundred acres and erect thereon suitable buildings for the needs of a home of public dependents. At the election the ballots to be used, as provided by the Act, shall have printed on them the words, "For the County Farm and County Home," and "Against the County Farm and County Home." If the majority of the votes are in favor of this Act, then the County Commissioners of the county shall proceed to buy a farm and establish a home, the same to be bought and improved with funds raised for the purpose by a bond issue. The farm is not to exceed 300 acres in extent and the buildings to be erected are to be of sufficient size to accommodate all persons who are public charges of the county.

PRINTING OF SMALLER BILLS FOR U. S. BEGINS

New Currency Will Likely Be in Circulation in July, 1929

The first bills of the new and smaller United States currency were completed Tuesday at the Bureau of Engraving, Washington, D. C. The first lot run off the preses consisted of one dollar bills, which will constitute fifty-three per cent of the total of nearly one million bills of different denominations from $1 to $10,000.

The printing of the first notes was witnessed by Assistant Secretary Bond of the Treasury, and other officials of the department. Mr. Bond autographed the first sheet that came off the presses and it will be preserved in the Treasury records.

It has not been definitely decided when the new currency will go into circulation, but it is planned for not later than July 1, 1929.

Scouts Leave This Morning for Deep Creek Camp.

Approximately 25 members of the Boy Scout troop of Oakland, Rev. Paul G. Linaweaver, scoutmaster, and "Bill" Turney, camp cook, left this morning about ten o'clock for the Boy Scout camp on Deep Creek Lake to spend two weeks together.

Food was donated by Oakland merchants and was gathered by members of the Women's Auxiliaary, and according to the cook, there will be a sufficiency for everybody.

Visitors' Day will be on Wednesday and Sunday, and this year the scoutmaster suggests that the families going to the camp take their lunches for the purpose of combining them into one big table of eatables. It was also suggested that if candy was taken to the camp that it be turned over to the scoutmaster for proper distribution. "Everyone must stay healthy," Rev. Linaweaver said.

IS UNLAWFUL TO SOLICIT MARRYING COUPLES HERE

Ordinance Passed Monday Night By Council a Drive at "Fleecers" Who Annoy Strangers

An ordinance prohibiting anyone within the corporate limits of Oakland from soliciting or offering aid to any person in securing a marriage license or in securing the services of a minister to perform the marriage ceremony, was passed at the last regular meeting of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, held in the City Hall last Monday night, which will tend to drive from the streets surrounding the Court House and from other public places in town several "fleecers" who demand any amount from $3 to $5 or $10 in return for their services in directing many who come here from other States to the Court House and then after they have secured a license take them to a minister to have the marriage ceremony performed.

Any person violating the ordinance shall be subject to a fine of not less than five dollars nor more than twenty-five dollars, and in default of payment of the fine and costs shall be committed to the County Jail for a period of ten days. The ordinance became effective the day of its passage—August 6.

"I believe this to be one of the best ordinances passed in many months," Delbert Davis, president of Council, said yesterday. "If it does nothing else it will preserve the integrity of the citizens of Oakland by stopping this practice of just a few who fleece marital couples who come here with none other than good intentions and are held up and practically stripped of what cash sums they bring with them before they really know what has happened them."

The situation which this ordinance seeks to correct is said to have become so obnoxious that many couples leave Oakland with barely sufficient money on which to return home and several instances have been noted of the newlyweds being obliged to call on the minister performing the ceremony for a loan in order that they might be able to get out of town.

The ordinance, published in full on another page of The Republican today, provides that "it shall be unlawful for any person or persons to solicit any person upon any of the streets, railway station grounds or premises, bus stations or in any other public places within the corporate limits of the town of Oakland, for the purpose of offering to aid or assist, in any manner, such person in securing a marriage license or in securing a minister for the purpose of performing a marriage ceremony."

Other business transacted by Council was the passing of the monthly payroll and other items of public importance.

Parade To Feature Morning Program of K. of P. Picnic.

The outstanding feature of the morning's program of the Knights of Pythias annual picnic, to be held in Helbig's grove just north of Oakland on Labor Day, September 3, will be a mammoth parade, according to A. G. Gortner, general manager.

The parade will include at least two bands, the local fire department, the local troop of Boy Scouts, trades display, fraternal organizations including the D. O. K. K., and other attractions. As planned now the parade will form at the usual time and will cover the main streets of town.

Arrangements for the speakers have not yet been completed, but some prominent men are promised by the management. I. R. Rudy and Singleton Townshend are in charge of this department of the Labor Day event.

Christian Citizenship Program

The program of the Christian Citizenship meeting starts tomorrow evening at eight o'clock when the Fair of the Iron Horse, the motion picture made at Clairborne during the centenary celebration last spring by the Baltimore and Ohio Railway Company, will be shown at Mountain Lake Park. No admission will be charged.

The same picture will be shown on Saturday night.

The chief part of the program will be on Sunday when several addresses will be made. Dr. W. W. Davis will deliver a sermon at 11:00 o'clock. Congressman R. L. Bowman, of West Virginia, will make an address at 3:00 o'clock, on "Christian Citizenship" and at 8:00 o'clock Senator M. M. Neely, of West Virginia, will deliver his address, "Mother's Day."

Boat Takes a Flop

Buster Brown, the latest motor boat creation of Edward C. Lawrence, was unable to compete in the races Friday, although it certainly would have been in a class by itself and would have caused quite a stir among admirers.

Ed was unwilling to make his trials out in the open, and while in the midst of a short spin before the race in a secluded inlet, the shoe lace got caught around a snag and upset it. The motor was not damaged, but Ed's sea-going outfit of a brilliant hue did a fadeout on him the instant he hit the water and he refused to be snapped by Col. Bell while in such a predicament. "The Goo-by wouldn't have had a show and the publisher of The Republican wouldn't have pulled down the money he won by the victory of Goo-by had I been dressed for the occasion," Ed is quoted as saying. Admiral Haulenbeck promised him the loan of his seaworthy apparel, according to rumor but Edward wouldn't discourse on this.

Swepson Earle, in charge of all water events, was present, but as birthdays come but once a year, and as this day happened to be both the day of the water carnival and his natal day, he compromised by celebrating his birthday to perfection. He was ably assisted in his celebration by the Secretary of State. And how!

It All Ended Peacefully.

Scoop's prize contest ended rather strangely after Col. Bell had been fairly swamped with entries for the "endurance floating." Just as the contest was ready to get under way, it started to rain and more than a hundred backed out for fear of getting their cotton suits wet.

The two contestants remaining were Dr. McComas and Dr. Bullard, and in an argument which followed to determine whether the prize was worth the effort Dr. Bullard discovered that Dr. McComas had a life belt beneath his swimming regalia.

The following picture was snapped as the two were at the peak of their argument. The one with the flowers is not Dr. Bullard.

Tombstone Presented.

The difficulty was ended Sunday afternoon when it was decided to present the prize, a floating tombstone, to Ronald McIntire tor his persistence in falling into the lake. Both contestants wanted the prize but were willing to compromise when Ronald's name was mentioned.

This decision was reached by both of them after they had witnessed Ronald and his upset Sunday afternoon. "If he does that many more times, he ought to be perfect," Dr. McComas said. "And how," Dr. Bullard replied. "The prize belongs to him."

A Passing Picture

When Scoop visited Col. Bell this week he had a surprise picture, and one which, it was supposed, no one had been able to obtain.

The Colonel received word of that recent fire in Terra Alta just a few seconds before the Fire Department in Oakland did, and grasping the opportunity headed for Crellin with his borrowed machine.

He was none too quick, for just as he got all "set up" he heard the siren on the truck just as it left Oakland. Two minutes later he had the picture and it is reproduced here for the benefit of The Republican's readers. Percy Frantz is driving, while Fire Chief Kerins is seated beside him. The others are there too.

Bean Beetle Spreads Throughout Maryland.

Ravages of the Mexican bean beetle this year in gardens and truck patches thoughout the State have given farmers and backyard gardeners an opportunity to gain first-hand information concerning the destructiveness of this most recently acquired insect pest.

Just two years ago the first Mexican bean beetles in Maryland were discovered in the extreme western portion of the State, although prior to that time the flight of the insects had been watched and their appearance within Maryland territory had been predicted. Now, according to Dr. E. N. Cory, entomoligist for the University of Maryland Extension Service, the beetles have spread into practically every county.

Effective control measures include the use of dust and sprays. Calcium arsenate in the proportion of one part to seven parts of hydrated lime is effective as a dust if applied at the rate of about fifteen to twenty pounds per acre. For very heavy infestations, magnesium arsenate, one part, and hydrated lime, three parts, applied at the rate of ten to twelve pounds per acre is recommended.

Home made Bordeaux mixture, 4-4-50, with the addition of one pound of calcium arsenate to each fifty gallons of spray, has proved to be satisfactory. For small areas one level teaspoonful of calcium arsenate to each gallon of Bordeaux will give the proper porportion. Sprays to be effective, it is pointed out, should be directed upward to cover the underside of the leaves where the beetles do their feeding.

Since calcium arsenate is poisonous, sprays or dusts should not be applied to bean vines after the beans on them are half grown. All beans, no matter when sprayed or dusted, should be washed carefully in two changes of water before being used.

Plantings that have been practically defoliated by the beetle should be picked as soon as possible and the plants either plowed under or burned.

IMPORTANCE AND NEED OF A SAFE MILK SUPPLY

State Board of Health Stresses Production and Handling

Directing attention to the importance of and need for a good milk supply, Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health, urges milk producers and housekeepers to take every possible precaution for the production of safe milk and for the careful handling of milk in the home.

"Milk may become contaminated," he said, "either through lack of care or because it is handled by a carrier of some disease. Under such conditions epidemics of sore throat or typhoid fever may arise. The first essential in the production of safe milk is the health of the workers—not only milkers but of every person engaged in any of the processes of milk handling, from the cow to the consumer. Other essentials are pointed out in the directions prepared by Mr. A. L. Sullivan, Chief of the State Bureau of Food and Drugs. Here they are:

"Clean, healthy cows submitting to an annual examination for tuberculosis and free from disease are essential for good milk. The cows must be milked by clean, healthy persons. Small top milking pails should be used, as they help to keep out the dirt.

"After straining through a fresh cotton pad, the milk should be cooled and kept cold until used. The housekeeper should do her part in keeping the milk chilled and should not allow it to stand an hour or two before putting it on ice.

"All milk containes bacteria, but for safety and also to keep the milk fresh and sweet it is neeesary to keep the bacterial count at a minimum. At this season of the year, carelessly handled utensils and inadequate cooling of the milk are two of the most important causes of the excessive increase of bacteria in the milk.

"All utensils and containers should be washed, scrubbed, rinsed and then sterilized with live steam or boiling water—at least two quarts of boiling water to a can and a quart or more to a pail.

"Bottles should be thoroughly scalded. Milk chilled to 50 degrees will show small increase in bacteria in 12 hours. At sixty degrees there will be a decided increase and at 70 degrees each original bacterium will have produced several hundred and ruined the milk. Cool the milk promptly and adequately and you will protect it for everybody."

Telephone Service is a Vital Service!

"During the year (1927) 791,000 additional telephones were put in service, making the total number in the United States interconnected in and with the Bell System at the end of the year 18,365,000.

WALTER S. GIFFORD,
President of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company (Bell System)

¶ Telephone service has become a vital service to the world of today. Each year sees its hundreds of thousands of new telephones added to those already served by the companies of the Bell System.

¶ Last year nearly 800,000 were added, swelling the total for the country to more than 18,000,000—one telephone for every seven of population.

¶ At the end of 1927 the aggregate cost of the plant and equipment devoted to furnishing this necessary service to the people of the United States had reached the impressive total of nearly three and one-half billion of dollars. Thus the furnishing of telephone service has grown to be one of the world's greatest industries.

¶ The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore City which is one of the associate companies of the Bell System serves 194,000 telephones in the State of Maryland. It represents an investment of more than $42,391,000. Each year brings additions of about 8,200 telephones and each year there is added about $3,400,000 in additional plant and equipment.

¶ Thus the demand for service in our territory continues just as it does throughout the rest of the country. And just as we have met the demand in the past we shall make every effort to continue to meet it in the future and to give the most telephone service and the best at the lowest cost to the public.

MT. LAKE PARK.

The School of Theology closed on August 1 with 84 registered. The School of Missions closed on the 2nd inst. Both of these gatherings were well attended and the School of Missions was considered by all in attendance as the best yet.

While some families who spent the past several weeks in the Park must leave their summer homes, others are coming in to take their places.

Mrs. William Nydegger, of Gorman, Md., will occupy the Scott White cottage for a short time, being expected here in a few days.

Mr. Alex. Policas, Clarksburg, W. Va., will take the McConnell cottage for several weeks and Mr. J. W. Dean, of Shinnston, W. Va., will occupy Mrs. Wilie Falkenstine's property.

Paul M. Smith and family, Charleston, is occupying the Maryland Inn cottage.

Mrs. Nancy Jane Haymond, who has lived here in her cottage for many summers, quietly passed away on Friday night after an illness of some duration from a heart affection. She insisted upon living quite alone even up to the last night of her earthly career, her lifeless body being found in her bed on Saturday morning. Rev. I. S. Middaugh, of the M. E. church, conducted brief funeral services here on Monday, after which the remains were taken to Fairmont, West Va., for interment. Mrs. Haymond will be greatly missed here as she had won many friends. She contributed liberally from her means to the local M. E. church as well as to other causes.

Dr. W. W. Davis, former Superintendent of the Park, is to put on a free exhibition of the Fair of the Iron Horse here on Friday and Saturday evenings and will have charge of the three services on Sunday.

Eugene Meadows, Pittsburgh, was married here at the home of his mother, Mrs. E. L. Meadows, on Saturday evening by Rev. W. M. Shultz. Mr. and Mrs. Meadows returned to Pittsburgh on Sunday. The bride, who was Miss Clara Kathryn Winters, of Edgewood, Pa., is quite a favorite in her home city.

MARRIAGE DIFFICULTIES—

Without exception, the Mayor and Council, on Monday evening, passed one of the best ordinances that has as its object the welfare of its citizens and for the good name of Oakland, during the present administration.

That ordinance, as will be seen by referring to the advertising pages of The Republican today, is the one prohibiting anyone within the corporate limits of Oakland offerng their services to prospective bridal couples in securing a marriage license or in securing the services of a minister to perform the marriage ceremony.

Several years ago there were only certain times when these public solicitors were seen about the streets and that was about the time of the arrival of trains over the B. & O. railway which usually brought to Oakland one or more couples seeking marriage. Now, however, when prospective brides and grooms are able to come here at any time in automobiles there is ever a watchful eye kept for them at the corner of Third and Alder streets and at Third and Oak streets and at other advantageous points near the Court House.

Anyone looking like he had a desire to get married and who happened to be walking along with someone of the opposite sex, was invariably pounced upon, whether to his liking or not, and guided to the Court House. Many of the visitors fell for the advances made for quite a number of the visitors did happen to be looking for the Court House, and being in a peculiar state of mind, were trustful and innocent.

But their peacefulness was invariably disturbed when the price of hire was demanded by these solicitors, and from that moment until the end of their days their peacefulness would likely be disturbed every time they thought of Oakland and the treatment they had received here. Last year it was possible for 2600 people to carry a bad opinion of Oakland away with them to many towns in the surrounding states.

The law has been enacted by the city authorities and it will be enforced to the limit and from henceforth Oakland will be better thought of as a town; its citizens will be likened unto the town, and what has been a bad situation here for many years will disappear in the very near future.

THE SHADOW OF TAMMANY

Ex-Senator Robert L. Owen is logically justified as a citizen and a Democrat in refusing to support Governor Smith for President because of the latter's affiliation with Tammany. Tammany is an ancient institution. It has not hidden its light under a bushel. It is known nationally as well as locally. The tiger of Nast's cartoons has never changed its stripes. The philosophy and psychology of the Hall are what they were when Tweed ruled this magnificently disciplined association for personal exploitation in the field of politics, this masterly illustrator of "the cohesive power of public plunder."

Mr. Owen refers to Mr. M. R. Werner's recent book, "Tammany Hall," a history of this famous organization. In his preface the author says:

"It is futile to designate Tammany Hall in the abstract by such terms as 'good' or 'bad.' Tammany is an entity whose purpose is the complete satisfaction of two fundamental passions of mankind. Its history is the story of men ruthlessly and successfully striving for the attainment of those ends which seem at the moment most desirable.

"Wherever men may happen to live, they will often be corrupt if thereby they can make money and feed their appetite for power without being killed or placed in solitary confinement. Tammany Hall has represented the complete organization of those endeavors, and its history is more picturesque than that of any other similar congregation in the United States because the institution has been more continuously powerful than any other group of men organized in this country for the purpose of aggrandizement."

Having long dominated this city and established itself also in this State, Tammany is now seeking to capture the Presidency. Such an effort creates a nation-wide issue of the first importance. It may be said that other members of Tammany Hall have been candidates for President. Samuel J. Tilden, ambitious and astute, was for a time a Tammany man. But he left the Hall and fought it. He was a Presidential nominee at a time when it was in temporary eclipse. Governor Smith, on the contrary, is its candidate when it is at the height of its power and influence. Tammany opposed Tilden. It opposed Cleveland. It is now giving Governor Smith its united and enthusiastic support.

Locally this may be of great value to the Democratic nominee, but nationally it is an enormous liability. Are Tammany control and prestige to become nation-wide? That can never happen if the Tiger's record is understood and considered. The shadow of Tammany lies ominously over the Smith campaign, and it will become bigger and blacker as the campaign continues. —New York Herald-Tribune.

Minnetoskans Like to Have Visitors Watch Their Games

(By One of Them)

All day long joy and excitement reign supreme at camp Minnetoska, for the happy Minnetoskans are busy carrying out their varied schedule. Games occupy a large percentage of the campers' time. They practice in the morning and afternoon for the Blue and Gray games at night.

Oh, I forgot all of our Oakland friends are not aware of the fact that the camp is divided into two teams and that the winning teams win a cup, offered by Dr. H. W. McComas.

Games are not the only phase of land sports, because every Saturday we have a field meet which includes relays, high jumping and baseball throws. The camp spirit is kept up by offering the letter "M" to all those successfully fulfilling the qualifications which the directors of the camp specify.

There are three distinct classes: the first is easy enough for every camper to acquire by the end of the summer; the second is more difficult and the third is possible to none but all-round campers.

The directors and counsellors also offer a cup for sportsmanship which means that the camper who wins this coveted prize must be a good winner and just as good a loser, besides being a friend to all. Altogether, camp life is very exciting and we'd be very glad to see our neighbors from Oakland and vicinity at one of our Blue and Gray combats.

Extension Specialist Here.

W. E. Hunt, live stock specialist from the University of Maryland, has been in the county during the past week for the purpose of making a sheep survey. An attempt is being made to get the status of the sheep industry here through the special sheep problems of the individual farmers, and from this a basis for experimental work will be mapped out. Each section of the county was visited.

Ray W. Carpenter, agriculture engineer, will give a demonstration this afternoon at the Grantsville Stone House farm, on the proper method of tiling. He will be in Oakland during the remainder of the week drawing up plans for barns.

W. H. Rice, poultry specialist, lectured in the county during the past week on the care of poultry, and will return August 20 for the purpose of culling.

CLUB IS ORCANIZED BY CITIZENS OF TRI-TOWNS

Own Twelve Acre Sight on Deep Creek Lake Near Swanton—Cottages To Be Erected.

Citizens of Piedmont, Westernport and Luke, have formed an organization to be known as the Green Glade Club and are constructing a house on Deep Creek Lake, two miles west of Swanton. The camp site, consisting of twelve and one-half acres, was purchased by nineteen business and professional men of the community.

To House Visitors

The club house, twenty-six feet square, with four sleeping rooms, will be used to house visitors at the camp until such time as the club members have constructed cottages for the use of themselves and families. Recently the members conducted a drawing in which they selected sites for their cottages.

Along the water's edge there is a grove of pines and farther back a variety of other fine shade trees. Because of the high altitude the weather conditions in summer are ideal for a camp.

Card of Thanks.

Thru all pain at times he'd smile.
A smile of heavenly birth,
And when the angels called him home
He smiled farewell to earth.

Heaven retaineth now our treasure,
Earth the lonely casket keeps,
And the sunbeam loves to linger
Where our sainted loved one sleeps.

With deep, sincere gratitude we wish to express our appreciation and thanks to the many friends and neighbors who were so helpful and sympathetic during the illness and at the death of our husband and father. To Rev. Westfall and congregation of Deer Park and Rev. H. I. Goodin, of Morgantown, and for the many beautiful flowers and to those who donated the use of their cars, we have nothing but sincere appreciation.

Lesson for August 12

THE COUNCIL AT JERUSALEM

LESSON TEXT—Acts 15:1-35.
GOLDEN TEXT—If the Son shall make you free ye shall be free indeed.
PRIMARY TOPIC—God's Children Refuse to Quarrel.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Christians Consulting Together.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Paul Opposes Religious Prejudices.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Paul Stands for Christian Liberty.

I. The Controversy in the Church at Antioch (vv. 1-5).

This difficulty was a most serious one, for it threatened the disruption of the church into Jewish and Gentile divisions. It was not a question of the admission of the Gentiles into the church. That had been settled some years before when Peter received Cornelius and his household. The question now was, on what ground can they be received? Should Gentile converts be required to keep the Mosaic law as a condition of salvation? This issue was brought on by the coming of certain men from Jerusalem, who declared, "Except ye be circumcised after the manner of Moses, ye cannot be saved (v. 1)." The question was so difficult that Paul and Barnabas were unable to put them to silence. These Jewish legalists had the letter of the Scripture on their side. They could point to the command where this was enjoined upon believers (Gen. 17:14). Paul could not point to any Scripture where it had been abrogated. If Paul could plead that Abraham was justified before he was circumcised, his antagonists could answer, "Yes, but after justification the rite was divinely imposed." The brethren at Antioch decided to refer the matter to the church at Jerusalem. Accordingly Paul and Barnabas and others were sent as a deputation to Jerusalem.

II. The Deliberations of the Council (vv. 6-21).

1. Peter's speech (vv. 6-11).

He argued that God had borne witness to His acceptance of the Gentiles by giving the Holy Spirit to them as unto the Jews (Acts 10:31-47). Since therefore, God had not put a difference it would be folly for them to do so.

2. Paul and Barnabas rehearsed their experience (v. 12).

They told how that God had set His seal of approval on their preaching of salvation by grace through faith apart from works, by the working of signs and wonders through them.

3. The argument of James (vv. 14-21).

He took the fact declared by Peter and showed how it harmonized with the prophecy of Amos (Amos 9:11-15). He showed that the reception of the Gentiles was not in conflict but in strict harmony with God's plan. As set forth in James' speech, God's plan is as follows:

(1) To take out from among the Gentiles a people for His name (v. 14). This is what is now going on, the preaching of the gospel to the end of the earth, and the calling out of the church.

(2) After the church is complete and removed, the Israelitish nation will be converted and restored to their land and privileges by the Lord Himself at His return (vv. 16, 17).

(3) Following this will be the conversion of the world through the agency of converted Israel (v. 17, cf. Rom. 11:15). He showed that there is no conflict when the Scriptures are rightly divided. His judgment was that the Gentiles should not be troubled with things that are Jewish, but should be warned to "abstain from pollutions of idols, and from fornication, and from things strangled, and from blood."

III. The Decision (vv. 22-29).

The Jerusalem church came to a unanimous agreement and accepted the resolution offered by James. They not only sent a letter stating the decision of the conference, but took the wise precaution of sending influential men along with Paul and Barnabas to bear the same testimony by word of mouth. This letter denied the authority of the Judaizing teachers (v. 24), and declared the method by which this decision had been reached (vv. 25-27). The Holy Spirit was to be given first place, and the Gentile believers were instructed to abstain from meats offered to idols, from blood, and from things strangled, and from fornication.

IV. The Decision Delivered to the Church (vv. 30-35).

The church was called together to hear the report. Its reading brought rejoicing. They were now free to prosecute the great missionary work.

Knowing How to Pray

The life of a man upon earth is a warfare; and it is much better, in the midst of enemies and dangers, to be acquainted with one fortress than with many inns. He that knows how to pray may be pressed, but cannot be overwhelmed.—Robert Leighton.

Enemies Hard to Fight

It will require more than a few hours of fasting and prayer to cast out such demons as selfishness, worldliness, and unbelief.—T. L. Cuyler.

Mr. Bevans was conductor in charge of the Bar Association's train and was violently thrown from the observation car. When he was discovered it was found that he was imprisoned by a steam pipe being twisted about his body, making it almost impossible for him to breathe. He was immediately released and was taken to the Arbuckle Sanitarium, close by, for treatment. Forty-eight of the passengers on Mr. Bevan's train were also injured.

EIGHT CASES OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS IN THE COUNTY

Two Suspected Cases In Oakland At This Time—State Health Board Sends Out Warning

Due to numerous inquiries being received by various physicians in Oakland and at the health office concerning the reported prevalence of infantile paralysis in this county, Dr. H. W. McComas, county health officer, has issued a statement which should dispel the rumor that there are forty or fifty cases of the disease in the county.

"To date (yesterday) there are but eight cases of infantile paralysis in Garrett county," Dr. McComas said. "Many people believe that there are forty or fifty, but this is entirely untrue.

Only two of the suspected cases are in Oakland, it was learned. Houses in which the disease was discovered have been quarantined and every precaution has been taken against its spread.

At the present time in Maryland, according to the State Health Department, there are 49 cases an increase over last year.

The frequent recurrence of years in which infantile paralysis is unusually prevalent is generally recognized as shown in the following, which has been furnished by Dr. R. H. Riley, of the State Board of Health:

According to the department's report up to and including August 8, this year, there were 49 cases in the State. Comparison of the last ten years shows that in 1921 there were 221 cases and in 1924 there were 200 cases. This would indicate that in four year cycles there is an increase in the number. Last year there were 31 cases and the year before there were 46 cases.

Precautionary Measures Urged

Poliomyelitis is a disease of childhood, as eighty per cent of the cases are under three years of age. It is due to a germ which has been obtained from the secretions of the nose and mouth and from the intestinal discharges of those sick and from well persons who have been exposed to infection.

The following precautions should be taken to prevent the spread of the disease:

Separate the sick person from other members of the family as far as is practicable. Allow no one in the room except those necessary for attendance upon the sick.

Animals should be carefully excluded from the infected persons or infected quarters.

The sick room should be screened.

Discharges from the nose, throat, and intestines should be disinfected.

Eating utensils, clothing, etc., used by the sick should be boiled before being used by other persons.

Those in attendance upon the sick must change outer garments and disinfect hands before handling anything others touch.

The period of time elapsing between exposure to poliomyelitis and the first symptoms of the disease is not definitely known. It varies from two to fourteen days, with eight days given as the average.

Davis, West Virginia, To Have Home Coming.

The second annual home coming will be held at Davis, W. Va., the week of August 20-25, under the auspices of Blue Ridge Post No. 22, American Legion, whose preparations are far in advance of this time last year when a similar celebration was held.

A large list of names of former residents of Davis has been compiled and special invitations mailed, and already many have replied favorably. The list is incomplete and the American Legion is appealing to the press to assist in broadcasting a general invitation to all former residents of Davis.

Program for the week includes address of welcome by L. H. Mott and response by Congressman Frank L. Bowman, Tuesday; mammoth parade and old fiddlers' contest, followed by address by Hon. William G. Conley, on Thursday. The famous Browning brothers of Garrett county are expected to participate in this contest. Other prominent speakers include Senator Ben. H. Hiner, United tates Senator M. M. Neely nnd Hon. J. Alfred Taylor.

An airplane service has been arranged for and the B. and B. Amusement Company will furnish entertainment daily.

MOUNTAIN LAKE STORE IS SET ON FIRE FRIDAY EVE

Flames Are Extinguished Before Much Damage Is Done

Fire, thought to have been caused by incendiarism, was discovered last Friday evening about eleven o'clock in the store building owned hy Bryson Gibson, Mountain Lake Park, but the flames were extinguished before they had gained much headway and consequently little or no damage resulted.

The discovery of the blaze was made by Gilmor Hamill, who was just across the street from the building, and with the assistance of several people nearby and the owner of the store, the fire was put out in its incipiency.

The Oakland fire department was called but the services of the firemen were not required upon their arrival.

An investigation by Sheriff Casteel and Fire Chief George Kerins revealed the fact that kerosene had been used to saturate some old rnge and that a stick or more of dynamite had been placed beneath the building. According to the fire chief most of the dynamite had been burned before the fust fired the cap and therefore little damage was done by the explosion. The smoke of the explosive was evident about the house after the blaze had been extinguished, according to the investigators.

The blaze had been started under a corner of the building, easily seen by persons passing on the street, and it was not long after the explosion that the fire was seen and reported.

Mr. Gibson, owner of the property, dwells on the second floor of the building and they were wholly oblivious of the fact that their lives were in danger. No reason could be learned why the store should have been fired and it is unknown who the person or persons were who are guilty of the act.

THREE MEN REING HELD ON CRIMINAL OFFENSES

One Held Without Bail and the Other Two Under Bonds

John Jones, Bittinger or Foxtown, a settlement located near the former place, is being held in the Garrett County Jail without bond, and John Miller and Russell Jones, the latter a brother of John Jones, also of Foxtown, are being held under bonds in the sum of $1200 each for their appearance at the December Term of the Circuit Court following their arrest Wednesday night on charges of abduction, the victim of their plot be a fourteen year old girl of the Bittinger community.

Sheriff W. D. Casteel and Thomas Seymour, deputy, made the arrests after investigation of the matter had been made nnd the men were given a hearing Friday morning before Justice Wm. A. Gonder, of Oakland.

It was brought out at the hearing that the three men implicated had been employed near Engle's Mill cutting cross ties and that one of them, it was alleged, had written the girl a letter asking her to visit them. The girl, Edith Snyder, who became 14 years of age on August 5, is said to have complied with the invitation and went to the camp.

All three of the men stand charged with abduction and were placed under bonds of $500 each for this offense for their appearance at the December Court, while on the other charges growing out of the crimes charged against them following the arrival of the child at the camp, John Jones is being held without bond and the other two are being held under an additional bond of $750 each for their appearance. Upon failure to furnish the requisite bond all are now in jail. The girl is also being held as a witness for the State.

PROGRAM FOR FOUR DAYS OF COUNTYFAIRARRANGED

Local Business Men Again to Be in Charge of Fair One Day—Will Open September 25.

In keeping with the spirit exhibited last year by the business and professional men of Oakland by having charge of one day of the Garrett County Agricultural Fair and having the biggest parade ever to grace Second street, they will again endeavor to take charge of the third day of the Twelfth Annual affair, September 27, according to Henry M. Speicher, general manager.

The program committee for this day consists of L. M. Fraley, Emroy Bolden, I. R. Rudy, Harry Stemple and Blaine Giessman, and for the purpose of getting well organized this year, a meeting of all the business and professional men of this vicinity will be called within a short time, Mr. Fraley stated.

Last year more than sixty floats, all beautifully decorated, were in the parade, which covered more than a half mile, and represented the majority of those most progressive, and it was thought that as good a demonstration could be forthcoming this year, if not better.

Other Dates

Tuesday, September 25, will be automobile day, and on this day all automobile owners are expected to have their car decorated and if possible take part in the parade.

The second day, Wednesday, September 26, will be school day, and the program will be in charge of Prof. F. E. Rathbun, superintendent of schools, assisted by supervising and helping teachers and High school principals. There will be a parade in the morning.

The fourth day, Friday, September 28, will be Garrett County Farmers' Day. The program will be in charge of J. L. McGlone, Carl Frazee, D. E. Orendorf, W. C. Welch, Harry Porter, B. C. Scott and Paul Friend. An immense parade will also feature the morning activities.

"The program of parades does not mean that there will be nothing else on these days," Mr. Speicher emphasized. "There are going to be a lot of interesting exhibits this year at the Fair Grounds which will be well worth looking over, and the parades will be only starters for what is to follow.

"Everyone should follow the parades to the Fair Grounds and take advantage of the exhibits, and amusements offered there.

"Premiums this year have been increased and will positively be paid, and if the farmers cooperate with me, the fair is going to be a success, just as it was in former years."

Work is progressing on the catalog and premium list, and the material will soon be on press, so that those desiring the information, may see the list of prizes offered this year in plenty of time.

Two Escape Injury in Collision Saturday Evening.

The Buick sedan, owned and driven by Karl Kahl, of Oakland, was badly wrecked Saturday night when it came into collision with one of the trucks of the Hill Ice Cream Company of Terra Alta at a point on the Oakland-Terra Alta road just across the line dividing the two states six miles west of Oakland.

The Kahl car was occupied by the driver and his brother Walter Kahl, of Pittsburgh, who were returning to Oakland when the accident occurred. The ice cream truck appeared at the time to be but slightly damaged but after continuing on its way for a short distance beyond the point where the collision took place it left the road and ran into a ditch and was completely wrecked.

None of the occupants of the vehicles involved in the wreck were injured. The left side of the Buick car was a complete wreck and the transmission was badly broken up. The car was covered hy insurance.

Schools to Open Thursday, September 6.

All beginning pupils of lawful age and legally vaccinated will be admitted during the first two weeks of school, but not after Friday, September 21, without special permission from the County Superintendent.

TO ENCOURAGE GARRETT COUNTY SUGAR INDUSTRY

Producers Are Planning to Make Of It a Maryland Industry Instead of a Vermont Industry

Making the Garrett county maple sugar industry a Garrett county industry and not a Vermont of New Hampshire industry, is now the aim of several large maple sugar producers in this county, F. W. Besley, State Forester, H. C. Buckingham, district forester, and Mayor L. M. Fraley, of Oakland, declared recently upon their return to Oakland from a visit made to the groves of the sugar growers.

During their short stay in the county the two forestry men have become vitally interesteed in the possibilities of maple sugar production here if advertised as Garrett county sugar.

For many years excellent maple sugar and maple syrup have been produced in the numerous sugar camps in various parts of the county, only to be sold to some large Vermont concerns which labels the local product as their own and sell it at a fancy price.

Plans are now being made by Mr. Besley and Mr. Buckingham to exhibit a model of a modern and up-to-date sugar camp at the county fair and to make it so that it will be possible to transport it to other fairs throughout the State.

Pictures of one of the modern sugar camps of this county, it being the property owned and operated by Mr. Stuart F. Hamill, will be on display at the same time, and it is the desire of interested parties that every maple sugar and maple syrup producer in the county, as well as the general public, will inspect these closely.

Messrs. Besley, Buckhingham,Hamill and Lawrence M. Fraley visited the Hamill sugar grove last Friday and Mr. Besley stated upon his return that Garrett county has great possibilities in this line. While here he will endeavor to interest producers in putting modern equipment in their camps. Following this and the manufacture of the suger and syrup as a standard product of the county it will be but natural that the industry will become a Garrett county industry and will be known as such all over the country.

In this connection, those working on the project are endeavoring to interest the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad dining car service in using the Garrett county maple sugar and syrup on the tables of the company.

CONNELLSVILLE SCOUTS DEFEAT LOCAL TROOPERS

Field And Swimming Contests Both Won by Visitors

Troop 8, Boy Scouts of America, from Connellsville, Pa., now encamped at Rainbow Inn, on Deep Creek Lake, was twice victors in meets with Troop 1. of Oakland, within the past week.

On Monday the local troop hiked from the camp on the lake to Rainbow Inn for a field meet. The events were knot tying, signaling, 50 yard dash, 100 yard dash, standing broad jump, runnnig broad jump, standing high jump, running high jump, shot put, javelin throw and pole vault. The Oakland boys won only three first places

On Tuesday the Connellsville troop hiked over to the local boys camp to engage in a water meet. The Oakland boys made a better showing at this time.

The events were 115 lb. 50 yard swim; plunge and under water swim; senior class 50 yard swim; plunge and under water swim; free for all 100 yard swim; 25 yard backstroke and relay. Oakland won four first places in these events.

The Oakland boys seem to have lost much of the former pep and enthusiasm which was theirs in previous years, but Scoutmaster Linaweaver believes that with a little more interest in Scout affairs on the part of the boys and their parents the Oakland Boy Scouts can and will be a match for any other troop.

The local troop will break camp on Tuesday, according to the Scoutmaster. The days have been taken up with a regular routine schedule, including study classes and recreational activities of many kinds.

Mr. and Mrs. Salem Broadwater and son, Deer Park; Mr. nnd Mrs. Howard Glotfelty and family, and Mrs. G. W. Broadwater, Mellenry; Mr. S. J. Sterling, Kingwood, W. Va., were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Sterling at Loch Lynn on Sunday.

FIFTY-SIXTH ANNUAL STATE GRANGE MEETING CLOSES TODAY; APPROXIMATELY TWO HUNDRED FIFTY ATTEND

Addresses Make by Prominent Men Open to Public—Large Crowd Hears W B. Burruss

The fifty-sixth annual session of the Maryland State Grange, which opened Tuesday morning in the Knights of Phythias Hall, Oakland, closed this morning with the final reports of committees and two addresses, "The Woman in Grange Work", by Miss Florence E. Ward, and "The Juvenile Grange," by Miss Goldie Smith.

Approximately 250 Grangers coming from every county in the State, were present and heard excellent addresses and took part in all of the business sessions of the body. Many more were expected from the Eastern Shore and Southern Maryland who were unable to attend on account of severe storms in those sections of the State.

Resolutions were adopted concerning farm relief, tubercular testing of cattle, farm credits, gas tax, cleaning up of roadsides, all of which were discussed at length.

Addresses Open to the Public

All addresses were open to the general public and large audiences heard E. J. Oswell, assistant director of the extension service, talk on Tuesday on Extension Service in cooperation with agricultural groups; Dr. H. J. Patterson, Miss Venie M. Keller, head of home demonstration agents; State Forester Besley, Dr. R. A. Pearson, president of the University of Maryland; W. H. Burruss, inspirational sales counsellor; L. J. Taber, Master of the National Grange; T. Roy Brookes, State organizer of the Grange, and A. G. Ensor, State Master, give addresses at stated periods during the sessions.

Senator Ensor, in his address, dwelt on the agricultural situation as regards to crops, cattle and dairy interests, livestock, condition of the State Grange, field meetings, legislative matters favoring granges, juvenile granges, extension service and other less important matters.

In covering the subject of agriculture, Mr. Ensor pointed out the danger of too many turning to the dairy cow. He said: "Many dairy cows are being shipped in from other states, and Maryland is fast becoming a dairy state. I also find from attending the National Grange that all states are increasing their cow population. If this continues, I fear for the future of the dairy industry, as the history of agriculture has shown that overproduction means lower prices and hardships for the producer. An alarm should be sent out when the proper time comes."

Tuesday evening at the auditorium, Mountain Lake Park, after an address of welcome by W. R. Offutt, local attorney, W. B. Burruss, well known platform lecturer, delivered his semi-humorous lecture on "Fools" and pleased his large audience immensely with his cleverness and wit. The auditorium was well filled with grangers and residents of the county, who enjoyed every minute of the address.

L. J. Taber, Master of the National Grange, also made an excellent address on Tuesday evening.

Taken Sight Seeing.

The Grangers were taken on a sightseeing tour of a part of Garrett county yesterday afternoon. In cars owned by the grangers and those donated by the residents of Oakland, they were taken through the Canaan Valley to Blackwater Falls, Thomas and Davis, West Va., and shown the beauty spots of Garrett county along a part of this route.

The sixth degree of the organization was conferred last night in addition to a social hour spent at Mountain Lake Park.

The State officers are A. G. Ensor, master; T. Roy Brookes, overseer; Mrs. Hannah Brookes, lecturer; Austin P. Renn, steward; Charles P. Hartshorne, chaplain; Guy S. Meloy, treasurer; Maude Meloy Hudson, secretary; David Ridder, Oakland, gatekeeper.

Well Known Speakers To Talk On Law Enforcement

Well-known speakers dealing with the question of law enforcement and the illicit liquor traffic will be heard on Sunday, August 19, at the meeting to be held under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon League of Maryland at Mountain Lake Park.

Rev. Howard E. Thompson, pastor of Center street M. E. church, Cumberland, and George W. Crabbe, superintendent of the Maryland Anti-Saloon League of Maryland, will address the audience in the morning and Hon. Richard Yates, former governor of Illinois, will speak in the afternoon.

All residents of Garrett county are invited to hear these speakers and participate in the day's celebration for law enforcement.

NOTORIOUS ROBBER GANG IS ROUNDED UP AT LAST

Eleven, Headed by Raymond Nelson, in Keyser Jail After Several Years' Activity.

Detective work by operators of the Merchants National Detective Agency, Fairmont, W. Va., assisted by officers of Garrett county, and of Mineral county, West Va., has resulted in the arrest of the notorious gang which, it is alleged, has been operating under the guidance of Raymond Nelson, of Shaw, West Va.

The gang in its confession, convince Maryland and West Virginia authorities that they have been the ones respoisible for the robbing of practically every place of note between Westernport and Kitzmiller along the line of the Western Maryland Railway for the past four or five years.

Othie Nelson, Raymond Nelson, Charles Riley and Harold Watts were arraigned before Justice of the Peace F. C. Rollman, Elk Garden, W. Va., on Saturday, charged with breaking, entering, stealing and carrying away merchandise from the store of A. G. McCauley, at Shaw, W. Va., the night of July 27. Each one was held for the grand jury at Keyser, W. Va., under bonds of $1,000 each. Being unable to furnish bond they were committed to the county jail at Keyser West Va. Other members of the gang have confessed to participating in numerous thefts and will be arraigned later.

Hiding in Mountains

Members of the gang have made confessions covering several robberies and involving other members, who have not been apprehended. Operators claim it very nearly impossible to get them owing to the inaccessibility of the mountain retreats to which they have gone for cover.

On the strength of the confessions made there will be several additional charges placed against the alleged robbers and which will cover everything from stealing chickens to the butchering of a man's milk cow right in the pasture field.

All the above named parties have been placed under arrest and are at present confined in the jail at Keyser, W. Va.

Firemen Attend Convention At Meyersdale, Pa.

The Oakland Fire Department left this morning to attend the Western Pennsylvania Firemen's convention being held this week at Meyersdale, Pa. The department with practically a full equipment, including a pumper truck and a membership of nearly a hundred per cent, will take part in the parade which begins at one o'clock this afternoon.

Eighteen members of the local post American Legion, went to Meyersdale on Tuesday evening and participated in the American Legion parade at 7:30 that night. Oakland missed winning the prize of $25 for the largest percentage of members present in the parade by a very small margin, two members in addition to those present was all that was necessary to win.

Mountain Lake Park Summer School of Missions

By Alice Parker Hall

THE twelfth session of the Interdenominational School of Missions, held in Mountain Lake Park, Md., July 27th to August 2nd, 1928, was pronounced by those who have attended the school ever since its inception as one of the best, from every standpoint, ever conducted in the Park.

This was most encouraging to those who had it in charge in view of the fact that no school was held last year owing to the death of Mrs. Wesley Davis, of Jamestown, New York, who had organized the school and managed it until she was called to her heavenly home during the session of the school in 1926. It was through her untiring efforts and influence radiating through her friends that the school was opened again this year. As a result of the lapse last year, much time and effort was required to broadcast the news that the school would be resumed again this year. The response was most gratifying and the report of the registrar, Mrs. Levi B. Harr, showed that the following denominations were represented: United Brethren, 6; Baptist, 2; Congregationalists, 2; Lutherans, 10; Presbyterians, 14; Methodist Protestant, 1; Southern Methodist, 1; Methodist Episcopal, 60, making a total of 96.

This number included those who were present for all or most of the period, and in addition there were many who were present at one or more sessions. The Sunday and night meetings were all largely attended.

For the unusually strong program, credit is due Mrs. F. I. Johnson, of New York City, who is national chairman of the Forward Movement of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church. She not only planned the program, but presided at every session, conducting a most helpful methods hour daily and taught classes for the girls in Camp Gleam.

The corps of inspired and gifted speakers, instructors and leaders who appeared on the program or assisted in preparing it, were carefully selected from many denominations and came from several different sections of the country. A number of them had spent many years in foreign lands as missionaries.

A World Vision Needed.

Both Home and Foreign Missions were presented by experienced workers in their respective fields, but thruout there was a beautiful unity of spirit and the thought was emphasized by all that there is no dividing line between the two in God's sight and there should be none in ours.

The text book for the Home Missionary Societies for 1928-1929 is "What Next in Home Missions?" by Dr. William P. Shriver, and the instructor was Mrs. F. J. Seebach, of Philadelphia, Pa. Mrs. Seebach is the editor of the Lutheran Woman's Work and the author of several missionary leaflets. She is a very pleasing speaker and her presentation of the study was made so interesting that her hearers were eager for more at the close of each period.

"Friends of Africa," by Jean Mackenzie, the text book for the Foreign Missionary Societies, was taught by Mrs. R. H. Evans, of Baltimore, Md., who is home on furlough after spending several years as a missionary in Africa under the Presbyterian Board. In addition to her wide knowledge of the needs of Africa, from fourteen years of experience in that country, Mrs. Evans has a charm of manner and personality that at once wins her audience, and while she used the text as a basis for the study, she related many incidents concerning the peoples of Africa that added greatly to the written word and gave her hearers a deeper desire to help them.

The instructor for the Junior Home study-book, "Under the North Star," and the Junior Foreign study-book, "Camp Fires in the Congo," was Miss Ethal Payne of the Lucy Webb Hayes Training School of Washington, D. C. Miss Payne demonstrated, by means of story telling and playlets, how the lesson could be presented to children and young people in a way that would hold their attention and carry a missionary message that would leave a strong impression.

In the course of the week many other demonstrations, playlets and pageants, suitable for use in missionary meetings, were given under the direction of Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Bancroft, of Portsmouth, O.; Miss Mary Moss, of St. Petersburg, Florida, and Miss Charlotte Anderson, of Parkersburg, West Va.

Food for Mind and Spirit.

Forums, in which many helpful suggestions were offered, were conducted daily, and the leaders for the several periods were Mrs. Arthur C. Day, Mrs. F. L. Miller, Mrs. Bancroft, Mrs. Levi B. Harr and Mrs. C. F. Anderson.

Subjects for discussion included: "Answers to Prayer," "The Pastor's Wife as a Promoter of Missionary Work," "Officers as Promoters of Women's Home and Foreign and Missionary Organizations," and "Organizational Co-operation."

While the spiritual note was evident in everything that was said and done, it was especially stressed in the daily talks of Mrs. S. S. Hough, of Dayton, Ohio. Mrs. Hough is a national leader in the United Brethren church, and is the author and developer of the World Day of Prayer, in which many denominations participate. She truly is God-inspired, and her abounding faith in the power of God to hear and answer prayer, coupled with an earnest and enthusiastic zeal for His Cause, stirred a responsive chord in the hearts of all who heard her.

A course of five lectures on the Book of Acts was given by Dr. J. Davies of the Drew Theological Seminary, Madison, N. J., which was heard with the deepest attention by a large and appreciative class.

Speakers Stress Tolerance and World Fellowship

Another prominent speaker who appeared on the program was Bishop E. F. Lee, who was elected missionary bishop to Singapore at the recent general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, held in Kansas City, Mo. In introducing Bishop Lee, Mrs. Johnson spoke of the action taken by the conference in electing as missionary bishops missionaries who had served faithfully in the area to which they were assigned, and because of the first-hand knowledge and experience gained were already prepared to cope with the situations and problems in their field of service.

After hearing Bishop Lee on several occasions during the week, the members of his church felt that the conference had made a wise choice in electing him to one of the highest and most responsible positions within the gift of the Church.

Strong pleas for tolerance, understanding and world fellowship were made by Dr. T. S. Donohugh, Bishop George R. Grose and Dr. Ralph Ward in their addresses, as they told of their work in their respective fields of endeavor.

On the night Dr. Ward spoke on "Changing China" he paid a lovely tribute to the early training and the Christian influence of his mother, who was in the audience. Thereupon, Mrs. Johnson, who, with all of her great responsibility never forgets to extend kindly, thoughtful courtesies, not only invited her to come but sent Dr. Johnson down to escort her to the platform. At the same time she invited Mr. and Mrs. Otis Swan, the parents of Sinclair Swan, of Oakland, who sang so effectively a group of negro spirituals, to join the group, and together they sat there during the evening listening to the voices of their gifted sons telling the gospel message in story and song.

Tuesday, July 31, was designated as Lutheran Day, and a large number of visiting members were in attendance. Dr. John Aberly, of the Lutheran Seminary at Gettysburg, addressed both the morning and evening sessions, much to the delight of hos hearers. Dr. Aberly and Mrs. Aberly had spent 33 years in India as missionaries and had a wealth of information to give the audience. His subject in the evening was "Christianity Essentially Missionary." The reasons advanced by him that Christians should have a missionary spirit were most convincing.

An enjoyable feature of the afternoon program was a concert by the Loysville Orphans' Home band, an institution of the Lutheran church.

The last speaker on the program was Mrs. John Ferguson, of New York City, who is president of the Council of Women for Home Missions for the United States and Canada. In the afternoon, Mrs. Ferguson talked informally concerning the organization of which she is the head, and in the evening gave a stirring address on "National and International Relations."

One of the most impressive services of the week was the family altar held in the grove after each evening session. Just at the close of the service, Mrs. Evans would leave the auditorium very quietly and go into the grove and give the call to worship by means of an African drum and at the signal everyone would assemble quietly beneath the trees and with a star-lit sky forming a canopy overhead would raise their voices in songs of praise, led by Dr. H. C. Fowler, who provided such delightful music throughout the week. Then, after being led in prayer the audience would silently separate with the feeling that they had indeed been with God.

The Girls Camp.

The course of study at Camp Gleam was planned especially to meet the needs of girls and young women, allowing time each day for recreational features, but the closest co-operation and understanding existed between the older and younger groups at all times. To the girls and their beloved leader, Miss Mary Collins, of Muncie, Indiana, assisted by Miss Moss, Miss Anderson and Dr. and Mrs. Bancroft, is owed a debt of gratitude for helping to visualize for the girls the missionary work and its needs by means of demonstrations and dramatization during the entire week.

These were given in native costumes and settings and required much effort and no little thought.

One great feature of the school was presented by Miss Mary Collins on Sunday evening, who presented the service flag, showing the names of six young women who had received inspiration from Camp Gleam in years past and who are now serving in different fields, both home and foreign, as follows: Miss Sara Nay, Mississippi; Miss Nellie Davis Hancock, India. Miss Hancock, who is now home on furlough, was in the school and brought inspiration to those attending. Miss Florence Harper, who has been stationed in Mexico; Miss Esther Vantine, Algiers; Miss Grace Davis, China; Miss Laura Williams, India.

Miss Williams, who made decision this year to become a missionary, following additional preparation for the work. So each year the work is growing and calling more young girls into the Master's service.

Place of Meeting.

The tabernacle in which the school was held, was fairly well transformed from a barren room to a place of attractiveness and absorbing interest by the many curios and articles brought from mission fields, including many examples of hand-work done by pupils in the schools. Beautiful art and hand-work from China and India were also on sale.

The literature tables showing publications from several denominations were in charge of Mrs. Arthur C. Day and her niece, of Baltimore, and they all were well patronized.

It was interesting to note that the purchases were not confined to individual denominations, but selections were made from every table by the buyers, which is proof evident that missionary women are "all one in Christ Jesus."

Officers Deserve Credit.

In giving a general resume of such a far-reaching institution as this school has become, it is very difficult to give credit to all who have helped to make it possible, but we cannot close without paying tribute to the untiring efforts of the local chairman, Mrs. Benj. H. Sincell, of Oakland; the assistant chairman, Miss Mollie Hamill, of Mountain Lake Park; the secretary, Miss Emma Hamill, Mt. Lake Park, and treasurer, Mrs. J. L. Stratton, of New Castle, Pa.

It requires money as well as leadership to conduct a school of missions, and these officers were responsible for raising the necessary amount to finance the undertaking and for advertising it so that there would be an enrollment of members sufficient to justify the expenditure.

It took faith and vision to put such a big venture across, but "they builded even better than they knew," and at the close of this, one of the most successful years in the history of the Mountain Lake Park School of Missions, they are looking forward to even greater achievements in the year 1929, with Mrs. Johnson serving again as general chairman.

Resolutions Presented.

WHEREAS, The Twelfth Interdenominational Summer Institute of Home and Foreign Missions, assembled in Mountain Lake Park, Md., July 27 to August 2, has proved so inspiring and profitable, therefore be it

RESOLVED, First, That we who have attended, thank God for the opportunity that has been offered to renew our faith in the power and effectiveness of prayer; for the broadening of our vision of service, and for the fresh inspiration that has come to us through the splendid programs presented.

Second, That we appreciate the earnest and consecrated efforts of the members of the various committees who have made this institute possible and the whole-hearted hospitality and Christian fellowship extended by the special hostesses who have done so much to make us comfortable and happy.

Third, That to Mrs. F. I. Johnson, our lovable and inspiring leader, whom we believe has truly been "called of God," we express our heartfelt thanks for the great service she has rendered in helping to revive again our school of missions and assembling together such a strong and forceful group of instructors, speakers and talented leaders, and for her own unselfish and devoted leadership.

Fourth, That this school is to be strictly interdenominational we ask that all orthodox denominations join in making the school the best in the United States, united in one bond of love for the saving of souls and that each denomination furnish one of its leaders, either as a teacher or as a speaker at the school, and that all denominations participating share alike in the work and expense of the school in order to make it what its name implies.

Fifth, That as we go back to our homes we will pledge ourselves anew to the work of carrying out the great commission, "Go ye into all the world and spread the gospel to all peoples," to the end that the brotherhood of man may extend from sea to sea and the kingdom of our Lord may more speedily be established upon all the earth.

MRS. C. RICHARD HALL,

Telephone Service is a Vital Service!

"During the year (1927) 791,000 additional telephones were put in service, making the total number in the United States interconnected in and with the Bell System at the end of the year 18,365,000.

WALTER S. GIFFORD,
President of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company (Bell System)

¶ Telephone service has become a vital service to the world of today. Each year sees its hundreds of thousands of new telephones added to those already served by the companies of the Bell System.

¶ Last year nearly 800,000 were added, swelling the total for the country to more than 18,000,000—one telephone for every seven of population.

¶ At the end of 1927 the aggregate cost of the plant and equipment devoted to furnishing this necessary service to the people of the United States had reached the impressive total of nearly three and one-half billion of dollars. Thus the furnishing of telephone service has grown to be one of the world's greatest industries.

¶ The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore City which is one of the associate companies of the Bell System serves 194,000 telephones in the State of Maryland. It represents an investment of more than $42,391,000. Each year brings additions of about 8,200 telephones and each year there is added about $3,400,000 in additional plant and equipment.

¶ Thus the demand for service in our territory continues just as it does throughout the rest of the country. And just as we have met the demand in the past we shall make every effort to continue to meet it in the future and to give the most telephone service and the best at the lowest cost to the public.

In his engine laboratory, a large truck manufacturer made a fifty-hour test to compare "Standard" Motor Oil with other oils under the same operating conditions—all power generated being used to overcome friction. With other well-known oils, the number of revolutions per minute had dropped fifty per cent at the end of the fifty hours. With "Standard" Motor Oil not only was the initial speed five per cent greater, but this speed was maintained throughout the test.

Since this test was at idling speeds, the motorist can appreciate that it indicates less friction and motor wear in starting—less wear in continuous operation.

HOOVER MEETS FARM PROBLEM

Urges Expenditure of Hundreds of Millions on a Workable Program

FAVORS HIGHER TARIFF WALL

Farmers Must Control and Administer Federal Farm Aid, Says Candidate.

HOOVER ON FARM RELIEF:

An adequate tariff is the foundation of farm relief.

Working out agricultural relief is the most important obligation of the next Administration.

The object of our policies is to establish for our farmers an income equal to those of other occupations.

Farming is and must continue an individualistic business of small units and independent ownership.

If the farmers' position is to be improved by larger operations it must be done not on the farm, but in the field of distribution.

Our platform lays a solid basis upon which we can build. It offers an affirmative program.

Nature has endowed us with a great system of inland waterways. Their modernization will comprise a substantial contribution to midwest farm relief and development of 20 interior states. There is no more vital method of farm relief.

PALO ALTO, Calif.—Herbert Hoover met the farm question fairly and squarely in his Address of Acceptance at the Stadium of Stanford University.

Nearly one-third of his address was devoted to this subject, which Hoover termed "the most urgent economic problem in our nation today." He declared bluntly that farm relief must not be delayed by any monetary considerations, urging that "a nation which is spending ninety billions a year can well afford an expenditure of a few hundred millions for a workable program that will give to one-third of its population their fair share of the national prosperity."

The candidate pledged himself to a farm-aid plan in which farmers shall themselves control and administer the federal financial assistance which he proposes to put into effect.

"The most urgent economic problem in our nation today is in agriculture," he said. "It must be solved if we are to bring prosperity and contentment to one-third of our people directly and to all of our people indirectly. We have pledged ourselves to a solution.

"In my mind most agricultural discussions go wrong because of two false premises. The first is that agriculture is one industry. It is a dozen distinct industries incapable of the same organization. The second false premise is that rehabilitation will be complete when it has reached a point comparable with pre-war. Agriculture was not upon a satisfactory basis before the war. The abandoned farms of the northeast bear their own testimony. Generally there was but little profit in midwest agriculture for many years except that derived from the slow increases in farm land values. Even of more importance is the great advance in standards of living of all occupations since the war. Some branches of agriculture have greatly recovered, but taken as a whole it is not keeping pace with the onward march in other industries.

Cause and Effect

"There are many causes for failure of agriculture to win its full share of national prosperity. The after-war deflation of prices not only brought great direct losses to the farmer, but he was often left indebted in inflated dollars to be paid in deflated dollars. Prices are often demoralized through gluts in our markets during the harvest season. Local taxes have been increased to provide the improved roads and schools. The tariff on some products is proving inadequate to protect him from imports from abroad. The increases in transportation rates since the war has greatly affected the price which he receives for his products. Over six million farmers in times of surplus engage in destructive competition with one another in sale of their product, often depressing prices below those levels that could be maintained.

"The whole tendency of our civilization during the last 50 years has been toward an increase in the size of the units of production in order to secure lower costs and a more orderly adjustment of the flow of commodities to the demand. But the organization of agriculture into larger units must not be by enlarged farms. The farmer has shown he can increase the skill of his industry without large operations. He is today producing 20 per cent more than eight years ago with about the same acreage and personnel. Farming is and must continue to be an individualistic business of small units and independent ownership. The farm is more than a business; it is a state of living. We do not wish it converted into a mass production machine. Therefore, if the farmers' position is to be improved by larger operations it must be done not on the farm but in the field of distribution. Agriculture has partially advanced in this direction through co-operatives and pools. But the traditional co-operative is often not a complete solution.

"Differences of opinion as to both causes and remedy have retarded the completion of a constructive program of relief. It is our plain duty to search out the common ground on which we may mobilize the sound forces of agricultural reconstruction. Our platform lays a solid basis upon which to build. It offers an affirmative program.

Tariff and Waterways

"An adequate tariff is the foundation of farm relief. Our consumers increase faster than our producers. The domestic market must be protected. Foreign products raised under lower standards of living are today competing in our home markets. I would use my office and influence to give the farmer the full benefit of our historic tariff policy.

"A large portion of the spread between what the farmer receives for his products and what the ultimate consumer pays is due to increased transportation charges. Increase in railway rates has been one of the penalties of the war. These increases have been added to the cost to the farmer of reaching seaboard and foreign markets and result therefore in reduction of his prices. The farmers of foreign countries have thus been indirectly aided in their competition with the American farmer. Nature has endowed us with a great system of inland waterways. Their modernization will comprise a most substantial contribution to midwest farm relief and to the development of twenty of our interior states. This modernization includes not only the great Mississippi system, with its joining of the Great Lakes and of the heart of midwest agriculture to the Gulf, but also a shipway from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic. These improvements would mean so large an increment in farmers' prices as to warrant their construction many times over. There is no more vital method of farm relief.

"But we must not stop here.

"An outstanding proposal of the Party program is the whole-hearted pledge to undertake the reorganization of the marketing system upon sounder and more economical lines. We have already contributed greatly to this purpose by the acts supporting farm co-operatives, the establishment of intermediate credit banks, the regulation of stockyards, public exchanges and the expansion of the Department of Agriculture. The platform proposes to go much farther. It pledges the creation of a Federal Farm Board of representative farmers to be clothed with authority and resources with which not only to still further aid farmers' co-operatives and pools and to assist generally in solution of farm problems but especially to build up with federal finance, farmer-owned and farmer-controlled stabilization corporations to protect the farmer from the depressions and demoralization of seasonal gluts and periodical surpluses.

REPUBLICAN RECORD

Our problems of the past seven years have been problems of reconstruction; our problems of the future are problems of construction. They are problems of progress.

During these years our population has increased eight percent. Yet our national income has increased 45 percent. The number of families has increased 2,300,000 and we have built 3,500,000 new and better homes. We have equipped 9,000,000 more homes with electricity, and through it drudgery has been lifted from the lives of women. The barriers of time and distance have been swept away and life made freer and larger by the installation of 6,000,000 more telephones, 7,000,000 radio sets and the service of an additional 14,000,000 automobiles.

By rigorous economy, federal expenses have been reduced two billions annually. The national debt has been reduced six and a half billions. Taxes have been reduced four successive times. We have doubled savings deposits and nearly doubled life insurance.

President Coolidge has not only given a memorable administration, he has left an imprint of rectitude and statesmanship on our country.

Will Cost Money

"Objection has been made that this program, as laid down by the Party Platform, may require that several hundred millions of dollars of capital be advanced by the Federal Government without obligation upon the individual farmer. With that objection I have little patience. A nation which is spending ninety billions a year can well afford an expenditure of a few hundred millions for a workable program that will give to one-third of its population their fair share of the nation's prosperity. Nor does this proposal put the government into business except so far as it is called upon to furnish initial capital with which to build up the farmer to the control of his own destinies.

"This program adapts itself to the variable problems of agriculture not only today but which will arise in the future. I do not believe that any single human being or any group of human beings can determine in advance all questions that will arise in so vast and complicated an industry over a term of years. The first step is to create an effective agency directly for these purposes and to give it authority and resources. These are solemn pledges and they will be fulfilled by the Republican Party. It is a definite plan of relief. It needs only the detailed elaboration of legislation and appropriations to put it into force.

"During my term as Secretary of Commerce I have steadily endeavored to build up a system of co-operation between the government and business. Under these co-operative actions all elements interested in the problem of a particular industry such as manufacturer, distributor, worker, and consumer have been called in council together, not for a single occasion, but for continuous work. These efforts have been successful beyond any expectation. They have been accomplished without interference or regulation by the government. They have secured progress in the industries, remedy for abuses, elimination of waste, reduction of cost in production and distribution, lower prices to the consumer, and more stable employment and profit. While the problem varies with every different commodity and with every different part of our great country, I should wish to apply the same method to agriculture so that the leaders of every phase of each group can advise and organize on policies and constructive measures. I am convinced this form of action, as it has done in other industries, can benefit farmer, distributor and consumer.

POINTS FROM HOOVER SPEECH

It shall be an honest campaign; every penny will be publicly accounted for.

Having earned my living with my own hands I cannot have other than the greatest sympathy with the aspirations of those who toil.

Our purpose is to build in this nation a human society, not an economic system.

Appointive office, both North, South, East and West, must be based solely on merit, character, and reputation in the community in which the appointee is to serve.

Participation of women in politics means higher standards.

Our workers can buy two and often three times more bread and butter than any wage earner in Europe.

By blood and conviction I stand for religious tolerance both in act and in spirit.

Our foreign policy has one primary object, and that is peace.

Government should not engage in business in competition with its citizens.

Greater Opportunities

"The working out of agricultural relief constitutes the most important obligation of the next Administration. I stand pledged to these proposals. The object of our policies is to establish for our farmers an income equal to those of other occupations; for the farmer's wife the same comforts in her home as women in other groups; for the farm boys and girls the same opportunities in life as other boys and girls. So far as my own abilities may be of service, I dedicate them to help secure prosperity and contentment in that industry where I and my forefathers were born and nearly all my family still obtain their livelihood.

"The Republican Party has ever been the exponent of protection to all our people from competition with lower standards of living abroad. We have always fought for tariffs designed to establish this protection from imported goods. We also have enacted restrictions upon immigration for the protection of labor from the inflow of workers faster than we can absorb them without breaking down our wage levels.

"The Republican principle of an effective control of imported goods and of immigration has contributed greatly to the prosperity of our country. There is no selfishness in this defense of our standards of living. Other countries gain nothing if the high standards of America are sunk and if we are prevented from building a civilization which sets the level of hope for the entire world. A general reduction in the tariff would admit a flood of goods from abroad. It would injure every home. It would fill our streets with idle workers. It would destroy the returns to our dairymen, our fruit, flax, and livestock growers, and our other farmers."

Prohibition

On the subject of prohibition, Mr. Hoover repeated his recent declaration: "I do not favor repeal of the 18th Amendment. I stand for efficient enforcement of laws enacted thereunder. Our country has deliberately undertaken a great social and economic experiment, noble in motive and far-reaching in purpose. It must be worked out constructively." And he added the following comment:

"Common sense compels us to realize that grave abuses have occurred—abuses which must be remedied. Investigation can alone determine the wise method of correcting them. Crime and disobedience of law cannot be permitted to break down the Constitution and laws of the United States.

"Modification of the enforcement laws which would permit that which the Constitution forbids is nullification. This the American people will not countenance. Change in the Constitution can and must be brought about only by the straightforward methods provided in the Constitution itself. There are those who do not believe in the purposes of several provisions of the Constitution. No one denies their right to seek to amend it. They are not subject to criticism for asserting that right. But the Republican Party does deny the right of anyone to seek to destroy the purposes of the Constitution by indirection.

"Whoever is elected President takes an oath not only to faithfully execute the office of the President, but that oath provides still further that he will, to the best of his ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States. I should be untrue to these great traditions, untrue to my oath of office, were I to declare otherwise."

THEY'LL DO IT AGAIN—

The business and professional men of Oakland started something last year that is going to keep them hustling from year to year if they expect to grow just a little bit with each recurring twelve-month. Their first attempt turned out to be so much of a success that it would be too much of a let down indeed were they not to accept the responsibility again.

Last year, at the suggestion of the manager of the Garrett County Fair, the business men decided to have charge of the fair for one day, and promised to have a parade such as would do credit to any city five times the size of Oakland.

With several of the business men in town pushing the idea, it went across far in excess of the fondest expectations of those who had fathered it, sixty of the business men of Oakland and vicinity being represented in the parade by beautifully decorated floats. Practically every business house in the town was decorated especially for the occasion, a specialist in this line having been employed to see that it was done as it should be.

This year the business men are going to have charge of the third day of the fair, Thursday, September 27th. The chairman of the program committee is going to call a meeting soon to organize the work and find out if the business men of the town are going to uphold the reputation which they established last year.

The Republican believes that it is unnecessary to urge the men to take up this responsibility again, because they are all heartily in favor of it, so this should serve for nothing more than a reminder that it won't be long before the twelfth annual Garrett County Fair will open for a four days' gathering, and that an interest should be taken, not only in the business men's day, but in automobile day, in school day and in the Garrett county farmers' day.

THE AMERICANISM OF THE CANDIDATES.

The present political campaign is one in which there will be no excuse for any "mud-slinging" on the part of the adherents of either candidate. It does not happen often in American politics that important issues come before the voters in a national campaign, but this year the issues completely overshadow either candidate. This is not said with any intention to reflect upon the mental stature of either man, but only in realization of the vital consequences to Americanism which hang upon the issue.

Alfred E. Smith represents a definite type of a man and a definite state of mind which has come to have a power in American politics. The fact that it is an alien type of mind and that it is opposed to the America and to the Americanism which were intended and which were established by the founders of the nation, does not make him less important. There are in this country today many millions—no one knows just how many millions who agree with him in a desire to destroy what has been Americanism and to substitute for it something different. To us Americans this is an evil to be fought to the utmost, but it must be fought as a matter of principle, and the struggle should not be fouled with any personal recriminations.

Governor Smith represents Tammany. He has been a servant of boss rule throughout his political life. He has shown himself allied with those men who consider political power an opportunity for personal profit.

Herbert Hoover stands in the present campaign as the representative of the old time Americanism which is challenged by Smith. He was born in the Middle West and on a farm. His thoughts and his character are like those which have been the boast of America for more than a century. In his record as a citizen, as an agent for the relief of the victims of the great war, and as a public official, there has been nothing which justifies any attack upon his character.

Americans may hope and they should certainly demand, that this campaign will be the cleanest we have ever known.

INTERNATIONALISM

Internationalism is not making the progress that had been expected in some quarters. Perhaps present conditions are only temporary, but for some reason old-fashioned nationalistic feeling, hopefully supposed to have been eradicated from human hearts, is again manifest here and there in the world.

The tragedy of the Italia has roused criticism that seems to trace to the international character of the ill-fated expedition and of the rescue parties dispatched in search of the survivors. If Europe had not proved big enough to contain in happy relations the races that inhabit it, no dirigible could be, we fear. It cannot yet be known what happened on the flight or after the disaster, but there is no mistaking the suspicion and rancor that underlie the public expressions on the calamity, now heard in the continental capitals.

From Calcutta comes ill news. Fifteen people are dead from knife cuts inflicted during a religious festival at Khargpur. Some of the slashing was done by Hindus and some by Moslems. They apparently did not agree on the conduct of the festival, and anyway the participants in the affray belong to different races, tribes, castes or cultures. That may go to explain their mutually critical attitude.

From France comes echoes of protest against the debt settlement now pending with the United States and from various countries somewhat jaundiced views of Uncle Sam as a creditor.

As we were saying, internationalism seems to have run into the summer doldrums. It would do better, perhaps, if it didn't try to cuddle too much. It's when they get too close together and try to co-operate that different nationals fall out with each other and start nagging. Internationalism would be a success, perhaps, if it could be carried on without contact by its nationals.

Alas, it was a festival that led to the knife work between those Hindus and Moslems. Cooperation in a scientific expedition has put Russia and Sweden and Italy on bed terms. American contributions to the war still rankle in Europe. Perhaps on the whole internationalism had better be turned back to the League of Nations, where it started. It at least has had the good sense not to try to do anything about it.

TWENTY-SEVEN LICENSES OBTAINED DURING WEEK

Average Number of Applicants Secure Permits from Clerk

Although only three marriage licenses were issued on Saturday at the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court, usually a big day for the marriage bureau, the number for the week ending Tuesday at noon was about the average. For the week twenty-seven applicants were granted permits to wed under the laws of the State of Maryland and be it said here none so far as can be learned were accosted by runners or solicitors, due to the drastic measure passed by Council at its last meeting.

This number of 27 brings the total for the month of August to 68, which is less than half the number issued during the same month last year. Six of the present-week licenses were inscribed "don't publish."

BITTINGER.

Died at the Age of Nearly 100.

Mrs. Lydia Green, one of the oldest residents of Garrett county, died at the home of her son, Mr. John Green, on Dry Run, last Wednesday morning, August 8, at the advanced age of 95 years, 7 months and four days. The deceased was a daughter of Amos Broadwater, one of the well known early settlers in the neighborhood of New Germany. Mrs. Green is survived by five sons, Franklin, John and Wilson Green, all of whom reside in Garrett County, and Amos and Sanford Green, both of whom live in Allegany county, near Barton. The daughters are Mrs. C. C. Swauger, of New Germany, and Mrs. Charles A. Green, of Moscow Mills, Allegany county.

The funeral services for the deceased were conducted at New Germany, with interment at that place, on Friday afternoon, August 10.

Married.

Mrs. Elmira Hoover, widow of the late Chauncey Hoover, and Jesse Bittinger, both of Jennings, were married at the Lutheran parsonage in Bittinger, on last Wednesday morning, Rev. E. E. Campbell, of this village, performing the ceremony. The bride is aged 68 and the groom is 33.

Arrested on Serious Charge.

John W. Miller, John Jones and Russell Jones, a trio of lawless young boys from the Foxtown section, were arrested last Thursday night by Sheriff Casteel and Constable Thomas Seymour of Oakland, the arrest being made in the Engle Mill neighborhood following information furnished bythe mother of a young girl of community of Bittinger in which the young men were charged with a very serious criminal deed. They were all taken to Oakland and lodged in jail until the following day when they were given a hearing before Justice Gonder, who held them for the action of the next grand jury. Being unable to furnish the necessary security for their appearance at court they were remanded to prison.

Edwin Beitzell has been greeting everyone with a smile since last Wednesday, at which time Madam Stork presented him with a daughter.

Messrs. Vernon Wiley and Elzy Beachy, of Akron, O., spent part of Saturday and Sunday with relatives here. They were accompanied by Miss Margaret Hanft, of near Grantsville.

Lesson for August 19

PAUL CARRIES THE GOSPEL INTO EUROPE

LESSON TEXT—Acts 15:36-16:15.
GOLDEN TEXT—Come over into Macedonia and help us.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul's Wonderful Dream.
JUNIOR TOPIC—God Calls Paul to Work in Europe.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Pioneering in Europe.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Paul's Call to Europe.

I. Finding an Assistant for Paul (Acts 15:35-16:5).

1. Contention over John Mark (vv. 36-41).

(1) Paul's proposal (v. 36).

This was to revisit the scenes of their missionary endeavors to find out what progress the believers were making in their Christian experience.

(2) Determination of Barnabas (v. 37).

It was to take with them John Mark, Barnabas' nephew (Col. 4:10).

(3) Paul's opposition (v. 38).

He was suspicious of Mark because of his desertion on a former journey (Acts 13:13).

(4) Their separation (vv. 39-41).

Their contention was so sharp that they separated. God overruled this incident to the wider extension of the work. Barnabas took Mark and sailed to Cyprus; Paul chose Silas, and went through Syria and Cilicia.

2. Finding Timothy (16:1-5).

(1) The place (v. 1).

It was the very place where Paul on his first journey had endured cruel stoning. The conversion of Timothy may be regarded as fruitage of Paul's testimony at that time.

(2) His parentage (v. 1).

His mother was a believing Jewess and his father a Greek.

(3) His character (v. 2).

He had a good reputation in the church at Lystra and Iconium.

(4) His circumcision (v. 3).

Timothy had not been circumcised. Doubtless this omission was because his father was a Gentile. To avoid offense among the Jews, Paul circumcised Timothy.

(5) The ministry of Paul and Timothy through the cities (vv. 4, 5).

They delivered decrees which had been ordained at the Jerusalem council (Acts 15:19-21).

II. Forbidden to Preach the Word in Asia (Acts 16:6-8).

The inclination of Paul was to tarry in Asia Minor preaching the Word, but contrary to their inclination they were hurried along. The Holy Spirit is just as active and faithful in closing doors as in opening them.

III. The Call to Macedonia (vv. 9-12.)

The time had now come for the gospel to begin its conquest of another continent. By the crossing of the gospel from Asia to Europe the church, instead of becoming an oriental movement, became mainly occidental.

1. The vision (v. 9).

Being hemmed in on all sides, a vision was given to Paul of a man of Macedonia pleading for help, which made clear the meaning of the closed doors about him.

2. The advance (vv. 10-12).

As soon as the divine way was known they moved forward. Visions, to be effective, must be quickly translated into aggressive action.

IV. The First Convert in Europe (vv. 13-15).

The Jewish element in Philippi was so small that it was unable to afford a synagogue, therefore the devout people were accustomed to worship by the riverside. To an humble gathering of this kind Paul came and preached. Lydia, a business woman from Thyatira, believed. The steps in her conversion are worthy of note, as typical.

1. Attendance at the place of worship (v. 13).

Usually those whom God is calling are found at the place of prayer.

2. Listening to the preaching of the Word of God (vv. 13, 14).

Faith cometh by hearing and hearing by the Word of God (Rom. 10:17).

3. Her heart was opened by the Lord (v. 14).

Only the Lord can convert a soul. It is our business to preach the Word of God, and it is God's business to open the heart of the inquirer. Regeneration is a supernatural work.

4. She was baptized (v. 15).

Every one whose heart the Lord has opened desires to confess Him in baptism.

5. Her household believed (v. 15).

6. Hospitality practiced (v. 15).

Those who have experienced God's saving grace are disposed to have part in His work by rendering aid to His ministers.

Nowhere Else to Go

I have been driven many times to my knees by the overwhelming conviction that I had nowhere else to go. My own wisdom, and that of all about me seemed insufficient for that day.—Abraham Lincoln.

Not Without Christ

A man may go to heaven without health, without riches, without honor, without learning, without friends, but he can never go there without Christ. —Jno Dyer.

EXTRA WRONG FONTS

Groundless Suspicions!

Legionaire Halsey, of Deer Park, finding the Frostburg trip much to his liking, was again on hand when the boys went to Meyersdale on Tuesday to attend the firemen's convention in that place. Upon this latter trip, however, he was surrounded (figuratively) by a bodyguard in the person of the Missus and family. "From now on I have a suspicion of all firemen's celebrations and Legion conventions," Halsey's bosswoman confided in Scoop.

It is also rumored that others will remain at home, but the majority are still for more of it and bigger receptacles in which to put it. "On with firemen's conventions," Legionaire Kahl asserted yesterday.

Garrett county bootleggers finding that competition is so keen, are now trying to make their "corn likker" seem better than the rest by giving it a Gentile name. Scoop suggests "Roastin' Ear Wine." (Copyright applied for and patent pending).

The Colonel Is Contrary.

Colonel Bell hasn't been "doing the right thing by our Nellie" during the past few weeks. Whenever Scoop has gone to him for suggestions and pictures, he has pretended being too busy to give any. "The summer season is on," the Colonel said, "and I can't be like the grasshopper, hopping after you all summer for nothing. There is too much time to do that in winter."

But after Scoop told the Colonel he was getting his advertising in The Republican free he consented to lend him his camera and so this week's pictures will be available.

J. L. Mac, Garrett county's most illustrious county agent, was caught just after he had returned from the country in a hurry to make the address of welcome to the State Grangers.

Mr. McGlone was in the act of telling the grangers about the beauty spots, the healthful climate, the cool weather, etc., of Maryland's largest and best county. The reason for his flowery tongue was analyzed and it was found that his trip to the country had been for the purpose of attending a sick cow. The cow this time happening to be a bull, was cured by the county agent and brought along to assist him in his welcoming speech. And how it helped him!

The result of Scoop's other two hunting trips follow. The one is a picture taken of one of the well-known "fleecers" of prospective married couples, as he was in deep thought trying to figure how to get around the recent ordinance passed by the City Council, which prohibits any solicitation.

In a personal interview with the "fleecer," Scoop found why he was trying so hard to figure a way to "beat the law." "You see, if I can't beat the innocent lambs who come here to get married, I might even have to go to work," he urged. The following snapshot was taken as he was trying to hold up the corner of Third and Oak streets.

THE UNSHAKEN KINGDOM

Jesus prophesied. "Heaven and earth may pass away; but my words shall not pass away." Concerning His Church, He said, "The gates of hell shall not prevail against it."

What commentary does history offer on these prophecies?

Hardly had Jesus ascended to the Father when all the furies of hell broke loose in a desperate effort to annihilate His church. The first local and sporadic persecutions by the Jewish authorities soon gave place to vast, world-wide persecutions by the Roman Emperors, Nero, Domitian, Diocletion, who used the whole power of the great administrative machinery of the empire in systematic, relentless, bloody efforts to blot out forever the Church of the Crucified.

But Jesus had said that the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. Instead of Rome conquering Christianity, Christianity conquered Rome. The Church, after centuries of conflict, won for herself a position, not only of toleration, but of power and influence in the Latin civilization.

But then followed the barbarian invasions from the north and the decline and fall of the Roman Empire under the smashing blows of the Goths and the Vandals. The collapse of Rome was in many ways the greatest disaster of the ages; it was not simply the collapse of the Roman government, it was the collapse of ancient civilization. Art, science, literature, philosophy, jurisprudence—every one of the brillian achievements of the old Graeco-Roman world went down in the ruin and desolation of the Dark Ages. Everything, except

The Church. The Church was the one institution which survived. The Church is the one institution which with unbroken continuity binds together the ancient, the medieval, and the modern worlds. For Jesus said, "Heaven and earth may pass away, but my words shall not pass away."

In 1789 the world was rocked to its foundations by one of the most volcanic social upheavals of history—the French Revolution. At the height of the Reign of Terror a solemn procession moved through the streets of Paris and entered the Cathedral of Notre Dame. And a woman, a prostitute with painted cheeks, was placed upon a throne, while the crowd shouted: "Hail! Goddess of Reason. Christianity is dead. God is abolished. Long live the Goddess of Reason!"

But the Goddess of Reason was short-lived, just as will he the effort of the Bolshevists in our own time, to outlaw Christianity in Russia. For Jesus said, "The gates of hell shall not prevail against it."

It is, indeed, a matter of genuine astonishment that the Church has continued from earliest times through political upheavals, social convulsions and intellectual revolutions; that with stubborn vitality it has adapted itself to radical changes of environment that have swept all other institutions into the discard· that it has successfully resisted, again and again, the most Mephistophelianly ruthless efforts to erush it; and, most amazing of all, that it has even survived the folly and incompetence and treachery of its own servants, its ministers and devotees.

For the Church is "a kingdom which cannot be shaken" (Hebrews 12:28); "a city which hath foundations, whose Architect and Builder is God." (Heb. 11:10).

LEWIS TALKS ON FREIGHT RATE DISCRIMINATION

Democratic Congressional Candidate Promises Kempton Audience Action If He Is Elected

David J. Lewis, Democratic candidate for congress, in a stirring address at Kempton on Monday night denounced the government freight rate discrimination against the coal mining industry in Maryland before a large audience.

Mr. Lewis in his address declared the miners were suffering, the operators were subjected to heavy losses and the industry was on the verge of bankruptcy. Once the outstanding industry of the state, today practically at a standstill, Mr. Lewis pointed out that the cause was freight rate discrimination. He said: "There are still left undug in these mountains of ours 5,000,000,000 tons of coal in nine commercial seams, enough coal to supply the whole soft coal demand of the nation for ten years hence; yet, what is the condition of Maryland's coal mining industry. Is it progressing? Regretfully we see it retrograding. In 1920 the strong arms of the Georges Creek and its environs sent to market six million tons of coal. In 1927 this production was reduced one-half and I am reliably advised by the leaders of the industry that the future holds no promise. While Maryland production has been cut in half, the production of the New River region and Pocahontas region, 479 miles from the Atlantic tidewater, has actually increased. What is the cause? It consists of two great circumstances of discrimination against the Maryland industry.

"The first discrimination comes by an act of nature by which the New River and Pocahontas regions are endowed with eight and nine foot coal seams, easily and cheaply mined, which could not be corrected, of course. The second comes from the freight rate making power which has so farmed the tariff rates that the Maryland fields, less than 200 miles from tidewater, are obliged to pay a freight rate on coal virtually as high as the New River and Pocahontas regions pay for a distance of 500 miles. This last discrimination is chargeable to the rate making powers and ought to and can be, corrected and righted."

"History can explain this wrong," continued Mr. Lewis. "The great discrimination coming about when the railroads of the United States, themselves possessed the power and made the railway rates. They made rates purely with a view to advance their own interests without reference to justice or the comparative costs of service. The government, however, some years ago took this rate making power away from the railroads and the United States government is now the responsible rate maker and the railroads themselves have lost this power because of grave abuses of it."

Government Responsible Speaker Says

"It is a fundamental truism that government must be just," Mr. Lewis said, "and a government cannot say 'this is my private business.' It must be just in obedience to the very first mandate of our constitution and our institutions. Notwithstanding this unquestioned duty on its part, the government permits this gross discrimination in railway rates against our region.

"What can Congress do about this? Well Congress possesses the same power to formulate railway tariffs in interstate commerce that it possesses to make import tariffs on goods coming into our country. It has the full power to handle the coal freight situation by providing a just formula under which railway rates on coal shall be made in accordance with the costs of railway carriage.

"When the Big Vein flourished Maryland could manage even against this freight rate discrimination, but with the discrimination of nature in favor of other fields and unjustifiable discrimination in railway rates combined, the Maryland coal industry now languishes and miners are actually near the famishing state at many points in this section.

"For many years I have given study to the subject of transportation. My studies enable me to say that in no country where the government has taken the responsibility for making rates, whether under private or government ownership, has the discrimination been permitted which is now resting like death on Maryland mining. Our government ought not only be just. It ought to establish justice with convenient speed, with promptness."

Concluding his subject, Mr. Lewis said he felt the obligation which should actuate a public man in securing this immediate relief and that if he was favored by public confidence he would, as a member of congress, apply himself in securing government action in the direction of relief. He added that it might be possible to arouse Congress to the discharge of a public duty long neglected by the government, namely, to an organization of the whole bituminous coal industry in the the same constructive spirit which it gave to the establishment of the Federal Reserve Bank system.

"If such responsible treatment can be given the coal mining industry," said Mr. Lewis, "Maryland mining will be restored its rightful assurance and our mountain homes thrilled with a new hope."

WORLD'S S. S. CONVENTION AS SEEN BY LOCAL PASTOR

Rev. C. A. Shilke Tells of the Impressions Received at Meeting Held in Los Angeles, Cal.

A report of the Tenth World's Sunday School Convention, held at Los Angeles, Cal., July 11-18, has been made by Rev. Charles A. Shilke, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran church of Oakland, who was one of about 8,000 officially registered delegates representing fifty-seven nations attending the sessions. Rev. E. E. Campbell and Mr. Arthur Resh, of Bittinger, were also present at the convention, the sessions of which were held in the Shrine auditorium.

"It was inspiring to see the flags of the various nations brought to the platform by the official delegates," Rev. Shilke said. "There they were placed side by side with the Stars and Stripes in the center and above them all was the Christian flag."

The messages of the convention were woven about the theme "Thy Kingdom Come," and the convention itself was opened with the address by Dr. W. C. Poele, Christ Church, London, president. In his talk he set forth the Christian mind and attitude of the world. The most outstanding thought was the articulation of the whole life of humanity through the dynamo of reconciliation. Other addresses were "The Mandate," by Dr. Charles R. Watson, Cairo, Egypt; "The Method," Dr. Hugh McGill, Chicago, and "The Message," by Dr. Manakim, of India.

Four other special messages of note were "The Kingdom and Childhood," Miss Meme Brockway, Philadelphia; "The Kingdom and Youth," Dr. Poling, president of the World's Christian Endeavor Movement"; "Brotherhood and Kingdom," by Nannie Burroughs; "Beginning at Jerusalem," by Dr. Wigle. The last named address was a summary of the results of the missionary convention held recently in Jerusalem.

The convention for three morning periods was broken into study periods in which the real work of the convention was done. The periods were divided into "Building the Curriculum," Dr. Wigle; "Racial Problems," Dr. Winchester; "Youth Movement," Dr. Percy Hayward; "Week Day and the Daily Vacation Schools," Dr. Charles Tuttle.

Sunday evening in Hollywood bowl a chorus of about 2000 voices gave the pageant, "The Spirit of Musie," to which about 35,000 people listened. About 8,000 young people held a meeting at the same time and were addressed by Dr. Hayward and Dr. Poling.

Denominational Day was observed by the Lutherans who took a trip through the interesting sections of Los Angeles and in visiting all the Lutheran churches.

Four outstanding impressions were gathered from the convention by Rev. Shilke, who states them in this manner:

"1. The Kingdom of God is coming. The encouraging reports from all sections of the earth are portraying the grip of Christianity.

"2. That America needs a spiritual awakening. If Christianity shall spread, then America must live the message of her missionaries.

"3. The Kingdom is not as large as we once thought. Christianity is bringing the world into a more compact community where we learn to know one another better and live more peacefully the message of the Master.

"4. God expects each to have a part in the building of His Kingdom. As the Bible says, 'Lo, the Kingdom is within you.'"

WANDERING NEGRO, NUDE, DISCOVERED NEAR LAKE

Man Said He Couldn't Remember Where His Clothes Were

Probably believing himself back in the wilds of Africa where snow is unknown and clothes are as scarce, Gus Grimm, a Negro, about 39 years old, was found Friday morning wandering in the fields along Deep Creek Lake near Thayerville, minus clothing, and he says he doesn't remember how he got there, why he was there or where his clothes are.

He was found on the Andy Miller property and was brought to Oakland and turned over to Sheriff W. D. Casteel, who made an investigation but found nothing that would warrant the detention of the man.

The Negro was quite large, had several scars on his body and had but one eye. It was thought that he was the man wanted by West Virginia authorities for a murder committed several years ago near Kingwood and for purposes of identification an officer from the West Virginia Penitentiary at Moundsville came to Oakland to look him over but failed to identify him as the man wanted.

Grimm told the Sheriff that he was from Philadelphia and was on his way to Morgantown, West Va. He also said that he had been shot through the eye some years ago and at times he apparently lost his mind as the result of the wound. It is supposed that he was in this condition Friday morning when found along the lake shore because he failed to remember how he got there, where he had put his clothing or any occurrence the night before.

He was released from custody Monday morning on condition that he leave the county. He immediately left, going in the direction of Morgantown.

Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon in the M. E. church of Kitzmiller, the Rev. Beatty Smith officiating, assisted by Rev. Geo. C. Straton. The pallbearers were: Harry L Wilson, Chas. Sprague, Jr., Wilbur Holland, Harry Clark, Shay Kenney, and George Pew.

The deceased was 29 years old and is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Junkins, and one sister, Mrs. Georgia Dick of Elk Garden.

Holderby—Workman—Miss Irma Workman, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. B. Workman, Mannington, West Va., formerly of Oakland, and Mr. Thomas E. Holderby, of Huntington, W. Va., were married last Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Mannington. Only members of the immediate family were present. Rev. Workman performed the ceremony and Mrs. W. C. Manser, Clarksburg, a sister of the bride, played the wedding march. A luncheon preceded the ceremony. The bride was attired in nut tan crepe romaine and lace accessories to match and carried a corsage of pink rose buds and delphinium.

The bride is a graduate of the West Virginia Wesleyan College and has been a member of the Huntington high school faculty for five years, serving the last two years as dean of women. The groom has a responsible position with the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company. The couple will reside in Huntington.

1181 TRIED THEIR LUCK IN DEEP CREEK THIS YEAR

Total of 1674 Fishing Licenses Issued During the Season.

One thousand, one hundred and eighty-one persons availed themselves of the privilege of fishing in the waters of Deep Creek Lake during the season which ended at midnight on August 15, according to the records at the Clerk's office in Oakland, where such licenses are issued.

The figures obtained show that approximately seven hundred fewer fishermen lined the shores of the lake this season than last year, which was the first year that a special permit was required. More boat licenses, however, were issued this year and this fact points to the probable increase in the future in this sport.

Licenses were issued for 27 boats this year, while last year there were but twelve.

Total of 1674 Licenses Issued

Including the 493 fishing licenses that have been issued for the privilege of fishing in all streams in the county, a total of 1674 licenses were issued during the current year. This nets the State about $3,065.50, or a slight increase over last year.

Resident State licenses for all of the streams, excluding Deep Creek Lake, totalled 428 at one dollar each; Deep Creek Lake, for residents of Garrett county, 938, at $1.25 each; Deep Creek Lake, for non-residents of the State, 159 at $5.25 each; Deep Creek Lake, for residents of Maryland, but non-residents of Garrett county, 84, at $2.75 each; non-resident anglers' licenses, 65, at $5 each.

Since the opening of the fishing season many trout ranging from 15 to 22 inches have been caught by the fortunate anglers of the waters of Deep Creek Lake and other streams, and it is expected that next year there will be another rush for licenses.

GWYNN KING WINS TENNIS TITLE AND LOVING CUP

Champion for Third Straight Year, Beating Jarvis Adams

Gwynn King, of Washington, D. C., won the men's singles championship of the ninth annual Western Maryland tennis tournament in a gruelling five-set match with S. Jarvis Adams, Jr., of Pittsburgh, Saturday afternoon at Mountain Lake Park, and thus became permanent holder of the championship cup on which he had previously won two legs.

The scores were 4-6, 4-6, 6-3, 7-5, 7-5. Both of the finalists had two legs on the championship cup, King having won in 1926 and 1927, and Adams in 1921 and 1925. Several hundred fans witnessed the match.

Mrs. DeLloyd Thompson, Washington, Pa., defeated Miss Margaret Carspecken, Morgantown, W. Va., 6-3, 6-0, Sunday to win the women's singles championship for the third consecutive year. The victory gave Mrs. Thompson permanent possession of the silver loving cup which she had also won in 1926 and 1927.

Mrs. Thompson won her way into the finals by defeating Sara Wright, Frostburg, on Saturday, while Miss Carspecken eliminated Elizabeth Hugus, Wheeling, W. Va., in the semi-finals.

Gwynn King and John O'Loughlin beat George Sawin and Mildred Lewis 6-2, 6-4, 6-2, in the finals of the men's doubles.

Miss Carspecken and Jarvis Adams defeated John O'Loughlin and Mrs. Thompson in the finals of the mixed doubles, 9-6, 6-1. This was one of the most interesting mixed doubles matches ever staged at the Park, it is said.

PARALYSIS IN COUNTY THOUGHT TO BE CHECKED

Every Precaution Has Been Exercised To Stamp Out Disease

Infantile paralysis in Garrett county is apparently under control at the present time, according to the local physicians who have reported but one additional case since the last issue of The Republican, and that developed on last Thursday afternoon, August 16.

Those who have been stricken with the disease are reported to be doing extremely well. In the majority of cases the serum for infantile paralysis has been administered to the patients and the results are exceedingly gratifying.

Everything possible is being done to check the disease and the outlook at present is that the efforts of the authorities and the local physicians have been in a degree successful.

Schools will open as usual if no additional outbreaks occur, F. E. Rathbun, Superintendent of Schools, said this morning.

LOCAL LEGION TO ATTEND STATE MEETING ON FRIDAY

Members Will Leave From City Hall In The Morning

Members of Procter Kildow Post, American Legion, of Oakland, will attend the State Legion convention at Cumberland on Friday, according to I. R. Rudy, post commander. This was decided at a meeting of the Legionaires Monday evening.

The State convention will meet in its first session today. The sessions will continue until Saturday and Edward Kahl and Hilton Sincell were selected as the delegates from the local post, with Delbert Davis and Alex. Hesen as alternates. About 250 delegates from the 42 established posts in Maryland are expected at the convention.

The delegates will attend during the three days ,while the members of the Legion who are not delegates will attend the Friday session. They will leave from the City Hall Friday morning at eight o'clock, and there will be transportation for those needing it, Mr. Rudy said.

The members of the convention and also the visitors will take part in the automobile trip in the afternoon to historic spots near Cumberland and then participate in a parade at six o'clock in the evening, after which there will be a banquet at the Queen City Hotel for all Legionaires. Following the dinner there will be social activities at the Legion home.

The local members of the organization will return home Friday night, Mr. Rudy said, and he has asked that all who expect to attend should notify him not later than this evening.

K. Of P. Picnic Drawing Near--To Be Held Labor Day

With only a little more than a week until the Ninth Annual Knights of Pythias Labor Day picnic, the picnic committee, headed by Alva G. Gortner,has beenworking overtime and has everything in readiness for what the Knights claim will be the greatest celebration ever held by them.

Several bands will be on hand thruout the day to give concerts. Other features of the day will be the parade in the morning, the addresses by officers of the Lodge of Maryland and by other prominent speakers, the Merry-go-round and Ferris Wheel under the direction of the J. A. Glaze Amusement company, the fireworks display, and numerous stands from which one may obtain many things of interest. A Chevrolet coach will also be given away during the day.

The picnic will be held as usual in Helbig's Grove, on the State road just north of Oakland. This has been the seat of the Labor Day picnics for a period of nine years and has always been found to be satisfactory.

OTT M'ROBIE HANGS SELF IN HIS HOME AT DEER PARK

Had Just Returned from House of Correction—Complained of Treatment Received There

Having just returned to his home in Deer Park after serving a short sentence in the Maryland House of Corrcetion following his conviction in the Circuit Court for this county on a charge of violating the local prohibition law, and vowing that he would take his life rather than be returned to the institution, Ott McRobie, aged 45 years, committed suicide by hanging yesterday morning at his home in Deer Park.

His body was discovered about six o'clock by members of his family. It was suspended by a rope with his feet barely touching the floor in a room of the home. Sheriff Casteel and Justice W. A. Gonder were called from Oakland and Dr. E. E. Sollars, of Deer Park, who made investigation and concluded that an inquest was unnecessary to determine the cause of death as there was no evidence of foul play.

The body had been cut down when the officers arrived in the hope that there might be a spark of life remaining, but the man had been dead for several hours.

Mr. and Mrs. McRobie and the latter's sister had retired early in the evening but about midnight, Mrs. McRobie stated, her husband arose, and partially dressing, set out for the house of a neighbor. Upon his return it is supposed he took the round of a chair, put it in a hole in the flue and with one end of the rope attached to the stick attached the other end of the rope about his neck and then kicked the chair from under him.

Just Back from House of Correction

McRobie had returned two weeks previous from the Maryland House of Correction where he served a term for violating the liquor law and it is said that the treatment he received in the institution preyed on his mind continuously. Locally he was known as "Noisy" McRobie, and it is thought that this characteristic may have had something to do with whatever treatment he received while a prisoner. Mrs. McRobie stated to Justice Gonder that he had complained about the manner the prisoners were treated and that he would cut his throat rather than go to the institution again.

The woman suspected nothing, however, until his body was discovered yesterday morning. The man was a former resident of Oakland.

On April 3, approximately 5 months previous to the affair of yesterday, a farmer, Jesse Long, of Deer Park, took his own life by hanging himself in his barn.

Trainmen To Have Outing

The four Cumberland divisions lodges of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen will observe Labor Day on Monday, September 3rd. at The Pines, a resort which in recent years has been largely patronized and which is located on the Oakland-Kingwood highway seven miles west of Oakland.

The program as outlined by the committe of arrangements will include round and square dancing, a concert by the Keyser band and the Ryan orchestra from M. & K. Junction. Senator M. M. Neely and Hon. W. G. Conley, both of West Virginia, will make the principal addresses. At least five hundred trainmtn are expected to be present upon the occasion.

Western Maryland Society Formed at Akron. O.

Approximately two hundred and fifty former residents of Garrett and Allegany counties, Md., now residents of Akron or nearby that city, held a picnic dinner in Greenhoe's Grove, near Sandy Beach, Akron, last Sunday and formed an organization known as the Western Maryland Society of Akron. Many old friends who had not met for fifteen years discovered that they had been living in or near Akron all during that time.

The officers chosen for the present year were Prof. R. C. Durst, formerly of New Germany, this county, president; Fred Lynch, vice-president; W. H. Miller, secretary-treasurer. An entertainment committee for next year's meeting was appointed, consisting of Daniel Enlow, Olin Broadwater and L. W. Zehner, all of whom are from this county. The picnic is planned to be held about the middle of August next year.

EXTRA WRONG FONTS

By Scoop

An Indignation Meeting.

An indignation meeting was held Monday by the local Legionaires following the seeming outrage of the wives of the members in not trusting them out of their sight.

During the two trips to Frostburg and Meyersdale the wives of the Legionaires became suspicious and they have emphatically stated that hereafter all conventions will be attended by the Legion auxiliary (if such they can be called).

During the discussion Monday Rudy said it wouldn't have been so bad if the conventions and celebrations had been a little farther between times. Then the wives would have had time to forget. But still the Legionaires were indignant anyway and had plenty to say to each other-all except Soldier Halsey. He said all he had to say at a privately addressed meeting held in the city of Deer Park where the speaker and one auditor were the only two present.

Milton Sincell made a moton, which was seconded by Walter Janoske forbidding any wives from going on these little pleasure jaunts. The motion was unanimously carried and recorded.

Post Comanaader on Leave

Three days after the motion was passed, Post Commander Rudy left Oakland for the State convention in Cumberland, and Col. Bell snapped him as he was leaving the city. The curtains of his car were pulled down but through the glass in the rear of the car a woman's hat could be seen. Further investigation showed that Mrs. Rudy wasn't at home.

Scoop is offering this week a hint on etiquet, taken from the world famous book of Emily Poste. "Never break your bread or roll in your soup."

The Colonel Is Still Busy.

Scoop called on the Colonel Monday evening, only to find him as busy as a wet hen. He had been on the jump taking pictures of all the numerous family reunions throughout the county, and when he was asked if he had forsaken Scoop, he replied that pleasure should always come before business, which really meant nothing at all. So all the contributions he could make for this column today were pictures of families as they fell on each other's necks, they not having met one another since some Tuesday last week. Scoop picked one of these out at random and had a cut made of it.

It happened to be one taken at the Roth reunion at the Fair grounds on Sunday, but the group had hidden behind the figure of Rev. Shilke and a stack of chicken bones from which he had been picking the meat ever since the beginning of the picnic. He expected to finish on the next helping, but that didn't help the following picture a bit.

Archibaldson's Physique.

Scoop and Archibaldson have been on the go all week, and it isn't any wonder. The work in the job printing department of The Republican is more than piled up, and not only that but the two of us must travel about 25 miles each evening after working hours before we can get a place to sleep.

The worst of it is now that the boss won't let the two of us return home, because he says since we have been camping we have been getting to work on time, regardless of the 25 mile trip before 8:00 o'clock. This, he said was a decided change from a week or two ago. But then it is explained that the boss lends us his car to make the 50 mile trip each day and without expense to either Scoop or Archibaldson.

The following is an exclusive photograph of Archibaldson, the first of its kind, as he was sunning himself Monday evening along the banks of Cheat River, over in the wilds bordering on Maryland, U. S. A.

AUTOMOBILE HEADLIGHT REQUIREMENTS IN STATE

Synopsis of The Law Relative Thereto and Will be Enforced

The following synopsis of the Maryland State law relative to automobile headlights has been furnished The Republican with the request that it be printed:

Section 193 of the law provides that all automobiles shall carry two white lights in front visible for 200 feet, and in the rear one red light, which can be seen for a distance of 200 feet.

Twenty-one candle power for headlight bulbs is sufficient; it is illegal to have them exceed 32 candle power.

The law further provides:

No vehicle of any kind, including motor vehicles and horse-drawn vehicles, shall at any time, whether in motion or at rest, use on any public highway of this State any lighting device which shall throw a dazzling or glaring light to a heigth of more than 42 inches above the surface of the road when measured on a level road at a distance of 75 feet or more ahead.

It shall be unlawful to use dazzling headlights under penalty of from $1 to $25 for the first offense, or of more than $100 for the second or any subsequent offense. Such penalties shall be enforced by any Justice of the Peace having jurisdiction.

However, should legal and approved lenses be in use upon any automobile, but said lenses be not in proper adjustment, in that case the owner or driver shall be warned to have the error corrected and shall not be fined for the first offense. If not corrected it shall be a misdemeanor and may be subject to a fine of from $5 to $50.

How Owner May Test Headlights

At night, or in a shaded room, if in daytime, place the car upon a level floor with the headlights exactly parallel or equally distant from a vertical wall exactly 25 feet from the wall which should be white or of as light a color as possible. Next measure the exact height of the light bulb from the floor and draw a horizontal line upon the wall at exactly the same height. Measure the distance between the two light bulbs and draw three perpendicular lines, one opposite each bulb and a third half way between, or in line with the center of the car. In all adjustments it is necessary to bring the top of the beam of light to the horizontal line corresponding to the kind of car on which the adjustment is being made and the question as to whether the car is then carrying its normal load must receive some consideration, for when the rear springs are loaded the front of the car and the lamps are raised further from the roadbed and the beam of light should be lowered in consequence.

Adjust one lamp at a time, keeping the other lamp covered, and bring the center of the beam from each lamp to the verticle line corresponding with the center of that lamp.

There are two adjustments provided on the headlamps of all late model cars. The body of the lamp may be tilted up or down or to the right or left by loosening the headlamp clamping bolt with a wrench. The bulb itself may be pushed away from the reflector or backward toward the reflector by turning the focusing screw, either to the right or left as may be required.

By using this adjustment after the reflector and lens are in place, the beam of light should be brought to a narrow sharp ribbon or band of light on the screen, after which the headlamp should be tilted up or down until the beam of light is below the proper horizontal line on the screen or wall.

Old model cars are the hardest to put in proper adjustment and as they are the worst offenders they should be looked after carefully.

PIN MONEY FOR HOOVER FUND

Mrs. Grace Semple Burlingham, Missouri National Committeewoman, gives a check to John W. O'Leary, vice-treasurer of the G.O.P., covering contributions, without personal solicitation, of one dollar each from 1281 Missouri housewives. Mr. O'Leary is in charge of the "nickels and dimes" campaign, by which he hopes to obtain at least 600,000 subscribers to the Hoover fund.

THIS FARM PAYS

A VIEW of the 1280 acre farm of Herbert Hoover. Operations on Mr. Hoover's farm are conducted on the same high engineering plane as all his other enterprises. The entire acreage is irrigated and highly cultivated for big crops of quality productions. The land was worthless nine years ago when he bought it and was wrested from nature. Every variety of product such as potatoes, cotton, peaches, grapes, onions, figs, etc. is produced. Mr. Hoover constantly checks over with his manager, a university graduate farm expert who has the practical knowledge to go with his scientific education.

HOOVERISMS

Progress of the nation is the sum of the progress of its individuals. Acts and ideas which lead to progress are born out of the womb of the individual mind, not out of the mind of the crowd. The crowd only feels; it has no mind of its own which can plan. The crowd is credulous, it destroys, it consumes, it hates, and it dreams—but it never builds.

Youth today is pulling at the traces as never before, it is true, but it is also willing to pull a load. Its eagerness contains a more earnest desire than ever to be of service.

Vrooman Flays Tammany Hall For Attempt to Play "Con" Game on Nation's Farmers

Economic Expert and Official Under Wilson Says Houston Convention Platform Fools Nobody

Flaying Tammany Hall for attempting to play a "con" game on the farmers of the nation, Carl S. Vrooman, assistant secretary of agriculture under President Wilson, declares that intelligent farmers throughout the country have received no comfort from the agricultural plank in the platform of the Democratic convention.

"The Tammany Hall campaign idea seems to be based on the theory that it can sell political gold brick promises to a bunch of hayseeds out West." Mr. Vrooman said "I am confident the farmers of the nation will not fall for this latest 'con' game from 'The Sidewalks of New York.'"

He charged Tammany with being Democratic in name only and said that "it is essentially mercenary and parasitic. It double-crossed Wilson, Cox, and Davis.

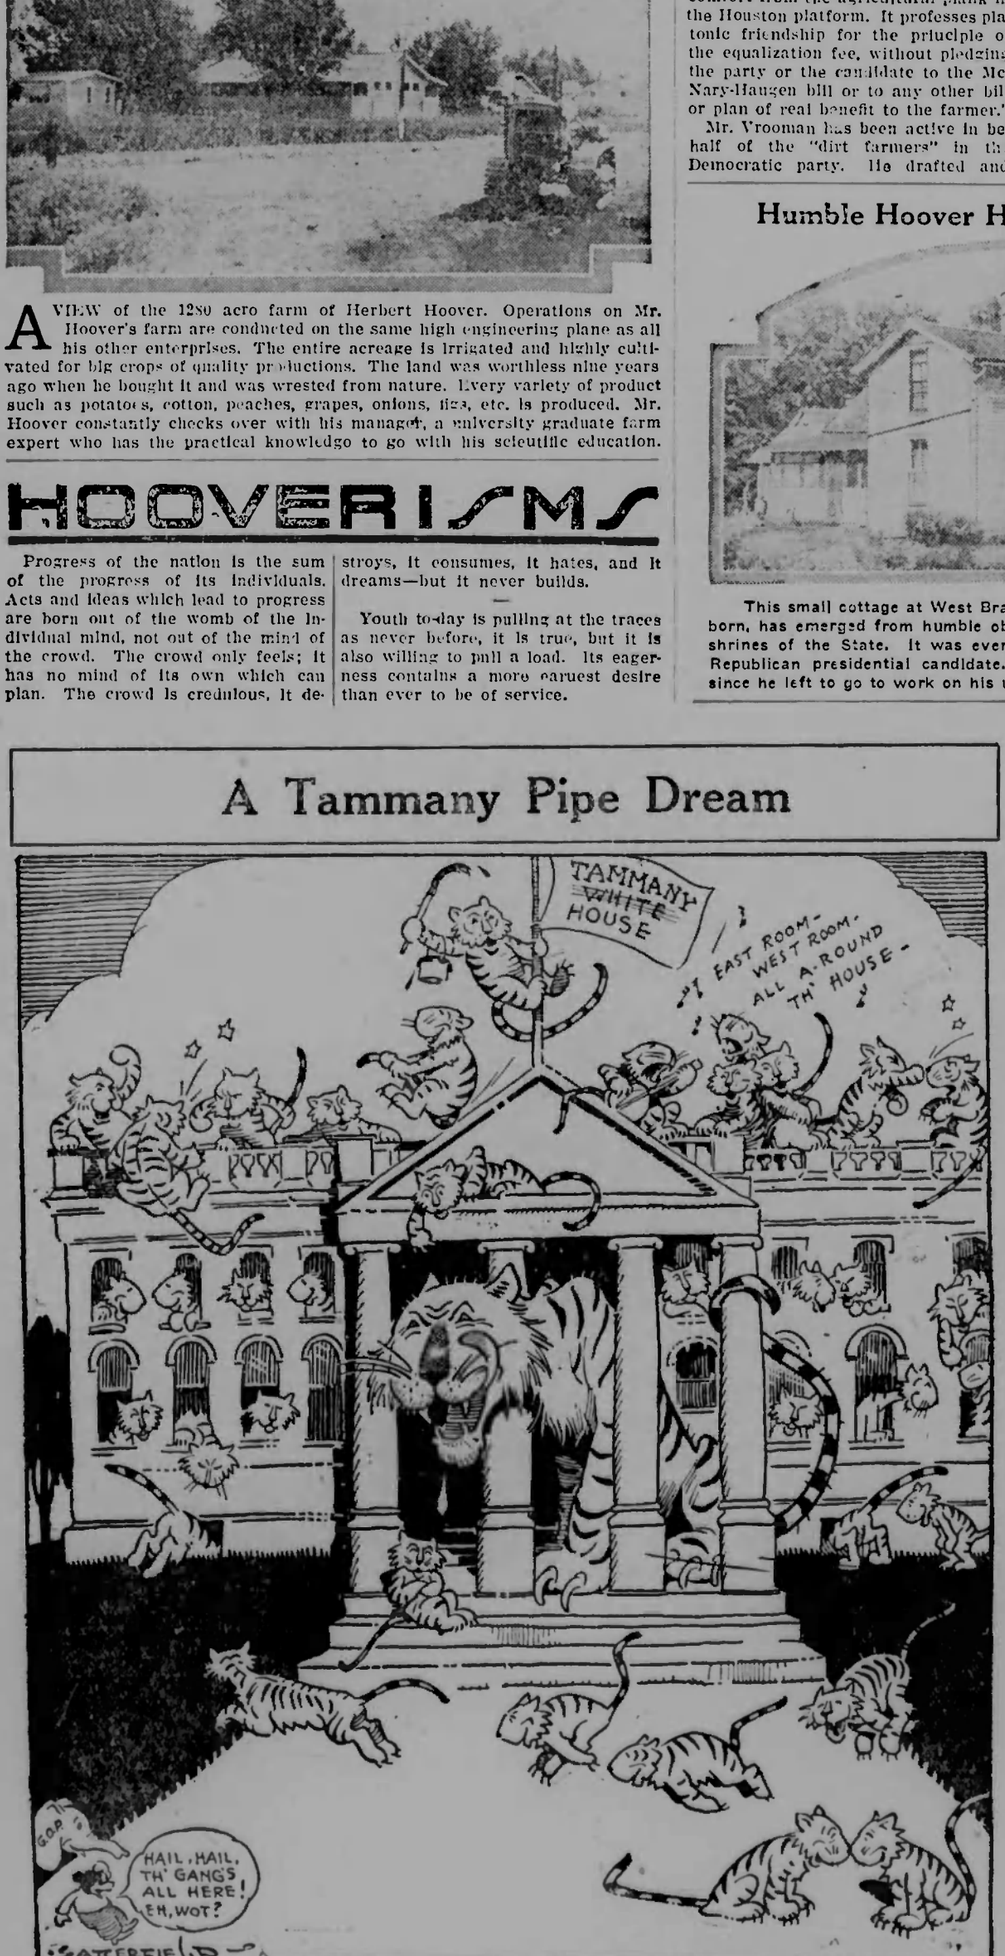
"One of Tammany's first acts was of subterfuge an ' double dealing. The agricultural plank in the Houston platform was a masterpiece of ambignity, so framed as to admit of one interpretation in the East and another in the West and South.

"A few days after a conference with Peek (George N. Peek, of Moline, Ill.), Governor Smith indorsed the equalization fee principle, but the ne t day he put out a statement flatly repudiating the equalization fee itself.

"Intelligent farmers have got no comfort from the agricultural plank in the Houston platform. It professes platonic friendship for the principle of the equalization fee, without pledging the party or the candidate to the McNary-Haugen bill or to any other bill or plan of real benefit to the farmer."

Mr. Vrooman has been active in behalf of the "dirt farmers" in the Democratic party. He drafted and introduced the first farm relief bill in Congress in 1921.

Carl Vrooman



Mr. Vrooman, an expert on economic subjects, and a writer of note, farms 4300 acres of land near his home in Bloomington, Ill. In addition to his service of five years as assistant secretary of agriculture, he served on the agricultural war mission to Europe.

GLARING HEADLIGHTS—

Driving an automobile at night has brought a military term into modern use, known as range estimation. The laxness in regard to the proper adjustment of automobile headlights makes it necessary when driving to pass at night a number of blinding flashes which more than half the time make it totally impossible for a driver to see where he is going. He just gives the other fellow a portion of the road and trusts to luck that it is sufficient. The other fellow does the same. He does what is known in military life as range estimation.

Never having obtained complete accuracy in this department in the army, what chance has a mere automobile driver in making a hasty judgment of distance? It is very dangerous, to say the least.

The State board of motor vehicle headlight inspection, which is directed to enforce the law will direct the State motorcycle deputy to warn and then enforce compliance with the required provisions that all headlights should be properly adjusted.

A synopsis of the requirements of the State law with regard to proper headlights on motor vehicles is printed in The Republican today, together with a description of the method by which each owner can find out for himself whether or not his lamps and lenses are properly adjusted and meet the law's requirements. If they are not, they should be corrected for it is understood on good authority that the requirements of the law will hereafter be enforced.

The law makes it a misdemeanor to carry poorly adjusted lights and the offender may be subject to a fine of $50.00.

As an old proverb goes: "Exterminate two of the feathered flock with one stone." Fix your headlights. Save yourself from arrest and the other fellow the uncertainty of trusting to luck.

SWEETENING THE COUNTY.

Finally, after all these years of allowing a Garrett county product to be sold and called a Vermont product and not minding it in the least, a movement has been started to make the local product—maple sugar and maple syrup—known all over the country as a Garrett county product, made by Garrett county people and taken from the trees of Garrett county forests.

Several months ago an attempt to arouse interest in dairying, one of Garrett county's greatest potential industries, was made by those interested in the future of the farmer. It had its effect.

Now, two men, whose business happens to be keeping the forests of Garrett county in trim, have become interested in seeing the maple sugar and maple syrup industry increase in this county and are arranging a model sugar camp, to be exhibited at the Garrett County Fair. The camp will be modern in every respect and will show the Garrett county maple sugar producers how they can better their product.

After this has been accomplished, the next step is to find a market for the Garrett county product and thereby obtain the advantage of a good price for the producer himself instead of the Vermonter and other concerns who have in the years past been buying the sugar at an ordinary price, transporting it to their factories, turning it out as their own product and receiving a fancy price for it.

There is a future for the maple sugar industry in Garrett county if the producers will only go forward with the project. All that is needed is cooperation on their part and a little word of encouragement now and then.

YES, WE CAUGHT THEM OURSELVES—AND HOW!

The above picture shows a number of Rainbow and Brook trout which were caught the last day of the season in Dority Creek, West Virginia, by Clyde Breedlove and Harry Mickey, two of Garrett County's premier fishermen.

These trout ranged from eight to twelve inches, and all of them were caught with flies. And How! Just ask them.

POINTS OF BEAUTY ON MARYLAND ROUTE LISTED

Sixty Percent of Western Maryland Is In Forests—Best Scenery In East Country

An automobile trip through Western Maryland, beginning at Baltimore and going over the National Highway to Keyser's Ridge, and then southward to Oakland, a distance of two hundred miles, affords views of the best scenery found in Maryland and perhaps in all of the eastern country.

Over the rolling hills through excellent farmlands between Baltimore and Oakland, the road, after passing over Braddock Heights, crosses the fertile Middletown Valley, and then after crossing over South Mountain leads to Hagerstown and the Hagerstown Valley and a few miles westward near Clearspring the traveler enters the most densely wooded area of the entire State.

From this point to the West Virginia line the road leads over a succession of mountains from which may be obtained beautiful views of the surrounding country. Sixty per cent of the whole Western Maryland area is in forests, comprising land that is better adapted for timber growing than for any other use. There are in this section 500,000 acres of woodland that must be maintained in a high state of productiveness to meet the local timber demands.

Some of the Scenic Features

Fort Frederick—At Indian Springs, about two miles west of Fairview Mountain, turn south two miles to Big Pool, on State road, thence one and one-half miles over good dirt road to Fort Frederick. The fort, built in 1756 by Horatio Sharp, Colonial governor of Maryland, to protect the frontier against the Indians, is now included in a State Forest of 190 acres. Most of the fort wall is intact, inclosing one and one-half acres of ground, probably the most historical spot in Maryland representing the pre-Revolutionary days. On the property are demonstration forest plantings of important timber trees and a Memorial Grove planted by the Daughters of the American Revolution. This furnishes a very pleasant break in the journey and a good place for an outdoor luncheon.

Grantsville—Between Grantsville in Garrett county, and Bittinger, also in Garrett county, are extensive sugar groves comprising over 50,000 suger maple trees which are tapped each spring, and the flow of sap is gathered for making maple sugar and maple syrup. The annual production is approximately 10,000 gallons of syrup. Many of these groves are easily accessible from Grantsville over fairly good roads.

Deep Creek Lake—This lake is 12 miles long, ereated for hydro-electrieal power development. After crossing the bridge over the lake and shortly before reaching Thayerville, one of the steel lookout towers of the Department of Forestry, maintained for fire protection purposes, can be seen at the south end of Meadow Mountain across the lake to the left. There are twelve of these towers in the State, six of them being in the Western Maryland area.

Oakland — The Garrett County State Forests, comprising approximately 2500 acres, extend from a point about four miles northwest of Oakland around to Swallow Falls, which is about seven miles north of Oakland. The State Forests, in addition to their use for timber growing and watershed protection, are also used for camping and other forms of recreation. The Swallow Falls section of which Swallow Falls, Muddy Creek Falls and Toliver Falls, in a setting of virgin hemlock forest, rhododendron and ferns, are the chief scenie features, are generally conceded to be the most beautiful natural scenery in Maryland.

No trip to Western Maryland would be complete without seeing these historical and scenie spots.

Representatives of the Department of Forestry will be at Fort Frederick and at Oakland to give information.

TO PREVENT SPREAD OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Dr. Riley, of State Health Department, Urges Isolation And Other Precautions

Because of a flare-up in infantile paralysis throughout the country, parents are advised by Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health, to isolate children on the appearance of suspicious illness and to send at once for the family doctor. Since the beginning of the year, the State Bureau of Communicable Diseases has been notified of the occurrence of 72 cases, over hali of which have been reported during August. Of the total, 39 have occurred in Baltimore city and the rest in the counties.

To prevent the spread of the ailment, Dr. H. R. Riley has sent a letter to all physicians in Maryland, directing their attention to the characteristic symptoms of infantile paralysis in the different stages of the disease, and advising the use of a serum prepared from the blood of persons who are recovering from it. Physicians have also been informed that through the aid of hospitals in which cases are being treated a limited quantity of the serum is available, and their cooperation is asked in securing blood from infantile paralysis patients under their care.

"Infantile paralysis," Dr. Riley said, "is especially likely to attack very young children, but it is not limited to this group. The cases that have been reported to the department recently have included growing girls and boys as well as babies and young children. In the treatment of the disease, we are advising what is known as convalescent serum, which is prepared from blood drawn from the arm of a person who is recovering from the disease. The pateint does not suffer in any way from the loss of the small quantity of blood that is taken, and its prompt use may be the means of saving the life and preventing the crippling of others.

"When a case is found, every possible care should be taken to prevent the spread of the disease to others. Here are some of the most essential precautions:

"1. Separate the sick person from other members of the family. Allow no one in the room except those necessary for attendance on the patient.

"2. All discharges from the nose, throat and intestines of the patient should be disinfected before disposing of them. This is of the utmost importance because the germ or whatever it is that causes infantile paralysis is found in the secretions from the nose, throat and intestines of the person suffering from the disease. The same substance has also been discovered in similar discharges from the nose, throat and intestines of persons who have been exposed to the disease.

"3. The room in which the patient is cared for should be screened.

"4. Animals—pet dogs and cats—should be carefully excluded from the persons who are ill and from the places in which they are being cared for.

"5. All dishes, knives, forks, spoons and all clothing and bedding used by the sick should be boiled before being used by other persons.

"6. Those in attendance upon the sick must change their outer garments and disinfect their hands before handling anything that others touch.

"The period of time elapsing between exposure to infantile paralysis and the appearance of the first symptoms of the disease is not definitely known. It varies from two to fourteen days, with eight days as the average."

SPARKS FROM AN OAKLAND PULPIT

THE IRONY OF THE CROSS

The Cross is the symbol of our Christian faith. The Cross is the radiant emblem of our deepest hopes. The Cross signifies for us the mystery of the atonement, the forgiveness of sins, the triumph of love over hate, of life over death.

That is what the Cross means to us. But the curious thing is that the Cross is an emblem which was created for the Church by its enemies. What did the Cross signify for the enemies of Christ who nailed Him to it?

The Pharisees thought of the Cross as a weapon which should deal to Christianity its death blow. They hated Jesus and they wanted to destroy Him and His influence. Being clever and sagacious men their first thought was the Cross. Crucifixion was the most shameful, most humiliating as well as the most agonizing form of death.

"We will nail this pretender to a cross and so we will prove to his deluded followers that he is not in fact the Son of God; for God would never permit His own Son to die the horrible death of a rebellious slave."

The Pharisees congratulated themselves that they had put a quietus for all time upon Christianity when they nailed Jesus to the Cross.

It is the supreme irony of history that the weapon with which the enemies of Christianity attempted to destroy it, is the very weapon with which Christianity is conquering the world—the Cross of Christ.

In the Cross of Christ I glory,
Towering o'er the wrecks of time;
All the light of sacred story
Gathers 'round its head sublime.

Lesson for August 26

PAUL IN A ROMAN PRISON

LESSON TEXT—Acts 16:16-40.
GOLDEN TEXT—Rejoice in the Lord always; and again I say, Rejoice.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul in Jail.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul in Prison.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Source of Paul's Joy.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Paul As an Evangelist.

I. Paul and Silas in Jail (vv. 16-26).

1. The occasion (vv. 16-24).

As the missionaries went out from day to day to the place of prayer they were accosted by a young woman possessed by a spirit of divination. She was owned by a syndicate of men who derived large gains from her soothsaying. Her utterances as she followed the missionaries became a great annoyance to Paul, who in the name of Jesus Christ commanded the evil spirit to come out of her. The spirit in this maid testified that these were servants of the Most High God and that they proclaimed the way of salvation. But Paul, like Jesus (Mark 5:7), would not have Satan's testimony. The evil spirit immediately obeyed Paul's command. When the demon was cast out, the supernatural power of the maid was gone, therefore the source of revenue was dried up. This so exasperated her owners that they brought Paul and Silas before the magistrates on the false charge of the changing of customs. It was not custom but their unlawful gain which was interfered with. There is always trouble when the unlawful business in which men are engaged is threatened.

2. Their behavior in jail (v. 25).

Paul and Silas prayed and sang hymns to God. It seems quite natural that they should pray under such circumstances, but to sing hymns is astonishing to all who have not come into possession of the peace of God through Christ. Even with backs lacerated and smarting, and feet fast in the stocks compelling the most painful attitude, in the dungeon darkness of the inner prison with extreme uncertainty before them, their hearts went up to God in gratitude.

3. Their deliverance (v. 26).

The Lord wrought deliverance by sending a great earthquake which opened the prison doors and loosed their bands.

II. The Conversion of the Jailer (vv. 27-34).

The jailer had small sympathy for the prisoners, for as soon as they were made secure, he went to sleep. Being suddenly aroused from slumber by the earthquake he was about to kill himself, whereupon Paul assured him that the prisoners were all safe. What he had heard of their preaching and what now he experienced caused him to come as a humble inquirer after salvation. He was convicted of sin and felt the need of the Savior. Paul clearly pointed the way to be saved, saying, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ." The word "believe" means to trust and fully obey. The proof that the jailer was saved is threefold:

1. Transformation from brutality to tenderness (v. 33).

He who a little while ago could with impunity lay on the cruel lashes is now disposed to wash their wounds.

2. Confession of Christ in baptism (v. 33).

Those who have really been convicted of sin and have experienced the saving grace of God delight to confess their faith in Him under all circumstances.

3. He set meat before them (v. 34).

4. His whole household baptized (v. 33).

When a man's family is willing to follow him, you may be sure that his conversion is genuine.

III. The Magistrates Humbled (vv. 35-40).

1. Orders to release the prisoners (vv. 35, 36.).

The earthquake brought fear upon the magistrates and thus moved them to give leave for the prisoners to go.

2. Paul's refusal to go (v. 37).

The ground of his refusal was that their rights as Roman citizens had been violated. They demanded public vindication.

3. Brought out of prison by the officers (vv. 38, 39).

Because they were Roman citizens they were released, the magistrates fearing what they had done.

4. Returned to the house of Lydia (v. 40).

Upon their public vindication they left the prison and entered the house of Lydia, and after ministering comfort to the brethren, they departed.

God Will Aid

It is my habitual practice about little things to bring them before God. I never attempt to carry any burdens myself. I roll them on God, and speak to God about them.—George Muller.

Safety

Be thou like the bird perched upon some frail thing, although he feels the branch bending beneath him, yet loudly sings, knowing full well that he has wings.—Gasparin.

HENRY FORD BACKS HOOVER

Auto Manufacturer Tells Why He Is Heart and Soul With Candidate.

SAYS FARMERS NEED HIM

Quality of Hoover's Ability Is a Fact Already Demonstrated by His Record.

By HENRY FORD

In an interview with Samuel Crowther of the Saturday Evening Post.

I AM for Hoover for President because he has shown that he can size up any job, pick the right man and direct it through to success. Through fourteen years—ever since Belgium—he has been handling some of the biggest jobs in the world. He has made a success of every one of them. He has shown that he is not afraid of size.

The greatest job that the world has ever known is now before this country. It is so big that none of the old-line politicians even knows that it exists. We have developed this country just enough during the past six or seven years to know that much which was thought to be impossible can be made possible under the right leadership.

The task is to make such use of the experience we have gained that we can build rightly for the future. Otherwise we are going to lose all that we have gained.

We have the men, we have the money and we can make the tools for the job. But all these will be useless without leadership. That leadership, because the thing is national, must be in the President.

Hoover Has Proved Leadership

The quality of Hoover's leadership requires no experimenting. It is a demonstrated fact.

But of what value is experience in the management of public affairs? What difference does it make who is President?

We all have our personal preferences, but a mere preference is not important. If it be true, as is said, that no real issues are before the country, then any man of reasonable ability will make an acceptable President.

It is quite true that we have no real political issues. But we have an economic problem which looms greater than any of the old issues. It is not in politics. It cannot be described in the old language of politics.

No one is much concerned now with liberty and independence as tied up with the right to vote. We have all the rights our forefathers struggled for. We are concerned with new and different rights and responsibilities. The great issue is to develop this country to a point where every man and woman has the opportunity both to work and to play.

We have proved that wages can be made high. We have now to prove that they can be continuously paid—that there will be no periods of unemployment over which the worker cannot finance himself.

No man is wise enough to say how the future should be planned. But we have right at hand many enormous developments which will keep all of us busy.

Transportation Brings Prosperity

This country could not have developed without transportation. That gave us national markets. These are mass markets, and thus we have been able to use better methods of manufacturing and get higher wages and lower prices. The first rapid transportation came through the railroads. Then came the automobile. The motor vehicles were at first thought to be competitors of the railroads, but now we know that they fit in together.

Business breeds business, and now we have not enough transportation. We must use the great waterways that have been put here for us to use both for transport and for power. Damming them for power improves them for transportation. Besides, the accumulation of these large bodies of water assists the rainfall. We have the Great Lakes and the Mississippi partly in use, but they are doing only a fraction of what they can be made to do. And many other projects only await further planning and coordination. For we know that we are in need of all kinds of transport—by air, by land and by water—and that each has its place and that each will make business for the others. This country needs to have its industry more spread out. Electricity and transport will do this.

This program will circulate billions of dollars. Don't say it will cost billions of dollars; say it will circulate billions of dollars. That is the true way of saying it.

We have the money and will have much more, for every dollar thus spent will produce several dollars. And undertaking this work will mean that for many years—perhaps forever—we shall not have to bother about unemployment anywhere. Both the farm and the factory will share in every dollar that is paid out to the men actually on the work.

It does not matter to me who does the work or who owns this work when done. It is use, not ownership, that counts.

The bare statement of what this country must do for its own well-being also describes the kind of President it needs. It is not that the President is the director general of the nation or any other kind of absolute ruler. But someone has to be spokesman of the progressive need of the country.

Hoover Knows Language of Progress

Hoover knows the language of modern progress better than any man. As an engineer, he has already planned the water and hydroelectric development of the country; and as a public officer with a knowledge of cause and effect, he knows the great present and future influence of these developments.

From time to time foreign nations have been foolish enough to imagine that by some system of control they could raise the prices to us of raw materials that we had to have. Some of the controls were official and others were semi-official. The British control of rubber was undertaken from the best of motives, but the temptation to boost the price was too strong and so rubber went above a dollar a pound.

Hoover did not ask for legislation or make any protest—any foreign nation has the right to charge us what it pleases. It is up to us to defend ourselves. He called a meeting of the rubber men. They learned just how much rubber was already in the country and what could be done toward reclaiming rubber. That broke the artificial price and saved the users of automobiles at least half a billion dollars. Incidentally, it caused some of us to make a start toward getting our own sources of rubber. A man less versed in the ways of the world and of business would have made a great many speeches and probably had the country talking war—and accomplished nothing but the generation of a great deal of hard feeling.

Can Do Big Things

This man Hoover not only has ideals but he can do things. He knows what to do and where to find the right men.

Among what are said to be issues are prohibition and what is called farm relief. We cannot elect a President who says in advance that he will take the oath of office with a mental reservation not to support the Constitution.

Some farmers are well off and others are not. But I cannot regard the farm as distinct from industry or as in opposition to industry. The one depends on the other. If the farmers do not earn money, then a great industrial market vanishes. If the workers do not earn, then the great market for farm products drops. Undoubtedly the freight on farm products is too high, just as is the freight on all products, but this will be cured only by providing more and better methods of transport in the general plan of the development of the country. The farm is small business in a world of big business and only through the development of the country can it become big business. The man who earns money on the farm is doing so by applying the methods which have made industry. That the vast majority of farmers are not failures is shown by the buying power of the farm states.

The pensioning of various industries has been tried time and again everywhere in the world. It has never worked and can never work. And no more can it work with farming. In addition, this is a world of lowering prices. Progress is in the direction of learning how to pay wages and earn money with low prices. That has created big business. It will create big farming. We are now in the transition period and that is always a period of temporary hardship.

Country's Development Just Begun

In short, we are not using what we have. There is a tendency to think of the country as already developed, when actually the development has scarcely begun. We have already gone farther than any other nation. We have done this by taking advantage of science in a large social way for the benefit of all. The whole country is in flux. If an industry or an industrial unit tries—even for a little while—to stand still, it never catches up again.

New methods in farming are coming in as quickly as are the new methods in industry. New methods are adopted in both industry and agriculture only because they make a fuller use of materials and men than did the old methods.

We have reached our present point without plan, but to go much further we need the opening of the country on so broad a basis that the Government itself must aid. The old system is going out of business; there is no cure but the wisdom to welcome the new era, which will not alone solve our present problems but abolish them utterly.

Herbert Hoover has the grasp not only of this country but of the world, and hence of this country's relations with the world. He is a young man; he belongs to the new era. He has the ideas of the new era and the proved ability to put them into practice. That is why I am for him.

Brilliant Record

Ohio State Journal

Herbert Hoover was fully prepared by nature, education and experience to organize and direct the work in the department of commerce. As engineer, economist and student he brought to his task an unusual ability. As an executive he has directed the work of organizing and rounding out that important department.

Has Your Baby A Certification Of Citizenship?

Brand new, young citizens of Maryland—that is, citizens born in the State—are having a special honor conferred upon them by the State Department of Health. As soon as the facts of the birth are duly recorded in the Bureau of Vital Statistics—the Bureau that has charge of the records of births and deaths—a finely engraved certificate showing that the child has been legally registered as a citizen, is sent to the parents.

The Certificate shows the Great Seal of the State and is signed by Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health. It is of a size suitable for framing takes the place of the smaller certificate used by the Department.

In announcing the plans for the distribution of the new certificates, Dr. R. H. Riley said: "We hope that parents will realize that these certificates are much more than finely engraved pieces of paper. As a matter of fact, a certificate of this sort is one of the most important possessions a child can have and it should be cared for accordingly—either framed or filed away with the parents' marriage certificate and other family papers.

"Duly signed and sealed, a certificate of this sort is accepted as proof of a person's identity, or his or her birthplace, nationality, age, relationships, and for numerous other legal purpose, including the right to attend school or to withdraw from school; the right to the protection afforded by the child labor laws; the right to vote; the right to hold public office; inheritance rights; contract rights; the age of consent to marry; the age for jury duty; the right to secure passports for foreign travel; the right to protection in foreign countries.

"The laws of Maryland require a baby's birth to be reported within four days by the physician or midwife in attendance, to the local registrar, by whom it is forwarded to the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health. Parents who are uncertain as to whether or not this has been done can find out by writing to the State Department of Health, 16 West Saratoga street, Baltimore."

The Annual Committee was fully organized last Saturday night. The members are H. V. Leighton, Frank E. Baker, C. V. Harvey, E. O. Fouch and C. C. Gnegy. The treasurer is Mr. F. P. Arnold.

Mr. Frank C. Shriver and family, of Morgantown, W. Va., are spending their vacation here in the cottage of E. G. Kimmell on F street.

Mr. E. L. Hess and family, of Belair, Ohio, are spending their vacation here and are occupying the cottage of Mrs. Benj. H. Sincell on H. street.

The White family reunion, held in Loch Lynn on Sunday was largely attended.

The Anti-Saloon League Day here last Sunday was a real treat and a splendid rally under the direction of Mr. G. W. Crabbe. Rev. H. E. Thompson, of Cumberland, and ex-Governor Yates, of Illionis, both made addresses on the subject of the saloon and its evils.

The season's program has been a real success in every way and we predict that Mountain Lake Park will yet come into its own.

The regular services in the M. E. church, which were dispensed with during the season which has just been brought to a close, will be resumed next Sunday.

The Rotary Club of Oakland held its regular weekly meeting at the Mountain Lake Hotel on last Friday night. The members with a few visiting Rotarians, including Dr. Frank B. Trotter, president of the West Virginia University, made things ring when they got into action with their songs and the program arranged prior to the meeting. The regular guests at the hotel were much pleased with the visit of the Rotarians and expressed a desire to have them come again. W. C. Dunnington, proprietor of the hotel, was felicitated by his guests for the excellent dinner served and the tine service rendered in the dining room.

While in Oakland this morning, I stood fronting a plot of blooming buckwheat on a lot near the east end of the bridge spanning the Baltimore and Ohio railroad on Oak street. On this lot was built many years ago the largest residence then in the town. It was owned at the time of his death by 'Squire Ezekiel Totten, one of the old-time residents of the county. Here he spent many years of his life and here he died. The building was erected by Daniel R. Brant who occupied it until he moved with his wife to Chicago, but he would return periodically to visit his relatives and many friends.

ELIZABETH ROY

Elizabeth Roy, aged eighty years, died on Sunday at the home of friends near Mountain Lake Park, her death being due to a stroke of paralysis suffered by her shortly before. Funeral services were conducted Monday with interment in the Oakland cemetery. She is survived by her mother, an inmate of a Preston County (W. Va.) institution.

SCHOOL OFFICIAL HOPES FOR LARGER ATTENDANCE

Percentage for all Garret County Schools on the Increase—Comparison Noted.

for the past few years steadily on for the past fe wyears steadily on the increase both in the elementary and high schools, John L. Fitzwater, school attendance officer, is predicting an even higher percentage this year, providing no unforseen disturbances are met with, and has been working during the past summer on plans for maintaining the high average set in other years, and in raising it if possible.

Garrett County was always above the average percentage among the counties of the State last year during all ten months, and several times the graded schools headed the list, according to figures compiled by the State board of education.

Comparison Noted.

The percentage of atendance for the year 1927-1928 showed an increase for one and two-teacher schools, graded schools, and was exactly the same for high schools. The average of all schools of the county showed a gain of 2.3 percent over the previous year

| | 1926-27 | 1927-28 |
|---|---|---|
| County Average | 87.4 | 89.7 |
| One-teacher | 83.4 | 86.7 |
| Two-teacher | 91.3 | 91.7 |
| Graded | 91. | 93.2 |
| Average All Elem. | 86.7 | 89.2 |
| High Schools | 92.5 | 92.5 |

In 1926-27, there were 4,820 children attending the elementary schools as compared with 4,561 last year, showing a decrease of 259. The average daily attendance for 1926-27 was 3,404 against 3,381 for the last year, a decrease of only 23, showing that with 259 less pupils, the average daily attendance was almost as great as the year previous. The decrease in elementary enrollment was laid to the fact that the bus service established by the Board of Education, enabled more country boys and girls who would otherwise have returned to the grade in their community, to attend some high school.

Two years ago there were 605 enrolled in high schools as compared with 677 last year, an increase of 72. The increase in the average daily attendance was also 72, leaving the percentage dormant at 91.5 for 1927-28.

Less Entering Late.

Students who enter school late show a decided decrease over the two year period. In the elementary schools in 1926-27, 1,134 entered late as against 795 for last year, while in the high school the figures show 17 for 1926-27 and 38 for 1927-28.

Six hundred seventy-eight pupils in the elementary schools were absent more than 40 days in 1926-27, as compared with 468 for last year. The high schools, however, showed an increase of six, 32 having been absent last year more than the allotted 40 days. The total average attendance however for the past two school years has advanced both for elementary and high schools. Last year elementary pupils averaged 190.6 days, an increase of 3.9 over the previous year, while the high schools averaged 193.8 days, an increase of 5 days over 1926-27.

Pupils Attend in West Va.

Pupils in the southern part of the county, having no high school in their vicinity, attend in Bayard and Thomas, W. Va The number going out of the county each year, also shows an increase. In 1926-27, 38 attended West Virginia schools, and in 1927-28 there were 43. Tuition for these pupils is paid by the County Board of Education.

Biennial Census.

The Bi-ennial census of all children under the age of 19 years is to be taken this year by the first of November, according to the State law. This will be managed through the individual teachers, it was stated.

The above figures were compiled by Mr. Fitzwater at his office in Oakland, and shows the work that is being done to increase the enrollment, the average attendance; to lessen the number to those entering late, the number of withdrawals, and the number of those absent 40 days or more. The decided improvements during the last two years indicate that the school year 1928-29 will bring still greater success in these endeavors.

There will be a rally day service nt the North Glade M. E. church on Sunday, September 2. There will be addresses in the morning and a program and addresses in the afternoon. A basket dinner will be enjoyed. All are invited to attend.

GIRL RECEIVES FRACTURE OF LEG IN AUTO MISHAP

Miss Burldene Sanders, Crellin, Seriously Injured Sunday

Miss Burldene Sanders, aged 15, of Crellin, daughter of Steve Sanders, was seriously injured Sunday morning near Gortner, when the Ford coupe in which she was riding, crashed head-on into another machine as an attempt was being made to pass a milk truck.

She received a compound fracture of the right thigh, and it is feared that her arm was pulled out of place. She also suffered a badly lacerated chin. She was taken to the Western Maryland hospital, Cumberland, following the accident where she was attended by Dr. W. A. Gracie. The fracture is so serious that an operation may be necessary to set it properly.

The Ford coupe was occupied by two boys of Victor Kelly. Miss Sanders and her cousin, and they were returning to Oakland when they attempted to pass the milk truck. As they drew abreast of the truck, they met an Oldsmobile touring car, occupied by W. W. Pierce, of Salem, W. Va., and they clashed head-on. The machines collided with such force that they had to be pried apart with steel bars. Miss Sanders was thrown from the car.

First Aid Rendered

George Kerins happened upon the scene and he rendered first aid to the injured girl. She was brought to Oakland by Mr. Blackburn, of Thomas, where she received medical attention, being taken to Cumberland later in the day.

Her condition is still considered as serious. None of the other occupants of the cars was seriously hurt. The Ford coupe was almost completely demolished while the Oldsmobile was only slightly wrecked.

C. & A. GAS COMPANY HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

One Hundred and Twenty-five at Deer Park Hotel Banquet.

One hundred and twenty-five employes and guests of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company were present at the banquet and dance held Monday night at the Deer Park Hotel, which brought to a close the fourth annual convention of the organization. All fourteen divisions of the company were represented.

Entertainment provided included solos by Reeves Blandford, Oakland; a colored quartet, Weston, W. Va.; a saxophone solo by Mr. R. R. Gilbert, Oakland, accompanied on the piano by his daughter Virginia. The Deer Park Hotel orchestra furnished the music for dancing. Joe Young, Cumberland, led the songs.

Impromptu addresses were made by Charles Heskett, Cumberland, and Mayor Rohrbaugh, of Belington, as representatives of the largest and the smallest divisions of the company. Each agent and superintendent had as his guest the mayor and his wife of the particular town in which he was stationed.

Mr. J. A. Mayers, general manager of the gas company, was presented with a handsome watch, the gift of the employes of the Cumberland division.

The divisional towns represented included Cumberland, Frostburg, Lonaconing, Oakland, Piedmont, Keyser, Thomas, Kingwood, parsons, Elkins, Belington, Philippi, Buckhannon and Weston.

Questions concerning the business of the company were discussed in the sessions from 9:30 a. m. to 1:00 p. m., and from 2:00 to 4:00 p. m. The banquet was held at 7:00 o'clock, followed by a dance in the hotel ballroom.

Former Oakland Man and Wife in Auto Collision Saturday

A triple collision on the Defense Highway, near Whitemarsh, Md., late Saturday afternoon resulted in two persons receiving injuries necessitating hospital treatment and wrecked three cars.

Warren C. Summers, 22, of Washington, D. C., and his mother, Mrs. C. W. Summers, were attended at Sibley Hospital after their car went over a 5-foot embankment and landed on its top. Summers was driving and his other passengers were Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Ison, of Washington, formerly of Oakland, and Miss Willie O. Robinson, of Parkersburg, W. Va., who is also well known in Oakland.

Mr. Ison, an employe of the Treasury Department, was treated at his home. He said the extent of his injuries had not been determined. His wife and Miss Robinson were shaken up in the crash.

BRIDEGROOM GETS COURT ORDER TO GET HIS WIFE

Bride's Father Refuses To Give Her Over to Husband—Detains Her at His Morgantown Home

John Albert Hostutler wants his wife; wants her if it takes a writ of habeas corpus ad subjiciendum (whatever that is) to get her—and he went to the Circuit Court of Monongahela county, West Va., Tuesday, for that highly necessary paper and got it. He hopes to get his wife Friday, when the writ is returnable in the court of that county.

According to the petition which Hostutler presented to Judge I. Grant Lazelle, Morgantown, through his attorney, he was married on Monday, August 20, to Helen Robey, 18 years and 10 months old, by the Rev. William Anderson, of Mountain Lake Park, at the M. E. parsonage in Oakland, after having obtained the necessary license at the local court house. Hustetler and his bride returned to Morgantown the same day and took up their residence at the home of Rev. C. W. Joseph in Jerome Park.

On the next day Mrs. Hostutler went to the home of her father, John Robey, to get her clothing and other personal belongings. She was accompanied by Lela Joseph.

Father Detains Bride.

But on reeaching home, the court petition sets out, the bride was met with the fury of an outraged and irate parent, who refused to permit her to return to her newly acquired husband. He detained her in a room, the petition sets forth, and has since refused to permit her to leave the Robey house or to return to her husband.

Accompanying Hostutler's petition are affidavits by Lela Joseph and Rev. Mr. Joseph. The former describes her visit to the Robey home in company with Mrs. Hostutler, and declares that the bride was restrained from leaving the parental roof. Mr. Joseph, in his statement, says that he later went to the Robey home, but was not permitted to see Mrs. Hostutler or to converse with her and that Mr. Robey declared that he would never permit his daughter to return to her husband.

Writ Returnable Friday.

Judge Lazelle, after reading the petition and the affidavits, entered an order for the writ of habeas corpus ad subjiciendum to issue, directing Robey to bring the body of his daughter before the court next Friday and then show cause why he is restraining her from returning to her husband.

The bridegroom was in Oakland on Tuesday where he secured from the Clerk of the Circuit Court a certificate showing that the marriage ceremony between the parties had been performed by a regularly ordained minister and according to the laws of Maryland.

"Buck" Killen Burned in Automobile Wreck.

Frank "Buck" Killen, well known in Oakland as a member of the Oakland A. A. basketball team of last year, received severe burns to his hands and arms on Tuesday evening, August 21, when he assisted in smothering the flames on his younger brother, Richard, whose clothing had become ignited following an automobile accident.

The two boys were returning to Terra Alta from Clarksburg on one of the Mavis Bottling company trucks after delivering a load of the soft drink to Clarksburg dealers, when the three-ton vehicle skidded on the wet, slippery road at the Zeising underpass near Clarksburg, crashed into the abutments and then burst into flames. Richard Killen's condition is considered the more serious.

Bolden Undertaking Company Moving Today.

The Bolden Undertaking company, which has occupied a part of the Manhattan hotel building for the past sixteen years, is being moved today to the Scott building on Second street, opposite the William-James hotel, according to Emroy Bolden.

The new place of business, formerly occupied by Miss Smith, has been rearranged and repaired to serve as a modern and up-to-date funeral home. There will be an office, show room and morgue.

The moving will be completed on Friday. Besides the undertaking business, the company handles picture frames and all kinds of glass including window and auto windshield. Emroy D. Bolden and Miss Edith M. Bolden are proprietors.

ONLY TWO NEW PARALYSIS CASES REPORTED IN COUNTY

"All Others are Suspicious Cases and Have Not Matured," the Health Officer Asserts.

"With only two new cases of what might for a certainty be called infantile paralysis in Garrett county during the past two weeks, there is no cause whatever for a panic among the people," Dr. Henry W. McComas, public health officer for Garrett county said yesterday evening. "There have been several suspicious cases with the patients having some of the symptoms," he stated, "but it cannot be said positively that they are cases of infantile paralysis.

"Up to the present time there are ten cases in the county that I would call infantile paralysis. All other reported cases are immature and may be some other form of disease."

These statements were made by Dr. McComas to dispel any rumors that may have become circulated as to the prevalency of the disease.

"Wherever one goes he receives inquiries about the town being quarantined; about the supposed fifty or more cases existing and about the great danger of others contracting the disease," he said.

Only one of the ten cases in the entire county has resulted in muscular paralysis, according to Dr. McComas, and the attending physician states that this particuler child is rapidly improving and may regain complete control of the affected parts.

"Several homes have been quarantined pending further developments and in several other homes the cases there are rather suspicious, but only ten have been ill with paralysis," he repeated emphatically.

Health Board Meets.

The County Board of Health met Monday evening and discussed the danger of spread, etc., of the disease, and decided that it would be best to advise parents to keep their children off the streets nnd from gathering in public places. This is advised as a precaution against the spread of the disease.

Everything is being done to diagnose the suspicious cases correctly and to treat those cases which show decided symptoms by administering a serum, which has been done in a number of cases.

The paralysis seems to be prevalent in various other sections of the country and is causing quite a lot of discussion. In Preston county, West Va., which adjoins Garrett county on the west, there are nine cases, according to Dr. L. H. Lewis, public health officer of that county.

In the entire State of Maryland a total of 152 cases is reported in the Baltimore Sun of this morning, while in the City of Cleveland (O.) there are nearly 300 cases.

Two addresses will be made. Lawrence Fraley, mayor of Oakland, will talk on Oakland from the Mayor's point of view. Judge Everhart, Terra Alta, will talk on Terra Alta from the Mayor's point of view.

There will be appropriate music all during the dinner hour, according to F. E. Rathbun, in charge of the program. This meting will mark the second time within the past few months that the Oakland and Tera Alta clubs have combined their meetings.

Va.; William Wilson, Keyser, W. Vn.; David Rider, Oakland; Henry Harper, Gormania, W. Va.; Scott Harvey, Deer Park; George Harvey, Gormania.

W. S. Shrout, the only living charter member, was also present. He has belonged to the lodge for 37 years and is one to whom much of the success of the lodge is due.

ABDUCTOR OF TWO GIRLS IS PAROLED BY GOVERNOR

R. J. Martin, Sentenced in 1926 In Garrett County Court, To Be Released September 4

R. J. Martin, sentenced in 1926, by the Circuit Court for Garrett county, to four and one-half years in the Penitentiary for abduction and pandering, was one of the sixteen persons paroled Monday by Governor Ritchie.

All the paroles were recommended by Eward M. Parrish, parole commissioner. They will become effective on September 4, according to the Governor.

Martin has served about a year and nine months of his term. Concerning Martin's case, the parole read: "I am advised by the State's Attorney that both girls had bad records and he offers no objection to elemency. The other man with him at the time was paroled a couple of months ago, but Martin was held a longer time because of breaking some of the prison rules. The warden now reports his conduct to be good and I think he has been sufficiently punished."

According to the files of The Republican, R. J. Martin and George E. Arthur were sentenced at the December Term, 1926, of the Circuit Court in Oakland. The crime committed by them and for which they were sent to prison was the abduction of two young girls. The record in the case reads:

"The cases of R. J. Martin and Geo. E. Arthur, indicted for abducting Esther Zepp and Elva Kitzmiller, two young girls of Mountain Lake Park, early in October of the present year, when arraigned on the charge entered pleas of guilty and were sentenced to serve five years each in the Maryland Penitentiary.

"Martin and Arthur came to Oakland last fall with a carnival company and after the engagement was closed they remained in Oakland for about two weeks. In the meantime Martin married a woman who was attached to a show with the carnival, but deserted his wife the day following, leaving Oakland in company with Arthur and the two girls. They were captured at a point on the National Highway near Hancock by Sheriff G. O. Yutzy and a deputy and brought back to Oakland where they were held pending their trial."

The consolation was won by Mr. Rhodes, of Washington, who defeated Mr. Rethers, also of Washington.

There were fourteen entries in the tournament. Trophies and cups were presented after the championship play. play.

Bayard Is Without Water.

The mining town of Bayard, W. Va., on the Western Maryland Railway, 12 miles south of Oakland, is without water, and the situation is becoming acute. The large reservoir is dry and the smaller one is unable to furnish sufficient to supply the town.

The local ice plant has been unable to operate on account of the present shortage which leaves the town without ice.

While there has been considerable rainfall, the large reservoir does not fill. Some think the coal has been dug from beneath the spring used.

COMMUNITY BOOTHS

J. L. McGLONE, Superintendent.

1. Exhibits open to Garrett and adjoining counties.
2. The building and arrangement of booths at the Fair must be done by bona fide residents of the community making the exhibits.
3. The community exhibits will be judged as a whole; products exhibited in a booth cannot compete for general exhibit purposes.
4. The size of booths must be twelve feet long by ten feet deep.
5. All booths must be completed by 12:00 o'clock noon, September 25.
6. All entries must be in place not later than September 25.

Rules and Suggestions

1. The exhibits in the booths should include only farm and garden products, either in the original state or preserved. These may include: (1)corn; (2) small grains; (3) hay and forage crops; (4) fruits; (5) potatoes; (6) other vegetables; (7) dairy and meat products, eggs; (8) home canned and preserved goods, bread and cake; (9) bee products; (10) wool, maple products, etc.

2. In order that all products in competitive booth exhibits may be judged on the same basis, each individual exhibit within the booth must be of the same quality as required for the general exhibit. For example: An exhibit of corn should consist of ten ears; of grain or potatoes, one peck; of apples, a plate of five specimens. Products displayed in any other quantity will be regarded only as part of the decorations.

3. The booth will be judged on the following basis:

| | |
|---|---|
| Quality | 50 per cent. |
| Completeness | 20 per cent |
| Arrangement | 25 per cent |
| Record for the year | 5 per cent |
| Total | 100 per cent |

Quality—This includes uniformity, trueness to type, maturity and market condition, freedom from insect diseases and mechanical injuries and general appearance of individual products. Flavor, texture and aroma are considered in such products as butter, cheese, honey, pickles, preserves, jellies, ham, bacon, hay and other products.

Completeness—The kinds of farm, garden, orchard and household products shown should represent the economic and agricultural activities of the community. Neither the number of kinds of products nor the number of varieties of particnlar species of products will compensate for poor quality.

A booth will be considered complete in proportion as it has representative exhibits in each of the following groups: (1) corn; (2) small grains; (3) hay and forage crops; (4) fruits; (5) potatoes; (6) other vegetables; (7) dairy and meat products and eggs; (8) home canned and preserved goods, bread and cake; (9) bee products; (10) wool.

Arrangement—This relates to the artistic grouping of products displayed. As far as possible, similar products should be grouped together, i. e., fruits should be in one place; grains in another; canned goods in another, and so on. Exhibits should be so arranged that all products are easily accessible for judging.

Decorations should not predominate, but should blend with the various commodities exhibited in order that the entire display may present an artistic effect.

The name of the community should be attractively displayed.

CURTIS PLEDGES PROMPT FARM AID

Vice-Presidential Candidate Asks Non-Partisan Solution Under Hoover Leadership.

URGES JOINT COMMITTEE

Agricultural Situation, He Explains, Is of Deep Economic Importance to Citizens.

By

U. S. SENATOR CHARLES CURTIS

Republican Vice-Presidential Candidate.

Senator Curtis, in his Address of Acceptance, stressed the importance of prompt action on the question of farm aid. "The problem," he declared, "is of deep-seated economic importance to every citizen without regard to occupation or political party." He added the significant thought that "properly its solution is and always should be, non-partisan." For the leadership of such a non-partisan movement, involving the expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars by the federal government, he declared that the leadership should be Hoover's—a man well worthy of the party's choice.

THE question of the proper relief for Agriculture is a trying and perplexing one. The problem is of deep-seated economic importanco to every citizen without regard to bis occupation or his political party.

Properly, its solution is aud always should be, non-partisan. I am convinced that if a small joint committee of the House aud Seuate were appointed to study the problem and to find its proper solution, the necessary relief quickly could and would be afforded. The Committee could be assisted in its task by the advice and experience of the most capable experts on the subject whose services can be obtained.

It will be remembered that for years we had great trouble with the problem of settling our standard of value. The failure to settle the question had brought forth the Greenback Party, and later the Free Silver party. In 1899, that great and able statesman from Maine, Thomas B. Reed, a, pointed a Committee of Eleven to draw a measure fixing the staudard of value. In three weeks the committee had agreed upon a draft of a bill, and the Gold Standard Act of 1900 was the result. We have had no trouble with that question since then. If such a committee could settle so satisfactorily that great nnd vexing question, surely a similar committee of able legislators specifically charged with the task could agree upon an agricultural relief plan which would be equally satisfactory.

The solutioa will be found, and found promptly. Our party has pledged itself to the development and euactment of measures which will place the agricultural interests of the United States on a basis of economic equality with other industries, to insure its prosperity and success.

Philosophy of Farming

Encouragement of Agriculture always has been a Republieaa doctrine. It is a necessary part of our philosophy of government. Agriculture is the basic Industry of the country and in the very nature of things will ever be so. Whatever is to the detriment of the farmer is, eventually, to the detriment of all our citizens; his welfare nnd prosperity are inevitably reflected in the welfare and prosperity of the whole nation.

Many plans for the encouragement of Agriculture have been proposed, and many hnve been given effect by our party. In the eourse of my political life every one which in my opinion promised an appreelable measure of sound relief has had my wholehearted and active support.

Of recent years, two farm measures have been introduced by mo in the Senate. Two Democrat members of the House joined in their preparaton and introduction. The first was known as the Curtis-Aswell Bill. It created an Interstate Farm Marketing Association. Its purposo was to promote and stimulate the orderly flow of agricultural commodities in commerce; to removo burdens nnd restraints on sueh commodities in commerce; nnd to provido for the processing, preparing for market, handling, pooling, storing and marketing of agricultural commodities through co-operative marketing associations. The object of this measure was to place the marketing organizations under the ownership and control of the farmers themselves. The other measure was known ns the Curtis-Crisp Bill. Its object was to enable the farmers to stabilize their markets against undne and excessive fluctuations; to preserve advantageous domestic markets; and to minimize speculation and waste in marketing.

Republican Record

Without the help whieb the Republicau party has given, the agricultural situation would be infinitely worse than it is. The Capper-Volstead Act gave to the farmer the right to engage in collective buying and co-operative selling. In every possible way the Republican admiuistration has endeavored to give practical and substantial effect to that right.

The Department of Agriculture fills an important place in the work of aiding aud advising the farmer. It is our policy to widen each year as much as possible the scope of the Department's effectiveness. In the last year alone, $2,298,172.00 was spent in particularly valuable researeh work covering numerous classes of agricultural products, including cattle and swine It is estmated that $4,157,887.00 will be required for this work for the e ming year. Nearly $3,000,000.00 is expended annually by the Departmeut of Agriculture in broadening agricultural markets.

The development of inland waterways, and water transportation in general, is of great value to the agricultural sections of the country. An extensive project in this regard is now being executed. The last Congress bas provided for a barge line to extend from St. Louis to Missouri River points, which when in full operation will bring decided relief in the difficulties and cost of transporting farm products. When the loss of the foreign market for our products was immiuent because of insufficiency of ships in which to transport them, vessels of the United States Shipping Board were reconditioned and placed in service, thereby saving the market.

Tariff protection against foreign competition always has been given to farm products. The Fordney-McCumber Tariff Act carries higher rates of duty on agricultural products than any tariff law in the history of the nation. It has been found that certain of the duties are not high enough to give adequate protection to some of the products of the farm, and I believe it is the duty of Congress to provide rates high enough to protect such products against foreign competition. In addition, by this act, the duties have been lowered on most of the articles the farmers buy or they have been put upon the free list.

Appropriations have been made freely to aid the farmers in time of crop failures. The Federal Farm Loan System and the intermediate credit banks have made available to farmers, on loans at a low rate of interest, more than $2,500,000,000.00.

That effective help has been given to the farmer by the Republicau party since it took charge on March 4, 1921, is indicated by the statement of the Washington office of the American Farm Bureau Federation. On page one of its Annual Report dated April 6, 1923, there appears the following:

"The passing of the 67th Congress into history marks an epoch in the undertaking of the American Farm Bureau's national legislative campaign. It is not too much to say that the twenty-six laws passed by that Congress, which were initiated and supported by us, are of far more importance to American agriculture than all the legislation relating to Agriculture passed since the adoption of our Constitution."

Though much has been done to ameliorate the farmers' situation, still more remains to be done, for there exists today a depression in Agriculture which in the best interests of all of the people, must he relieved.

Women in Government

Since the beginning of civilization, the right to vote, which is the right to have a decisive voice in the affairs of government, has been coveted and fought for. When obtained, it has been cherished by its possessors; hedged around with restrictions and qualifications; and extended to others only with reluctance. During the early period of our own government it was not every free man who was entitled to vote. Our present policy of universal suffrage is the growth of the years, and the recognition of woman's rights was particularly slow.

My personal stand on the question was at all times firmly and openly in favor of permitting women to vote. It is known and recognized that my active aid and support were instrumental to no small degree in procuring the action of the Senate on June 4, 1919, by which the 19th Amendment to the Constitution was proposed to the legislatures of the several states, and woman's right to the ballot became effective August 26, 1920.

The mere right to vote, not exercised, is useless. As a matter of duty, women as well as men should exercise that right. There are in the United States today between twenty-six and twenty-seven million women over the age of twenty-one, entitled to vote. As the years pass, these women are becoming increasingly alive to their opportunity to take a large and important part in the management and control of the country's affairs; to enforce recognition, change and improvement in their own particular problems and those which most interest them; and to become a distinct power in deciding all questions of vital concern to every citizen regardless of sex.

DON'T GET SO EXCITED!—

Shakespeare should have added another famous saying, because he was supposed to have said more things that people in later times quote and remember than anybody else who ever lived.

The Republican is not denying that he said a lot of things, but there is one fact that he forgot to mention. He may have said that "gossip flies to the four corners of the earth in less time than it takes rabbits to multiply," but he should have added: "Rumor travels just as fast, and once spread abroad there is nothing under heaven that can dispel it, except, perhaps, a newspaper."

Garrett county has within its borders ten cases of infantile paralysis, according to a report made by Dr. McComas, county health officer.

Terra Alta people believe that the town is quarantined; Rowlesburg people think that there are fifty cases of the disease right in Oakland; Kingwood people think there is a panic among the residents of Oakland, and it is hard to say just what Thomas and Keyser people think about the sotuation. The rumor has gained such credence that even the people of Garrett county are beginning to believe it themselves.

The Republican does not mean to say that infantile paralysis is not a dreaded disease. Children have been physically ruined for life by its insidious attacks. Every precaution is being taken by the local physicians to prevent its spread here and in the county. The Board of Health has advised keeping the children from public gatherings and off the streets of town. Everyone should be extremely careful about any possibility of carrying the germs, especially where the children are concerned.

But don't make the predicament in which we find ourselves any worse than it really is. There are ten real cases of paralysis. All others are merely suspicious cases and very immature.

Every time one is reported as having fallen prey to its ravages, rumor spreads around that there are ten, so don't get excited and have people believing that Oakland is shut off from the rest of the world. We are all here and business is being carried on as usual.

HOOVER—A NATIONAL ASSET.

(From the Saturday Evening Post.)

Every reader who is fond of biography, and who has taken pains to analyze the lives of notable men, has been struck by the fact that so many of them have made their greatest achievements in fields remote from those in which they began life. Further study usually reveals the fact that their development and their training for the great tasks thrust upon them in later life trace back to a genius for finishing what they start. To such men circumstances offer a new and different job as soon as the current one has been completed. Fate always has a new and strange problem in store for them. Biography affords countless examples of men with inborn ability who built themselves up into greatness by doing the thing nearest at hand and doing it so well that harder and less familiar tasks naturally gravitate to them. Such men apparently never know where their work will lead them. No distant goal diverts their thoughts from the work in hand. They do not even surmise the great and particular achievement for which they are training. They do not chart out their careers in advance, but are swept on by the tide of life into the jobs that need them most.

Herbert Hoover is one conspicuous example of such schooling. In his early professional life as a mining engineer he was one of the great pioneers of American business in foreign lands. He examined mineral properties and made recommendations. American capitalists spent millions upon his say-so. American mining machinery trailed him around the globe. His work and that of men like him opened up the markets of the world to America just as surely as the work of our early pioneers opened up this continent to the hordes of settlers who followed them.

During these years when he was learning to know men and metal and how to get the best out of both, when he was acquiring the art of portioning out responsibility, of creating organizations and was forging himself into an executive of high order, who can suppose he suspected that the clouds of the World War were thickening and that he was molding himself into the sort of man who could at a moment's notice jump into the job of sending across the Atlantic thousands of fellow countrymen stranded in belligerent countries, and do it as if he had never done anything else?

Or who would believe that in early life he dreamed that his activities would so school him that he could head the vast operations of the American Relief Work with signal success, feed starving European nations, achieve by diplomacy what could not be wrought by force, and at length become a cabinet minister with a genius for furthering commerce and industry?

The main pattern of such men's lives is hard to discern; but after a time it becomes plain, as the present lights up the past and reveals the linkage between training and performance. As time goes on, the stages of development which at first seemed mere matters of chance take on an air of plausible sequence and at length seem logical or even inevitable. Mr. Hoover's experiences as a mining man were strange schooling for a future food administrator, but his work for starving Belgium brought him made-to-order equipment for his achievement in directing Red Cross activities in behalf of the homeless flood sufferers of the Mississippi Basin.

In view of the expansion of our foreign trade, our unexampled loans to other nations and our commercial invasion of lands across the sea, we need, as we never needed before, high executives who know the markets and bourses and chancelleries of the whole world, men who are so familiar with over-sea conditions that they can foster and protect sound American business, investment and development in whatever part of the globe they may have gained a foothold. We can almost count on our thumbs the men who have these qualifications to the extent that Mr. Hoover possesses them. American business and industry are rich in great administrators, but all too few are in the service of the government; and of these, how many have had intensive over-sea training?

Circumstances have favored Mr. Hoover in that they have given him outstanding abilities. They have not yet exhausted his repertoire of capacitise. Had he been put at the head of the State Department his encyclopedic knowledge of foreign peoples, their resources, reactions, prejudices and psychologies, would have seen him through with distinguished credit. Had he been made Secretary of Agriculture he would have done for the farmers even more than he has done for manufacturers and business men. Friends of the farmer openly lament that they could not draft his constructive leadership for the cause of agriculture. No other man in America could have done so much to put American farming on a sound basis of deserved and permanent prosperity.

With men of the Hoover stamp, the incredible is forever happening. When Fate finds a youngster who never falls down on any job intrusted to him, no matter how hard or strange, no matter what obstacles beset him, she cannot let him alone. As long as he lives and has his health she thrusts challenge after challenge, job after job, upon him; first in the hope of seeing him trip, latterly that she may admire the skill and effectiveness of his attack.

Mr. Hoover is such a man. His personality and his record appeal to those who are used to doing great things and hard things and know their own kind. It is no wonder that the big, broad-gauged men of the country, those who are its real producers and who are contributing most to its development, are his staunchest supporters. Nor is it without significance that those who have worked for and with Mr. Hoover are his most loyal adherents.

They know his metal and they know what has gone into the forging of it. They appraise at their true value his knowledge of conditions over the greater part of the civilized world; his unusual gift of working with other men and commanding their loyalty, his intimacy with his own land from coast to coast, his intensive schooling in official life and his sound views on business, commercial and economic matters.

Then, too, there are even more to bless him for his humanity than to praise him for his ability as an executive and for his genius in getting things done. No man can unite such characteristics with integrity of character and fail to make a powerful appeal to formidable masses of American citizens.

The idea of maintaining opposing parties guided by differing political principles is sound, but we often carry it to too great lengths; and the smaller minded our politicians, the farther they run it into the ground. If Herbert Hoover had been cursed with this species of ego he would never have gotten where he is. He could not have done his work. He could not have begun it. Such a mind would have made him put little prejudices first and great ends last. Thought in the large confirms and strengthens basic political convictions and deep guiding principles, but it is death on the petty parasites that cling to them like ticks on a cow's legs.

From whatever angle he may be regarded, Herbert Hoover is a national asset of incalculable value. His extraordinary prestige, at home and abroad, has not yet been fully capitalized for the benefit of his own people. In his present place he is a productive asset, yielding as large a return as his office permits. The question for his fellow countrymen to ask themselves is whether or not he would bring in a greater return if he were given even wider opportunities.

THE DAIRYMAN'S DOLLAR

In discussing the "Dairyman's Dollar" W. F. Jensen says in his last report to members of American Association of Creamery Butter Manufacturers:

"It is not easy to reason out the present situation, (regarding butter production) which clearly indicates that the farmers of the United States are producing at least 5 per cent less cream than they did a year ago, when, under normal conditions they ought to to produce 2 per cent more. My good friend, Mr. W. A. Gordon, claims (and I believe he knows what he is talking about), that the butterfat dollar is worht $1.17, compared with pre-war conditions. Therefore, surely the farmer is making money on his butter fat—and, on the other hand, we are constantly told that he is losing money on other parts of his operations. It would seem, by heck, that he ought to milk more cows or feed those better that he already has."

WESTERN WOMEN LEAVE OFFICERS HOLDING BAG

Mother Arrested for Fishing Without Necessary License.

Officers of Garrett county, in the vicinity of Guard, Selbysport and Friendsville, were left holding the bag when they arrested Mrs. A. R. Lesnick, of Wichita, Kansas, for fishing in the Youghiogheny River without first having secured an angler's fishing license, as provided under the laws of the State of Maryland.

The woman, accompanied by her daughter Helen, aged 22, was given a hearing before Justice Guard at the town of Friendsville, and was fined $14.75. Because the person informing an officer of anyone violating the fish law receives half the amount of the fine, Mrs. Lesnick said she didn't mind the fine, but was opposed to a portion of it going to a "spotter."

With her daughter at the wheel of their car she told Game Warden Bruce Frantz and Deputy Stanley Friend to follow them back to camp to get the amount necessary to square the account with the State Conservation Commission, the State of Maryland, Garrett county and the minions of the law.

About a mile from the Pennsylvania State line Miss Lesniek gave an exhibition of western daring when she tramped on the accelerator and headed for the border at fifty miles an hour over country roads. The officers were outdistanced, of eourse, and as the young woman intended they should be

In the night following the marathon race, the girl crept back to the tent, fighting her way through brush and wading mountain streams, to enter it by the rear and avoid the officers, parked in front. She packed all her mother's belongings and then escaped.

528 Forest Fires Reported in Maryland for Spring of 1928

Five hundred twenty-eight fires, burning an area of 27,155 acres, were reported to the Maryland State department of forestry in the spring of 1928, the largest number of fires ever recorded for any spring season. In the spring of 1926, 510 fires were reported, establishing a high record.

Since 1926 a large number of wardens have been appointed, particularly on the Eastern Shore, and this fact probably explains the larger number of fires reported in 1928 as compared to 1926. It is not believed that the fire hazard was so serious this year as in 1926.

The size of the average fire for the spring season was 51 acres, as against an average fire of 15 acres in 1927, and 123 in 1926. It is estimated that the damage done amounted to $216,217.75, and the expense connected with the fires, $6,948.59.

Pinning a Medal on Him

Kirby in New York World, Feb. 20, 1920

THOSE qualifications and achievements which make Herbert C. Hoover so eminently desirable as the next President of the U. S. have never been better described than by Charles E Hughes at the Carnegie Hall meeting at which the Civic Forum's medal for distinguished public service was conferred upon Mr. Hoover.

"The Americanism of Hoover is shown in every deed, in every utterance. His achievements dignified the nation, and established prestige for the American name abroad which even the mistakes of diplomacy cannot obscure. He bears a name illustrious because of remarkable achievements; but, best of all, it is a name untarnished, expressive not only of exceptional ability but of the simple life of a modest citizen."

This is the opinion of a man who has been a distinguished Governor of New York, a distinguished Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court, and the Republican candidate for President of the United States. It is likewise the opinion of an increasingly great number of American citizens of all parties, men and women alike.

Where is there another candidate, Democratic or Republican, to match him?

From an Editorial in the New York World (Democratic) Feb. 20, 1920.

Active Worker

Mrs. F. Louis Slade, former regional director of the League of Women Voters, has been made leader of the Women's Advisory Committee for the Hoover-Curtis ticket. She plans a widespread appeal to housewives. She reports that tremendous impetus is being given the Hoover campaign by women and women's organizations. Thousands of women who have not voted before are expected to come out and vote the Republican ticket this year.

Kansan Tells of Early Days On West Branch Farm Where Hoover Was Born

E. D. King Recalls Life in Quaint Quaker Settlement in Iowa—Lived With Candidate's Family.

E. D. King, 1216 Richmond Street, Kansas City, Kansas, has many interesting incidents to relate about the Hoover family, having himself lived in the Hoover home in West Branch, Iowa, at the time Herbert Hoover was born.

Mr. King was working for Herbert's father in the blacksmith shop at the time. It was he who went for the doctor when Herbert was born. Mr. King ate his meals with the Hoover family.

West Branch was at that time a town of about 400 population. It had two blacksmith shops, one hotel, a livery stable, four general stores, and a restaurant. It is located in Cedar County, where broad Quaker hats and poke bonnets were worn for almost a generation. Cedar county was on the western edge of the original Black Hawk Purchase which was the nucleus of the State of Iowa. Here farms bordered rougher land of hill and ravine.

According to Mr. King, Hoover was a respected name in Iowa. The family originated in Holland, but has been represented in the United States for nearly two centuries. Andrew Hoover and two brothers, about 1740, obtained land in the uplands of Maryland. Later Andrew's son, John, joined a group of Quakers and moved to the Western Reserve in Ohio.

It was in 1853 that the son of John, Jesse Hoover, Rebecca, his wife, and Eli, their son, and his three children moved farther West, helping to found the town of West Branch. The King family settled there the same year, and both families lived in log cabins for a while, later building better houses. Buffalo and deer were quite common in the vicinity at that time.

Herbert Hoover was only six years only when his father died. His mother did sewing and other kinds of work to support her children. She also took a prominent part in Quaker meetings and was invited to speak in other towns and cities. After she died Herbert and the two other children were cared for by relatives. Herbert went to live with his Uncle Allan and Aunt Millie. This Aunt Millie was, before her marriage, Myra Gifford, a first cousin of Mr. King.

Mr. King left West Branch to go on a farm in western Iowa. He later farmed in Oskaloosa, Kansas. In 1893 he came to Kansas City where he was engaged in the real estate business for some time. He is now employed in a furniture store in Kansas City, Kansas.

HOOVERISMS

The Presidency is more than executive responsibility. It has the inspiring symbol of all that is highest in America's purposes and ideals.

The tie between the child and all adult life is at once the strongest and the gentlest element in human nature.

The greatest government experiment in human history was universal free education at public expense—and it has been successful.

If democracy is to secure its authorities in morals, religion, statesmanship, it must stimulate leadership from its own mass.

PAUL PREACHING IN THESSALONICA AND BEREA

LESSON TEXT—Acts 17:1-15; I Thess. 5:12-23; Romans 15:18-20.

GOLDEN TEXT—The entrance of thy words giveth light.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul Finds New Friends and Foes.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul Finds New Friends and Foes.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Paul's Use of the Scriptures.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Paul, Organizer of Churches.

I. Preaching in Thessalonica (Acts 17:1-10).

His method (vv. 1, 2).

He observed the divine order, "to the Jew first," but whenever they proved themselves unworthy he turned to the Gentiles. He went out on the Sabbath day so as to find them assembled together.

2. His message (v. 3).

It was that Jesus is the Christ. In order to prove that Jesus is the Christ, he expounded unto them the Scriptures. Concerning Christ he set forth three propositions:

(1) "That Christ must needs have suffered" (v. 3).

The suffering Christ was not welcomed by the Jews (Isa. 53). They were looking for a Messiah of a different type.

(2) "Risen from the dead" (v. 3).

This He proved by the Scriptures. The resurrection of Christ and the bodily resurrection of believers need sound and practical exposition today.

(3) "That this Jesus, whom I preach unto you, is Christ."

He declared that the historic Jesus whom he had proclaimed had suffered and risen from the dead, therefore He is the predicted Messiah.

3. The attitude of the Jews toward his preaching (vv. 4-10).

While some Jews believed and many Greeks, the envy of certain Jews was so aroused at Paul's success that they gathered together the worthless fellows of the town and created a riot. They turned the preaching of Paul into a specious lie. He preached the kingship of Jesus (v. 7). Jesus is most assuredly coming to reign on this earth.

II. What He Preached at Thessalonica (I Thess. 5:13-20).

He corrected certain doctrinal errors which had crept into the church.

1. They were not to sorrow unduly (v. 13).

Because they failed to understand the meaning of Paul's preaching concerning the coming of the Lord they were indulging in excessive sorrow. They seemed to think that their loved ones who had died would miss the blessings and glory connected with the return of the Lord.

2. The events associated with the Lord's coming (vv. 13-18).

In this section he gives the reasons why they were not to allow themselves to be overwhelmed with grief.

(1) The departed saints will come back when Jesus comes (v. 14).

Immediately following the death of believers their spirits go to be with the Lord where they remain in the state of blessedness until the Lord shall return to this earth, bringing them with Him.

(2) The bodies of the dead in Christ shall come from the grave (v. 16).

When the Lord comes there will be a real resurrection of the dead in Christ, before the change of the bodies of living believers.

(3) Living believers will be caught up together with those who have been resurrected (v. 17).

3. The time of the Lord's coming is unknown (5:1-11). We are commanded to be ready, to watch.

III. Paul Preaching in Berea (Acts 17:10-15).

1. His method (v. 10).

He entered the Jewish synagogue and preached Christ.

2. The reception of the Gospel by the Bereans (vv. 11, 12).

(1) They received the message gladly.

(2) They searched the Scriptures daily for the truthfulness of the message which they had heard.

3. The wicked action of the Jews (vv. 13-15).

Wicked Jews from Thessalonica followed the missionaries and stirred up the people against them, making it necessary for them again to flee.

IV. Paul's Manner of Preaching (Rom. 15:18-20).

Wherever he went in the Gentile world he preached salvation through faith in Christ. God accompanied his ministry with mighty signs and wonders, with the object of making the Gentiles obedient to the Gospel. Paul's aim was to preach in new fields so as not to build on the foundation of another.

Jesus and Preaching

Jesus chose preaching as the method of extending the knowledge of Himself throughout the world. He taught His truth to a few men, and then He said, "Now go and tell that truth to other men."—Phillips Brooks.

At the Door

"Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: If any man hear My voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with Me."—Rev. 3:20.

EXTRA WRONG FONTS

By Scoop

Startling Revelation.

Some startling bit of news has just been exposed by Col. Jeems Bell, who has kept the secret in the dark recesses of his heart for at least two years, and kept hid the pictures that would have revealed part of the story.

Of course, everyone, including Scoop, knows that the law requires candidates to file a report of all expenditures. Not knowing with whom to file his papers, when Bill Casteel ran for Sheriff two years ago, he filed them with the Col., thinking that such a responsible man should know what to do with them.

The Col. however, kept them hidden until last Monday when the Sheriff tried to pull some funny stuff at Bell's studio. The Col. was merely taking a flashlight picture of a wedding group, but the smoke grew so thick that the sheriff thought he was making some home brew and came near arresting him on distinction. The Col. got mad and gave Scoop the Sheriff's filing papers and a picture of him during the campaign. If good for nothing else, it at least is a truthful account of what Bill suffered and what the "cost" was.

Here It is.

"Lost 1,349 hours of sleep thinking about the election. Lost two front teeth and a lot of hair in a personal encounter with an opponent. Donated one beef, four shoats and five sheep to county barbeques. Gave away two pairs suspenders, four calico dresses, $5 in cash and 15 baby rattles.

"Kissed 126 babies. Put up four stoves. Kindled 14 fires. Walked 4,076 miles. Shook hands with 9,580 people. Told 10,101 lies and talked enough to make in print 1,000 volumes.

"Attended 16 revivals and was baptized four times by immersion and twice by other ways. Contributed $50 to foreign missions and made love to nine widows—five grass and four sod.

"Hugged 40 old maids. Got dog-bit 39 times and was elected by 353 majority."

Telling One of the 10,101

* * *

Anyone can see the lasting result of the foregoing by calling at the house of forcible detention just on the hill from the court house. You will probably find him surrounded by innumerable weapons and relics of by-gone days, second floor, turn to your right at the entrance. And Don't Shoot!

Woman Hung!

Around the neck of her husband, begging him to take her to the Knights of Pythias picnic on Labor Day. (You're right. This isn't original with Scoop but came to him from Harry Stemple, direct.)

* * *

Why Scoop is for Hoover

Because his middle name is Herbert.

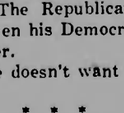
Because he doesn't like the name of AL cohol Smith.

Because he values his job, as columnist for The Republican paper.

Because even his Democratic father is for Hoover.

Because he doesn't want to lose his vote.

* * *



Another One Spoiled.

Scoop and the Col. had decided to go the New York Daily Mirror one better this week and give the Republican's readers the real outside story about the nude negro who was found along the shores of Deep Creek Lake last week, wandering about with his birthday suit on and seemingly enjoying it.

As soon as his presence was discovered Col. Bell gathered his accessories together for the masterpiece which would startle the entire county into subscribing for The Republican. He took the picture as the negro was gamboling on the green near "Gindale" bridge and brought it to Oakland for the exposure.

But somebody exposed its presence and the Ladies' Aid, the Woman's Physique Club, and Judson Loar, official censor for Bernard Gonder, theatre manager, and after cutting out all improperties, these parties turned the remains over to Scoop, so that a cut could be made of it.

The foregoing was taken just before Andy Miller applied the overalls.

* * *

It Happened at Hoyes.

Blame this one on Cecil Smith. Although he didn't give it to Scoop, Scoop would much rather the blame was put on someone other than himself.

Two farmers, Ham Friend and Joe Keller, met in Aubrey Brenneman's store.

Ham—"I've got a mule with distemper. What'd you give that one of yours when he had it?"

Joe—"Turpentine."

A week later they met again.

"Say, Joe, I gave my mule turpentine and it died."

Joe—"Killed mine, too."

"Why the devil (could be stronger) didn't you say so?"

"Why the devil (no milder) didn't you ask me."

THE INEXHAUSTIBLE CHRIST.

How strange that a man who lived two thousand years ago in a little primitive community should have outlined a philosophy of life which not only suited the crude world in which He lived but has also proved to be adequate for the highly civilized and vastly different world in which we live.

How curious that a peasant Carpenter who labored at His trade in remote ages should have so lived that His life is the perfect pattern for all other lives in all other ages.

The teachings of Christ have an eternal quality which makes them contemporary with every age. The gospel of Christ has a perennial vitality which adapts it to revolutionary changes of environment which sweep all other things away. The character of Christ has a universal appeal to all men however they may differ from each other. The personality of Christ transcends every human dividing line.

There is the sex line which, with sharp cleavage, separates us into two clearly defined groups, which are sometimes more or less hostile to each other, and always more or less unintelligible, because fundamentally different.

And yet, strange as it may seem, both man and woman find in Christ a perfect ideal and example. Women find in Him incomparable gentleness, sympathy, fine discernment, exquisite beauty of character. Men are attracted by His strength, His courage, His unflinching, unfaltering carrying through of a program that meant torture and death by the fiery blaze of righteous indignation that could flash at times from His eyes and cause the robbers in the temple to tremble and flee from His presence.

There is the sex line; and more serious still the color line, the line which divides mankind into races—white, black, yellow.

We are told that these races originally came from the same source. But millenia of years ago they separated: one went east, one west, one south. During the long subsequent ages each race, reacting to a different environment, developed a peculiar character of its own. Until, in these latter days, when they are brought into contact, they cannot understand each other's ways, nor adjust themselves to each other's idiosyncrasies, and we have the race problem—the most ominous cloud that darkens the future of the world.

But there is one ray of hope breaking through this dark cloud. In spite of the apparently unbridgable chasm that yawns between them, these antagonistic races find in Christ a common meeting ground. Such is the universal quality of the Master's personality that men everywhere, of whatever race or language or age or temperament, when brought face to face with Him, bow in reverence, acknowledge in Him their ideal, and find in Him the answer to their most perplexing questions, the fulfilment of their deepest needs.

ANNULMENT OF MARRIAGE IS ASKED BY CHILD WIFE

Says She Wed Cripple Without Due Reflection and That Her Age Was Misrepresented.

Several new angles to the marital difficulties of John Albert Hostutler and his child wife were revealed last Friday at Morgantown, West Va., when Judge I. Grant Lazzelle was called upon to act on the writ of habeas corpus he had issued earlier in the week directing John Robey to produce the body of his daughter, Mrs. John Hostutler, in court and explain why he is restraining her from returning to her husband.

Mr. Robey is said to have detained his daughter at his home after the couple had come to Oakland on August 20 where they secured a marriage license and were lawfully wed by Rev. William Anderson, of Mountain Lake Park, at the residence of Rev. Baggett in Oakland during the latter's absence from town.

Primarily, it was revealed that immediately after the writ was granted to Hostutler and against his wife's father on petition presented by his attorney, Robey had released his daughter and she had gone to a local hotel where she remained until the habeas corpus hearing was called by the court on Friday. Thus there was no real necessity for the hearing since the father had already permitted his daughter to leave home.

But in the meantime, Mrs. Hostutler had entered a new proceeding before Judge Lazelle. It is a cause in chancery in which the petitioner, Mrs. Hostutler, sues to have her marriage with Hostutler set aside and annulled.

Hostutler Is Cripple.

It was revealed in the bill filed by Mrs. Hostutler and also by Hostutler when he came before the court on Friday to press the suit against Robey that he (Hostutler) is a hopeless cripple, brought about by an attack of infantile paralysis which he suffered in his youth and that he is able to walk only on his hands and has no use of his legs or of his feet as a means of walking or of moving from place to place.

It is also set out in the bill filed by Mrs. Hostutler that her husband is totally dependent on public charity for support and that he is unable to care properly for a wife. The bill also recites that Mrs. Hostutler is not yet 18 years old; that she was led into marriage without due thought and reflection; that fraud was committed when her age was given as being over 18 at the time the marriage license was procured in Oakland, and that this deception in itself is sufficient grounds for an annulment of the marriage.

At the hearing on Friday before Judge Lazelle it was agreed that Mrs. Hostutler should return to her father's home and that no effort would be made to establish that she is being restrained from returning to her husband but is acting on her own volition and choice.

Dairymen Getting Ready.

The farm of Messrs. H. V. Leighton and B. F. Shaffer, near Mountain Lake Park, had a boiler and sterilizer added to its equipment on Wednesday. This has been done preparatory to the shipping of milk to Washington, D. C. The farm will be ready for inspection by the health authorities of Washington in a short time and as soon as this is done the shipping of milk to the Nation's capital will begin.

Mr. M. C. Miller, of Thayerville, who is also engaged in the dairy business, has purchased one purebred Jersey bull calf and three Jersey heifers, one of which took a prize at the Wood county (W. Va.) fair.

Several farmers in the Accident district are also reported by Mr. Haller, of the Oakland Creamery Company, as having made great improvements on their barns so as to facilitate the sanitary handling of their milk.

PARALYSIS PATIENTS ARE IMPROVING, SAYS OFFICER

Only One Additional Case Reported During Present Week

"All cases of children suffering from infantile paralysis are improving nicely," Dr. H. W. McComas, the county health officer, stated this morning. "Only one more case was reported during the past week, a girl 4 years old, and she was rushed to Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, by automobile. It is practically certain that no bad effects will result as she has been given the serum and a report this morning states that she is feeling fine."

"It is now reasonable to assume that the disease is well under control in Garrett county," Dr. McComas added. It was pointed out on a diagram that the State was never entirely free of infantile paralysis and that now indications pointed to the average mark upon the scale for the present month.

RED HOUSE, ON TURNPIKE, HAS VERY UNIQUE HISTORY

Has Been a Red House at Road Crossing Since before Civil War

Among the many interesting places along the newly-opened Northwestern Turnpike is Red House, eight miles south of Oakland at the intersection of the Oakland-Thomas highway with the historic old route. Red House has had a rather unique history in that there has been a red house at the crossing since before the Civil War, and the footsteps of thousands of soldiers marching on the turnpike have echoed against the boards of the Red House of that period, which is the same red house that stands there today.

Long before the blaze of Civil War first began to lick the very foundations of our country, some one built a tavern on the present site of Red House. It was large for a structure of that day, and it covered at least four times as much ground as the present Red House and probably had the measurements of 100 by 200 feet, with two stories. There were two hundred acres of ground in the farm which went with the tavern. The first owner painted the house a glowing red and called his tavern Red House.

Just before the Civil War a German named Swartzentruber owned the place. After the war broke out he couldn't have sold it if he had wanted to, and he had to keep the tavern operating all during the period of the war. This man was Amish and he wore a beard to his waist, holding a religious belief that one could not marry unless he had a luxurious adornment of this character.

Swartzentruber had a hard life during the war, for every army which chanced to come his way overran the tavern and camped in it. He probably lost a small fortune because of this and because also that no one wanted to stay in the vicinity under such conditions. He sold the building and land as soon as war ended to Christopher Martin and Martin tore down the tavern and built the present dwelling out of the same boards. Some thirty-five years ago Martin sold the house to William H. Knepp, who has lived in the structure ever since that time.

Benj. F. Knepp, a son of William, now operates a modern and excellently equipped service station and store just across the roadway from the Red House.

About fifteen years ago a man named Henry Male, who was quite well known around Oakland, and who knew the historic importance of Red House, was passing through the country and he saw with alarm that the paint of the house had become so badly dulled as to show no evidence of ever having been red. He stopped at the house and made a generous offer to send Mr. Knepp enough red paint to repaint the house in its original color. He kept his promise, and when the paint came the house soon appeared in a coat of brilliant red, impressing the mind of the traveler with its warmness as the red of the old tavern had carried a message of hospitality to the weary hearts of those who traveled the ancient highway of highways in search of adventure or who traveled it in the rough-riding stage coach on matters of business.—Preston County Journal.

Miss Bertie Lawton, of the Coffman-Fisher store, is spending a vacation period in Washington, D. C., and at Cleveland, Ohio. Miss Lawton will return to Oakland on September 15th.

COUNCIL TO STAND PAT ON "SOLICITING" ORDINANCE

Law Passed at Last Regular Meeting of Body To Be Strictly Enforced, Mayor Says.

In answer to inquiries made at the regular monthly meeting of the Mayor and City Council on Tuesday night at the City Hall relative to the enforcement or non-enforcement of the ordinance prohibiting the solicitation by any person in lending assistance in securing a marriage license or in securing the services of a minister to perform the marriage ceremony, Council stated that it would stand "pat" on its decision at the time the law was passed and that the ordinance would be enforced to the letter.

The ordinance was passed at the August 6th meeting of Council and since then there have been many favorable comments and some few complaints, the latter coming chiefly from the "solicitors" who were put out of business with the enactment of the ordinance. Those complaining against the law were told to appear before Council at its last meeting, which they did, with the result above stated.

To Complete Street Improvement

A representative of the Amasite Company arrived in Oakland this morning and will superintend the work of top dressing the block on Alder street between Third and Fourth streets. Third street between Oak street and the Youghiogheny river bridge, is also expected to be completed some time during the present week according to Mayor Fraley.

Letter to Mr. Mackall

Council directed that a letter be addressed to Chairman John N. Mackall of the State Roads Commission, asking the commission to complete the paving of Third and Oak streets and to build concrete shoulders on both these thoroughfares. The work will be done next spring should Council's request receive favorable consideration.

Routine business occupied the remainder of the session of Council. The next regular meeting will be held on October 1.

Youth Suffers Wound From .22 Calibre Rifle Shot.

Scott Shreve, Jr., a youth of about 15 years of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Shreve, of Oakland, was accidentally shot with a .22 rifle bullet on Saturday afternoon as he and Bobby Altstetter were shooting at a mark in front of the wounded lad's home.

The bullet entered the boy's leg in the region of his thigh and lodged against the pelvis bone. Dr. McComas made a picture of the leg and located the bullet and it is said that his condition is satisfactory and that he will recover within a very short time.

Each of the boys had a .22-calibre rifle and according to Bobby Altstetter he dropped the butt of his rifle to the ground when the impact caused it to fire.

Released Because of Insufficient Evidence.

Jacob Keefer, of near Herrington, this county, who was arrested on Friday by Thomas Seymour, constable, on a charge of incest, was released after a hearing before Justice W. A. Gonder yesterday afternoon because of insufficient evidence to hold the prisoner.

The case was transferred at the last minute from Justice A. S. Teat's court to that of Justice Gonder. The man's 24-year old daughter Blanche was the complaining witness and had preferred the charge against her parent, and who was alleged to have told Constable Seymour the particulars of the matter, would say nothing at the hearing to implicate her father.

SHEEP SPECIAL TO MAKE TWO STOPS IN THIS COUNTY

Will Demonstrate Best Methods of Controlling Stomach and Other Serious Diseases

Due to the prevalence of stomach worms in sheep, which is reported to be killing quite a number of animals in Maryland, a Sheep Improvement Special will be in Swanton and Oakland on Wednesday, October 3, according to J. L. McGlone, the County Agent.

The improvement special is being sent to six towns in Maryland between Aberdeen and Oakland, and Garrett county is the only county in which two stops are to be made. The train will be in the Baltimore and Ohio railroad yards in Oakland on Wednesday morning at eight o'clock and will be at Swanton at two o'clock the same day, October 3.

A sheep will be killed and posted at each stop to show where to look for stomach worms, tape worms, nodular diseases, etc.; what they look like and also the best method for controlling each, it was stated. During a recent sheep survey in Garrett county it was found that 95 per cent of the animals that died had stomach worms, and it is with the idea of minimizing these causes of deaths among the animals that the special is being sent out to the various Maryland towns.

There will also be moving picture exhibits and demonstrations during the special's short stay in the county, and all who are interested in sheep raising are requested to be present. "I am sure that great benefits will be derived from the information received as a result of the visit of this train and the knowledge to be gleaned from the demonstrations and talks to be given upon the subject of sheep by the specialists who will be in charge and who will be interested in giving all the information at hand on the subject," Mr. McGlone said.

The improvement train is being sent out in cooperation with the University of Maryland Extension Department, which is operated under U. S. Government supervision, and by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad with O. K. Quivey, general agricultural agent of the railroad in charge.

TEACHERS' MEETING ENDS AND SCHOOLS ARE OPENED

Many Vital Problems Taken Up At Two-day Conference

Garrett county public schools opened this morning following the Teachers' annual meeting on Tuesday and Wednesday, in preparation for the ensuing term. St. Peter's Parochial school, Oakland, will open on Monday, September 10.

During the two day sessions of the teachers, the mornings were taken up with general administrative features conducted by the County Superintendent, and the afternoons with discussions conducted by the four supervising, and helping teachers.

Mr. Whiteside, of the Curtis Publishing company, Philadelphia, was present and spoke on the furtherance of reading in the home, dwelling especially on the Saturday Evening Post, the Ladies' Home Journal, etc. He mentioned that each school child who sold a subscription for one of the magazines got fifty cents for the school.

Thomas L. Gibson, of the State department, was present and spoke on music and school attendance. Dr. J. S. Bowen, deputy State and Baltimore county health officers, spoke on the care and prevention of contagious and infectious diseases.

CREAMERY TO GIVE CALF AS SPECIAL FAIR PREMIUM

Company, Through J. H. Randolph, To Present Purebred to Exhibitor Best Dairy Cow

A purebred registered Jersey calf will be given as a special premium by the Imperial Ice Cream Company to the person exhibiting the best dairy cow at the twelfth annual Garrett County Fair to be held in Oakland on September 25, 26, 27, and 28, has been announced by Henry M. Speicher, general manager of the Fair Association.

The calf is to be presented by Mr. J. H. Randolph, of Parkersbrug, general manager of the company, through the local creamery company. The prize calf will come from the stock farm of S. B. Tallman, of Washington Bottom, West Va., who is recognized as one of the most successful and best breeders of Jersey cattle east of the Mississippi river, according to Mr. E. Stanley Haller, field representative of the Imperial Company.

"It is possible that the calf will arrive on Sunday," Mr. Haller said, "and will in all probability be exhibited at the creamery until the fair opens."

Other Premiums.

Many other special prizes are being offered by business men and also by professional men of Oakland and vicinity, all of which will be found in the premium list and catalog, which is being distributed this week by the general manager.

"An inspection of the Fair catalog will show the people the great number of exhibits for which premiums are being offered this year," Mr. Speicher pointed out. "These premium lists may be obtained either from me or at the office of The Republican, where the book was printed."

Minstrel Added to Attractions

During the past few days Mr. Speicher has been notified that the Twentieth Century Shows, which aggregation had signed a contract to appear during the Fair, have added a first-class minstrel show to the collection of attractions and that they are prepared to offer one of the greatest entertainments seen here in a long time.

There will be eight or ten good shows and three or four riding devices including airplane swing, merry-go-round, ferris wheel, and probably a whip.

The Parentos company will furnish the free acts which will consist of acrobatics and high diving and will give two shows daily, 36 minutes each time.

Committees Are Busy.

All four committees assigned to have charge of the different days of the Fair have been busy making arrangements for their particular days. There will be a street parade each day of the celebration, which includes an automobile parade, school parade, business men's parade and the Garrett county farmer's parade.

Labor Day Passes Quietly In Oakland.

Labor Day, Monday, September 3, passed quietly in Oakland, due to the postponement of the annual Labor Day picnic under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias lodge.

Those seeking entertainment were compelled to go to other sections and the rest of the people remained in or near Oakland. It is estimated that upwards of three thousand persons were present at the trainmen's picnic and outing held at The Pines, just west of the Maryland-West Virginia State line. Entertainment there consisted of round and square dancing, music and various games and outdoor sports.

FORT McHENRY'S HISTORY FROM 1776 TO 1814

Fort McHenry overlooking the entrance to Baltimore's harbor.

From this entrance to Fort McHenry workman can be seen reconstructing the quarters for dedication September 12.

Francis Scott Key Immortalized Fortress In His "Star-Spangled Banner," Which He Wrote At Time of Attack by British Fleet.

Fort McHenry, being restored as of 1814, will be rededicated as a national shrine September 12

By JAMES E. HANCOCK,
Chairman, Committee for the Restoration of Fort McHenry.

Reprinted by courtesy of the Baltimore Sunday Sun, Sept. 2.

IN March, 1776, the people of Baltimore were alarmed by the news that the British warship Otter was in the Chesapeake Bay. Earthworks were thrown up and a few cannons were mounted on Whetstone Point. A boom was thrown across the channel, between that point and the Lazaretto, to prevent the entry of the Otter into our harbor. This was the beginning of Fort McHenry.

Baltimore at that time was a small town of less than one hundred houses, and was just beginning to take on a commercial aspect. Its advantages as a port began to attract attention shortly after the Revolution and by 1910 the population had increased to such an extent that Baltimore had become the third largest city in the Union.

Defenses Strengthened.

In 1794, when war with France seemed imminent, the defenses at Whetstone Point were ordered to be repaired and enlarged. The improved fortification was designed by J. J. Ulrich Rivardi, a French artillery engineer, who had come to this country during the Revolution, and the plans included the star redoubt bastion fort with upper and lower batteries.

The first deed of transfer of property for this fortification was from Alexander Furnival, who on July 20, 1795, conveyed to the United States Government seven acres and fifty-eight perches. This was followed by two deeds from William Goodman, for a similar purpose, dated November 6, 1798, and August 26, 1800, conveying thirteen acres three rods and twenty-five perches, and another from William O'Donnell, dated January 4, 1804, conveying five acres. It will be seen that this fort, which was named for James McHenry, of Baltimore, who was appointed Secretary of War in 1798 and who had been a secretary to General Washington during the Revolution, contained twenty-six and one-quarter acres at the time of the War of 1812.

U. S. Given Jurisdiction.

Jurisdiction over this reservation was ceded to the United States Government by act of the Maryland Legislature, January 30, 1816. Between September 10, 1836, and November 16, 1838, three other deeds were recorded, conveying an additional twenty-six and one-half acres, making fifty-two and three-quarter acres in the enlarged reservation; and jurisdiction over this was assumed by the Government under a similar act of the Maryland Legislature passed March 28, 1834.

It was an unusual period in the world's affairs. The United States had only recently set up a new Constitution which proclaimed opportunities and advantages for the individual that were not permitted by any other government. On the other side of the Atlantic the French Revolution had occurred, and this had incited the antagonism of the other governments of Europe in their effort to maintain their old social order. While America was striving for peace and social reorganization, all of Europe was aflame with war and the growing trade of America with the rest of the world was restricted by British Orders of Council and French Imperial Decrees. We were forbidden by either nation to trade with the other and her allies.

Nation On Fence

There was a strong element in this country which favored England because of natural blood ties, and another that favored France because of the help that she had given us during our Revolution. While Washington lived he taught and encouraged the idea that America must be an independent nation, free from all foreign entanglements; but Washington died in 1799, and althought the several Presidents who followed him were undoubted patriots, none of them had the confidence of the people that Washington had enjoyed, nor his strength of character and his keen insight into national affairs.

Great Britain saw her opportunity to demoralize our Government and attempted, through her emissaries, to create discord between New England and the Southern States. She had never given up the hope of regaining her lost colonies. She was mistress of the seas and her navy hovered along our coast and seized our shipping in her efforts to prevent our trade with France and the West Indies. In her demands for seamen for her fleets, she boarded our vessels and impressed American sailors into her service, even boarding the vessels of our navy and taking off enlisted men, and it might be interesting to know that the first vessel of our navy which she held up for this purpose was the sloop of war Baltimore.

Our people became provoked over Britain's unjust activities, and in his attempt to solve this international problem Thomas Jefferson imposed the embargo act as an effort to avoid war. Its restrictions were so contrary to human nature that it was openly broken, until after fourteen months of hardship on the American trade it was repealed. Jefferson's policy of non-aggression not only proved a failure but it encouraged England to deny our rights, and because of her tyrannical impositions Congress was compelled to protect our dignity by declaring war on Great Britain on June 18, 1812.

The American Treasury was almost empty. We had but seven vessels in our navy and about 5,000 men in our army. Yet America, with this small force, declared war against the richest nation on earth, which had at its disposal thousands of ships and corps of trained veterans. We had to construct an army out of our militia, as we had to do when we declared war on Germany, and we supplemented our seven frigates with armed private vessels.

Baltimore Did Share.

Baltimore took the lead in this and in the first four months of the war we sent to sea forty-two privateersmen to harass British shipping. It is a matter of record that many of these privateersmen went to the English coast and even entered the Irish and English channels and seized her shipping, capturing over 250 English vessels with many guns and several million dollars' worth of merchandise. Baltimore's activities in the first year of the war marked her with England's disfavor, and in their efforts to blockade the Chesapeake the British established headquarters on Tangier Island and other places on the bay from whence she exacted tribute of our people.

In April, 1813, the British fleet appeared at the mouth of the Patapsco and the people of Baltimore began to realize their danger. No money for defense was available from the Federal Government. Our militia was called out and the City Council of Baltimore appropriated $20,000 for constructing our defenses, while the citizens of Baltimore subscribed $500,000 and ordered every ablebodied citizen who was not under arms to report with pickaxes, shovels, wheelbarrows, etc., for duty in constructing earthworks, which were thrown up around the city.

At Patterson Park one may still see part of the old intrenchments that were thrown up from the water line around what is now Greenmount Cemetery. Fort McHenry was further strengthened by the heavy guns of the French frigate La Poursivante, which had come to Despeaux's shipyard for repairs after her fight with the British frigate Hercules and had been interned under the Act of 1794, which was one of Washington's wise provisions to keep us out of war between England and France.

Found Reports True.

The British admiral sent up a flag of truce under pretext of forwarding a letter to the Secretary of State, but he was evidently seeking information about Baltimore's defenses. The officer in charge of the flag of truce was detained by one of our barges about four miles from the city, and when he learned that the report was true that the people of Baltimore had mounted these extra guns at Fort McHenry it evidently persuaded Admiral Cockburn to change his plans to attack the city at that time, because his fleet sailed up the bay, where they took Havre de Grace, occupied Spesutia Island and sacked Fredericktown and Georgetown, on the Sassafras river.

The British stayed in the upper part of the Chesapeake all summer, landing at St. Michaels and at other places on the Eastern Shore and menacing Annapolis. From another encampment near Point Lookout they ravaged the Potomac and the Patuxent sections until the whole bay was under their control.

On August 8 fifteen of their vessels moved up in sight of Baltimore and prepared for an attack, but when they saw that the fortification around the city were properly manned it discouraged them and in a few days the fleet again moved off and occupied Kent Island, from which place they marauded the Eastern Shore and Anne Arundel county. In November the most of this fleet left for Bermuda to be repaired, returning in the spring of 1814 with reinforcements.

Although the British fleets had been blockading the Chesapeake and ravaging its shores almost within sight of the City of Washington, there were on June 1, 1814, but 2,208 soldiers of the regular army in the whole district from Norfolk to Baltimare. On July 2 the Tenth Military district was formed, consisting of the State of Maryland, the District of Columbia and that part of Virginia lying between the Rapahannock and the Potomac. On July 9, General Winder, commanding that district, whose entire force of regular troops was between 700 and 800 men, suggested that 4,000 militia should be called out, 2,000 of whom should be stationed between the South river and Washington, and 2,000 in the vicinity of Baltimore.

On August 20 General Winder's suggestion was approved, and on that same day the British fleet, accompanied by their new troops from the war in France—Wellington's Invincibles—ascended the Patuxent and forced Barney to burn his fleet. They disembarked at Pig Point and moved on to Upper Marlborough, and at daylight on August 24 General Ross began his advance on Bladensburg, where the Washington troops were joined by 2,000 volunteers from Baltimore.

Americans Routed.

The morning report of this recently organized American army consisted of 400 regular troops, 500 marines and 4,000 militia, and when the fight occurred the Americans were routed in the presence of the President and his Cabinet. Bladensburg decided the fate of the Capitol at Washington, which was burned and the President forced to flee. After several days the British returned to their ships and sailed for Baltimore, appearing at the mouth of the Patapsco on the morning of September 11.

They attempted to make a landing at Bodkin Point, evidently to attack Baltimore from the south and the rear, but a battalion of the Twenty-second Regiment (Anne Arundel county) fired on their boats from behind the trees on the bluff and they withdrew and crossed over to North Point, on the opposite side of the river. Here their army was disembarked on the morning of September 12 and began its march up the North Point road while their fleet come up the Patapsco to bombard our fortifications.

Plans Frustrated.

Beginning with April, 1813, the citizens of Baltimore had worked tirelessly to perfect its defenses—a period of preparations that proved to be our salvation—and when General Stricker learned that the British had landed at North Point he sent the fifty-Sixth, Twenty-seventh, Thirty-ninth and Fifty-first Regiments to meet them at the narrowest part of the peninsula at a point between the head waters of Bear creek and Back river. Here General Ross was killed, the advance was checked and the proposed plan of the British to make a juncture of their fleet and their army before Baltimore was frustrated.

That evening the British army returned to their transports and the fleet, which had moved up the river and taken its position, began the bombardment of Fort McHenry. The entrance to the harbor had been closed by boats that had been sunk in the channel and a heavy iron chain had been stretched from the Lazaretto to the fort. Our troops fell back to protect the defenses around the water front. At daylight on the morning of September 13 the British fleet opened fire on Fort McHenry, which they bombarded until 7 o'clock on the morning of September 14, when they stopped firing and began to drop down the river and got under way.

Surprise Attack Fails

Before daylight on the morning of September 14 the enemy attempted a surprise attack from the rear by sending a regiment of men in boats up the main branch of the Patapsco between the fort and what is now Wagner's Point, but Captain Hancock's company of the Twenty-second Regiment, which was patrolling that position, heard their muffled oars and lighted a hayrick, which threw them in full view of six-gun battery and Fort Covington, further up the river. The terrible crossfire from these batteries sunk a number of their boats and they were forced to return to their ships.

When the British army was in camp at Upper Marlboro preparing for its attack on Washington, Admiral Cockburn had made his headquarters at the house of Dr. Beanes, the leading physician of that town, under agreeable conditions of mutual courtesy, but when their army had returned to their ships from the pillage of Washington, small groups of stragglers began to appear, who plundered homes as they went. Dr. Beanes put himself at the head of a small body of citizens, who pursued and arrested some of them, and when this news was conveyed to the English commander a detachment was sent up to release the prisoners and to arrest Dr. Beanes. Francis Scott Key, personal friend of Dr. Beanes, hearing of this, obtained permission from the President to intercede for Dr. Beanes.

Held During Attack.

Key was instructed to go to Baltimore and report to John S. Skinner, the Government agent for flags of truce, who was ordered to accompany Key. They sailed down the bay and found the British fleet off the mouth of the Potomac river preparing for the expedition against Baltimore. Explaining his mission, Key made a strong plea for Dr. Beanes and told of the care and attention that had been given to the English wounded until the British commander relented and promised that they would release him after the attack on Baltimore, but in the meantime neither he nor Dr. Beanes would be permitted to leave the fleet. They were quartered on the frigate Surprise, which was commanded by Sir Thomas Cockrane, a son of the fleet commander, and the British sailed for Baltimore.

Arriving at the mouth of the Patapsco, Admiral Cockrane shifted his flag to the Surprise in order that he might be able to move farther up the river to superintend the attack on Fort McHenry, and Key and Dr. Beanes were sent back on board their own vessel accompanied by a guard of marines to keep them from landing.

Key Wrote Song.

They were fortunately placed in a position where they could see the flag of Fort McHenry from the deck of their vessel, and Key remained on deck during the whole bombardment, watching every shell as it fell. While the bombardment continued, he knew that the fort withstood the attack, but suddenly the bombardment was stopped by the British who feared that they might hit their men who were attempting to pass the fort to make the attack from the rear, and he wondered if the fort had surrendered. When the dawn broke he was pacing the deck and was relieved to find that "Our flag was still there." During the exultation of the moment Key wrote "The Star Spangled Banner" and when the British withdrew they were informed that they could leave. Key returned to Baltimore, where the song was immediately put to music.

For two years the American Army had been on the defensive. The campaigns in the North had been dismal failures. The only bright spot in the war had been the success of our small navy, which, with our privateersmen, had crippled the British marine. In less than two years this new navy had captured 56 men-o-war carrying 886 cannons, and thousands of prisoners. England's boast that Britannia ruled the waves had been humiliated and, with her defeat at North Point and Fort McHenry, they soon arranged for the treaty of peace which was signed at Ghent on December 24, 1814.

Later Garrison Post.

Fort McHenry was a garrison post during the war with Mexico where men were enlisted and prepared for active service. In the Civil War it performed the same function, and many prisoners were confined there, especially after the battle of Gettysburg, when large numbers of wounded men were brought to the fort. Its officers examined and inducted the Maryland National Guard into the Federal Volunteer service during the Spanish-American War and the Sixth United States Artillery, which garrisoned the post, was one of the first regiments to reach Cuba. One of the largest military hospitals in the country was built on the reservation during the World War and this was maintained for several years thereafter, caring for thousands of wounded and otherwise disabled soldiers, until it was finally evacuated.

The art of war has been changed by modern implements and high power explosives, until the usefulness of old Fort McHenry has passed as a fortification. It is being restored as it was during its bombardment, September 13 and 14, 1814, and its glory will still live as a national shrine—the birthplace of "The Star Spangled Banner" and the defense of Baltimore, the only large city on our Atlantic Coast over which the enemy's flag has never flown.

A FARM BOY WILL TACKLE THE FARM PROBLEM.

Herbert Hoover chuckles audibly as he digs up reminiscences of an earlier Iowa in his speech at West Branch, where he was born 54 years ago.

He spoke there to old friends and neighbors and he talked to them like old friends and neighbors. Musing over the delights of boyhood days, expressing his gratitude for the kindness of Quaker relatives, who helped make orphanhood bearable, and dropping into an entirely mirthful vein as he imagined what Aunt Hannah, a staunch Quaker, would say if she could see the old Quaker meeting-house converted into a movie theatre, he seemed to enjoy his homecoming thoroughly.

Farming has changed a great deal since young Herbert Hoover picked up its fundamentals near West Branch, but he still knows how it is done. The men and women who settled Iowa were hardy pioneers and they solved the farm problems of their day by toil and perseverance. It seems strange to Mr. Hoover, as to many other Americans, that some of their descendants rely on the Federal Government entirely to help them out of the present rut.

He did not propose that the difficulties of agriculture shall be solved by government subsidies, by taxes or fees on the farmer. Rather he promised a better economic program for farming ,a sounder marketing organization like that which industry has developed and in which his suggestions have played an important part. Mr. Hoover's idea is not to turn the farm problem over to Congress entirely. He intends to take off his coat and get down to brass tacks with the real leaders of the industry as he did at Cedar Rapids.

What is more, he proposes to see whether the rugged characteristics of those who settled Iowa and the rest of the Middle West have been inherited by their descendants and whether under efficient and inspirational leadership, it will not be possible to lessen the difficulties of agriculture as rationally as those of other branches of industry without placing it under federal subsidy.

Colonel Pownall, of Cumberland, Reviews Mr. Smith's Promises to the American Voters.

To the Editor of The Republican.

Forty-eight brands of booze, and each state to fix its own alcoholic content. Of all the foolish things said about the dry laws that's the most childish. Maryland would have it with a kick and West Virginia would have it with one-half of one per cent, and the big suitcases would be carried across the Potomac by the thousand.

He would not separate families of immigrants. The head of the family is here now and hegging to get all his relatives here. Do we not have enough aliens already?

He says he will "reorganize" the departments of the government and put them on a "business basis." That is vanity and bombast and an insult to the great statesmen, Republicans and Democrats, who have made this the best government and best country beneath the stars.

He becomes angry when a preacher digs up his record and he challenges him to debate, and then he backs down. He does not like "preachers in politics." They have always been in politics and have secured more laws for human good than all other professional men. Politics is business and religion is business.

He and his friends plead for "tolerance." Who's intolerant? Are all Protestants for Hoover? Millions of them are not. Are all Catholics for Smith? They are, and nobody blames them. No fair minded man will censure them for that. When Mr. Hoover went to a village to have a Quaker minister perform the marriage rite, the preacher was absent and for convenience a priest married him. Is Mr. Hoover intolerant? The chatter about intolerance is unwarranted.

He says he'll enforce the Eighteenth Amendment. Why, then, did he refuse to enforce it when he had a chance in New York? The mass judgment of the Democratic party is that the amendment must stand, but he says repeal it. Is he the party? Would he not appoint a wet enforcement officer in every State, and would not an orgie of drunkenness follow? Then the cry would go up, "Prohibition is a failure," and the drive for "repeal" would begin.

The education and integrity of the Democratic party is in the South, and for fifty years that section worked to outlaw liquor and won, and now it is asked to repudiate what it has done and go back to a saturnalia of drunkenness and the demoralization of labor.

OUTFITTING PROSPECTIVE SCHOOL CHILDREN IN STATE

The First Consideration Should Be Health and Happiness and Consequent Disease Resistance

"If your Jack and Jean are among the prospective first-graders who will start their school life this fall, are you quite sure they are ready for the journey?" is asked by Dr. R. H. Riley, director of the State Department of Health in a "last call" message to parents.

"All summer long," Dr. Riley said, "in preparations for the great adventure of going to school, groups of five and six year olds have been brought to the child health conferences that have been held throughout the counties under the auspices of the State Bureau of Child Hygiene. Because of their direct bearing on the child's health and happiness and on his resistance to disease, special attention has been paid to six things in the careful examination that has been given each child: Weight, posture, throat, teeth, vision, hearing.

"Very few children made a perfect score. As a matter of fact, our records show that only 13 out of every hundred examined was in the hundred per cent healthy class. The remaining 87 showed some conditions that needed attention and the parents were advised to take the children promptly to their family doctor or dentist for the necessary care so that the children could enter school without avoidable handicaps.

"Out of a total of 2100 children from five to seven years old examined at conferences this year, 1825 were in need of special care of some sort. Teeth came first in the list of conditions requiring treatment. Over half of the children—1188—were in need of dental care. Throat and nose conditions came next—859 children had enlarged or infected tonsils; 305 were suffering from adenoids and 161 were mouth breathers. One out of every five—418—was underweight and in 103 the posture indicated an unhealthy condition. Diseased conditions of the ears were observed in 42 with impaired hearing in 18, and 37 had defective vision. Unfavorable heart conditions were found in 64 and chest conditions affecting the lungs in 21.

"Parents who are getting new outfits ready for the little 'new scholars' —dresses and suits, hats and shoes— will do well to remember that nothing is quite so important as outfitting for health. The healthy child is the one who gets the most out of school and who is least likely to repeat the grades."

Mr. and Mrs. Milton DeWitt entertained a number of their relatives on Labor Day, among them being Maurice Custer and Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey DeWitt and baby, of Connellsville, Pa., and Miss Nellie Friend and her friend, of Akron, Ohio.

EXTRA WRONG FONTS

By Scoop

Considering.

Considering Labor Day, a wedding and various other reasons, it is a wonder that Scoop is appearing at all this week, but due to the noble efforts of Colonel Bell, who has a head full of nothing—but ideas—this column appears as usual.

Scoop attended a wedding on Monday but had to rush in through the rear door of the residence where the ceremony took place in order to get there at all. He had been so busy attending to the proper decorations on the bridal couple's car and time slipped by so quickly that he almost missed the "I will."

* * *

On The Go.

Speaking of attending something reminds Scoop of Howard Stuck on Labor Day. It has been Stuck's custom to be in a crowd on Labor Day for many years and he had to be somewhere, whether it was at The Pines or the North Pole. He chose The Pines, because there was sure to be a crowd there, and since there was no Knights of Pythias picnic in Oakland he had to let out his pent-up energies somewhere.

His interest in the Knights was so great, however, that he continually thought he was out in Helbig's Grove and every five minutes or less his voice could be heard above everybody else's, "Chevrolet car will be given away at five o'clock. Get your tickets now!"

He finally got so into the spirit of the thing that he tried to go around to several of the stands to collect the money that had been turned in. At last they convinced him that somebody else was treasurer, but far into the night he could be heard trying to make a sale of coca cola and sandwiches for the Knights of Pythias.

Col. Bell visited the offices of the B. & O. this morning and got the picture below:

After the Ball Was Over.

* * *

This Wasn't Our Department.

"The blaze was extinguished before any damage was done hy the local fire department."—Lansing (Ill.) paper. That couldn't be said of Oakland's Volunteer Fire department.

* * *

Starting To School.

The Colonel, although very busy, took a trip to the school house on Tuesday and found Tommy Graser at his old job of handshaking and brushing up old acquaintances. After he had finished with that task he turned around and found Kenneth Stahl, who wanted some advice on what clothes he should take along when he goes to school. The Colonel snapped the camera as Tommy was giving the advice and Kenneth, who will be a little freshman away from home this year, is showing his bewilderment of what they do to freshies. But maybe he is only kidding.

Prescription No. 1.

Use Your Own Judgment.

Several law abiding citizens of Oakland and the community immediately surrounding have been wondering what to do on nearing the traffic lights of the city when the sun makes both the green and the red to show at the same time.

In offering a solution, Scoop does not insist that his idea be carried out.

When approaching a traffic light that shows both red and green, Scoop suggests—

1. Wait a half minute and see if there is any change.
2. Consult an eye specialist for color blindness.
3. See if the sun is shining.
4. Wait another half minute.
5. See if the State policeman is in sight.
6. Look carefully up and down the street.
7. Wait another half minute.
8. If the light still looks the same, use your own judgment, but don't blame Scoop of The Republican for what may happen in case you do.

The Colonel tried to get a picture of Ed Offutt for this column this week but couldn't, as Ed is at Atlantic City trying to push the waves back.

The new Buick is the new Style

More than handsome···more than luxurious···a wonderful new type of motor car beauty··a thrilling turning point in body design

It will be imitated, of course! The new, the fine and the beautiful always inspire emulation. But so great is the cost of building the magnificent new Fisher bodies for the Silver Anniversary Buick that imitation will be possible only to much costlier cars, and even these will find difficulty in following where Buick leads!

$1,500,000 has been expended in manufacturing the dies alone for the new Buick bodies; and the gracefully curving side panels which form one of their distinguishing characteristics represent the most expensive steel paneling work employed on any automobile in the world!

But it is not in the matchless grace and beauty of exterior design alone that the Silver Anniversary Buick eclipses other cars. In fleet, powerful performance too, the world holds no equal for the Silver Anniversary Buick with Masterpiece Bodies by Fisher. And the motor-public, buying in such tremendous volume as to force the great Buick factories to work day and night to supply the demand, is elevating it to the prominence of a vogue!

MT. LAKE PARK.

Dr. J. H. Enlow spent part of last week here visiting relatives and old friends, returning to his home the latter part of the week taking with him his daughter Miss Alice, who had spent several weeks here recuperating her health following an illness.

It is certainly gratifying to know that the children of the community who had been ill, are all slowly recovering and prospects are that they will regain their normal conditions.

Mrs. F. P. Arnold expects by the last of the present week to have in full flower a night blooming serus.

Mrs. Allie Haymond was taken suddenly ill at her home here on Monday and members of her family feel quite concerned about her condition.

During the past week there have been many family gatherings here, showing that the Park has not lost its popularity as a favorite gathering resort.

Mr. and Mrs. William Grimes, of Pittsburgh, motored to the Park on Sunday for a stay of a few days with relatives and friends.

AUGUST RECORD ALMOST REACHED; 148 GRANTED

Marriage Licenses for the Month Only One Behind Last Year

A rather unusual rush the last few days of August brought the total number of marriage licenses issued from the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court in Oakland up to one less than the all-time record, 148 permits having been issued during the period. One hundred and forty-nine licenses during one month has been the mark twice before reached, while last month's record has been reached twice. Two applicants were refused licenses on account of their being under age.

An exceptionally good start was made for September on Saturday upon which day fifteen licenses were issued. Last year's record for September is 139, and if present figures are any indication it is probable that this number will be reached this year.

A total of 31 licenses were issued for the week ending at noon on Monday, three of which were marked "don't publish."

Eighteen Million Telephones

"In 1907 there were about 6,000,000 telephones in the United States, but they were only partially interconnected, while today there are over 18,000,000 telephones in the United States so interconnected that it is possible for practically any one of the 18,000,000 to be connected with reasonable promptness with any other one of the 18,000,000 * * * *"

WALTER S. GIFFORD,
President of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company
(Bell System)

¶ There are now over 18,000,000 telephones in and connected with the Bell System in the United States. And it has been less than the span of a lifetime since the telephone first talked.

¶ It started with one man, a set of crude instruments, and a vision of a great service that might be given if the way could be found. That was all.

¶ The way was found and today, instead of two telephone workers—the inventor and his assistant—and two telephone instruments, 374,000 men and women and 18,000,000 telephones make possible a service—a continuous service—used more than 73,000,000 times each day, saving time and money and bringing comfort and convenience to millions of people. A service within the reach of anyone, anywhere!

¶ Today, there is one telephone for every seven persons in the United States and there is scarcely a hamlet without the service. The nation is made one neighborhood for you through your telephone.

¶ The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore City with more than 194,000 telephones in the State of Maryland, is one of the associate companies of this nation-wide system. Its policy is the same—to give you a quick, dependable, and reasonably priced telephone service. To that end we are bending every energy.

GRANGE VISITORS LIKED HOSPITALITY AT OAKLAND

Letters of Appreciation Made Known at Meeting of Pomona Grange Held Last Thursday

That D. M. Lower, master of the Pomona Grange, and J. L. McGlone, county agent, had received numerous letters from State Grange delegates who attended the sessions in Oakland in August, in which they stated their appreciation for the hospitality and entertainment furnished by the Garrett county people, was brought out at the quarterly meeting of the Pomona grange held at Shady Dell grange hall last Thursday night.

Many of the visitors, Mr. McGlone said, had expressed their desire to return to Garrett county next year for their vacation and wondered why the country was not advertised more as a resort, saying that the scenery here was as beautiful as in any State in the Union.

W. B. Burruss Talks

The lecture hour was in charge of W. B. Burruss, a member of Shady Dell Grange. He appeared several times on the program and gave serious talks on some of his appearances and was very humorous on other occasions as all Garrett county people know he can be. In one of his serious moments he told the grangers that he would return to Washington soon but that his memories would always be in Garrett county. He added that he believed the Grange a wonderful organization and that the more its members put into it the more benefits they would receive.

O. T. Graser, agricultural instructor in Oakland High school, gave an interesting talk on the value of the Grange to the farmers. He brought out many interesting facts and urged the members to have all the farmers in their section become members of the grange. His talk was interspersed with a few stories for which he is noted.

County Fair Discussed

Mr. McGlone spoke on the Garrett County Fair for 1928. He said that the committee wished to make the fair this year the best ever, but that this could not be done if the people of Garrett county did not lend their support. "Without exhibitors there can be no fair," he said, and urged them to make an exhibit of some kind. He promised that Mr. Speicher would give a personal guarantee to each exhibitor that all prize winners would be paid.

During the business part of the meeting plans were discussed for the coming year with entertainment as an important issue. A committee was appointed to visit the various granges and to judge their entertainment programs, the one having the best to receive a reward. The lecturer of the winning grange will also receive a prize for his work. The judges are to be Miss Elsie Benthien, home demonstration agent, Pleasant Valley Grange; Mr. Lower, master, Shady Dell Grange; Joe King, master Ryan's Glade Grange; Baity Ridder, master Sunnyside Grange, and Mr. McGlone, of the University of Maryland Student Grange.

Another issue presented to the grange members was the purchase of a moving picture machine. D. M. Lower, Baity Ridder and Otis Riley were appointed to handle this matter.

String music was rendered by the Ridder brothers of Sunnyside Grange and at the close of the meeting refreshments were served by members of the Shady Dell grange. The next meeting of the Pomona Grange will be held on December 6, probably in the Sunnyside Grange hall.

DEDICATION OF OLD FORT M'HENRY HELD YESTERDAY

Thunder of Guns Again Heard As They Were Again Fired On Ramparts of Famous Old Fort

The thunder of guns again roared through the walls of old Fort McHenry, at whose ramparts the British assault and advance on Baltimore just 114 years ago was halted, when the fortification, restored to resemble as closely as possible the condition in which they were that fateful day in 1814, was dedicated as a national shrine and turned over to the Government as such today.

A program, embracing parades, band concerts, speaking and mimic warfare, to be taken part in by Federal troops and National guard units and naval forces, was prepared by the Society of the War of 1812, which fostered the movement to have the fort made a National shrine and the work of restoration, aided by a congressional appropriation.

F. Trubee Davidson, assistant secretary of war, formally dedicated the fort on behalf of the Government. He was thanked in the name of Maryland and Baltimore respectively by Governor Albert C. Ritchie and by Mayor William F. Broening, General Clinton L. Riggs, president of the society which restored the fort, and Charles H. Linville, chairman of the executive committee, also spoke.

A parade which started at noon, made up of Regular Army and National Guard units, patriotic organizations and city officials, marched to the fort as a starter of the day's ceremonies. Two concerts, one by the United States Marine Band and one by the United States Army band, were held in the afternoon and evening, between which the speaking took place.

A banquet by the Society of the War of 1812 was held in the evening, at which Major-General Charles P. Summerall was a guest.

At night naval vessels opened fire on the fort, and the guns on the boats were answered by those in the fort, manned by the Sixth Field Artillery, the outfit which fired the first American shells in the World War. The naval vessels, which have been in the harbor of Baltimore since yesterday are the Oglala, Mahan and Maury.

The sham bombardment closed the day's ceremonies.

CUMBERLAND WOMAN DIES OF SHOCK AFTER CRASH

Was in Automobile That Hit Parked Car on Savage Mountain, This County, Sunday

Following an injury received in an automobile crash on the National highway, about four miles west of Frostburg, in Garrett county, Sunday evening, Mrs. John McDonald, Cumberland, died from shock shortly after being taken to her home.

Sheriff W. D. Casteel and W. A. Gonder, justice of the peace, and Allegany county officials investigated the case at Cumberland on Monday, but found that an inquest would be unnecessary.

The young matron, mother of two children, had been baptized at a revival Sunday near Meyersdale, Pa., and was enroute home when the car in which she was a passenger crashed into a parked car and overturned. She sustained bruises about the body and a severe laceration on the right leg, but did not appear to be badly injured when she was taken to her home.

Drs. M. E. Owens and Thomas W. Koon were summoned to the home and they were dressing the leg injury when the woman suddenly succumbed. Her husband told investigators that she had been subject to heart attacks in recent years.

Crashed into Parked Car

Officer W. B. Chappelle, who investigated the accident and questioned occupants of the car in which the local woman was riding, reported that Robert Glass, Kelly-Springfield tire plant employe, was the driver of the car. J. J. Glass, his wife and child and Mrs. Hattie Didawick were other occupants of the car. The machine was descending a slope on the west side of Savage mountain when it crashed into the parked car. The parked car was owned by a lady friend of Allen Paul, of near Frostburg, and at the time of the accident, Mr. Paul was repairing a tire.

Glass told the officer that there was no light on the machine and declared that his machine sideswiped Paul's car and overturned, throwing the occupants to the roadway. A passing motorist took the occupants of the wrecked car, all of whom sustained cuts and bruises, to Cumberland.

Funeral Yesterday

Funeral services for Mrs. McDonald were held yesterady morning, Rev. Alvey Reckley, pastor of the Pentecostal church, officiating. Interment was made at Salisbury, Pa.

ROBBERY AVERTED WHEN OFFICER NABS TWO MEN

Policeman Nethkin Arrests Men, One of Whom Said They Intended to Rob R. R. Station

An alleged planned robbery was nipped in the bud late last Thursday night when Policeman B. B. Nethkin arrested William Pittman, said to be of Chicago, 16 years old, and Thomas Gordon, Cumberland, 25 years old, and lodged them in the Garrett County Jail.

The two had made their way from Cumberland to Oakland by way of a Baltimore and Ohio freight train, and according to E. V. O'Donnell, Baltimore and Ohio policeman, who followed them here, the boy told him that they had intended robbing a place at Mountain Lake Park and the railway station in Oakland.

Officer Nethkin had the men under arrest when O'Donnell arrived. They were given a hearing on Friday morning by Justice E. I West and they were sent to jail for ten days on the specific charge of riding a freight train unlawfully. Another man, said to have been with the two when they left Cumberland, was not captured. It was stated that this man carried concealed weapons and would have been the leader in the alleged contemplated burglary.

Held on Charge of Non-Support

Herbert Shipp, Morgantown, W. Va., was brought to Oakland Tuesday by Deputy Sheriff Joy Griffith and lodged in the County Jail on a charge of non-support, preferred by his wife.

The woman, an invalid, residing in the vicinity of Rosedale, just west of Oakland, is being taken care of by an aged man. The hearing has been set for Monday, September 17, before Justice West.

It is said that Shipp claims to have sent his wife money and that he had gone to Morgantown in search of employment.

Arrested on Theft Charge

Earl Freeland, of Deer Park, was given a hearing before Justice West last Friday on a charge of stealing a horse and was held for the action of the grand jury. Freeland claims that the horse was paid for in notes held against another man.

Goo-By Places in Motor Boat Races at Morgantown

Louis E. Greenwald, Jr., McKee's Rocks, Pa., was second in the Class B boat race, held Sunday at Lake Lynn, near Morgantown, West Va. He drove the Goo-by, the boat which captured two of the three races held on Deep Creek Lake at the Water Carnival, August 3. His father drove the Sea Hawk, owned by a Morgantown man, in the second and third heats of the same race.

The Goo-by also won second in the Class C race, and third in the free for all. Robert Bonner, of Morgantown, who won second in the Class B race at Deep Creek Lake on August 3, collided with another boat and was tossed into the air and given a ducking. He was not hurt.

Two boats were entered from Oakland but they failed to put in their appearance.

WITH EXCEPTION OF A FEW SCHOOLS ALL ARE OPENED

Oakland High and Elementary To Receive Pupils Next Week

Elementary and High schools of the county, with the exception of those at Oakland and Mountain Lake Park, opened for the 1928-1929 terms on last Thursday, September 6. The enrollment was around the average for all schools at the beginning of the year's term, John L. Fitzwater, attendance officer, stated yesterday.

Schools in Oakland will not open before Monday, Superintendent of Schools F. E. Rathbun, stated. "The exact time will be announced to all parents in time to get their children in school," he said.

St. Peter's Parochial school will open on Monday, September 17, according to the latest report. School there was to have begun last Monday, but was postponed one week.

The failure of the Oakland school and those in the community to open on time will not affect the county attendance record very seriously, according to Mr. Fitzwater, except in the figures of aggregate days' attendance. The percentage column will not be harmed and as the attendance in other schools is about the average, there are still hopes of beating last year's record, he thinks.

The information contained in Mr. McGlone's articles will be obtained from various publications dealing with the subject to be covered and from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, University of Maryland, and other available records. Anyone desiring more detailed information may secure the same by writing to Mr. McGlone.

The series of articles will appear under the caption "County Agent's Colmun," and this week's article describes the Jersey type of cattle, the leading type in Garrett county. Mr. McGlone says:

"In checking over the herds of dairy cattle in Garrett county, it is found that the Jersey and Guernsey are the preferred type, with the Jersey the leading type. The Holstein and Ayrshire are not popular, although a few are scattered throughout the county. No Dutch Belted, French Canadian or Kerry cattle have been seen.

"Bigger and Better Than Ever"

ROUTE OF NORTHWESTERN PIKE MAY BE CHANGED

Tentative Plans Have Been Prepared and Presented to Officials

Tentative plans through which the Northwestern Turnpike may be routed via Bayard in order that the completion of that portion of the highway through Maryland will be hastened by at least a year have been laid before the highway commissions of both West Virginia and Maryland, has been announced by Charles E. Marshall, secretary of Northwestern Turnpike, Incorporated.

Mr. Marshall was in receipt of a letter from J. N. Mackall, chairman of the Maryland commission, informing him that Major C. P. Fortney, chairman of the West Virginia road body, appeared to be not in sympathy with the movement, however, and that Major Fortney had definitely informed him that the West Virginia commission would build its portion of the pike into Gormania.

It is the contention of the Maryland commission that it would be necessary for it to construct an expensive bridge over the railway and the Potomac river at Gormania. This, it says, will not be necessary in the event the West Virginia portion of the road is extended along the river to Bayard. The cost to the State, however, would be greater in that it would be necessary to extend the road from Gormania two or three miles to Bayard.

The people of Bayard—numbering probably 2,000—join with the Maryland commission in pleading for the road to come through their town. They are without improved roads although the town is the scene of much industrial activity.

Mr. Mackall informs Mr. Marshall in his letter that to build the road through Gormania will require three more years and that to build it by the way of Bayard will require only two. No further work on the pike in his State can be done this year, he writes, for the reason that no funds are available. He hopes, however, that the legislature of his state will make the usual appropriation for post roads at its next session. All of this appropriation has, in former years, been devoted to construction and maintenance on the Northwestern Turnpike.

Public Health Across the Atlantic.

Public health activities and public improvements in Italy, under Mussolini, are described by Dr. Wyatt W. Randal, Chief of the Bureau of Chemistry of the State Department of Health, in a report to the State Board of Health. Dr Randall returned recently from a visit to Italy, France and England in connection with which he visited state and special laboratories in Rome and London.

Dr. Randall was especially impressed by the work that is being done to rid Italy of the disease-distributing mosquito. Swamps are being drained and many malarial districts are being reclaimed. The result has been beneficial not only to the health but to the pocket books of the residents. Each year large areas of fertile land have been placed under cultivation, and valued crops including cotton, tobacco and other staples not usually cultivated in Europe, are being grown on them with success. Reforestation is also being caried on, on a large scale, mountain streams are being harnessed to provide electric current and public highways are being improved in every direction.

Remarkable results have been obtained in the governmental agencies in connection with the food supply "In spite of the astonishing increase in the population in recent years," the report continues, "the volume of agricultural products has grown so much more rapidly that a considerable surplus is available for sale outside of Italy.

"Until recently, the farms and market gardens of Lombardy and of the Italian campagna were levied upon for much of their produce to feed the capital. Now Rome is largely independent of them, in spite of its great population and Lombardy and Emilia are exporting their surplus and are feeding a consdierable part of Northern Europe.

"Pasteurization of milk is only beginning to make its way in Italy and the same may be said with regard to the sale of milk in individual containers. The protection of food from flies and dust, when placed on sale in markets and shops, is something new in Italy, yet it was pleasant to note that care in handling such food stuffs is becoming common.

"Because the water supply of most Italian cities comes directly from nearby mountain sources, there has been up to this time, little call to introduce purification plants. Rome is supplied today with an abundance of pure water by six of the seven aqueducts constructed eighteen centuries ago and but little changed since. Only one of these supplies is today restricted to factory use. If the city continues to grow, and especially if the per capita consumption of water increases as it does in most places, it will probably be necessary to make use of the water of the Tiber and construct a suitable plant for its purification."

Youth of America Backs Hoover, Says Helen Wills, Tennis Star

HELEN WILLS has accepted the appointment as Chairman of the Sports Division of the Women's National Committee for Hoover from Mrs. F. Louis Slade, National Chairman of the organization,

"Am I voting for Hoover?" she said. "Yes. And why- For the same reason that countless other young people throughout the country are voting for him. It is because they realize that Mr. Hoover possesses just those qualities that will make him a great president," said Miss Wills.

"He said in his speech of acceptance that he wishes to carry the spirit of the youth of the nation into the government. 'Youth,' he said, 'is today pulling at the traces as never before, and is willing to pull a full load. Youth's eagerness contains a more earnest desire than ever to be of service.'

"All youth can admire Herbert Hoover because of his sincerity, intelligence and great industry.

"His achievements, in the past, have been marked with success because of his ability for organization and his wonderful powers of perseverance. His life is a story to fire the imagination and admiration of every young person in the country.

"He spoke of 'Youth's eagerness for service.' He was guided in his own youth by this idea. He has proved since, at home and abroad, that he is a great man.

"May Youth everywhere, by voting for Hoover, show that its ideals are of the highest and that it has the earnest desire 'to be of service.'"

A special friction machine is used in Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey laboratories to study the ability of different lubricating oils to overcome friction. It is operated with different quantities of oil, at various speeds, and with varying loads.

In one series of tests, the weight of the load was kept at 175 lbs. per square inch. The quantity of oil supplied was 12 drops each minute. With "Standard" Motor Oil the machine operated perfectly at 700 revolutions per minute. With other motor oils used by motorists today, the machine became over-heated and the oil falled at from 300 to 400 revolutions per minute.

UNIVERSAL PEACE PLEDGE

Opinions differ much as to the practical value of the war-renouncing treaty signed by fifteen nations, and apparently likely to be signed by all the nations of the earth as a result of the general invitation extended by the United States.

It is evident that this treaty sets forth merely a purpose, without establishing any practical machinery to accomplish that purpose. It might be compared to a New Year's resolution, except that there is an implied penalty for the faith-breaker. If the New Year's resolver breaks his resolution, he has only his conscience to punish him. If any of these peace-resolving nations starts a war, it thereby releases the others from their pledges and gives them a moral right, at least, to chastise it. That moral right, added to such positive legal rights as may be given by other treaties, including the Treaty of Versailles, may do much to bolster peace.

All this, however, is beside the real value of the present treaty, which is a popular value—we might say a publicity value.

Never before, not even when international statesmen at Paris undertook to liquidate the World War and set up universal guarantees for world peace, has a treaty been so widely published and attracted such widespread attention. This wave of publicity rolls on, accelerating, as the treaty goes to 48 other nations for their approval.

The people in every civilized country on earth are learning about the treaty, and talking about it, and making up their minds about it. Their problem is simplified by the shortness and simplicity of the document itself. It is rendered easier by the fact that the treaty is merely a moral pledge. The peace ideal is emphasized more clearly than ever before; the old war ideal is flatly repudiated.

Thus the treaty, while not insuring peace, is admirable propaganda for peace, appealing directly to all mankind for a new and better national mode of life.

HOOVER MEANS GOOD TIME.

For the American business man, tradesman and workman the candidacy of Herbert Hoover for President offers the best insurance policy for the continuance of good times the Republican or any party could give to the people of the United States. As Secretary of Commerce for the past seven years, Hoover has stood steadfast at the right hand of President Coolidge in piloting American business to safe harbors of progress and prosperity. Like Coolidge, he has been an apostle of the Republican protective tariff in its manifold workings to increase and multiply American business, fatten pay envelopes and raise higher and better the American standard of good living and the welfare of the people.

Hoover in the Department of Commerce has been the very monitor of good times. So far as any department or branch of the national government could go in helpful constructive assistance Hoover has gone. Free of political quarrels and motives, safe and sound, with a heart and brain intent on the quickening of government service to the service of the people, Hoover has moved, in calm and in storm serenely along promoting good business and good times.

The great genius and untiring industry of Hoover have stimulated and helped thousands of enterprises. A national canvass would be necessary to show fully the breadth and depth of Hoover's good work, for no pent-up Washington office has confined his talents. His beneficent genius has sped into every community and state in the Union and sent the flag of American commerce into new ports in strange seas.

Hoover has discovered and made useful new methods and new markets for American production. He has been the supplement and reinforcement of the protective tariff. In helping business to help itself he has been a mighty adjunct in the good works of the Coolidge administration. Not by voice alone but by example, not a mere preacher but a doer, he has shown the American manufacturer and the trader the road to business expansion and success that carries on into happy homes and contented lives.

HOOVER'S FARM PROGRAM

As usual, Herbert Hoover shows his remarkable faculty for getting to the bottom of things when he tackles the problem of farm relief. He is definite. He sees the need. He sees the difficulties. He has a program. Like the good economic engineer he is, he has surveyed the job in all its aspects and he has drawn the blueprints. And like a man who loves his work, he somehow gets over the idea that he and no one else, is the man to do it.

Never has a presidential candidate stated a problem more clearly, analyzed it more carefully, and asserted more earnestly his determination to solve it, than has the Republican nominee in discussing agricultural relief in his Speech of Acceptance.

"The most urgent economic problem today is in agriculture," is his opening sentence on the subject. "It must be solved if we are to bring prosperity and contentment to one-third of our people directly and to all of our people indirectly. We have pledged ourselves to find a solution. These are solemn pledges and they will be fulfilled by the Republican Party."

Before dealing with remedies, he diagnoses the causes of the trouble. They are four in number—need of further tariff protection, cheaper transportation for farm products, better distribution, and reorganization of the marketing system. Then he proceeds to show what he, as the new leader of his party, will do to put through legislation that will give the farmer the needed relief.

No time will be lost, Mr. Hoover declares, in putting these various measures into effect. "The Republican Platform offers an affirmative program," and "needs only the detailed elaboration of legislation and appropriations to put it into force," he asserts.

Mr. Hoover has no patience with the possible objection that the Federal government may have to advance some hundreds of millions of capital without obligation on the individual farmer. "A nation which is spending ninety billions a year can well afford an expenditure of a few hundred millions for a workable program that will give one-third of its population their fair share of the nation's prosperity."

MAKING USE OF EXPERIENCE

Announcement that Mr. Hoover has invited his running-mate, Charles Curtis, to sit in the Hoover cabinet will be welcomed by Senate members of both parties and by Curtis admirers everywhere.

It appears extremely likely that the invitation will be accepted. In event of Republican success, Curtis will be the second Vice President to occupy such a position, Mr. Coolidge having been the first when President Harding started the practice.

Mr. Hoover thus not only would perpetuate a valuable Republican innovation in American governmental usage, but would make directly available to the cabinet the vast legislative experience of Senator Curtis, obtained through 34 years of public life, and his well known sympathetic knowledge of the specific problems of many groups, among them labor and agriculture.

Senator Curtis has a profound insight into the workings of both the Senate and the House. He enjoys a popularity second to none among both Republican and Democratic members. His popularity is founded on faith. The strength and fundamental honesty of Senator Curtis have become traditional on Capitol Hill.

Senator Curtis has stated his personal platform frequently and with vigor. Here are a few outstanding planks from his speech of acceptance:

1. To protect agriculture effectively, and to encourage it in every proper manner.
2. To protect American labor by enacting all needed legislation.
3. To enforce the laws without fear or favor.
4. To encourage active participation by women in the conduct of the government.
5. To reduce the public debt, public expenses, and taxes.
6. To maintain peace, engage in commerce with all nations, and to enter into entangling alliances with none.
7. To encourage all industry and to maintain a protective tariff with duties high enough fully to protect American products, and American producers against foreign competition.

Throughout the years, Senator Curtis has championed the cause of the farmer, labor, of women. Any innovation which adds to personal influence of Senator Curtis is a direct contribution to these causes. Sitting in the Hoover Cabinet, Senator Curtis would become a close link between the Executive and Legislative branches of the government.

TREATMENT URGED FOR STORED WHEAT

Maryland farmers who decide to hold their wheat for higher prices in view of a reported shortage of soft red winter wheat are advised to treat it with carbon disulphide to protect it against injury from grain moths and rodents.

The use of carbon disulphide in treating grain is comparatively simple provided air-tight bins or storage rooms are available. One pound of carbon disulphide to every hundred pounds of grain, or from five to eight pounds of the chemical to every thousand cubic feet of wheat is advised by G. E. Eppley, assistant Agronomist at the University of Maryland Experiment Station. The proper amount to use will depend chiefly upon the tightness of the bins or storage room.

For best results, it is recommended that the carbon disulphide be placed in an open container and hung or placed over the wheat. It should be left in place for twenty-four or thirty-six hours so that the wheat will be thoroughly fumigated and the bin or room should be kept tightly closed during this period.

The fumes from carbon disulphide are highly inflamable and no fire or flames of any kind should be permitted near a building where fumigation is in progress. Any county agent will be glad to give further directions for the use of carbon disulphide in treating stored grain.

Washington Junior Paper Carries Article of Barbara Burruss

The Junior Post section of the Washington Post, dated July 29, carries a story written by Barbara Burruss, age 12 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Burruss, of Hemlock Hollow, Oakland. Her story was on Versailles, France, and is here reproduced:

Of all the places on my trip abroad, a trip that included England, Belgium, Germany, France, Switzerland and Italy, I think that I liked Versailles, France, the best.

It is a short drive from Paris and you leave by way of the Bois de Boulogne boulevard, which is the promenade for all the gay people of Paris.

The first thing to visit at Versailles is the palace. The grounds surrounding it are most beautiful.

There are on most walls and ceilings of the rooms of the palace pictures by famous artists.

You see in one room the cabinet and table of Marie Antoinette and in another the table at which President Wilson signed the peace treaty.

Louis XIV's bedroom is here also, but only the bed and two tables are original.

When you have visited the grounds you should go to the Petit Museum, where the coronation carriage of Charles I is, and many other sedan chairs, bridles, saddles, sleighs and carriages are preserved.

The Grand Trianon is the next place to see. In it are the bedrooms of Louis Phillipe and Napoleon.

In the Petit Trianon is the bedroom of Marie Antoinette.

The Temple of Love, which is just down the shady road from the Petit Trianon, was built by Louis XV for Jeanette Du Barry.

Still further down the lane is a quaint old cottage with a thatched roof.

It is the house of the Lord of the Mill.

I think that is all there is to say about Versailles, but if anyone going ahroad was planning to leave it out I would advise them to replan their trip so that it might include Versailles.

BARBARA BURRUSS (age 12)

The Glotfelty reunion was held at the Boiling Spring, near McHenry, on Saturday, September 1, when about 200 direct descendents of William Glotfelty with their friends were present.

PAUL WRITES TO HIS FRIENDS IN CORINTH

LESSON TEXT—I Cor. 1:10-13;3:5-11, 21-23.

GOLDEN TEXT—Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul Writes a Letter to His Friends.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul Writes a Good Letter to His Friends.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Paul Urges Team Work.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Paul Pleads for Christian Unity.

Concerning Contention in the Church (1:10-13).

1. Exhortation (v. 10). "That ye all speak the same thing."

In view of the fact that he besought them in the name of Jesus Christ, the one thing which he desired them to speak was the Lord's name. The name of the Lord stands for all that the Lord is and does. "That there be no divisions among you," that is, no factions, no alienation of affection. "That ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment."

2. The reason for this exhortation. (v. 11).

Word had been brought to Paul by members of the household of Chloe that wrangling was going on among the members of the Corinthian church. He assured them that he had sufficient evidence of the strife which was going on among them.

3. Nature of the contentious (v. 12).

Their disputes were about their teachers. Their interests were centering in their favorite ministers. Some were for Paul, perhaps attracted by his logic; some were for Apollos, doubtless moved by his stirring eloquence; others were for Peter. Doubtless these were Jewish converts who looked to Peter as their authority. There were still others who had as their cry "back to Christ," repudiating all human teachers.

4. The grounds of allegiance to Christ (v. 13).

(1) He is Head of the whole church.

The unifying power of the body is the head. He raised the question, "Is Christ divided?" The mere raising of the question gave the answer.

(2) Redemption accomplished.

By his atoning death He has supreme Lordship over all.

(3) Allegiance to Christ acknowledged in baptism. By one Spirit are we all baptized into one body (1 Cor. 12:13).

II. Concerning Christian Ministers (3:1-4:5).

Since the dissensions in the church gathered around the ministers, Paul proceeded to cure the evil by exhibiting the ministerial office in its true light. To conceive of ministers as party leaders or teachers of philosophy tends to divisions. Divisions in the church occur when men are occupied with the messenger rather than with the message. The cure in such a case is to get a right conception and proper estimate of human teachers. Ministers really are:

1. Servants of God (vv. 5, 6.

They are instruments in His hands for the execution of His will. They are men sent to deliver a message, to do a definite work.

2. Ministers are equal in rank (vv. 8, 9).

They are called by the same spirit to teach the same truth, and therefore stand in the same relationship. Official hierarchy in the church has no foundation in the Scriptures.

3. Every minister must give an account to God for his work (vv. 10-21).

If he lay other foundation than Christ he is not a Christian minister at all. If he build sound doctrine on the foundation he will receive a reward. If he build false doctrine on a true foundation he will suffer loss and receive punishment. Sorrow and anguish will be to him who builds good material upon a wrong foundation, and likewise to him who builds poor material upon a right foundation. Human wisdom has no place in the solemn work of building the church of God.

4. Ministers are the property of the church (vv. 22, 23).

Frequently the assumption is that the church is owned by the ministers. Ministers should be followed only as far as they follow Christ.

5. Ministers are God's stewards (4:1-5).

Their business is to dispense His truth. They do not originate the message. God demands fidelity on their part and He will enter into judgment with them as to their faithfulness.

Proof of a Divine Reality

The best proof of a divine reality at the heart of things is the passion for growth, the desire for perfection, that makes itself felt in all who are sensitive to the possibilities of spiritual attainment.

Being Content

We have been content with a slight elevation above the evils of our time, and not intent on the inward searching, purifying and consuming of the Holy Spirit.—F. B. Meyer.

EXTRA WRONG FONTS

By Scoop

Another B. and O. Mystery

Since the widespread publicity given to Howard Stuck last week, it was not thought likely that any other B. and O. official would be heard of for some time to come, but while last week's paper was being compiled it was found that Thane O. (Pin) White had been lost since the Saturday before Labor Day and hadn't returned to the fold.

According to Col. Bell, who made the investigation, Pin had gone to see a baseball game in Pittsburgh. His disappearance caused the Col. to believe that he had gone in his truck, so he set out for Pittsburgh to get an exclusive shot of Pin as he would look when off duty.

On arriving he had no trouble in finding Pin because he was out on the field at the time showing one of the Waner brothers how to play first base. He was "took" then and there.

He returned to Oakland several days later. His chief assistant on the truck, "Soup" Davis, was told that Boston could trim the Pirates easily, which nearly caused a riot.

At The Bat

They Brought Results

Monday night brought out a full house at the American Legion meeting and when an investigation was made it was found that the Post commander had sent out the following communication: "Dear Mrs. Edward Kahl, (and whoever was the wife of a legionaire) Please send your husband to the American Legion meeting Monday evening." Strange to say it brought results except in one case.

The post commander received the following communication from one outraged wife: "Dear Sir, I have decided to let my husband out on Wednesday night this week so that he can attend prayer meeting."

"Spirit of 1861-5"

The shooting up on Crook Crest last week has been discovered to have been a well laid plot which went a little astray, the bullet having entered the wrong person.

A person, whose name will not be divulged, but who lives in the "Hill" section, made a clear confession to Scoop and the Col. at their office on Liberty street Monday. In making his confession he stated that the shot had been fired at Joseph Gonder, mail carrier, who had been mistaken for a confederate soldier, and that it was not intended for the boy at all. The confessor seemed surprised to know that the war was over and that the North had been victorious.

When Joe was interviewew he said that he had strolled out of his territory on that day and had been met by this "Northerner." "My father was a confederate," Joe said, "but I wear a union suit."

He'll Still Deliver

Ees It Eensured?

Bill Casteel came flying around the First National Bank corner in his car with clouds of smoke under the hood. He stopped opposite Fraley's store. Mayor Lawrence Fraley came rushing out with fire extinguisher. The hood was lifted and the contents of the chemicals deposited. The fire was out but the smoke still lingered on. Louie Waingold came rushing around Miller's corner. He saw the extinguisher and the "ruins" that Bill had been driving.

"Was it insured?" Louie asked. "Yes," answered the sheriff, "I think I can get it fixed up all right." "Then, for vy did you pudt it out?" Louie sobbed.

Getting Famous

Scoop is getting famous by publishing photographs of the county's notables, and is besieged with requests each week to send Col. Bell to take pictures of them just for the sake of having them published in this column.

But the Col. picks his own notables and did so at the Bowman reunion on Sunday. He saw somebody strutting around who looked as if he wanted to be more important than all the rest. Not content with this he was said to have been a party to the cause of the dinner table collapsing. Not content with that he said he thought he ought to honor the Col. by letting him take his picture. And he did. It was none other than Frank Callis and is here pictured just to humor him into continuing as a subscriber of The Republican, Garrett County's best, newsiest and oldest newspaper.

Eighteen Million Telephones

"In 1907 there were about 6,000,000 telephones in the United States, but they were only partially interconnected, while today there are over 18,000,000 telephones in the United States so interconnected that it is possible for practically any one of the 18,000,000 to be connected with reasonable promptness with any other one of the 18,000,000 * * * *"

WALTER S. GIFFORD,
President of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company
(Bell System)

There are now over 18,000,000 telephones in and connected with the Bell System in the United States. And it has been less than the span of a lifetime since the telephone first talked.

It started with one man, a set of crude instruments, and a vision of a great service that might be given if the way could be found. That was all.

The way was found and today, instead of two telephone workers—the inventor and his assistant—and two telephone instruments, 374,000 men and women and 18,000,000 telephones make possible a service—a continuous service—used more than 73,000,000 times each day, saving time and money and bringing comfort and convenience to millions of people. A service within the reach of anyone, anywhere!

Today, there is one telephone for every seven persons in the United States and there is scarcely a hamlet without the service. The nation is made one neighborhood for you through your telephone.

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore City with more than 194,000 telephones in the State of Maryland, is one of the associate companies of this nation-wide system. Its policy is the same—to give you a quick, dependable, and reasonably priced telephone service. To that end we are bending every energy.

LEWIS' PROMISE ON COAL RATES HIS CHIEF ISSUE

Supporters of Democratic Candidate for Congress Pleased at Prospects For Its Fulfillment—To Be One-Man Fight—Friends Point Out Lewis' Parcel Post Law Was Enacted Through His Efforts Alone.

The pledge of David J. Lewis, of Cumberland, Democratic candidate for Congress in the Sixth District, to work for the revision of coal freight rates from Western Maryland mines, if elected, is seen by his supporters as an opportunity for him to again display his usual ability to get what he goes after, although waging a one-man fight.

The Democratic aspirant when a member of Congress in 1912 waged a single-handed campaign for an effective parcel-post system and he alone is responsible for the establishment of the present parcel post system.

These facts were pointed out in a dispatch from Washington yesterday by Frederick R. Berkley, a special correspondent, who declares that while Lewis' followers are enthusiastic at the prospects of his waging a fight for the betterment of the miners of Western Maryland, the supporters of his Republican opponent, Representative Frederick N. Zihlman, are scouting the pledge as too ambitious to be achieved by any one member of Congress.

RATES HURT INDUSTRY.

Continuing his article, Mr. Barkley writes:

Lewis has made relief for the coal mining section of the district one of the chief planks of his unique campaign for return to the seat he held from 1911 to 1917. Although 200 miles nearer tidewater than any other mines in the country, these properties are now languishing from what Lewis holds are discriminatory freight rates and classifications.

It is obvious that any change in these rates brings up an agstruse and difficult subject, in which Congress usually lets the Interstate Commerce Commission have full sway. But Lewis' friends, recalling his mastery of the parcel post question and his forcing of an effective parcel post system into being, hold he has the ability to right the coal rate situation, too.

STILL A DRAMATIC STORY

Parcel post is an old story nowadays, of course, but the way it came into being is still a dramatic one.

Lewis, the ex-minebreaker boy, who had studied law at night while mining coal by day, first came to the House in 1911 as inconspicuously as many another new member. By the law of averages, the chances of his becoming any more conspicous within six or eight years was almost nil. But before his first term was ended parcel post had brought him his spurs as a national figure.

The question had been agitated—and bitterly fought by the express companies—for many years before Lewis entered the House. In 1911 the agitation had reached the point where a bill by Representative Sulzer, later Governor of New York, had gained considerable support.

TACKLED SUBJECT IN EARNEST

Lewis started studying this measure one day in his first term, particularly comparing its rates with current express charges.

Immediately Lewis tackled the subject in earnest, with the result that when the Sulzer bill came up he was fully prepared. As a new member he had been fortunate to get an opportunity to speak on the hill at all. But after his first half hour the Democratic leader moved to give him half an hour more. After the first hour the Republican leader got him another thirty-minute period. When Lewis had finished he had spoken nearly two hours; the sulzer bill was finished, too, and the Lewis bill enacted.

FEAT WINS RECOGNITION.

It was the first-termer's remarkable feat in putting over this measure that later led another Representative to say: "I have been in Congress for thirty-six years and in all that time I have never known a man to go as fast and as far as David. If I were to talk a week, I could hardly say more of one of the most remarkable men Maryland has produced."

To the Editor of The Republican.

Since my return from a trip thru the southwest and west, I have been requested to write of my visit to Salt Lake City. In compliance with this request I will write a brief sketch of that city and other localities visited.

I left Los Angeles, after a sojourn of three weeks, on May 10 for Salt Lake City and arrived in that city on May 11th, a distance of 784 miles.

Salt Lake City claims to have a population of 140,000, an altitude of 4200 feet above sea level. The city is well built, has an electric street car system, banks and a variety of mercantile establishments and all other conveniences in keeping with a busy city.

The first land irrigated is the land now occupied by the city.

Of course the great interest to visitors is the great Mormon temple and other buildings in connection with the Mormon faith.

The Salt Lake Temple, the largest and most costly of all, required forty years to build. It stands upon the spot selected by President Brigham Young four days after the arrival of the pioneers in the Salt Lake Valley. While walking over the barren ground with some of his associates, the president suddenly stopped and striking the point of his cane into the parched soil, said, "Here we will build the Temple of God."

The temple was begun on April 6, 1853, and completed April 6, 1893, at a cost of $4,000,000. It is 186 1-2 feet long by 99 feet wide. The foundation or footing walls are 16 feet thick and 8 feet deep.

The basement walls are 9 feet thick and the upper walls 6 feet thick. The side walls are 107 1-2 feet high. The east center tower stands 210 feet high surmounted by a hammered copper statue of the angel Moroni, 12 1-2 feet high and gilded with pure gold leaf.

The temple block is a ten-acre square, enclosed by a solid stone and adobe wall, 12 feet high and three feet thick, with large gates on each of the four sides. Within the walls are the great Mormon Temple, Assembly Hall, Tabernacle, Bureau of Information, Mausoleum and the First House built in Utah. It is one story high and is beneath a pergola which preserves it from the elements. The roof is composed of split logs in slab form. The building is about 15 by 20 feet in size. It has a small chimney, and in this house Capt. Howard Stanley, of the Topography California Engineers made his headquarters.

Each day except Sunday brief services are held in the Assembly Hall, and at the close of this service the 45-minute free musical program is given on the large organ in the Temple, said to seat thousands of worshippers.

I was told by an official member of the church that there were 60,000 Mormons in Salt Lake City and in the immediate vicinity of the city. In addition to the Temple there are within the city located at advantageous points, six Mormon chapels.

I was told by an official of the faith who was engaged in mowing a lawn in front of the Beehive House, which was originally occupied by Brigham Young, and his eighteen wives, that the members are now permitted to have but one wife, as they wanted to be loyal citizens, and the Government, under the law, forbids dual wives, and that the Mormon church also forbids dual marriages.

He stated they had one wealthy member who had two wives before this law was enacted, but now lives with but one, supporting the other.

Brigham Young was born June 1, 1801, and died in Salt Lake City on August 27, 1877, and was buried in a private cemetery near his old home. I was told by a member of the church that he was buried in a stone box and a two-ton granite block was put in cement covering it and that guards were stationed about the grave until the cement became firmly set.

I went to his grave and the granite block showed only six inches above the ground and an iron fence placed around the grave. Outside the iron fence are the graves of two of his wives, marked with plain granite slabs and nearby are the grave of his son and wife.

The church office building is large and is furnished in the interior in Utah marble. The guide in the building told me the building and gymnasium cost $3,000,000 and was dedicated in 1917. I remarked that the church likely had many wealthy members in order to erect such costly buildings. He said all members paid tithes and also the church bought much real estate in the early settlement at a low figure and now derives a large annual income.

The State University is located here in the city with 3,051 students.

The State capitol is situated on an elevation 4,500 above sea level. The capitol proper is 240 feet wide, 404 feet long and 285 feet high. There are 200 rooms and the total cost of the structure was $2,739,578.

In the basement is a block of coal 5 feet thick, 5 feet high and 10 feet long, mined from a coal vein 20 feet thick. On the first floor are located mounted animals from the buffalo to the smallest species, and also many specimens of minerals.

On the campus of the capitol is the Mormon Battalion monument to commemorate the contribution made by the 500 Mormon sodiers in the War with Mexico. The monument cost $200,000, of which $150,000 was supplied by the Women's Monument Society and $50,000 appropriated by the State Legislature.

Salt Lake, termed the Great Dead Sea, is located 18 miles west of Salt Lake City and reached by electric car. It covers an approximate area of 2140 square miles, being 50 miles wide and 75 miles long, with an average depth of 13 feet, but deeper in some places. Like the Dead Sea in Palestine, it is fed by the Jordan River, but has no known outlet other than by evaporation.

The salt shrimp is the only fish that is known to exist therein.

The water is 21 per cent salt and is condensed and evaporated into salt by process operated by a corporation.

I saw large ricks of salt five feet high in process of drying and many thousands of tons are shipped annually.

Near the lake is a copper smelting mine.

After a stay of one week in Salt Lake City, I left for Denver on the 18th of May at 6 a. m., and arrived in Denver the following evening, traveling a distance of 745 miles.

I found Denver a busy, hustling city, with all modern conveniences becoming a city of this size, with many banks and mercantile establishments.

On the outskirts of the city is located a large park with a zoo containing many species of wild animals, among which is a genuine Tedy bean, said to weigh 1000 pounds when fat.

Here also is the Denver museum with a large collection of minerals and many mounted animals.

The State capital is a large building and from its dome a good view of the city may be had.

After a stay of one week in Denver, I journeyed homeward, stoping two days in Lincoln, Nebraska, claim-75,00 inhabitants. Lincoln used the electric street cars and other facilities which makes it a good town.

Lincoln is the educational center of Nebraska. Here is located a number of elementary schools with an enrollment of 21,331 pupils. The State university is located in Lincoln and has an enrollment of several thousand students, and in addition there are a large number of church schools and colleges there which make the educational facilities an outstanding factor of Lincoln.

About three miles from the center of the town, just outside of the city limits, is located the Bryan memorial hospital, and having heard much of the Bryan farm, I took a trolly ear to the Bryan historic Fairview Home, located on a promintory, their gift with ten acres of land to the Methodist Lincoln Hospital, but after the death of Mr. Bryan, the name of the hospital was changed to the Bryan Memorial Hospital.

The superintendent very courteously showed me through the hospital, explaining its different sections. He stated there were 2100 applicants for treatment in the two years of its existance, but of course all couldn't be treated because of the present facilities. He showed me the plans drawn for all the units to be added, and when it is completed it will be very extensive. He stated the expenses for the additional units would be borne by free-will donations, and said that some Methodists had already given $5,000 each, and many similar donations were expected from other agencies. He stated that the Bryan House is used for the office and nurses' headquarters, and the officials have acquired an additional 5 acres of adjoining land for the building of a dormitory and nurses' training home.

I was told that the original Bryan farm consisted of 239 acres and that it is being sold in lots and small parcels by the Bryan estate.

I have used brevity to such an extent in describing the different localities in which I visited, that I feel that I have hardly done it justice.

The more I see of the United States, the more I am impressed with its greatness, and we all should be proud to be citizens of such a great and independent country.

channel about 10 to 30 miles off the coast of France and about 50 to 120 miles south of England. This group of islands is known as the Channel Islands. There are many islands in this group but the four principal ones are Jersey, Guernsey, Alderney and Sark.

They rank in importance as named. They are shunned by sailors because of the rocky, dangerous coast and because of the great variation in the height of the tide and its activity.

Jersey island is the largest and the most important. It is 12 miles long and 7 miles wide. It contains 37,580 acres of land of which 25,000 are under intensive cultivation.

The two main industries on Jersey island are the breeding of cattle and potato raising. The farms are small compared to those in America. They range from 5 to 20 acres. The soil, due to being kept in very good condition, is very fertile and a yield of 500 bushels of potatoes is very common. The tuberculosis among the cattle on the island is almost unknown. This can be attributed to the healthy surroundings in which the animals are kept.

Proof of the origin of the Jersey cattle is unknown but it is believed that they descended from the native stock of parts of France known as Normandy and Brittany. Although the Jersey cattle do not closely resemble the cattle of those regions today they have some things in common. The fawn and white color of the Jersey may be attributed to the Normandy cattle and the black color to the Brittany cattle. Thus, it is thought that the Jersey is the result of cross between these two French types of cattle.

In order to keep the Jersey cattle purebred on Jersey island, laws were made as early as 1763. The islanders began to improve the Jersey catle as early as 1833. In 1834 a society to improve the cattle was organized. A score card was prepared. This card was used at the first cattle show on the island. Judges at this show criticized many points of the cattle. The cards were changed from time to time and the cattle of Jersey island gradually were improved until the ideal type was developed.

The improvement of the Jersey cattle is contributed to members of the agriculture society and through the efforts of Col. Le Couteur who was a leader on the island. He advocated careful breeding and selection, thus the inferior animals were slaughtered and only the best type animals kept.

England also contributed its part to the development of the breed. The first volume of the English herd book was published in 1880. A Jersey herd was formed in England by Lord Braybrook in Essex county in 1811.

One of England's most celebrated breeders, Phillip Dawney of Horwood, Buckingham county, purchased his first Jersey in 1821. Dawney, it is said, bred for three main objects: 1. Large average butter production. 2. Constitution. 3. Infer color of hair, free from white.

The importation of the first Jersey cows from Jersey island is credited to Messrs. Faintor, Buck, Norton and their associates from Hartford, Connecticut. In 1850 these men brought over from the island the first cattle registered in the American herd book.

Today the Jersey cattle are divided into two classes. Namely, Island and American breeding. There have also been developed what may be known as families both of the Island and American types.

Some of the outstanding Island families are The Golden Lad family, descended from Sultane; Oxford family, descended from Oxford Daisy; Cowslip family from Cowslip. Tontaine family began with Tontaine; Financial Interest family from Interest; Rosette family traces back to Rosette through her daughter Rosette II.

Some of the outstanding American Jersey families are the Signal family, descendants of Pansy; Coomassie, descended from Coomassie who was imported in 1881. The Eurotas family descends from Eurotas who was born in 1874. The St. Lambert family which originated at St. Lambert, Quebec, Canada through an importation made from the Jersey islands in 1868. Other families are Combination Formentor, Snyda and Owl interest.

Characteristics of the Jersey cattle will be published in next week's issue.

VOLUME 52. OAKLAND, MD., SEPTEMBER 20. 1928. NUMBER 31.

PROSPERITY NO ACCIDENT SAYS HERBERT HOOVER

It Was Planned and Worked Out On Shrewd Party Policies Over a Period of Years

Newark, N. J., Sept. 17—In his address here tonight on Labor Problems, Herbert Hoover emphatically declared that this country's prosperity during the last seven years has been the result of carefully considered Republican governmental policies.

Mr. Hoover warned that a shift of government at this time owing to the fundamental differences in the avowed principles of government in the two parties might seriously interrupt the effectiveness of the policies to which he largely attributes prosperity.

"Ours is the only country," he said, "of which anything like such prosperity is true. Where other countries have barely succeeded in struggling back to pre-war bases, we have managed to improve our situation far beyond that, and in such a way as to reflect that improvement into conditions surrounding our humblest homes."

Mr. Hoover said in part:

Real wages and standards of living of our labor have improved more during the past seven and a half years of Republican rule than during any similar period in the history of this or of any other country.

When I speak of wages I refer both to those who work at the bench and those who work at the desk. Nor is this addressed to men alone. More than ten million women march to work every morning side to side with the men. I include also the woman who stays at home. She is a partner in the job and the wages.

The very foundation of economic progress to our industrial and business employees is full and stable employment. A continued surplus of unemployed workers means decreasing wages, increasing hours and fears for the future. To protect labor, to maintain its prosperity, to abolish poverty, we must so organize our economic

CREAMERY PRIZE CALF IS TO BE HERE ON MONDAY

Animal Will Be Given As Special Premium at County Fair

A purebred registered Jersey calf, which is to be given as a special premium by the Imperial Ice Cream Co. at the twelfth annual Garrett County Fair, will arrive in Oakland on Monday, according to George D. Sprague, manager of the local creamery, who received the information by telephone from J. H. Randolph, general manager of the Imperial Company, Parkersburg, yesterday afternoon.

The calf will be exhibited at the Fair grounds Tuesday, it was stated by Mr. Sprague.

According to the message from the headquarters of the company at Parkersburg, the calf will be given to the owner of the cow that shows the best dairy type and which has been in the possession bf the exhibitor for three months or longer. The winner is expected to keep the calf for two years or longer and raise registered stock to add to his own herd.

The special premium will be awarded on the day the cattle are judged. This will probably be the second day of the Fair, Wednesday, September 26.

The calf, which is being presented by Mr. Randolph through the local creamery company, will come from the stock farm of S. B. Tallman, of Washington Bottom, W. Va. It will be approximately six months old and was purchased at a cost of at least $125, Mr. Sprague said.

Frazee Family Reunion Held on Sunday.

The first Frazee family reunion was held last Sunday at a point on the State road near Friendsville at which approximately 300 members of the family with their friends gathered, coming from towns in Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania. A talk was given by the Baptist minister of Friendsville.

At a meeting held for the purpose of organization, William Frazee, of Friendsville, was elected president and William Frazee, of Oakland, secretary. George Frazee, of Confluence, Pa., was chosen treasurer. The officers will meet at some future date to arrange a program and fix the date for the next meeting.

Every day will be a day of interest to attendants at the Garrett Co. Fair.

INVENTOR PREPARING FOR RADIATOR SHIELD OUTPUT

Edward C. Lawrence Having Large Quantities Manufactured

Production of the Adjusto Radiator shield for automobiles in large quantities has been started by Edward C. Lawrence, its inventor, and quite a number of sales have already been made, is has been announced.

The Adjusto Radiator shield, for which a patent has been applied, is said to have many advantages over the shutter type of shield now in use on a number of cars. The shield was installed last winter on the inventor's car for test purposes and has proven to be entirely satisfactory, and now the new shield is being put on the market and it is expected the demand will be large in preparation for the winter months.

Made In Baltimore.

The frames for the shield are being made in Baltimore and then shipped to Oakland to the Lawrence Manufacturing Company where they are assembled and the finished product turned out. When completed the shields retail at $6 and can be installed on any radiator in thirty minutes at a very small cost, the owner stated.

The shield is nothing other than a winter shutter, controlled on the instrument board of any car and can be opened or closed or only partly opened, at the will of the driver.

The main advantage is said to be that when it is open it is really all the way open. Ther care no obstructions to the radiator and as a result the car will not heat during warm or extremely hot weather, while during the winter it is so arranged that it is almost impossible for the radiator to freeze. The shield closes from the base of the radiator where the water circulates the least and at which point the water or liquid is always the coldest.

Mr. Lawrence is now preparing to issue a booklet with illustrations of his invention shown in different positions—closed, half closed and entirely open and these illustrations will at once show the advantages over the shutter type of radiator shield. The shield is being demonstrated on a number of cars in Oakland and elsewhere in the State.

KNIGHTS TO HOLD STREET CARNIVAL HALLOWE'EN

This carnival will take the place of the annual Labor Day picnic which was deferred this year for reasons already stated.

At this carnival the Chevrolet car will be given away, A. G. Gortner, picnic manager, who has also been chosen as the carnival manager, stated yesterday.

Permission to rope off one of the streets has been asked of the Mayor and Council of Oakland and it is expected that either part of Alder street or part of Second street will be used.

Extensive plans are being made for this affair, particulars of which will be announced in The Republican next Thursday.

A SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS MEN'S DAY IS PROMISED

Third Day of Garrett County Fair to be Turned Over to Business Men of the Community

Promise of another successful Business Men's Day during the Garrett county agricultural fair was made yesterday by members of the committee in charge, who are planning to send a representative to each business and professional man in Oakland and vicinity and ascertain just how many floats may be expected for the parade.

The committee felt certain that there would be as large if not larger demonstration than last year when approximately sixty floats, extending for a distance of more than a half mile, paraded through the streets of Oakland to the Fair Grounds.

The cars and floats are to be lavishly decorated and are to be in line and ready for the parade at 1:30.

Line of March

The parade will form on Oak street east of Third and will cover all of that street to the beginning of the Mountain Lake Park road, if necessary, it was said yesterday by L. M. Fraley, chairman. The parade will then traverse Third street to Alder; Alder to Second; Second to Liberty and thence west on Liberty street to the Fair grounds.

It is urged by the committee in charge that every business house close at the appointed time and if not represented in the parade for the business men to follow it out to the Fair grounds and make the day a successful one in every respect.

Stores To Close

All the business houses and stores will close at 12 o'clock noon on the third day of the Fair and all persons interested in making the parade a success are expected to be in the formation not later than 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Cement Work Completed On Foundation For Gun.

All the cement work necessary for mounting the American Legion gun on the Court House lawn was finished Tuesday by J. W. Whorton, contractor, and as soon as this hardens, the gun will be raised in position, it was stated.

There will be an unveiling service soon after it is erected, according to I. R. Rudy, post commander of the Local Legion post, the exact date of which will be announced later.

The foundation for the gun has been placed in the northwest corner of the Court House lawn, and a cement walk leading from the main entrance has also been laid. The walk and gun will be inclosed by a small iron fence to prevent people from walking on the grass.

Mr. Rudy wished to announce to all Legion members that everybody who was in good standing could avail themselves of the privilege of purchasing a Springfield army rifle, model 1894, for $1.50. He also wished to announce that the Legion met every first and third Monday in the month.

SHEEP INDUSTRY WILL BE AIDED BY SPECIAL TRAIN

Will Start Tour of the Western Counties from Oakland—Two Stops to be Made in Garrett

Development and the further extension of the sheep industry, which has proved to be one of the most profitable branches of farming in Maryland during recent years, will be the main object of a special train to be operated by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in conjunction with the University of Maryland Extension Service and the United States Department of Agriculture the first week in October.

The train will begin its tour in Garrett county, one time leading sheep producing county of the State and still important in the number and the quality of its flocks. Two stops will be made in Garrett county, one at Oakland at 8:00 o'clock Wednesday morning, October 3, and one at Swanton at 2:00 o'clock the same afternoon.

The following day scheduled stops are planned for 8:00 o'clock in the morning at Hagerstown and for 2:00 o'clock at Gaithersburg. On Friday, October 5, the train will visit Ellicott City in the morning and be at Aberdeen that afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Exhibits of various kinds, particularly those dealing with the production and management phases of the sheep industry, will be carried in special cars aboard the train. The exhibits will be open to the public. In addition, special demonstrations to acquaint growers with some of the more common diseases and parasites of sheep will feature the program at the different stops. Short talks by specialists of the University of Maryland and the United States Department of Agriculture together with motion pictures will complete the program.

It is expected that sheep growers and farmers generally will take advantage of the opportunity to learn more about the essentials of sheep production, in view of the fact that the sheep industry in the east has shown signs of increasing stability in recent years.

Dairymen to Make Inspection of Washington Market.

Plans for taking a gron pof interested dairymen of Garrett county to Washington, D. C., the last week in September, are now being made by E. Stanley Haller, field representative of the Imperial Ice Cream Company, and George D. Sprague, manager of the local creamery.

The trip will be made in cars and an inspection of the dairy supply of the city will be made, Mr. Haller stated.

Mr. Haller and Mr. Sprague returned to Oakland on last Saturday from Washington where they had made a personal inspection and also made arrangements for the visit of the Garrett county dairymen to the National Capital.

The Leighton and Shaffer farm, located near Mountain Lake Park, is now ready for the inspection of the Washington market officials, all the necessary improvements having been completed.

EDGE OF TOWN BEING TURNED INTO RENDEZVOUS FOR CATS CARRIED TO CERTAIN POINTS AND THEN DROPPED

Farmers Have Been Complaining About Being Responsible for Others' Irresponsibilities

"Aren't they just the cutest little things?" Black, grey, calico, and most any color covering a number anywhere from four to eight. "I'd just love to keep that one, but of course we have so many cats now that I suppose we will have to get rid of these. The poor things, I ought to drown them but I haven't the heart. I'll just take them to the edge of town and drop them by the roadside."

And she does—and they all do—and they have been keeping it up all summer until The Republican office has been notified that the cat industry is becoming quite a nuisance, especially when they are all left behind in practically the same spot, just past the edge of town.

"Some of these kittens aren't old enough to get food for themselves and consequently starve to death," one of the complainers has stated. "Others, old enough to find food, frequently take a heavy toll from the chicken houses of farmers nearby and prey on the birds of the forest.

"And even if they don't find the chicken coop, who wants to keep an army of cats. They'll only turn into two armies before long and in a few short years, an open season on the feline species would have to be proclaimed by the game warden. (Providing of course the S. P. C. A. didn't try to interfere.)"

The Republican is no authority on the care of kittens or cats, but as this is the season for giving out advice, could it suggest the following?

If you like cats, keep them.

If you like the cats' kittens, keep them.

If you don't like cats' kittens, get rid of them either by shooting or drowning—not by taking them to the edge of town where somebody else must be responsible for your irresponsibility.

If you like cats but don't like the cats' kittens, and don't have the heart to get rid of them except by driving to the edge of town and dropping them—then— don't keep that kind of a cat.

CONFESSED FORGERTAKEN IN BY SHERIFF'S DEPUTIES

Is Said To Have Served Term in West Virginia Penitentiary

Harley Clegg, Parkersburg, West Va., about thirty years of age, was apprehended by Sam Cole and Joy Griffith, sheriff's deputies, last Thursday afternoon on a charge of forgery, and also being suspected of robbery in connecttion with the burglarizing of a store located at Wilson.

Clegg was caught a few minutes after he had had a check cashed at the store of A. D. Naylor & Co., for $25, the check being tendered in payment for merchandise valued at $5 and the balance given to him in cash by one of the store clerks. The check bore the name of C. H. Merrill as the maker and was payable to the order of a man supposed to bear the name of Sanders. Both the handwriting on the face of the check and the endorsement was the same

Following his arrest, Clegg was at once taken to jail pending a hearing. On the charge of forgery he waived a hearing and will be held for the December term of court.

On the charge of having burglarized the Merrill store at Wilson, he denied any participation and wanted a hearing which will be given as soon as he can get his witnesses summoned, but up to the present it is said at the sheriff's office he has made no effort to get in touch with any of these alleged witnesses.

It is said that Clegg was just recently discharged from the West Virginia penitentiary after having served a two-year term.

Alleged Robber Held for Court

Kennie Hinkle, home unknown, but who is said to have been ensnared by the graces and good looks of a mountain lassie that he proposed marriage and after being accepted looked about for the necessary articles to set up housekeeping.

As a result of the wiles of the little miss and the lack of judgment on the part of Kennie he is in the Garrett County Jail following his arrest one day last week on the charge of robbery. The accused youth is alleged to have entered the caboose of a Baltimore and Ohio freight train and stripped it of its furishings, including a stove, cushions and other necessary articles usually found in a well ordered Baltimore and Ohio caboose but which are not at all suuitable for the home of a loving bride. The robbery of the car is said to have occurred at a point along the railway near Hutton. Hinkle was apprehended by Sheriff Casteel and Deputy Griffith. He is said to have made a confession to the officers and will be held for the action of the grand jury in December.

Held Under $200 Bond.

Herbert Shipp, Morgantown, West Va., who was brought to Oakland last Tuesday by Deputy Sheriff Griffith on a charge of non-support, was given a hearing on Monday before Justice E. I. West, who held Shipp under a bond of $200 for his appearance at the December term of court after Shipp failed to procure security guaranteeing the payment of $7 per week for the support of his wife and children.

"Funds for the relief of the Porto Rico and Florida storm sufferers will be received by Mrs. J. C. Renninger, treasurer, Garrett Co. Chapter of the American Red Cross," Mrs. E. Z. Tower, chairman, stated to The Republican this morning.

Mrs Tower received a telegram yesterday from the National headquarters urging immediate assistance for the millions of those left homeless and destitute in the wake of the storm.

TWELFTH ANNUAL FAIR TO BE USHERED IN TUESDAY

Great Display of All Products Is Predicted by Henry M. Speicher, General Manager

Next Tuesday, September 25, will usher in the twelfth annual Garrett County Fair, the biggest and best of them all, according to H. M. Speicher, general manager this year, who predicts a greater display of all products to be made than in any former year.

Mr. Speicher is optimistic and enthusiastic over the prospects for this year's event and forcasts a greater fair than ever before.

The entries for live stock, poultry and horticultural exhibits promise a greater display with a better class of competition and it is said that many Garrett countians are keenly interested in this feature of the fair as well as that of the agricultural exhibits that are to be placed therein.

The Superintendents

Breeders and gardeners are expecting keen rivalry for the prizes offered and the ribbons to be awarded this year and every department of the Fair will be filled with exhibits of an improved type over those of former years.

The superintendents of the various departments who will be in charge are H. L. Porter, horses; Carl Frazee, cattle; W. H. Smouse, sheep; M. H. Moon, swine; N. C. Sanders and A. D. Naylor, poultry; George D. White, farm products; David Ridder, horticultural products; Mrs. H. A. Loraditch, elementary schools; J. L. McGlone, boys' and girls' club work; Mrs. E. I. West, household department; Mrs. C. A. Tower, domestic arts; J. L. McGlone, community or grange booths.

Parades Each Day of Fair

There will be a parade each day of the Fair beginning on Tuesday with "Automobile Day." The program committee for that day consists of Charles Reckard, Walter Janoske and Raymond D. Houck, and there will be prizes of $15, $10 and $5 for the best decorated cars or floats.

Wednesday, September 26, will be known as "School Day". There will be a school parade on that day in charge of Mr. F. E. Rathbun, County Superintendent of Schools, and he will be assisted by the helping and supervising teachers and principals of the various county high schools. On this day children and school teachers will be admitted free to the fair grounds.

Thursday, the third day, will be turned over to the business men of Oakland and community. The program committee is composed of Mayor L. M. Fraley, I. R. Rudy, Emroy Bolden, Harry Stemple and Blaine Giessman.

The closing day of the Fair will be given over to the farmers as Garrett County Farmers' Day, and will be in charge of J. L. McGlone, Carl Frazee, D. E. Orendorf, W. C. Welch, Harry Porter, B. C. Scott and Paul Friend. Special prizes will be given each of these days.

Free Acts Daily.

The Paretos Company will furnish free acts twice daily, consisting of acrobatics and high diving. The 20th Century Shows, cosisting of eight big tent shows and four rides will be on hand and furnish plenty of other entertainment and amusement.

The Crellin Boys' Band, Gilbert-Brown Boys' Band, Oakland, and the Oak Grove Band will be here during the four days' program and will render concerts at stated periods each day.

The grounds and all the buildings are now in the hands of cleaners and are being put in first-class condition for the opening of the Fair.

The buildings especially will be given a thorough cleaning and will be in a sanitary condition for this year's exhibits of live stock and other things to be shown.

"If the farmers of this community will only exhibit their products the Fair will be a wonderful success," Mr. Speicher said yesterday. "Crops generally have been very good this year in most of the sections of the county and there should be an exceptional showing of them at the Fair."

Carl Garlitz, 19 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Garlitz, Avilton, Garrett county, died at the Miners' Hospital, Frostburg, on Friday, following an appendix operation. The funeral was held Monday morning at 9:00 o'clock from St. Ann's Catholic church at Avilton. Interment was made in the church cemetery.

TWENTY-EIGHT LICENSES ISSUED DURING THE WEEK

Saturday Was Quiet But Other Days Busy Make Up For It

Although only nine marriage licenses were issued at the Court House in Oakland on Saturday the usual number during the other days of the week past brought the total to twenty-eight for the seven-day period, or three more than last week, when eleven were granted permits on Saturday.

This brings the total thus far during the present month to 71 and is less than half the number granted for the same month last year.

Two licenses issued were marked "don't publish," two were refused permits on account of the applicants being under the age requirement and one license was marked void when it was discovered that the license was good only in Garrett county.

system as to provide a job for all who have the will to work. Full employment depends upon vigorous co-operation by the Government.

Labor in its collective efforts has contributed greatly to the maintenance of proper wages and to improved conditions of labor. But collective bargaining cannot overcome the forces that make for unemployment. I, for one, am willing to trust the proved ability of employees to take care of their rights if there is employment to be had. And our workers as citizens at the ballot box have a large part in the determination of these economic policies. The problem of insuring full work all the time is a problem of national concern.

Keeping in Tune

Behind every job is a vast, intricate and delicately adjusted system of interlocked industries dependent upon skilled leadership and upon finding a market for their products at home or in foreign lands. Close down a New Jersey factory because of inadequate transportation or inadequate tariff and its effect is felt by the New Jersey truck farmer. Cease exporting automobiles to South America or Europe, and automobile workers are thrown out of employment in Michigan. The suffering does not stop there. It only begins. The steel mills slacken in Pennsylvania and Indiana. The mines employ fewer workers at Lake Superior. And every farmer in the United States suffers from the diminished purchasing power.

The modern relationships of government and industry are a tangled mass of economic and social problems. They are neither abstract propositions nor statistics. They are human.

The Republican Party has performed unparalleled service to the employees in our commerce and industry throughout its history and notably during the past seven and a half years. Continuous employment and prosperity of labor depend upon the continuance of those policies. The Republican Party recognizes this responsibility. Proof of this rests upon its actual record of accomplishment.

Unemployment in 1921

When we assumed direction of the Government in 1921 there were five to six million unemployed upon our streets. Wages and salaries were falling and hours of labor increasing. Anxiety for daily bread haunted nearly a quarter of our 23,000,000 families.

The Republican Administration at once undertook to find relief to this situation. At once a nation-wide employment conference was called. It was made up of representatives of both employers and employees. I had the honor to be chairman of that conference. We set up a program for systematic organization of business to restore employment.

Within a year we restored these five million workers to employment. But we did more, we produced a fundamental program which made this restored employment secure on foundations of prosperity. As a result wages and standards of living have during the past six and a half years risen to steadily higher levels. None of the larger countries engaged in the great war have yet restored full employment.

There have been assertions of wide unemployment at the present time. There was a temporary dip of employment last winter. From this we are now rapidly recovering. Its causes were local and temporary. An accurate survey of the Department of Labor showed that even including the usual winter seasonal unemployment, about 1,500,000 employees were out of work as contrasted with five to six million in 1921. During the past two months there has been a higher record of production and consumption of goods than during corresponding months of any previous year.

There are two industries which have only partially recovered to our general industrial prosperity. They are the bituminous coal and textile industries. Here the difficulties of recovery from over-expansion during the war have been increased by a duplication of part of both industries in the Southern States. They have also been affected by changes in use of textiles on one hand and by the increase of electricity on the other. We have a duty to continue effort to their full recovery by every assistance that the Government can afford. This will be carried forward diligently.

Despite these rare exceptions, the averages of real wages are higher today than ever before. And the arduous hours of labor have decreased.

Tariff

The first of our policies which have given security and expansion of employment has been the enactment of the protective tariff. The protective tariff has been a fundamental policy of the Republican Party ever since the party was founded. Against it the Democratic Party has battled for these same seventy years. Two months ago their platform hinted that they thought we might be right. However, they declared for a tariff that would maintain effective competition. That must mean a tariff which will maintain effective competition of foreign against American goods. That is not protection. That this is the moaning is borne out by references to the Underwood Tariff of the last Democratic Administration as the ideal. The re-enactment of that tariff would let in a flood of foreign goods, destroy employment and lower wages and demoralize our farmers.

Immigration

The Republican Administration imposed restrictions upon immigration largely to protect the American workman. With the bars of immigration down the flow of those seeking relief from the poverty of Europe would create a horde of job hunters around every employment office and industrial gate in the United States. The pressure of this flood would break our wages toward the levels of Europe.

No one places a higher worth upon the foreign-born citizen than I do. He brings many elements of great value in our cultural development. We welcome his help in building our new civilization. The immigration laws should be amended to remedy the hardships to families. I have urged before that this be done. In my Acceptance Speech I stated my opposition to any increase in immigration. The restriction upon immigration is a boon not only to those of my hearers who were born on American soil but to those who have come from the old countries, for every one would suffer equally by the lowering of our wages and standards of living.

We are exporting more goods abroad than ever in our history. We are gradually lowering the cost of living by greater efficiency.

There is no measure on our statute books today that represents a more fundamental, sound and important step in true progress than does this new charter of American labor. It is the necessary and natural companion piece of a protective tariff. In the one instance we protect the American workers from the goods of foreign factories, made under their lower standards of living. In the other case, we prevent the excess labor flooding through our doors to reduce the American wage.

Foreign Trade

We set out upon a definitely organized campaign to build up the export of the products of American labor and of the American farm. We reorganized the Department of Commerce for the promotion of American trade abroad on a greater scale than had ever been achieved or ever attempted by any government anywhere in the world. We mobilized our manufacturers and exporters; cooperated with them in laying out and executing strategic plans to expand our foreign trade in all directions. That this great part played by the government is no hypothetical assertion is amply evidenced by the fact that the daily applications for assistance by exporters to the Department have steadily increased from 500 daily in 1922 to an average of 10,000 a day in 1928. In the last year before the war our total exports were a little under $2,500,000,000. In 1922 the first year of the Republican Administration they were $3,750,000,000. During the year 1927 our exports were $4,750,000,000.

Now I want to clearly show what this means. It was not due to world recovery. If we make a survey of the world's trade today, we shall find that the export trade of all countries is only 10 per cent above pre-war, while ours is 58 per cent.

More than two million families in the United States earn their living today producing goods for export, and another million families earn their living in the manufacture of raw materials which we import in exchange for our exports. This increase in exports has brought a living to five hundred thousand families. This means more than statistics. It means higher standards of living—more jobs make more wages.

One of the large opportunities for the further improvement of labor lies in the further improvement of agriculture. Some of its most important branches have lagged behind industry in its advance since the war.

National Efficiency

American labor has been the first labor body in the world that has had the intelligence and courage to realize and express the fact that increased wages and salaries must in the long run be based upon a sharing of labor in the savings made through Industrial and commercial efficiency. Wages in that industry will rise, prices decrease, consumption increase at home and in our foreign markets, the demand for labor is enlarged and our standards of living improve.

Eight years ago I caused a nation-wide investigation to be undertaken of the whole subject. I felt that it was in the interest of our country to know what opportunities we had to improve our methods. It developed that there were great opportunities for increased efficiency in our whole industrial machine. We have the highest ingenuity and efficiency, in the operation of our individual industries, of any nation. Yet there were great wastes which were not the fault of individuals, employers or employees. These wastes were due to seasonal unemployment and to unemployment during depressions; to speculation and over-production during booms; to labor turnover and labor conflicts; to intermittent failure of transportation, of supplies, of fuel, of power and credit to synchronize with demand; to lack of simplification and standardization in many of our commonly used commodities; to losses in our processes and materials and scores of other directions. They all combined to represent a huge deduction from the goods and services and employment we might all enjoy if we could eliminate these wastes.

Co-operation

We adopted a new policy in government. That was, that the Secretary of Commorce should co-operate with industry in organization against such waste, not by law or regulation, but by purely voluntary action. We have had magnificent co-operation from the leaders and the employees of American

The Department of Labor should be authorized to undertake the collection of regular statistics upon seasonal and other unemployment. We must have this fundamental information for further attack upon this problem, from the further solution of which will come greater stability and prosperity.

We have gained enormously in efficiency in our whole economic machinery in the past seven years. I cannot take the time to recite to you the extraordinary evidence of this. I hesitate to express it statistically lest I appear to exaggerate. Taken as a whole we have swelled our production on a quantity basis by nearly 30 per cent. Parallel with it wages have risen and the prices of manufactured goods have fallen.

We see a great expansion in the automobile industry, in telephones and electric lights. In seven years we have seen the radio industry emerge from a few hundred thousand to hundreds of millions in its product. We have seen the aeroplane industry develop from almost nothing seven years ago, to a most potent industry today. Due to increased efficiency hundreds of thousands of men and women have been transferred from the factories to our expanding insurance and banking to take care of enlarged savings, other hundreds of thousands have been transferred to our filling stations, our garages, our hotels and our restaurants.

Employer and Employee

I have already stated the position of the Republican Party in positive support of free collective bargaining. I have stated that it is necessary to impose restrictions on the excessive use of injunctions. It is my desire and the desire of every good citizen to ameliorate the cause of industrial conflict, to build toward that true co-operation which must be the foundation of common action for the common welfare. The first requisite to less conflict is full employment. By full employment we are steadily reducing conflict and loss.

He would be a rash man who would state that we are finally entering the industrial millenium, but there is a great ray of hope that America is finding herself on the road to a solution of the greatest of all her problems. That problem is to adjust our economic system to our social ideals.

It is idle to argue that there are no longer any conflicts of interest between employee and employer. But there are wide areas of activity in which their interest should coincide, and it is the part of statesmanship to organize and increase this identity of interest in order to limit the area of conflict. Conflict diminishes and common purpose flourishes only in prosperity and in an encouraging atmosphere of sound governmental policies.

At such a time as this a change in national policies involves not—as some may lightly think—only a choice between different roads by either of which we may go forward, but a question also as to whether we may not be taking the wrong road and moving backward. The measure of our national prosperity, of our stability, of our hope of further progress at this time, is the measure of what we may risk through a change in present policies. More than once in our national history a change in policies in a time of advancement has been quickly followed by a turn toward disaster.

EXTRA WRONG FONTS

By Scoop

The Wrong Picture.

Thane O. "Pin" White said he didn't mind having his own picture in the paper but that Scoop had made a mistake last week and got "Soup" Davis' instead. So as Scoop wouldn't have that happen for anything, he prints the original of "Pin" as he should have been.

Don't Crowd!

"Daughters Conduct Unveiling Service," reads a headline in a Morgantown paper.

The Trip Spoiled Him.

Col. Bell has been gadding about too much of late, especially last Sunday, and he wasn't able to take more than one picture this week, and Scoop had no choice but to print it. Col. started on a joy tour Sunday and had a wonderful time up until the time it happened. No, it didn't fall apart altogether. There were enough pieces left to have it hauled in. On Monday and Tuesday, instead of repairing rolls of films, he was busily engaged in H. A. Loraditch's garage operating on what was left.

The Cat Industry.

Scoop got a rival photographer last week following a complaint of a number of people living just beyond the "rhuharbs" of Oakland that too many feline species had been dropped near them. This fellow, although not nearly so good as the Col., did get a picture of one of the men just as he was dropping one of the cats along the highway. Scoop hopes that the S. P. C. A. gets after the miscreant, even if it is none other than Col. Bell himself.

The only explanation is that Col. has been attending a number of reunions this summer and it is supposed that those wishing to get rid of their pussies hired him as an accomplice at an outlandish figure. As the Col. has a weak heart and couldn't think of drowning them he started the practice of populating the outskirts of Oakland.

Caught in the Act.

Busy? I'll Say So.

The following was the lone picture captured by the Col. this week, and will serve admirably to show just what a busy man a fair manager can be. As the old saying goes, he's as busy as a one-armed paper hanger with the hives, and Scoop is here to say that anybody who takes over the job of managing the fair, has a job on his hands.

He hardly had time to pose for this picture as he was on his way to the Fair Grounds to see that the mayor's reviewing stand was not being built near the stable.

Not a Milk Cow.

May See It Next Week.

Scoop has been trying to get in touch with Inventor Lawrence so that he could have an exclusive photograph of his radiator shield, but this will have to be deferred for one week. If the weather continues to get colder at the same rate is has for the past two or three days a covering for the whole car will have to be invented.

No Explanation Needed.

The following picture needs not much explanation. It is the gay and joyous countenance of Oscar Notes, chief custodian of the Court House and its lawn, just after the American Legion Gun had been pushed across the grass, leaving a trench about a foot deep in its path. None of the Legionaires were present or, according to their own stories, they could have carried it across the lawn.

BITTINGER.

One night last week some person or persons entered the garage on the John Klotz farm, near this village, and stole two good tires and tubes from Mr. Klotz's automobile. No clue has been found leading to the identification of the thieves.

Davis, of Grantsville, performed the operation, and at this time the child is resting quite comfortably.

A number of the people of this community attended the picnic at Meadow Mountain last Saturday but the untimely rains spoiled the enjoyment of the people and the success of the day.

Roy Hetrick and family and Nevin Broadwater and family, of Grantsville, spent Sunday with relatives near here.

TRYING TO EXPLAIN THE MAINE RESULT.

Efforts by Democratic leaders and newspapers to explain the Republican sweep in Maine are rather amusing. Just the same old story of a Republican state going Republican, some of them say. A case of the Dutch capturing Holland. Despite the Republican effort to get out the vote, the total was 40,000 or so less than in the September campaign of 1924.

That, they argue, shows apathy.

Really? If so, where is the apathy located? Four years ago the Republican majority was 36,655. This year it is approximately 82,000. The Republicans polled almost exactly the same total in both years. The slump of 1928, therefore, is on the Democratic side. If all of the 40,000 votes had been cast for the Democratic candidate the Republicans would still be more than 40,000 to the good.

But it is too great a stretch of the imagination to presume that Democrats alone remained away. Of course, there were thousands of Republicans who for one reason or another did not go to the polls. But for each of these a Democrat appeared with a ballot in his or her hand. Or if a Republican bolted to the other side a Democrat likewise bolted in the opposite direction. Facts are stubborn things, and the facts are that all along the line the Democrats were routed. Not only was a Republican Governor elected, but a United States Senator and the four members of Congress to which the state is entitled were chosen. And so sweeping was the victory that not a Democrat is left in the State Senate, while half a dozen of the twenty-two Democratic Representatives have disappeared under the debris.

Excuses that local questions were paramount are childish. The contest was drawn on national lines. "The campaign," declares the Republican National Committeeman of Maine, Joseph W. Simpson, "was fought very largely on national issues which will be the same issues in the November Presidential canvass. The people voted their confidence in President Coolidge and his successor, Herbert Hoover. Maine held the first test upon those issues."

A striking feature of the contest was the attitude of the women. There was a marked desertion of Democratic women from their party, which is one more indication of the claim that fully seventy per cent. of the female voters throughout the country are opposed to Mr. Smith and in favor of Mr. Hoover.

The women are going to play an exceedingly strong hand at the November polls.

Informal Meeting of Republican Workers Held Last Night.

Last night at the Frantz Hotel in Oakland an informal dinner was tendered by the Republican County Committee at which Congressman Zihlman was the guest of honor. Representative Republicans from nearly all the districts of the county were present and plans for the coming campaign were informally discussed, nearly everyone present taking part. Senator Naylor and Assemblymen Markley, Lawton and Green were also present.

A like meeting of the Democratic leaders of the county was also held last night at the William-James Hotel which was attended by members of that party from several of the outlying districts. Mr. Wm. E. Walsh, of Cumberland, was present and made an address.

Grange To Meet Tonight.

A continuation of the plans for a booth at the Garrett County Fair will be made at another meeting of the Pleasant Valley grange tonight at their hall. A program of interest has also been arranged, it was stated.

At a meeting held last Thursday, it was decided to have a booth at the fair this year, and plans for this were started immediately. Last year the Pleasant Valley Grange won first prize. Thomas Graser was appointed as lecturer of the organization. About 25 were present at the meeting and everyone had something to say during the course of the evening. A short program was also rendered.

The Road Ahead as Seen by This Contributor Who Occasionally Sends Communications to The Republican

To the Editor of The Republican.

The road ahead is jammed with traffic: trucks, machines loaded with luggage and filled with people, flashing roadsters and light sedans. But they all spell one word, that of the little girl who moaned, "Holiday is over."

School or its equivalent is before and , straight or curved or with detours, stretches the road ahead.

That road which might be marked "world of 1928-29" is also jammed. Nineteen twenty-eight has been a year full of events. The tremendous changes in China—to take a country through which that year wound eventfully—success of the Nationalist party; consolidation of South and North China republics; change of capital from Peking to Nanking; death of the war lord Chang; migrations from Shantung province into Manchuria, detour of relations between Japan and China over Manchuria; new educational movements; advice by her forty year old leaders that Chinese youth should adhere to morality and secure the advantages of scholarships; and many other points in which these are only hills or high lights.

In Europe, and immediately ahead, the meeting at Geneva of the Council of the League of Nations and the discussions there of the Rhineland evacuation, the Dawes plan revision and other political roads to peace.

Also the annual meeting of the Assembly of the League of Nations and another session of the Preparatory Commission on Disarmament instituted by the League. These sessions at Geneva will all feel a new stimulus from the reported agreement as to naval limitations between France and Great Britain and the signing of the multilateral treaty.

The multilateral treaty brings one immediately back to America and here shows first of all the ratification of the multilateral treaty by the Senate. Already the questioning word has been sounded; what is the Senate going to do? Senator Borah, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs, declared that if the treaty on outlawry of war were signed this summer, it would be immediately taken up by his committee when Congress met in December. His subsequent words were such as to hold out promise of favorable consideration.

True a presidential campaign, its trucks loaded with unusual questions, crowds the way; yet a presidential campaign cannot crowd off the road the important matters which must flash by, out of the ruck, and on. No campaign today can stultify progress of thought. Rather such thoughts and developments may prove good hitch-riders, using first one machine and then the other, but always getting on and ahead.

Along with the ratification of the multilateral treaty come the Pan-American Conference, the air service conference, the proposed changes in the State Department. These all ally themselves with the cause of peace. Those who desire the outlawry of war—permanently—may have careful driving ahead of them, for there will be bad places in the road, long detours of discussion and opposition. But it is expected that many questions of the western hemisphere will be settled amicably and justly at this Pan-American conference and that air service may be studied in terms of usefulness and peace, and that the multilateral treaty may become a permanent stone marking the long road which leads at last to world peace.

For this great road those of this generation must be road makers as well as travelers. This is especially true of America and of the road ahead.

MANY THINGS DISCUSSED AT CIVIC CLUB MEETING

Health Nurse Makes Report and Senator Naylor Makes Address

A number of interesting things transpired at the September meeting of the Oakland Civic club held at the Court House on Tuesday afternoon. A donation of $10 was subscribed for the Garrett County Public Library. A program of study, which is under the direction of Mrs. Harold Harned, the chairman of education, was decided upon.

It was also decided that for the coming year, the meetings each month would be held at the home of some member. Miss Mary Drake Naylor will entertain the club at her home at its next meeting on October 30.

Miss Rhesa King gave a report of work done for crippled children. Since the orthopedic clinic, June 1, fourteen children have been treated in the children's hospital in Baltimore. The Civic club plans to assist Miss King with another clinic in October.

Senator A. D. Naylor, in response to the invitation of the club, discussed the two questions on which all citizens are to vote at the coming election, giving both sides. The papers were carefully prepared and are expected to be published next week.

Maryland Tuberculosis Association Clinic

A clinic for diseases of the chest will be conducted in the school building at Kempton, Wednesday September 26, at 10:30 a. m. Individuals complaining of any of the following: Cough, expectoration of blood (spitting), tired feeling, loss of weight and appetite, indigestion, hoarseness, etc., should see their family physicians and obtain permission to attend clinic at the place announced above.

Mr. H. C. Buckingham, who has recently been appointed district forester of Western Maryland, has been making a study of forest conditions in this county. He hopes to work out some plan that will eliminate the forest fires which cause a great deal of damage to property and destroy large numbers of game birds. Last spring it will be recalled that numerous fires near Oakland occurred and had it not been for the services of the Oakland Fire Department many acres of valuable timber would have been destroyed. It is therefore Mr. Buckingham's hope to at least establish a better telephone system so that the wardens may be notified when fires start.

CLEAN-UP IS ADVISED TO CHECK THE BEAN BEETLE

All Trash Should Be Burned Is Precaution Given

Farmers and gardeners, who have been damaged by the ravages of the Mexican beetle, and who are interested in doing all they can to escape trouble from the pest next year, are urged by the Extension Service Bureau of the University of Maryland to give a thorough clean up of all truck gardens, cowpea and soybean fields this fall, and care in selecting seed next spring.

In a bulletin furnished by County Farm Agent J. L. McGlone, it is stated these precautions will apply to all sections of the State.

Avoid Pole and Climbing Bean.

The cleanup should include a thorough plowing of any bean field or patch which will bury all hibernating insects and conserve the vegetable matter for the enrichment of the soil.

After this, all trash from sprout patches, ditch banks and uncultivated terraces should be raked together and burned so that the shelter which would be most favorable for the beetles through the winter will be entirely destroyed.

Lastly, it is advised that in the spring when the beans are selected for the garden only bush or bunch varieties of both snap and lima beans be used and those should be planted as soon as possible. All pole or climbing varieties should be avoided.

First Aid Meeting Held.

A safety-first and first-aid meeting was held yesterday in the office of the C. & A. Gas Company, Oakland, at which time the Oakland committee was organized, consisting of R. R. Gilbert, chairman; R. H. Brown, secretary; W. L. Davis and J. D. Sisler, committee.

The first-aid cabinet was examined by all present and instructions given in the use of its contents. A team for stretcher drill was organized and a rehearsal followed. The next meeting will be held on October 3 in the City Hall at which time the Stanley Coal Company's team and the Gas Company's employes of the Thomas division will be present.

Mr. Gilbert will leave tomorrow for Bluefield West Va., to attend the West Virginia State Mine Safety day convention and he will get information to carry back to his employes. Mr. C. W. Ream, of the Stanley Coal Company, Crellin, and the Crellin Boys' Band will also attend the meeting.

Oakland Schools May Open Middle of Next Week

Oakland Elementary and High Schools and the schools of this vicinity will open abont the middle of the coming week, F. E. Rathbun, county superintendent, announced this morning, provided everything is satisfactory by that time.

St. Peter's Parochial school, Oakland, opened Monday with an enrollment of forty per cent of the attendance. There were two changes in the teaching staff of this school this year.

Lesson for September 23

THE CHRISTIAN BASIS OF TOTAL ABSTINENCE

Temperance Lesson.

LESSON TEXT—I Cor. 8:1-13.

GOLDEN TEXT—Let no man seek his own but every man another's wealth.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Helping Others to Keep God's Law.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Helping Others to Keep God's Law.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Abstinence for the Sake of Others

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Christian Standard of Social Conduct.

In this section of Scripture Paul is bringing to view the great doctrine of Christian liberty and forbearance. The occasion of this teaching was the uncertainty as to the right attitude for Christians to take toward things sacrificed unto idols.

I. The Idol Is Nothing (vv. 1-6)

Intelligent people know that an idol is nothing but a piece of timber or stone. They know that there is only one God, the creator and sustainer of all things. Since an idol has no real existence, the eating of such meat is a matter of indifference. It should be borne in mind that the principle stated in this section has reference to things which are in themselves wrong. Strictly speaking, therefore, this teaching cannot be applied to indulgence in intoxicating liquors. To do so would be a perversion of Paul's meaning. The indulgence in intoxicating liquors, the use of tobacco, etc., are things wrong in themselves because they injure the human body. The holding of stock in certain corporations and having partnership in illegal business are things that are wrong in themselves. In applying this principle to the use of intoxicating liquors, this should be borne in mind. The principle can be applied only to things which are in themselves harmless.

II. Not All Christians Have Maturity of Discernment (vv. 7, 8).

Uninstructed Christians were still possessed of the conviction that an idol was really a living and powerful being. For those persons to sit down to a social meal where such meat was eaten would be to expose themselves to the liability of being brought again under bondage to their sins.

III. The Christian's Behavior in Such Cases (vv. 9-13).

1. He should take heed lest his liberty become a stumbling block (v. 9).

2. Liberty must be curtailed for the sake of the weak brother (vv. 10, 11).

3. To disregard this is to sin against our brethren (v. 13).

To disregard our brother's interest is to sin against Christ, for it is sinning against the one for whom Christ died. To place a stumbling block in the way of the believer is a terrible crime. In enforcing this, three important considerations are brought out:

(1) The fate of the weak brother (v. 11).

He perishes. Human sympathy, let alone Christian love, would cause a man to give consideration to his conduct lest he cause such a loss.

(2) The relation of the man to his slayer. He is his brother.

(3) What Christ did for the "weak brother."

Christ died for him; therefore to sin against a brother is to sin against Christ, because the brother is a member of Christ's body.

IV. The Teaching Illustrated in Paul's Life (ch. 9).

At Corinth Paul worked with his own hands lest his mission to them should be misjudged. While he vigorously contended for his right to ask for support of them, he refrained from asking. By means of his own labors and the donations which he received from the Macedonian churches he was able to boast that he had not been chargeable to them.

V. The Teaching Applied (10:23-33).

1. Christians may indulge in lawful things only as they are expedient and unto edification (v. 23).

2. Let no man seek his own, but each his neighbor's good (v. 24).

The principle of love is unselfishness.

3. Whether therefore ye eat or drink, do all to the glory of God (v. 31).

The Christian is not at liberty to do that upon which he could not ask God's blessing.

4. Give no occasion for anyone to stumble (v. 32).

We should so live that no one can ever say that we have been the occasion of his downfall.

5. Follow the example of Jesus Christ (11:1).

Christ gave up all for the sake of others.

The Road of Good Works

The road of good works is blocked by our past sins, and it is sure to be further blocked by our future sins; we ought, therefore, to rejoice that God has commended to us the open road of faith.—Spurgeon.

Thank God

Thank God for a gospel that sings itself into our daily lives, and that bids us sing away sorrow and care! Sin has no such hymns.—Clarence Eberman.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN.

J. L. M'GLONE,
Resident County Agent,
Office, Court House.

In continuation of his series of articles, being written by J. L. McGlone, especially for The Republican, he takes up this week the characteristic of Jersey cattle. He writes:

In general conformation the Jersey is lean and muscular, conforming to the dairy type. The head should be lean and fairly short, broad between the eyes and muzzle, and dish-faced, both with male and female, to a greater degree than with other common breeds. The eyes are naturally of good size and prominent, in some instances being so bulging, or "pop-eyed", as it is termed, as to appear abnormal. The horns vary in form, but those of the bull should be short and strong, curving around forward and upward and slightly inward, while those of the cow should be smaller and perhaps longer, with more curve.

A white or amber colored horn with blackish tip is the approved sort, and when yellow tinted is assumed by many to indicate richness in butter fat. The shoulders tend to be a bit prominent, the withers narrow and refined and the chest deep and of moderate thickness. Too many Jerseys are narrow chested and lack spring of front rib, a common criticism. The back should be strong and well supported, with little if any droop, the ribs well sprung and long, the entire body showing comparatively large size and strong reproductive and digestive capacity. The hips should be fairly broad in the cow, but not in the male; the rump long, wide and level; the thighs thin and muscular and set wide apart; the hocks and feet carried straight with ample room to allow a large udder between. Jerseys tend to be narrow at the rump, as viewed from behind, and cow-hocked. The udder is usually mellow and milks well, but it has been subjected to considerable criticism for its small size as well as small teats. The form of the udder has been much improved in recent years, especially in the extension of the fore quarters, although these are still frequently elevated and abbreviated. The milk veins no doubt attain as great relative size and prominence with the Jersey as any breed, often being very tortuous long and comparatively large.

The color of the Jersey is usually referred to as fawn, but it is variable in shade, being yellowish, reddish, grapish, brownish or silvery fawn. Some are described as orange or lemon fawn, and others as squirrel gray or mulberry black. White as a whole does not occur, but white marks are quite common, although a body of solid fawn is preferred. Brindle, a rare color, is objected to and should cause disqualification. The hair about the muzzle and eyes is usually of a creamy or grayish shade, and a light tone frequently occurs along over the spine.

In registering Jerseys it is necessary to specify whether the tongue is white or black, or the switch white or black, these being marks of identification. Where color is made a point of importance in the breeding of a herd, a dark fawn, shading to light along the backbone and the lower limbs, meets with much favor, though solid colors of light fawn are also very popular. The most experienced and able breeders do not place primary emphasis on color, always making it secondary to the more important features, color being a fancy point and of no real value. The skin secretions are usually quite yellow, and as seen in the ear, at tip of tail, and about the udder, indicate something of the richness of the milk. The skin itself should be thin, very elastic and mellow, and with a fine thick coat of hair. The size of the Jersey may be classed as small to medium, with a tendency in breeders to secure a medium sort.

Early maturity of the Jersey is more marked than with any other common breed of cattle. Repeated cases are on record of Jersey females, through accident, having the first calf before three hundred and sixty-five days old. Both males and females develop rapidly and are often in service too early for the good of the herd or breed. Occasionally one will find a herd of Jerseys, where the owner has bred heifers to come fresh at 18 to 20 months old. In these herds one is impressed by the small size and runty appearance of the cows. The wiser and more thoughtful breeders of today plan to have their heifers come fresh about thirty months old, depeding somewhat upon the vigor and size of the animals to be bred. A greater vitality and producing capacity is thus secured.

The adaptability of the Jersey to a wide range of conditions is well established. While the breed has its native home on an island with a very mild climate, one finds important herd of Jerseys under a great variety of conditions. In America there are herds at wide extremes of latitude and altitude, for in the cold Northland and the sunny South and on the low prairies of Texas and the high altitudes of the western Rockies do we find Jerseys successfully established. Without question this breed readily adjusts itself to its environment, not only in America but also in various other countries.

The prolificacy and vitality of the Jersey may be regarded as very fair, and in those herds long continued under uniform management the cows of this breed produce with reasonable regularity. Under average conditions the Jersey may be expected to produce one calf a year, and while twins occasionally are dropped they are the rare exception.

The temperament and disposition of the Jersey may be viewed from the sex standpoint in two ways: The cows are very mild and gentle of disposition and are easily handled when given kindly care. The bulls, however, tend to be nervous and irritable and need to be handled with much care and discretion. Even on the island where the cows have the most friendly relationship with the caretakers, the bulls are nervous and are given very restricted liberties. There are examples of males of the breed that are quiet and tractable, but in general the bulls of none of our other breeds of cattle are so nervous and require such careful watching and restriction as does the Jersey. Age does not seem to modify the disposition of the average bull of the breed, and the wise Jersey cattleman will take no chances with his bull.

The prepotency of the Jersey is one of its striking characteristics. Both form and color are transmitted from generation to generation in a marked degree. In well-established herds, where systematic breeding is attempted, one may find striking evidences of this prepotency, notably in head, udder and color. Used on grade herds the Jersey bull impresses himself on his offspring to such an extent that the herd takes on all the external evidence of the pure-bred.

The Jersey in crossing or grading may be used to great advantage, at least in the latter way. There are many high-grade Jersey herds in the country that are very profitable producers of butter and milk. If bulls of proper breeding and individual merit are used on native cows very superior dairy herds should result. If crossed with other breeds the Jersey should be used under conditions that are not too violent as extremes. The author has seen some very attractive examples of using a Dexter bull on Jersey cows in which small dairy cows of very milky character were produced.

Why not select Cement?

THE woodwork shows, so you're very particular about it when you are building or making improvements. Cement does not always show, so you don't give it much thought. Yet stop to consider that if the cement is not right most anything may happen to your building.

Because cement is just as important in a little job as in a big one, you should select Security Portland Cement. Its quality is always the same and we can stand back of it. Security is made at Security, Md.; we always have it on hand and can get any quantity quickly. Be safe and select Security.

Lesson for September 23

THE CHRISTIAN BASIS OF TOTAL ABSTINENCE

Temperance Lesson.

LESSON TEXT—1 Cor. 8:1-13.

GOLDEN TEXT—Let no man seek his own but every man another's wealth.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Helping Others to Keep God's Law.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Helping Others to Keep God's Law.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Abstinence for the Sake of Others

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Christian Standard of Social Conduct.

In this section of Scripture Paul is bringing to view the great doctrine of Christian liberty and forbearance. The occasion of this teaching was the uncertainty as to the right attitude for Christians to take toward things sacrificed unto idols.

I. The Idol Is Nothing (vv. 1-6)

Intelligent people know that an idol is nothing but a piece of timber or stone. They know that there is only one God, the creator and sustainer of all things. Since an idol has no real existence, the eating of such meat is a matter of indifference. It should be borne in mind that the principle stated in this section has reference to things which are in themselves wrong. Strictly speaking, therefore, this teaching cannot be applied to indulgence in intoxicating liquors. To do so would be a perversion of Paul's meaning. The indulgence in intoxicating liquors, the use of tobacco, etc., are things wrong in themselves because they injure the human body. The holding of stock in certain corporations and having partnership in illegal business are things that are wrong in themselves. In applying this principle to the use of intoxicating liquors, this should be borne in mind. The principle can be applied only to things which are in themselves harmless.

II. Not All Christians Have Maturity of Discernment (vv. 7, 8).

Uninstructed Christians were still possessed of the conviction that an idol was really a living and powerful being. For those persons to sit down to a social meal where such meat was eaten would be to expose themselves to the liability of being brought again under bondage to their sins.

III. The Christian's Behavior in Such Cases (vv. 9-13).

1. He should take heed lest his liberty become a stumbling block (v. 9)

2. Liberty must be curtailed for the sake of the weak brother (vv. 10, 11)

3. To disregard this is to sin against our brethren (v. 13).

To disregard our brother's interest is to sin against Christ, for it is sinning against the one for whom Christ died. To place a stumbling block in the way of the believer is a terrible crime. In enforcing this, three important considerations are brought out:

(1) The fate of the weak brother (v. 11).

He perishes. Human sympathy, let alone Christian love, would cause a man to give consideration to his conduct lest he cause such a loss.

(2) The relation of the man to his slayer. He is his brother.

(3) What Christ did for the "weak brother."

Christ died for him; therefore to sin against a brother is to sin against Christ, because the brother is a member of Christ's body.

IV. The Teaching Illustrated in Paul's Life (ch. 9).

At Corinth Paul worked with his own hands lest his mission to them should be misjudged. While he vigorously contended for his right to ask for support of them, he refrained from asking. By means of his own labors and the donations which he received from the Macedonian churches he was able to boast that he had not been chargeable to them.

V. The Teaching Applied (10:23-33).

1. Christians may indulge in lawful things only as they are expedient and unto edification (v. 23).

2. Let no man seek his own, but each his neighbor's good (v. 24).

The principle of love is unselfishness.

3. Whether therefore ye eat or drink, do all to the glory of God (v. 31).

The Christian is not at liberty to do that upon which he could not ask God's blessing.

4. Give no occasion for anyone to stumble (v. 32).

We should so live that no one can ever say that we have been the occasion of his downfall.

5. Follow the example of Jesus Christ (11:1).

Christ gave up all for the sake of others.

The Road of Good Works

The road of good works is blocked by our past sins, and it is sure to be further blocked by our future sins; we ought, therefore, to rejoice that God has commended to us the open road of faith.—Spurgeon.

Thank God for a gospel that sings itself into our daily lives, and that bids us sing away sorrow and care! Sin has no such hymns.—Clarence Eberman.

Why not select Cement?

THE woodwork shows, so you're very particular about it when you are building or making improvements. Cement does not always show, so you don't give it much thought. Yet stop to consider that if the cement is not right most anything may happen to your building.

Because cement is just as important in a little job as in a big one, you should select Security Portland Cement. Its quality is always the same and we can stand back of it. Security is made at Security, Md.; we always have it on hand and can get any quantity quickly. Be safe and select Security.

ATTRACTIVE EXHIBIT MAY BE SEEN AT HEALTH ROOM

Miss Rhesa King, County Public Health Nurse, Has Splendid Display at Fair Grounds

Equipment required for the proper care of babies is the dominant note of the display being exhibited by Miss Rhesa M. King, public health nurse, on the second floor of the exhibit building at the Garrett County Fair. This display is augmented by many additional suggestions on health; a map of Garrett county showing the improvement made in health work since 1922; a pictorial railroad trip through Healthland; scrapbook and literature on the orthopedic work in this county, and other things of interest to the average woman.

During the past two years this room in the exhibition building has been given over to Miss King for use in health work and she has made use of the privilege by presenting well arranged and educational exhibits each year.

The baby equipment consists of a baby layette, loaned by Sincell's store; the equipment necessary for a formula-fed baby; the equipment necessary for the proper care of the baby; the equipment necessary for baby baskets and the probable cost of the same, etc.; scales for weighing the baby and an arrangement for measaring; and a first-aid medicine cabinet.

Scrapbook Interest.

In the scrapbook on orthopedic work in this county since 1922, several photographs are shown of some of the patients before taking treatment in the Baltimore hospital and after they had been practically reformed. The book also contains clippings from the local newspapers concerning the progress of the work.

The comparative cost of a bed table for convalescents and the proper height for a bed are shown in one corner of the room, while on a table are numerous pamphlets and folders about child care, personal hygiene and protection from various forms of disease.

The map of Garrett county with the colored pins at certain points shows the advance that has been made since last year, including the number of tuberculosis clinics, child welfare clinics, orthopedic clinics, communities receiving toxin-antitoxin treatment for diphtheria, etc.

The pictorial railroad trip through Healthland is hung over the fireplace in the room and shows the daily trip that a child should take if he or she is to be and remain healthy.

Maryland's License Tags To Be White on Dark Green

Maryland's color combination for automobile license plates in 1929 will be white on dark green, according to a survey by the American Motorist, official publication of the American Automobile Association. Thirty-nine states will change the color combination and twenty-three different motifs will be used.

Six states and the District of Columbia will use yellow on black, making it the leading choice. West Virginia will use the orange on black combination, which will be used also in five states. There is a decided trend toward darker colors, it is revealed.

Club House At Green Glade Camp Is Completed.

Construction work on a club house at Green Glade camp, on Deep Creek Lake, two miles west of Swanton, in this county, has been completed and the building has been given a coat of paint.

The structure, twenty-six feet square, provides four sleeping rooms and has a large porch overlooking the lake. It will be used to house visitors at the camp until the club members have constructed cottages for their own use.

The camp is situated on the Bloomington-Oakland road and is located about four miles from the crossroad to Swanton. Along the water's edge there is a grove of pine trees and further back a variety of shade trees. Several springs are also found on the twelve and one-half acre camp site.

ALLEGED AUTO JACK WAS ARRESTED YESTERDAY

David DeWitt, of Near Oakland, Now in County Jail Here

David DeWitt, about 23 years of age, living near Oakland, was again arrested early yesterday morning by Sheriff Casteel and Deputy Sheriff Joy Griffith on a charge of stealing an automobile and was lodged in jail pending a hearing.

The warrant issued for the arrest of DeWitt charged him with having stolen the Ford car of Charles Kidd, of King's Run, north of Oakland, one night last week. The car was recovered at Thomas, West Va., Tuesday by Sheriff Casteel and early yesterday morning the officer received word that DeWitt was at or near McHenry. He was arrested at a point between Oakland and McHenry a short while after the officer had been informed of his whereabouts. DeWitt was riding in a car with a young man from Lynchburg, Va., who had picked him up on the highway near McHenry and was coming toward Oakland.

The prisoner is wanted at Morgantown, W. Va., according to Sheriff Casteel. He had been sentenced to serve six months in the jail at that place and made his escape after being confined in the jail for about two months. DeWitt has been arrested at least twice before in Garrett county, the sheriff said, on similar charges.

Fined For Drunkenness.

R. W. Davis and Harry Hamber, both of whom are connected with a carnival company showing at the Fair grounds, and Fred. Sowers, of Oakland, were arrested Sunday night by Sheriff Casteel, Deputy Griffith and Policeman Nethkin on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. They were given a hearing Monday morning before Justice W. A. Gonder. All three plead guilty and each fined $1 and costs.

Federal Prisoners Brought to Oakland Last Night.

Twenty-four prisoners, convicted in the Federal Court, Cumberland, on charges connected with illicit lequor traffic, were brought to the Garrett County Jail in Oakland last night by bus from Cumberland. The sentences of the prisoners range from 1 month to 8 months.

With these added prisoners confined in the local jail there are now 35 inmates, which is about one-half its capacity.

Bob Martin To Be Employed in Brother's Furniture Store Here

The future plans for Bob Martin, of Terra Alta, heavy-weight champion of the American Expeditionary Forces, include working in the furniture store of his brother, A. R. Martin, in Oakland, according to a statement of the Oakland merchant. Mr. Martin plans for the erection of a filling station on his farm which is located on the highway a short distance from Terra Alta, on the Oakland road.

Bob has abandoned his contemplated trip to Walter Reed Hospital, at Washington, D. C., to receive treatment, and stated that if he did go to the institution it would only be for an examination and not for treatment.

He is said to be in excellent health at this time, tops the scales at 202 and has been keeping in condition by working on his little farm near Terra Alta where he has been living with his family during the past several months.

Given Jail Sentence By U. S. District Court Judge

George Burkholder, of Garrett county, was given four months in jail and fined $200 on a charge of manufacture and possession of liquor in the Federal Court at Cumberland on Tuesday. Sam Bittinger, involved in the same ease, was given twenty days in jail.

Elizabeth Burkholder, niece of Geo. Burkholder, was given a suspended sentence of fifteen days in jail. She admitted cooking and serving meals for the two men operating the still under a tent in the mountains in the Bear Hill section of Garrett county.

The winter program will be announced at that time and practice will begin in earnest at the meeting on the following Tuesday.

PARADE AND CELEBRATION TO BE MAMMOTH AFFAIR

When Knights of Pythias Hold Hallowe'en Street Carnival

A celebration that will rival the annual Knights of Pythias Labor Day picnic in size and number of activities is now being planned by the Knights and will be held on October 31, the official date of Hallowe'en. This celebration will be in the form of a street carnival, held on one of the main streets of town.

Permission to rope off one of the streets has been asked of the Mayor and Council of Oakland, and this will be decided at a meeting on Monday night. It is hoped that either Second street between Alder and Liberty, or Alder street between Second and Third will be granted.

Mammoth Parade

One of the features of the celebration will be a mammoth mummers parade beginning promptly at 7 o'clock in the evening. There will be several prizes awarded for costumed couples, individuals and floats, and it is hoped that a large number will fall into the spirit of the affair and participate in the parade.

Providing the corn stalks can be obtained and permission granted, the carnival committee plans on decorating each telephone and electric light pole like a corn shock with a pumpkin or so nestled at the foot of each one, and it is also urged that the business houses be decorated in some manner for the affair.

The celebration will begin in the early afternoon and will continue until rather late in the evening, it was said. Square dancing will be an additional attraction, and a low platform will be erected for this purpose.

The Chevrolet coach will be given away during the evening.

CLOSING TRAP SHOOT OF YEAR BEING HELD TODAY

Last of Season's Matches On at Fair Grounds in Oakland

The regular schedule of the Maryland-West Virginia Trapshooting League season will come to a close here this afternoon when the gunners of the six clubs battle it out over the Oakland Gun Club traps.

At the present time Cumberland is leading Meadow Lark, Keyser, by a margin of seven birds for the G. O. Sharrett banner, and it will be up to the Marylanders to keep out in front if they expect to cop the league championship this year. Meadow Lark won the title in 1927.

It will be necessary for every shooter of the league to be in Oakland in order to be eligible for the trophies and $150 added money which will be awarded at the post-season shoot scheduled for the Meadow Lark Gun club in Keyser on October 4.

The shoot today is being held in connection with the Garrett County Fair, and W. R. ("Bill") Browning is going to combine his annual merchandise shoot and make it the biggest firing event of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. L. Lohm Pass Golden Wedding Mark

MARRIED.

At the residence of the bride's parents, on Tuesday morning, September 24, 1878, by Rev. J. H. Flannigan, Mr. G. W. L. Lohm to Miss Ella R. Shaw, daughter of Col. Robert Shaw, Grafton, and niece of Jimmie Percy, Cumberland. A large number of invited friends were present and witnessed the wedding ceremonies. The happy couple departed the same morning on a visit to Hagerstown, Md.—From a clipping Grafton Sentinel, 1878.

Fifty years of married life, marking a golden wedding anniversary, was celebrated rather quietly at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lohm on Alder street in Oakland on Monday, due to the serious illness of Mr. Lohm.

Mr. Lohm was actively engaged in railroad work as an engineer between Cumberland and Grafton until fifteen years ago, when he was retired. He has been in failing health for the past three years and at this time his condition is very serious, having been confined to his bed since early in August. He is a member of Oakland Lodge, No. 192, A., F. & A. M., and of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers Division 437.

To the union solemnized just fifty years ago on Monday six children were born, five sons and one daughter, one of the sons having died in infancy. Those living are Robert, of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia; Howard, of Pittsburgh; Albert, Kensington, Md.; Mrs. Ralph Kuntz, Grafton, and Louis, of Oakland.

GARRETT COUNTY MAN IS CONVICTED OF MURDER

Seymour Smith, Formerly of Near Frostburg, Found Guilty at Webster Springs, W. Va.

Seymour Smith, 29, was convicted yesterday of second degree murder at Webster Springs, West Va., in connection with the slaying of Thomas McKenzie, 52, of near Bolair, West Va., last October. He will be sentenced today. The maximum sentence is eighteen years. McKenzie was a member of McKenzie family of this county and his remains were buried near his old home east of Grantsville.

Mrs. Annie L. McKenzie, 41, widow of the slain man and jointly indicted last May of murder in theed last May, was found guilty of murder in the first degree. The jury recommended life imprisonment in her case. Counsel for Mrs. McKenzie has made a motion for a new trial and Judge Jake Fisher, sitting at the Webster Springs court, will rule on the matter today. He will pass sentence on the woman should a new trial be denied.

The Smith trial lasted nine days and the jury of lumbermen and farmers took eighteen hours to reach a verdict.

The body of McKenzie was found hanging on a laurel bush near his home in the mountains above Webster Springs. Bloodshounds followed a scent to a room in the McKenzie home where Smith was sleeping, according to the evidence at the trial. It was also testified that there was ill feeling between Smith and McKenzie because of attentions paid by Smith to Ruby McKenzie, daughter of the slain man, but Miss McKenzie, as the last witness for the defense, denied this contention.

Smith, prior to going to Webster Springs, resided in this county several miles west of Frostburg.

Road Work Completed

During the past week two blocks of city streets have been improved with coverings of macadam and this practically completes the work for this year, officials stated.

Monday, the piece of pavement on Center street between Third and Fourth streets, was completed and connects with the cement improvements made by the Imperial Ice Cream Company fronting its plant on Center street. This improvement makes it easy of access to the loading platform of the dairy company for farmers who bring their milk to the dairy each day.

The second block of street completed during the week lies between the bridge over the Baltimore and Ohio tracks on Third street and the Youghiogheny River bridge also on Third street. This section has been nicely graded and is quite an improvement to that section of town.

An Interesting Display.

A room of unusual interest in the exhibition building at the Garrett County Fair is that containing the displays of the 4-H girls from various points in the county, and those articles pertaining to the saving of time in the kitchen. Canned goods and all kinds of needlework, the product of 4-H instruction, are attracting much attention.

DAIRY INSPECTION TRIP TO BEGIN ON OCTOBER 5

Will Visit Virginia Concerns—Leighton's Farm Inspected

An inspection of several milk shipping points in Virginia will be made by interested dairymen of this county on Friday and Saturday, October 5 and 6, E. Stanley Haller, field representative of the Imperial Ice Cream Company, announced yesterday.

Those already booked to make the trip are George D. Sprague, Harry Porter, Benjamin and Paul Friend, E. O. Liller, Ross Watson, S. D. Beachy, N. D. Schrock, Ernest Mosser and Ben DeWitt. Others desiring to go can do so by notifying Mr. Sprague or one of those included in the trip.

The J. V. Nichols, Will Francis and Gregg Brothers, Purcellsville, Va.; Model Dairy Farm, Berryville, Va.; Governor Westmoreland Davis, Nicholls and Myers, Leesburg, Va., and other dairies at intermediate points will be visited. These concerns are recommended by the inspector of the Washington market.

Local Farm Is Inspected

The farm of H. V. Leighton, near Loch Lynn Heights, was inspected on Tuesday by H. S. Drake, Washington milk inspector. On the stable and yard Mr. Leighton received 17.4 per cent out of a possible 20 per cent; on the milk house, utensils and water supply, 42.6 per cent out of a possible 43 percent. The milk house is a two-room building. Due to no ice being on the premises he was cut seven points on methods, but on his cattle test he made a score of 98.6 out of a possible 100 per cent.

Mr. Leighton will start shipping milk as soon as the permit can be issued, Mr. Haller said.

IMMEDIATE AID NEEDED FOR HURRICANE VICTIMS

Red Cross Worker Receives Telegram Requesting Help

Mrs. E. Z. Tower, chairman of the Garrett County Chapter American Red Cross, was in receipt of a telegram yesterday urging immediate help for the storm stricken areas of Porto Rico and Florida. All donations should be sent to Mrs. J. C. Renninger, treasurer. Mrs. Tower wired to the Maryland headquarters yesterday that Garrett county was slow but sure. The quota for the county is $1,000.

The telegram from National headquarters to Mrs. Tower was as follows:

First survey of the Porto Rico and Florida disaster received at midnight by cable from Baker and telephone from Schaffer indicate needs at both places far exceed preliminary estimate. In Porto Rico 400,000 destitute and near to starvation with great health problems and threatened epidemics. Refugees must be fed, sheltered, clothed by Red Cross for long emergency period.

In Florida 15,000 families requiring immediate emergency aid and later rehabilitation. $5,000,000 will be absolutely the minimum requirement as relief fund. This places your chapter quota at $1,000. Confident when people realize grave need, response will be immediate and generous. Urge every effort to exceed this quota if possible.

JOHN BARTON PAYNE.

Gun Now In Position.

The large Howitzer, formerly a coast defense gun, for which the foundation was built in the northwest corner of the Court House lawn, was placed in position last Thursday afternoon by J. W. Whorton, local contractor. The work of the local man presents a splendid appearance and after the gun is painted a battle ship gray the appearance will be improved very greatly. The gun was secured from the Government by the members of the local post of the American Legion. An unveiling service will be held in the near future, according to the plans of the post's officials.

From the main walk leading to the west front of the Court House a lateral walk has been build to and surrounding the gun and provision has been made to accommodate a series of chains which will flank both the walk and the gun.

Garrett County Sheep Sold.

Thirteen sheep, raised on the Stone House Farm, near Grantsville, of which Mr. Henry P. Miller is manager, were sold to West Virginia University for the ram special which will make a trip through West Virginia and Maryland. The train will stop in Oakland and at Swanton on Wednesday, October 2.

QUALITY, NOT QUANTITY, IS EXHIBITED AT THE FAIR

Displays are Fewer But of Much Higher Quality, Judges Say—Farmers' Day Tomorrow

Fewer exhibits, but of higher quality, was the verdict given by judges at the twelfth annual Garrett County Fair, which will end tomorrow with Garrett County Farmers' Day. Although most of the departments were considerably lacking in quantity, they more than made up for this in quality, J. L. McGlone, county agent, stated.

The women's work especially received high commendation from the judges, while the agriculture and the home economics departments were exceptionally good. The exhibit of Miss Elsie Benthien, home demonstration agent, which included the work of members of the 4-H clubs of the county, filled an entire room, showing exceptionally good work.

Carl Frazee Wins Calf.

Quite a number of cattle were on exhibit, which were said to be of better breed than those of last year. Carl Frazee was the winner of the pure-bred registered Jersey calf which was given as a special premium by the Imperial Ice Cream Company to the owner of the cow showing the best dairying points.

The poultry, fruit, grain and animal exhibits were only fair in number but high in quality, the judges stated.

Farmers' Day Tomorrow

Farmers' Day will be observed tomorrow, and good weather prevailing, a large crowd is expected. This day will be in charge of J. L. McGlone, Carl Frazee, D. E. Orendorf, W. C. Welch, Harry Porter, B. C. Scott and Paul Friend. Special prizes will be given those participating in the parade.

Due to weather conditions, which were cold and damp Tuesday and yesterday, the fair was very sparsely attended, but it is thought that with the advent of the business men's parade this afternoon the visitors at the fair will be much more numerous.

The parade today is scheduled to start at 1:30 from Oak street, from which point the marchers will go to the fair grounds and spend the remainder of the day. All business houses were asked to close at 12 noon and if not entering a float in the parade to follow it to the grounds.

Exhibits may be removed tomorrow, General Manager Speicher said, but the carnival and shows will remain until Saturday night so that those who have not had a chance of attending may do so later in the week.

Harry O. Miller Practices As Well As Preaches Forestry.

That Harry O. Miller, a forest warden of Chestnut Ridge, near Grantsville, practices as well as preaches forestry, was shown in a recent issue of the News Letter, a publication issued by the Forestry Department of the University of Maryland.

H. C. Buckingham, district forester, and F. W. Besley, State forester, were shown the 40-acre woodlot of Mr. Miller's which was cut over the past winter. On ten acres adjoining his sugar grove all sugar timber 12 inches and under was reserved, while on the remaining 30 acres nothing was cut under ten inches. A total of 276,000 feet, Doyle measure, was removed.

This left the area well stocked with a thrifty stand of young and vigorous trees. There was practically no breakage of the younger trees by the falling of the veterans. Furthermore, Mr. Miller contracted to do the logging himself so that he not only profited by the sale of the timber, but he obtained work for some men and his team during a slack season as well.

Mr. Miller remembers when this stand was cut over 30 years ago, and a similar operation was carried on which removed only the larger trees. At the end of the next 30 year period he expects to repeat the past operations and in the meantime he will get his supply of fence posts and props from thinnings in this stand.

Commenting on Mr. Miller's method the News Letter concludes, "We can all profit from this practical forester who has demonstrated that our woodlots will pay when protected from fire and excessive grazing."

Patients At Hospital

William Jeffers and Margaret Jeffers of near Oakland, are patients in the City Hospital, Kingwood, W. Va., suffering with attacks of typhoid fever. It is said that Mr. Jeffers is improving but that his sister is in a critical condition.

Lesson for September 30

PAUL THE MISSIONARY

GOLDEN TEXT—Christ liveth in me. —Galatians 2:20.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Stories of Paul.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul, the Brave Missionary.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Paul the Dauntless.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—"In Labors More Abundant."

In the review of this quarter's lessons, a good opportunity is given for character study. The interests of the quarter's lessons center in Paul, Stephen, Barnabas, John Mark, Luke, Timothy, James and Ananias. Assignments should be made a week in advance for the preparation of brief essays by the pupils.

Another method would be to lift out the principles contained in the lessons of the quarter and apply them to the important problems of the day. The following suggestions are offered:

Paul's the Ideal Education; Evidences of Genuine Conversion; What Is a True Christian? What is the Real Missionary Spirit? Who Should Go as Missionaries? Should Religious Differences Be Compromised? If so, How Far? How to Be Assured of Divine Leading.

Perhaps the most satisfactory method for adults is to summarize the facts and state the leading lessons. The following suggestions are offered:

Lesson for July 1. Paul, by birth and education, had much to be proud of. A godly ancestry and a true education ought to be the heritage of every child.

Lesson for July 8. While Stephen ministered in the benevolences of the church he testified of Christ and met with violent opposition. The ring leader in this opposition was Paul. A man may be conscientious and wrong.

Lesson for July 15. Paul in unbelief zealously persecuted the church, even consenting to the death of Stephen. When his eyes were opened by the appearance of Jesus Christ on the road to Damascus he was transformed into a zealous witness for Christ.

Lesson for July 22. The sight which Paul had of Christ was so real that he at once testified of His deity and saving power.

Lesson for July 29. Paul and Barnabas were sent forth by the Holy Ghost to preach the gospel to the Gentiles. They were opposed by Elymas, the sorcerer. Spirit-filled men will most surely meet with opposition.

Lesson for August 5. The preaching of Barnabas and Saul was accompanied with such wonderful signs that the people attempted to worship them as gods. The same people soon were moved to stone them. Despite this horrible treatment, Barnabas and Saul carried on their work.

Lesson for August 12. The question of the grounds upon which Gentiles were to be received was bitterly debated. Paul preached that it was to be by faith alone. Certain Judaizing teachers taught that faith was to be supplemented by the works of the law.

Lesson for August 19. Paul was forbidden to preach in Asia; then called to preach in Europe. Divine guidance is just as really shown in closed doors as in open doors.

Lesson for August 26. When Paul's missionary work interfered with the unlawful gain of certain men at Philippi, he and Silas were sent to jail. Through their miraculous deliverance and their testimony of the saving power of Christ, the jailer was converted.

Lesson for September 2. Wicked Jews followed Paul to Thessalonica and Berea. They stirred up the people to such an extent that he had to flee. Wherever he went his ministry was accompanid by supernatural signs so as to convince the Gentiles.

Lesson for September 9. Paul preached the gospel in Corinth with such power that many were saved. The gospel is the power of God unto salvation.

Lesson for September 16. The church was threatened with disruption through party spirit. The right conception of the gospel, Christian ministers and persons constituting the church, will cure sectarianism.

Lesson for September 23. The Christian should abstain from that which might cause his brother to stumble.

Love One Another

Let us love one another whilst we live! I would speak for a kind word on behalf of those who are sitting next you and making your own house glad by their deft fingers and their loving hearts.—Joseph Parker.

Serving God

Serving God just where you are, with what you have, and nothing else. God requires nothing more; He will take nothing more. It is yourself, in your own position, wherever you are, that He wants.—Margaret Slattery.

Thy Will Be Done

To do or not to do; to have, or not to have, I leave to thee; thy only will be done in me; all my requests are lost in one, "Father, thy will be done!"—Charles Wesley.

SLUMP IN THE SEPTEMBER MARRIAGE LICENSES HERE

Total for the Month Is Now 97, Less For Same Period in 1927

Twenty-six marriage licenses were issued during the week ending Monday at noon at the offices of the Clerk of the Circuit Court in Oakland, the month's total being 97, which is considerably under the number for the same period last year, according to records in the above offiee.

While Saturday remained the day when the greater number of applicants appeared for lincenses, only nine permits were issued that day. During September, 1927, one hundred and thirty-nine licenses were issued.

During the week three licenses issued were marked "don't publish" and one applicant was refused.

Would You Discharge or Keep Them? That's the Campaign Question

(Editorial. Baltimore News)

The question involved in this election is not one of bitter personalities, or political trickery.

It is not a question of wet and drys, of prohibition or nullification.

The campaign issue is clearly defined by W. R. Hearst in a recent article in the Brooklyn Daily Eagle:

"My final reason for believeing that a false anti-prohibition issue will not be successful is because there are so many genuine and obvious issues before the public. I think the citizens of our country realize clearly that the real issue, the ever-dominant issue, is the question of their personal wealth and welfare, there material and spiritual benefit.

"Are the people proseprous and happy or are they not? Has the Republican party exercised its stewardship faithfully and successfully in regard to the great problems which existed after the war, and which still exist in a most serious and even dangerous degree? Is the Republican party better equipped than the Democratic party to handle the important matters of national finances and foreign relations, so vital to the welfare of the nation and the individual citizen?

The Democratic party got the nation into debt. Is the Republican party properly and promptly getting us out of debt?

"The Democratic party got the nation into foreign complications by violating the patriotic injunctions of Washington. Is the Republican party, with due dignity and definiteness, getting us out of foreign complications and keeping us out?

"Any number of tom-toms can be beaten on false issues until our ears are deafened with the noise of the campaign, but the actual and crucial questions before the country are national finances, international relations and public prosperity.

"If the Republican party has failed in these important matters, so intimately affecting the national and individual welfare, it should be put out of office and another party installed. If it has not failed, why should the American people experiment with another party, especially with the party which got the country into all its troubles? The Tammany Democrats, who are so fond of referring to Mr. Smith as another Lincoln, should remember that Lincoln said, 'Never swap horses while crossing a stream.'

"WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST."

There, in plain English, is the issue of this campaign.

If you had three such men as Hoover, Mellon and Coolidge working for you, whether they are labeled DEMOCRAT or REPUBLICAN, would you discharge them, or would you KEEP THEM?

There is no doubt as to what you would do in your private business. You'd KEEP them.

Mr. Mellon, financial genius, has just completed the payment of two of the four Liberty loans, amounting to more than eight thousand million dollars.

Continued prosperity, with reasonable economy, under such management as Mr. Mellon has given the Treasury Department would, in a few years, pay off the remaining two Liberty loans, amounting to EIGHT BILLIONS OF DOLLARS MORE.

Do you want to DISCONTINUE this kind of service?

Do you intend, in voting, to express disapproval of Mr. Coolidge, who has worked faithfully, enforcing wise economy, working for the people's welfare?

Do you intend to vote against the policies and record of a man that had only to lift his hand to be nominated again, yet refused the nomination out of respect for the third-term tradition, although in his case THERE WAS NO THIRD TERM INVOLVED.

What good reason have you for voting against the record made by Mr. Coolidge and by Mr. Mellon?

Mr. Hoover stands ready to step into Mr. Coolidge's place, to carry on the Government as it has been carried on, adding to its other assets his own special knowledge of national requirements, his magnificent record of service in the war and of efficiency in peace.

Would you vote to take Mr. Mellon out of the Treasury and put in the Wiskinsky of Tammany Hall, the gentleman that does the Tammany Hall collections, or a man of that type?

You know that on the Democratic side, unfortunately for the candidates, this is A TAMMANY HALL CAMPAIGN.

Tammany nominated the candidates, Tammany wrote the platform, and then REWROTE it after the convention had adopted it along lines acceptable to the old order of Tammany saloonkeepers.

The leopard cannot change his spots and THE TIGER CANNOT CHANGE HIS STRIPES, much as he might like to do so for the purposes of this campaign to make of the White House Tammany national headquarters.

The Democratic party in this campaign is THE TAMMANY TIGER PARTY.

That cannot be disguised.

Tammany rules its men, big and little. After long years of Tammany service they cannot shake off the Tammany tradition or the Tammany yoke.

There is no prohibition question involved, no other question except the simple issue, as expressed by Mr. Hearst in the quotation you have read and as shown in this picture.

Do you want to continue efficiency and prosperity?

Do you want to continue HIGH WAGES that have enabled this country to build and use, as Mr. Hoover points out, 14,000,000 AUTOMOBILES IN THE LAST SEVEN YEARS, or do you want to experiment with the Tammany tiger in the Government of the United States?

Do you want to put in charge of the national Government, of the White House, of the Supreme Court appointments, and OF THE TREASURY OF THE UNITED STATES THE TAMMANY CROWD, successors of Boss Tweed, Fernando Wood, Richard Croker and Charles Murphy?

DO YOU WANT PROSPERITY OR DO YOU WANT TAMMANY?

Are you willing to have Tammany Hall run the National Government?

Will you vote to continue the service of such men as Coolidge, Mellon and Hoover, or will you change and experiment with "THE TAMMANY CROWD," successors of Boss Tweed and the gang?

THAT'S the issue.

EXTRA WRONG FONTS

By Scoop

The Missing Snapshot.

Archibaldson, the pressman in the back room, was in receipt of a letter on Monday which he turned over to Scoop, and it tells its own tale.

Dear Sir:—Since Scoop is getting off his jokes on every one, I must give him one on myself.

As I was in the picture taken at the Bowman family reunion, as soon as a copy came I looked it over. I recognized every personal acquaintance except myself. Now as I was about the oldest "old maid" there I do not know if the joke is on me or if Col. Bell is such a fine photographer that the picture was unrecognizable.

Having had no picture of myself for years and spending no time in front of a mirror may be the cause, but "wad some power the gifte gie us to see ourselves as ithers see us."

Col. Bell must have this power.

Respectfully,
M. A. SMITH.

Upon receipt of the letter, Scoop interviewed Col. Bell and warned him of his negligence, threatening to cut off his meal ticket and fire him from the employ of The Republican, when the Colonel came back with the following facts in the case:

He had discovered several days ago that the lady was missing from the picture, so he set out for her home to secure a special sitting. It was on this trip that the mishap of last week occurred when he lost the entire rear end of his car along the Accident route. This delayed the Colonel and his picture just seven days, else it would have appeared last week and saved all the trouble of the lady inquiring about it.

What Was Left Out.

There is no doubt but that this individual showing should be much more satisfactory. The Colonel refused to take the photograph until after the subject had made herself up before the mirror, and the only other difference between this picture and the group picture she should have appeared in is that in the foregoing she has her fall headgear hanging on the proper hook.

* * *

At the Big Fair.

Colonel Bell has been in his glory during the past three days getting photographs of local people and those of prize exhibits. Some of these he has given to Scoop, as he realizes that he must keep The Republican's readers in good humor.

The first picture received was that of Mayor Fraley, just after he discovered that he had received only $2.55 change from a $5.00 bill given for a ten cent purchase at one of the faker's booths. He remembers seeing the carnival chap counting the money very carefully. As yet he hasn't discovered that his watch is missing.

On the Road to Discovery

* * *

Dressin' Up.

The next one was found to be Bill Whorton, dressed up for the parade this afternoon at one o'clock. Bill joins with the Rotarians and other business men in this event. He wanted to exhibit his latest work of art on a float but the Legionaires said they had had such a time getting him to erect the base for the cannon that they would not allow him to tear it down now just to be used as a plastering symhol.

Ready for the March.

* * *

Telling Fortunes.

The Colonel's last photograph presented for the week is that of the fortune teller at the carnival. She is engaged in telling the past, present and future for Henry Smouse and she seems to be pulling the wool over his eyes. But what else could be expected?

Nearly All For Hoover

During a hot argument Friday evening in Hincbaugh's restaurant between Jefferson Ralston, known Democratic leader and worker, and Neil Fraley, anything else but a Smith man, it was decided to take a straw vote. Jeff instigated the suggestion, as he knew that there were nine Democrats present and only three Republicans. But after the vote was taken and counted there were two votes for Smith and ten for Hoover. Ralston declared the ballot illegal and deserted the restaurant. Jerry Stanton was among those present and it is possible that something was pulled that would not go in a general election, especially in Garrett county. But anyway, who cares about that? If you want to see a real straw vote look at it in the Literary Digest.

Smith Has Never Carried Rural New York

An analysis of election returns in New York State in the past 5 gubernatorial elections, made by the research department of the Republican National Committee indicates an ebb of Smith strength in his own State. According to these figures Smith at no time has carried more than 13 of the 57 counties outside of Greater New York. This was in 1922. In 1920, when he was defeated by Miller he failed to carry a single one of these 57. In 1924 he carried one and in 1926 four.

Would you vote to take Mr. Mellon out of the Treasury and put in the Wiskinsky of Tammany Hall, the gentleman that does the Tammany Hall collections, or a man of that type?

You know that on the Democratic side, unfortunately for the candidates, this is A TAMMANY HALL CAMPAIGN.

Tammany nominated the candidates, Tammany wrote the platform, and then REWROTE it after the convention had adopted it along lines acceptable to the old order of Tammany saloonkeepers.

The leopard cannot change his spots and THE TIGER CANNOT CHANGE HIS STRIPES, much as he might like to do so for the purposes of this campaign to make of the White House Tammany national headquarters.

The Democratic party in this campaign is THE TAMMANY TIGER PARTY.

That cannot be disguised.

Tammany rules its men, big and little. After long years of Tammany service they cannot shake off the Tammany tradition or the Tammany yoke.

There is no prohibition question involved, no other question except the simple issue, as expressed by Mr. Hearst in the quotation you have read and as shown in this picture.

Do you want to continue efficiency and prosperity?
